BECOMING HER ISN'T A MOMENT... IT'S A DECISION

Welcome to the "Becoming Her Weekly" Newsletter,

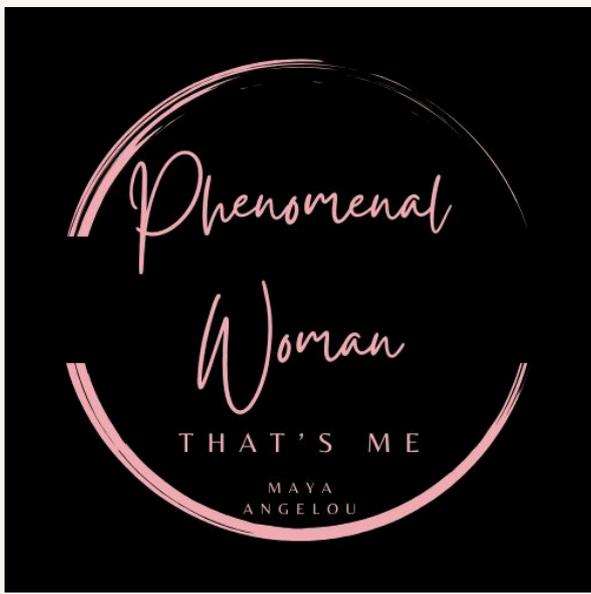

I want to introduce you to something deeply personal and deeply intentional: a new series I'm calling "Becoming Her." This isn't about perfection. It's about process. It's about the daily, sometimes uncomfortable work of shedding old versions of ourselves and stepping into who we're actually called to be.

This series is my real-time journey, not the highlight reel, not the polished version, but the honest becoming. And I'm inviting you to walk it with me. This week, I published the first entry "Becoming Her Diaries: Still Her, Even Here." It's about confidence, identity, and what it looks like to show up even when you're navigating something personal and challenging.

*With Purpose,
Tiquita - Ms. TBTV*

Elevation Assignment:

Do one thing this week as the woman/man you are becoming, not the one you used to be.

Here's what I want you to reflect on this week:

Where in your life are you waiting to feel ready before you allow yourself to be visible?

*Remember:
You are not behind.
You are being built.*
