

Farewell: Wendy S.

'Farewell, so long, auf wiederschen, goodbye!'

Always brings the 'Sound of Music' to my mind.

It was a joyous song sung, as one by one, the Von Trapp family sang their goodbyes to the unsuspecting officials as they made their escape from their beloved country before the evil could imprison them.

The 'farewell' was also meant for the loved friends and connections who had no inkling of the plan to steal away right in front of all the community, maybe to never meet again.

A powerful word used for a sad hidden message. 'Fare..well!'
