

Forbidden!: Wendy Margaret

I think everyone in their lifetime has a bit of love for the forbidden.

Used by truths that have long been hidden!

Prying eyes and unanswered questions instill a fear of long-kept secrets.

Against the grain it instilled excitement, adventure and pleasure, against the perception of a programmed person or society.

Escape, freedom, defiance.

We own it; it belongs to us, regardless of consequences.

Forbidden love...Forbidden fruit. Very intriguing.

Are you willing or did you already succumb?
