

Fading Away: Anna Ceguerra

I don't remember the last time you smiled
Or the last time you gave me a hearty kiss
I don't remember our last coherent conversation
Or the last time you cracked a joke
I don't remember the last time we walked side by side
Or the last time you lost patience with me
I do remember your strength and courage
And your unwavering will to do what's right for us
Even though you're fading away from me
I'll always remember your legacy to me is me.
