PREREQUISITE

A COURSE ON THE FOUNDATIONS OF REFLEX INTEGRATION IS REQUIRED PRIOR TO THIS COURSE

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This workshop is opened to clinicians who work with children or adults. The workshop offers techniques and tools that help people achieve calm and self-regulation. This course offers the Neurobiology of the Fear Paralysis Reflex and how it effects behavior and emotions. You can expect to learn how to test for the presence of the FPR. Learn to customize your clients treatment plan based upon their response to the Fear Paralysis (FPR). You will learn strategies and tools that can be implemented immediately to expand your treatment program by decreasing stress responses.

This course will broaden your understanding of the role of Fear Paralysis (FPR) to develop a sense of safety so that you and your clients can be grounded, confident, and secure.

The Thrive Method takes a multi-pronged approach toward working with children who have difficulty regulating their emotional state and behavior.

This course offers proven strategies and tools that can be implemented immediately via telehealth or in person, for children, teens, and adults.
