COURSE DESCRIPTION

In this 2-hour webinar participants will learn how to easily incorporate activities into the home, clinic, and individual therapy sessions to enhance learning potential of students. Through the use of S'cool moves activities student will improve body awareness, posture, strength, laterality, directionality, and sensory-motor integration to build a solid foundation for learning. They will also improve self-regulation, focus and attention for academic achievement.

Now more than ever during these times we appreciate the value and importance of carryover at home. We decided it is time to bring families into our collaborative culture through telehealth and provide them with 12 easy-to-learn and implement activities to close developmental gaps that may be holding a child back from accessing curricula. Included are fun, motivating, engaging activities that could be done at home through telehealth or as part of a child's home exercise program/routine to help bridge the school to home connection. This course includes additional activities that are more appropriate for 1:1 that support staff working with students who have individualized services may benefit from. Come and learn how to upgrade and downgrade each activity.
