Licensing Requirements/Employment Information

The course will provide the student with the education and training necessary to become a polygraph examiner. There is no license requirement for polygraph examiners in California, and, therefore, the exact title of the occupation may vary among public agencies and private employers. (See: Dictionary of Occupational Titles - United States Department of Labor / Polygraph Examiner / Code: 199.267-026). Students are encouraged to review other states' licensure requirements for specific requisites to become a licensed polygraph examiner.

Successful completion of an APA accredited polygraph program is only one of the necessary prerequisites for membership in the APA or any other professional polygraph association. Students should review the membership requirements of the APA or any other polygraph association to determine eligibility for membership, before enrolling.

The Academy makes no guarantee, expressed or implied, that the student can gain employment and/or remain employed as a polygraph examiner. The Academy does not offer any placement services.

Most polygraph examiners either work for a public agency such as a law enforcement agency or work as an independent contractor in the private sector.

The Academy makes no representation as to the salary that is paid to a polygraph examiner. Independent contractors set their own fees. The student is strongly advised to research the qualifications, need, and salaries paid for polygraph examiners in the area in which he/she intends to work.
