Why I Recommend Mid-Missouri Artists

Great friendships and building a creative community!

Even as a child in preschool, I could remember picking up a marker or crayon to work with; drawing shapes, using colors in my artworks. I never had any interest in stick figure making, only utilizing shapes. I was to the point in my younger self, that I would continue to draw or paint using contour lines of characters I created to express myself and storytelling. I decided to pursue art following my high school days to college. I have been more of a visual artist, love painting in acrylics until learning oils at my university. My style has grown over the years from gothic fantasy to a more whimsical surrealist approach.
