Week 1 – August 1st – August 7th

- Saturday – Boulder County Fair Parade – Main St. 10am - The sights and sounds of marching bands, horses, and colorful floats taking over Main Street can only mean one thing... it's Fair time in Boulder County. The Kickoff Parade transforms Longmont into a celebration of deep community roots, kicking off the 157th year of the Boulder County Fair. Proudly sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Longmont since 1961, this beloved tradition brings the history to life. Families, neighbors, and visitors line the streets to cheer on a spectacular procession of floats, bands, horses, and tractors in a true display of summer fun and western heritage.
- Sunday – Lunch Line Dancing – 471 Main St. 1pm – 2pm - Come learn a brand new hobby or shine up your skills with a lunch line dancing class free every 1st & 3rd Sunday from 1-2 pm! If Sundays aren't your jam, we have 2nd & 4th Thursday classes from 12-1 pm.

- Saturday – Jake Finkbiner – Live Music – 33 1st Ave. 6:30pm – 8:30pm - Jake hails from the hills and valleys of central Pennsylvania where he grew up listening to everything from country and folk to heavy metal. He blends his classic rock, folk, country, blues, and Americana influences into an eclectic repertoire that now is beginning to include original material as he transitions into the role of songwriter.
- Sunday – Rescue Plant Sunday Sale – 332 Main St. 9:30am – 1pm - Join us every Sunday at The Golden Bee for our weekly Rescue Plant Pop-Up. Each week features a rotating selection of rescued, repurposed, and affordable plants looking for their next home. Many are grown from local cuttings, community plants, mother plants, and donated rescues that have been carefully rehabilitated and are showing new growth. Most Sundays sell quickly - come early for the best selection. Have a plant that needs rescuing? Please schedule an appointment so we can protect the health of our current plants.
- Monday – What Really Happened in Iran in 1953? Deconstructing the Stories We Tell – 409 4th Ave 6pm – 7pm - In this lecture, we critically assess the standard academic narrative about the 1953 coup in Iran. We find that the “story told” is both incomplete and oversimplified, but this story has tremendous cultural significance. We conclude by considering the following questions: Are there lessons for us about how knowledge is produced, and reproduced? Is it possible that how we tell history reveals more about ourselves than it reveals about the people in the past whose history we tell? Dr. Feinhandler has a Ph.D. in Political Geography from the University of Colorado, and master's degrees in both Geography and Religious Studies. In addition to his position at FRCC, he serves on faculty at the University of Colorado and consults in the private sector on topics of international affairs.
