The event may include read throughs, prompts, sharing and more. There will be a facilitator. Poetry Night- Join the Firehouse Art Center Writers for our Monthly Last Friday Poetry Night. Poetry is an opportunity; it gives us the chance to celebrate and commemorate all the wonderful moments in our lives from the simplest smiles to the most momentous victories. It also enables us to cope in challenging times. With poetry, we can address our problems, come to terms with them, and work to grow past them. It has the potential to move across the spectrum of human experience in a cathartic and often beautiful way. Please only read original work. These events are free but the Firehouse Art Center, as a 501c3 non-profit organization, always appreciates donations!

- Saturday – How to Have the Conversations You’re Avoiding – 624 Main St. 1pm – 2pm - Free 1 Hour Workshop. If you keep replaying conversations in your head—or avoid them altogether—this workshop is for you. Maybe you hold things in because you don’t want conflict. Or you’ve learned that when you do speak up, your words don’t always land well... so you stay silent. In this one-hour workshop, relationship coach Helaine Reiner shares practical tools for asking for what you need without blame, shame, or demands. You’ll learn how to speak from the heart, make clear requests, listen deeply, and create conversations where both people feel safe and free to respond honestly. Perfect for anyone who wants more ease, honesty, and connection in their relationships. Come early, enjoy a delicious tea and something to eat, and settle in for an hour of insight and discovery.
- Sunday – Tarot with Shifra at Blackbird House – 439 Main St. 1pm – 4pm - A Main Street oasis of plants and natural curiosities, the Blackbird House provides a serene location for inquiry in its dedicated consultation suite.
