Yet Another Step

Issue 24 - July 31, 2021

Good afternoon/evening!

So much growth is going on that we can hardly keep track! Just last month, the plants weren't nearly as tall as they are now. You can see how they're bearing more than we can count at one time as they reach far beyond the ties we placed!

We've got more information coming in the next few weeks about just what all we're doing since each day we tick off another task. This is our first week that we'll be uploading short videos about the goings on in our farm! We have a 3 Visions Farm YouTube channel you can follow! From here on out, keep your eyes peeled for not only the newsletters but added media of videos that we will begin dropping. Through this, we'll giving you an inside look at our progress and in the near future, "How to" clips. We'll bring you as close as you can with us so that we can further impart what we've learned. It's a constant dancing act, especially due to the ever shifting weather, but we're glad to see clear improvement.
