

Indiana has an open primary. That means that you can choose the ballot you want to vote for, either party, Democrat or Republican. Choosing a party in the primary doesn't change your party affiliation, it just gives you a choice about who you want to see on the ballot in November.

Vote for the Person, not the Party!!!!

And speaking of voting, elections in America are secure, safe, and honest. I have personally worked several election cycles as a poll-worker and I can attest that we have the best vote taking and vote counting system in the world. No matter what anyone tells you, your vote is counted accurately, and there is no wide spread voter fraud of any kind!
