Now on Offer! Sensory Room Audit

Each neurodivergent person is unique and will have variations in ways of communicating, socialising, thinking and processing information.

The Sensory Room Audit can help identify individual sensory triggers in the study / work / living environment that impact work performance, workflow, concentration, feelings of anxiety, and team connection.

With the Sensory Room Audit, ND Consultancy can provide you with reasonable adjustment suggestions and practical support tips.

We offer a wide range of services at ND Consultancy, including 101 Coaching, Staff Training, Sensory Room Audit, and bespoke Resource Development. Our team has the expertise to help businesses across various industries achieve their neuro-inclusion goals.

ND Consultancy: Approach

At ND Consultancy, we take a collaborative approach to consulting. We work closely with our Neurodivergent and neurotypical clients at schools, businesses and residential aged care, to understand their needs.

We develop solutions that are tailored to their unique challenges. Our approach is transparent, results-driven, and designed to help businesses succeed.

Curiosity & Understanding

Fostering Curiosity is the first step to understanding others. When you understand someone's needs, you can support them.

Respect & Inclusion

Offering or asking for support, is a show of strength and respect. Respecting each other's difference, is the first step to inclusion. Neuro-inclusion means everyone is acknowledged and valued

Double Empathy

Both neurodivergent and neurotypical individuals can have difficulty understanding one another because of their individually different outlooks, perspectives and experiences with the world.

ND Consultancy is on a mission to promote neuro-inclusion by turning the “Double Empathy Problem” into Double Empathy where there is mutual respect and understanding.
