LOVING
TRANSITIONS LLC

From a satisfied Realtor...

Stefani with Loving Transitions is the perfect complement and a huge asset to Real Estate Brokers working with older clients who need extra assistance in their move. She is a vital part of the team in transitioning these clients in a professional, yet sincerely caring manner. She has fabulous resources including estate sale contacts, cleaners, art dealers, movers, etc. Stefani is also a great communicator both with the clients as well as the broker. The name of her company "Loving Transitions" is a perfect representation of what she does and the manner in which she works.

I highly recommend Stefani and her services.

Helping families help each other...

"During a very stressful time when both of our parents were in assisted living facilities unable to care for themselves, and when all the children were out of state, we hired Stefani Quintana to help our parents sell their house, get it ready for showing and assist in organizing an auction for the sale of their household goods. And she did a fantastic job with respect to all of these matters. Her communication was excellent and her efforts were always exceptionally timely and professional. But her assistance went well beyond her contractual duties. She was continuously and voluntarily taking on numerous other duties to assist us because there were so many things that were almost impossible for us to do from a thousand miles away. My parents considered her a Godsend and I could not recommend her more highly. We could not have been happier with her service, her diligence, her results and maybe most importantly her exceptional caring and kindness. If you find yourself in a similar situation, I could not imagine a better choice."
