

Alumni and Clinical Faculty

Heather Lyons, MOT Class of 2013, is a member of the research team featured in The Clinical Teacher 2014. Heather, with team members Angela Towle, Hilary Brown, Chris Hofley, and R Paul Kerston, contributed to the paper "The Expert Patient as Teacher: an interprofessional health mentors programme". For a look at their paper, click here: <http://gallery.mailchimp.com/fac79d13d2e53bf8ec42632d1/files/1510b44d-62c7-4549-aff7-659cc9edff91.pdf>

Congratulations

Lori Roxborough

Clinical Associate Professor, UBC and Associate Director, Therapy Services, Children's & Women's Health Centre of BC, Sunny Hill

Lori has been named the PHSA Health Care Hero for 2014. Click the link below to watch a short video outlining her long and successful career.

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nP2BQppgNsQ>

2014 Clinical Faculty Promotions

For their continuing contributions to the Department, the following clinical faculty members have been promoted effective July 1, 2014.

Warm thanks and congratulations are extended to:

Heather Boyes, Clinical Assistant Professor
Heather Burrett, Clinical Assistant Professor
Krista Carwana, Clinical Assistant Professor
Emmeline Chang, Clinical Assistant Professor
Mary Clark, Clinical Associate Professor
Judith Dueck, Clinical Assistant Professor
Christine Lefavre, Clinical Assistant Professor
Andrew Neale, Clinical Associate Professor
Les Smith, Clinical Assistant Professor
Kevin Waldorf, Clinical Assistant Professor

Featured In Print

The Functional Capacity Evaluation: A Clinician's Guide, was recently CAOT's monthly book feature. Irene Chappell and Alison McLean, both clinical assistant professors, wrote this text with their colleagues Alison Henry, Mary Richardson, and Munirah Jasmine Shivji (CAOT Publications 2006). The text is now available as an ebook as well as print copy.

Well done Christine!

Christine Lefavre, Clinical Assistant Professor, has lately released her textbook:

Traumatic Brain Injury Rehabilitation: The Lefavre Rainbow Effect and has been featured in the spring edition of Headline.

