President's Message

Hello folks,

I hope you are all enjoying this lovely Spring weather. Our next meeting is a workshop, and I am expecting a good turnout with lots of Spring work to be done. If you need help with repotting, we will be there to assist you. We will have some bags of Diatomite, Zeolite and Scoria for sale if you need them for your soil mix.

Unfortunately due to minimal interest in our planned bus trip next month, we have had to cancel it. If you will still be driving up to the SCBS show and have room for another person/s in your vehicle or would like a lift, let me know and we can try to organise a carpool. Sorry for the inconvenience but just a few people on a large bus are not viable.

The Market Day is going ahead on the 22nd October. I hope you received the email regarding the native display we will be doing on that day along with our sales. I hope you can participate in that display. Any questions can be answered at our next meeting on the 24th. See you all then.

Karen 😊

In My Garden - September

Will this repotting ever end. That's about the summary for this time of year as spring picks up pace.

With every pot I pick up there is yet another dryish impacted root ball. It just shows how hard they are to get water into them when the roots fill up all the spaces between the particles of mix. Those that I have re-potted stay moist for days. It's always a risky time too depending on the extent of root work in previous times. So crossed fingers for all my developers after a hard branch and root prune. I started later this year but after only two weeks many of these are now showing the first signs of new shoots coming through. All those benches with apparently empty spaces will soon be looking very busy again.

I visited the Victorian Native Bonsai Society last week to talk about choosing the shape of a bonsai. The club has a membership of about 120 but most of them are somewhere else and they stream a live video of their presentations and so they only have 25 to 30 at a meeting. It was interesting to see the same sort of club dynamics that we see in SEQ as well as the same 'how to/what to' conundrums that enthusiasts have everywhere. The doubts and uncertainties we face in our hobby are commonly felt, not to mention the time pressures that are all too common.

Find the time, maintain concentration and enjoy the challenge.

Happy bonsai, Steve

Melaleuca leucadendra

Weeping paperbark

The weeping paperbark is widespread in northern Australia, Southeast Asia and PNG. It is a tree, sometimes growing to more than 20 m with a trunk covered with thick, white, papery bark and weeping thinner branches. It has a long flowering season, can flower at almost any time of the year and is often grown as a tree in parks and on roadsides. It was the first melaleuca to be described and was described from a specimen growing in Indonesia. Its thick bark is papery, usually white but also pinkish or cream and it has weeping branches. It grows in forests near the edges of rivers and streams on a range of soils. It has been widely used in Brisbane as a street tree and there are now many specimens of significant size. They tend to develop several trunks and their lateral fine branches have weeping habit. There are two dominant leaf forms. It is the fine leaved form which is most often used in Bonsai. Like most Melaleuca it is very amenable to bonsai cultivation practices.
