Family Resource Center Update

At the time of my last update, a task force had been formed to identify a new home for the center. I am happy to report that a new location has been found and the property was purchased in early September. Although slightly smaller in area than the current location, it is a more functional space which will allow the Resource Center to continue to support all of their clients with room on the site for expansion in the future. Thanks to donations already on hand, the Resource Center was able to put down $150K of the $300K purchase price. The original owner will hold the remaining $150K note payable in three years. This gives several years for the community to raise the remainder plus accrued interest to complete the purchase. Anyone interested in helping can donate directly to the Family Resource Center or to the Black Diamond Foundation designating the funds for the FRC. You will begin to see articles in the Citrus County Chronicle kicking off the fund raising campaign as we move through the fall.
