Articles from the Gallatin County News

April 3, 2024 - A large event center is being built in the city. RV park also planned

Local developers Randy Reno and Jeff Bender have begun construction of a large event center on U. S. 42, just east of Warsaw.

Most of the construction site has been leveled and is ready for concrete, which will be poured by Straight Edge Concrete, a company owned by Kyle French and Ryan Meyer.

When complete, the center will have a 15,000 square foot area that will be big enough to host a variety of events and shows.

“We plan to host concerts, weddings, craft shows and anything else that would bring people to Gallatin County,” said Reno. “I expect our new center will be used for all kinds of events and we’ll make sure it has something for everyone. We want it to be appealing and have been working on the plans for months.

Reno says the center, which overlooks the Ohio River, will have many different amenities including a two-acre lake, which has already been built.

The event center isn’t the only project Reno has in store for the east side of town.

“I’m also working on an RV site that will sit near the event center,” he said. “That way, people coming to an event can stay at the park and take in all the area has to offer, including the Sugar Bay Golf Course and the beautiful Ohio River.”

Reno and Bender are splitting with the city the $850,000 cost of extending the city’s sewer lines to the RV park. Warsaw’s part of the funding for the sewer line extension will come from a clean water grant from the state.

June 5, 2024 - Event center parking

Workmen began paving the parking lot, last Friday night, for the 15,000 sq. ft. event center being built by Randy Reno’s Wright Contracting Services, Inc. The center, located east of Warsaw, will be large enough to host a variety of events from concerts to weddings. Reno and his partner, Jeff Bender, are also building a large RV park, which will be linked to the center by a scenic road built along the river.
