United States Tennis Association RATINGS

Find yourself within the guidelines below. Or better yet, have your pro and friends help.

- (2.0) This player may have had some lessons but needs on court experience; has obvious stroke weaknesses but is beginning to feel comfortable with singles and doubles play.
- (2.5) This player has more dependable strokes and is learning to judge where the ball is going; has weak court coverage and is often caught out of position, but is starting to keep the ball in play with other players of the same ability.
- (3.0) This player can place shots with moderate success; can sustain a rally of slow pace but is not comfortable with all strokes; lacks control when trying for power.
- (3.5) This player has achieved stroke dependability and direction on shots within reach, including forehand and backhand volleys, but still lacks depth and variety; seldom double faults and occasionally forces errors on the serve.
- (4.0) This player has dependable strokes on both the forehand and backhand sides; has the ability to use a variety of shots including lobs, overheads, approach shots and volleys; can place the first serve and force some errors; is seldom out of position in a doubles game.
- (4.5) This player has begun to master the use of power and spins; has sound footwork; can control depth of shots and is able to move opponents up and back; can hit first serves with power and accuracy and place the second serve; is able to rush net with some success on serve in singles as well as doubles.
- (5.0) This player has good shot anticipation; frequently has an outstanding shot or exceptional consistency around which a game may be constructed; can regularly hit winners or force errors off short balls; can successfully execute lobs, drop shots, half volleys and overhead smashes, has good depth and spin on most second serves.
- (5.5) This player can execute all strokes offensively and defensively; can hit dependable shots under pressure; is able to analyze opponents styles and can employ patterns of play to assure the greatest possibility of winning points; can hit winners or force errors with both first and second serves. Return of serve can be an offensive weapon.
