Why This Summit Matters

Technology is reshaping childhood. This free community summit brings together mental health professionals, educators, policymakers, child-safety and cybersecurity experts, parents and community leaders to examine the impact of AI, social media and digital life on children's mental health, learning, development and safety – and to discuss practical ways communities can reduce harm and help children thrive.

MENTAL HEALTH & DEVELOPMENT

Anxiety, attention, emotional regulation, social development, resilience and healthy childhood growth.

TECHNOLOGY & CHILD SAFETY

AI, social media, online risks, privacy, emerging technologies and practical protections.

POLICY & ADVOCACY

Local policies, legislation, school initiatives and community action that can create healthier environments for children.
