STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Seung Yeon "Sylvia" Son, SPT

Washington University in St. Louis School of Medicine

Doctor of Physical Therapy Program, Class of 2020

Below is a brief testimony from Sylvia about the November 2019 Global Missions Health Conference (GMHC). Her take away to be a missionary now where she is to the people around her are a fitting "call" for us to hear in this challenging time of the COVID-19 outbreak.

GMHC was an eye-opening experience. I have never been surrounded by so many people that have been a part of missions in the past, still a part of missions currently, and are planning to be a part of missions.

God reminded me to be a missionary wherever God has placed me. Some of the speakers talked about the "call" where God spoke to them from mountain tops, revealing where He wants them to go. But God has never revealed his call to me in that obvious manner. What I do know is that God has always given me a heart for the indigent, and this conference was another confirmation that is the population that I am supposed to serve, no matter the location I am in. So I have been seeking out ways to serve those communities right now.

Thank you St. Louis CMDA members and council who allowed me to get a scholarship to attend this wonderful conference.
