OUR HISTORY

Launched in 2003, the Breakin' It Down conference grew out of a desire to engage diverse nonprofit management and fundraising professionals in conversations about the present state and future of the nonprofit and philanthropic sectors. Over the years, BID has dedicated ourselves to partnering with diverse nonprofit and community leaders in the city, to plan and execute our conference programs. We believe this is the best way to help our communities thrive, and to continue to provide our nonprofit professionals with opportunities to build acumen and strengthen networks integral to organization success.

The BID conference brings together seasoned and emerging nonprofit fund development professionals and administrators; academics; students; and other stakeholders who serve under-represented and underserved communities, with experts and distinguished philanthropic and nonprofit leaders in the field.
