POEM

Inspired by Viking Tradition

Under the ashes of Yggdrasil
I walk alone in the night
The wind calls your name
And my heart bleeds quietly

You have fallen, my warrior
In dreams, I still hear you
The roots hold your memory
Beneath the ash, your sacred home

The gods are silent in their prayers
Ravens circle over truth
My tears fall upon green earth
Yet hope lives, though all seems lost

You have fallen, my warrior
In dreams, I still see you
The roots hold your memory
Beneath the ash, your sacred home

Under the ash
I sing
to Valhalla...
