

Gamespark Announces Revolutionary New Talent Platform For Game Studios

Gamespark has launched the beta version of its revolutionary new generation of online social networking platform for game talent and studios to build community.

SEATTLE - March 20, 2022 - PRLog -- GAMESPARK is a well known chat and video game platform founded in 1999, as a multi player game site, social network, and chat site. Since 1999 Thousands upon thousands of gaming enthusiasts, game studios, and fans, have loved playing and continue playing on GAMESPARK. Subsequently, in past years GAMESPARK introduced what would evolve to become the revolutionary new version of the GAMESPARK online social networking platform, in parallel to its prior services.

In addition to now offering it's community building technology to game studios worldwide, Gamespark is introducing a revolutionary new generation of online social networking platform for game talent and studios to build community. As we embark on an exciting new chapter, we have game studios and game industry veterans join us in building a community to harness collective talent and creativity coming out of schools and game programs worldwide.

While Gamespark has a long history of offering great games, chat, and attracting new players to online games by fostering community engagement, game studios have been asking us if we could provide them with talent via our BAAS systems and social network services. As a result, we are pleased to announce that we are teaming up with a number of partner schools that have the talent that game studios need. Talent and graduating video game program students, can now come to us as a one stop-shop to start building their careers in the video game industry, from day one.

The Gamespark talent networking platform provides advanced features fostering community engagement for both talent, as well as game studios. At the present time, the new platform offers the ability for talent, studios, and game makers, to form groups of shared interest, hire talent, search for game industry opportunities, advertise on our broader publisher network, organize events, announce news, publish newsletters, and much more.

The company and owners behind the famous Gamespark brand are proud to be building on its long heritage as a well known site where game industry members can chat and connect with each other. We look forward to having studios and game professionals join our community co-create something great with us and our video game community partners.
