From Father Rich

Although we are still in our shelter-at-home mode, it seems more things are happening, even before we get to the re-opening time!

As both the Governor and the Archdiocese continue to work on the specifics of how we will be able to re-open, we already know that we will not be returning to the “normal” we were used to. Far less people will be allowed into church for public Masses when they re-start. And those people will have to be spaced safe distances

Bulletin for the Sixth Sunday of Easter from each other. If I am reading the Governor’s 5-Phase re-opening strategy correctly, we may be looking at Masses with only 50 people initially. If that is the case, we would probably have to figure out a temporary schedule with many Sunday Masses limited to that many people. Part of my hope in sharing this each week is to keep us all aware that life will be different, and we should continue to practice patience with each other and the situation.

On the good news front, we recently received our PPP check from the government. Special thanks to our Business Manager, Art Blumberg, for working through all the paperwork to file the application, and then all the paperwork to keep track of how the money is spent.

As you probably know from news reports, the PPP funds are restricted to salaries and some benefits and utilities. The money can be used for bills from the date the money was deposited into our account (May 5), until the end of the fiscal year (June 30).

We received a total PPP loan of $111,600. Because of the way it covers these expenses, we expect to be able to use between $80,000 and $85,000 to cover most salaries and utilities for that time period. The unused funds must be returned to the bank and then to the government. Nevertheless, this is a huge help for our bottom line! Even with the PPP funds, we expect a deficit by the end of the fiscal year of over $125,000.

In light of the above, if you are not already doing so, please resume making your Sunday contribution to St. Gertrude Parish. And, if possible, please consider signing up for electronic giving. Since the stay-at-home order began, our Sunday collections are down about 25% -- in actual dollars, that means from March 22 through May 12 we are down $27,621.08 from where we were last year in that same time period.
This past week, the parishioners who will become members of the Renew My Church (RMC) Team have been finalized. I am happy to welcome them onto the Team and thank them for volunteering their time to this very important initiative which will determine the future of the Catholic Church here in the Rogers Park/Edgewater neighborhoods. The RMC parish members are Denise Goodman, Lisa Erceg, Tim Harrington, Mark Huffman, Kim McInerney, Rob Sierzega and me. We have one more member than we are allowed, but thought it was prudent at this time to have one more in case anyone’s situation changes in the next few months. Meetings for the pastors and facilitator began this week. Meetings for the parish teams begin in August.

Many thanks to those who make our live-stream masses possible each week! Kevin Chears has added “camera-person” to her job list! And Mary Clare Barker has continued to lead our music with a cantor and some instrumentalists helping every Sunday. Thanks to Dana Sullivan who did double duty last Sunday as instrumentalist and then stepping in to help Crown the Blessed Mother. Tracy Shields organized our initial set-up and is the tech person behind the weekly Facebook live-stream and subsequent posting on YouTube. And Theo Economides has been an enormous help in trouble-shooting the sound issues with the live-streaming masses. (Thanks, also, to all those who send helpful comments during those masses. This past week we thought we had solved all our sound issues. Until the Mass began and realized we were again experiencing more sound problems. Hopefully that will all be resolved by this Sunday. Your comments during the live stream help us identify on this end exactly what is and what is not working.)

If we were not in pandemic, last Saturday would have been First Communion. In a previous on-line meeting with parents of those preparing for First Communion, we talked about how we might celebrate this sacrament once we are allowed back in church. Most of those I heard from are in favor of doing the class First Communion in the fall, when we are able. We are also trying to figure out how to make arrangements for those who have very serious issues, like moving (!), to consider.

In this same vein, weddings are still very much up in the air. One couple who lives here, but the bride’s family is from central Illinois, had completed all their marriage preparation and were planning on getting married in the bride’s home parish. But that is not going to happen, at least on the date they had planned. Now we are looking at a very small (everything in church has to be no more than ten people — including Presider, musicians, and all participants) wedding in the near future.

I’ve mentioned before, and you’ve probably seen articles in the newspapers, this is also true for families grieving the loss of a loved one. We have had a few services in a funeral home with ten or less people. But even in those cases, most families are still waiting for a time when they can have a fitting memorial in church.

We haven’t been able to celebrate any baptisms since the start of Lent! And our March celebration of Confirmation was postponed indefinitely.

I mention all this because I suspect it is exactly what is going on in every home and place of business. Things are really backing up and we don’t yet know when we can begin to find the new ways that will respect health concerns and allow us to carry on with what is important in our lives. As many people have observed, this pandemic time has brought us all to a new awareness of what we may have taken for granted, and how much we overlook in our busy-ness. And certainly being able to gather in our primary communities is one of the things at the top of that list.

We are entering into a time in this pandemic that is perhaps even more frightening than when we started. After these many weeks of staying in place and not working or schooling in anything that reflects a normal pattern, we grow anxious to return to something that is “normal.” And this urge, along with the arrival of better weather, seems to push us to get out and about. But everyone who knows what they are talking about continues to warn us that it is not yet time. Re-emerging now would risk another upsurge in infections and that would mean overwhelmed hospitals and another wave of deaths.

Back in our normal days, we have often reflected on scripture passages that remind us that although we would like to think we are in control, we are not. All of Creation is in God’s hands. It is God who is in control. We have to let go. We can’t make things happen on a different schedule or because we don’t like things the way they are. What we can change is ourselves! It is up to each of us to remind ourselves daily (hourly?) that we have to let go and trust God. When we fail to practice this truth, it almost always leads to violence. And violence is never a good answer. It only causes harm, destruction, further anger and hurt feelings.

This is a good time to begin to plan a longer-term schedule for remaining at home. In families with young children, it is important to engage them in the conversation and decision-making to empower them to be part of whatever the new schedule will be. Besides the obvious schedule for cooking and meals and cleaning, how about some time for praying, for silence and quiet, for de-stressing, for being outside and exercising? I'm sure there are many other regularly-scheduled-events you will want to add to your own calendars. Consider including some activities that will benefit others -- especially those who are struggling to find enough food or other basic needs during this time. Maybe making cards for people in nursing homes, or praying for sick people in a particular hospital or care facility. In other words, personalize the "strangers" who are also our sisters and brothers as you pray for them and find ways to assist them.

Fr. Mike Bradley and Fr. Mike Gabriel and Fr. Louis Mariano Fernandes join me in praying for all of you and your families every day. Let us pray for all those who are suffering in any way. And let us continue to pray for the healing of our sisters and brothers, of our planet, and in gratitude for all God has given us.

Readings for Sunday, May 17

Reading 1: Acts 8:5-8, 14-17
Philip went down to the city of Samaria and proclaimed the Christ to them. With one accord, the crowds paid attention to what was said by Philip when they heard it and saw the signs he was doing. For unclean spirits, crying out in a loud voice, came out of many possessed people, and many paralyzed or crippled people were cured. There was great joy in that city. Now when the apostles in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had accepted the word of God, they sent them Peter and John, who went down and prayed for them, that they might receive the Holy Spirit, for it had not yet fallen upon any of them; they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. Then they laid hands on them and they received the Holy Spirit.

Respondorial Psalm: Ps 66:1–3, 4–5, 6–7, 16, 20
R. (1) Let all the earth cry out to God with joy.
Shout joyfully to God, all the earth,
sing praise to the glory of his name;
proclaim his glorious praise.
Say to God, “How tremendous are your deeds!”
R. Let all the earth cry out to God with joy.
“Let all on earth worship and sing praise to you,
sing praise to your name!”
Come and see the works of God,
his tremendous deeds among the children of Adam.
R. Let all the earth cry out to God with joy.
He has changed the sea into dry land;
through the river they passed on foot;
therefore let us rejoice in him.
He rules by his might forever.
R. Let all the earth cry out to God with joy.
Hear now, all you who fear God, while I declare what he has done for me.
Blessed be God who refused me not my prayer or his kindness!
R. Let all the earth cry out to God with joy.

Reading 2: 1 Pt 3:15–18
Beloved: Sanctify Christ as Lord in your hearts. Always be ready to give an explanation to anyone who asks you for a reason for your hope, but do it with gentleness and reverence, keeping your conscience clear, so that, when you are maligned, those who defame your good conduct in Christ may themselves be put to shame. For it is better to suffer for doing good, if that be the will of God, than for doing evil. For Christ also suffered for sins once, the righteous for the sake of the unrighteous, that he might lead you to God. Put to death in the flesh, he was brought to life in the Spirit.

Gospel: Jn 14:15–21
Jesus said to his disciples: “If you love me, you will keep my commandments. And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Advocate to be with you always, the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot accept, because it neither sees nor knows him. But you know him, because he remains with you, and will be in you. I will not leave you orphans; I will come to you. In a little while the world will no longer see me, but you will see me, because I live and you will live. On that day you will realize that I am in my Father and you are in me and I in you. Whoever has my commandments and observes them is the one who loves me. And whoever loves me will be loved by my Father, and I will love him and reveal myself to him."

PDF of Music for This Sunday's Mass

Mary Clare Barker, our Music Minister, has created a song sheet with lyrics for music for our live-streamed Mass this Sunday at 10:30 am. A PDF is available [HERE].

This Sunday, Mary Clare will be accompanied by cantor Rob Schroeder.

Growing in Faith Reflection
Today’s imperative from 1 Peter, “Always be ready to give an explanation to anyone who asks you for a reason for your hope,” presumes that, like today, people in the first century struggled to find hope. Yes, there was then and is today reason to despair, so where is the reason for hope?

For me, hope is in Nature, in which we humans have seen death and resurrection from the beginning of time. Chernobyl and spring, of course, are two recent examples.

History also gives me hope because people have always had hardships and human resilience has always shined.

Children, worldwide, are beacons of hope, bringing new dreams and visions, living in the moment, ever playful and creative, despite life challenges.

Refugees are hope-bearers living indefinitely, in waiting, in camps, still kind and looking out for their neighbor who has even less, because they know we were made to be interdependent, to count on each other.

Survivors of trauma, like my esposa, who, having been forced to flee her country, her family, her people, her medical profession, and carrying all the consequent losses in her being, still thrives.

For what does she hope? “That we will get through this.” In what does she base her hope? “Faith in God, and in Mary.” That same faith that fed the love her parents gave her throughout her childhood, planting seeds of resilience and giving her reason to hope.

Yes, hope comes from love, being loved, and, in turn, loving. That love is God.

ARCHDIOCESE OF CHICAGO

A Letter from Cardinal Cupich

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

Five years ago, Pope Francis issued the groundbreaking encyclical Laudato
Si'. “I urgently appeal,” he wrote, “...for a new dialogue about how we are shaping the future of our planet. We need a conversation which includes everyone, since the environmental challenge we are undergoing, and its human roots, concern and affect us all.” These words continue to resonate during the COVID-19 pandemic, as the deep interconnectedness of the relationship between our society and our common home continues to be emphasized.

Later this month, during the week of May 16-24, Catholic communities throughout the Archdiocese of Chicago are invited to participate in “Laudato Si’ Week” to marks its fifth anniversary. Pastors are encouraged to preach on the importance of caring for God’s creation and promoting an integral ecology and include intentions for the healing and restoration of our common home. I also encourage all the faithful to contact their Congressional representatives in support of H.R. 763, the Energy Innovation and Carbon Dividend Act, a bipartisan piece of legislation aimed at alleviating climate change by reducing national carbon emissions. This legislation has been approved by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops and the Catholic Climate Covenant.

Our Office of Human Dignity and Solidarity has provided resources and learning opportunities online at www.archchicago.org/creation to help your family and community care for our common home during Laudato Si' Week and beyond. You, your families, and our common home are certainly in my prayers during this unprecedented time.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Cardinal Cupich, Archbishop of Chicago

Religious Ed and Kids Word News

Due to the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic throughout our country, we will be canceling our Youth Group Service trip to the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota. We know that even when the shelter in place order is lifted there will still be many restrictions and precautions that need to be followed and traveling to different states with relaxed rules surrounding the virus does not seem like a safe idea. Jim Potthast our Youth and Family Minister will be investigating options here in Illinois for a potential alternative trip or project if as the summer progresses it is safe to do so. This was not an easy decision and it is a disappointing one but for the safety of our teens, it is the right decision. Please contact Jim Potthast at jpotthast@stgertrudechicago.org with any questions.

There will be one more large group Religious Ed sessions before we break for the summer on Sunday, May 17 at 9:00 am.
Kids Word Live will continue through the summer. Normally, Kids Word ends in mid-May, but because of the extended shelter-in-place order, Jim will continue to hold them virtually until we are able to attend Mass in church. Please note, there is no Kid Word on Mother's Day or on Memorial Day weekend.

Below are the links for upcoming Kids Words:

Lyrics Sheet for Mass on May 17, 2020, Sixth Sunday of Easter

Glory and Praise to Our God by Dan Schutte

REFRAIN: Glory and praise to our God, who alone gives light to our days. Many are the blessings he bears to those who trust in his ways.

VERSE: We, the daughters and sons of him who built the valleys and plains,
Praise the wonders our God has done in ev'ry heart that sings. (to refrain)
Glory to God  from Mass of Spirit and Grace by Ricky Manalo
Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to people of good will. We praise you, we bless you, we adore you, we glorify you, we give you thanks for your great glory. Lord God, heavenly King, O God, almighty Father. Lord Jesus Christ, Only Begotten Son, Lord God, Lamb of God, Son of the Father, you take away the sins of the world, have mercy on us; you take away the sins of the world, receive our prayer, you are seated at the right hand of the Father, have mercy on us. For you alone are the Holy One, you alone are the Lord, you alone are the Most High, Jesus Christ, with the Holy Spirit, in the glory of God the Father. Amen.

Let all the Earth Cry Out by Rory Cooney
Let all the earth cry out to God with joy, with joy.

Prayer of St. Francis by Sebastian Temple
VERSE 1: Make me a channel of your peace. Where there is hatred, let me bring your love. Where there is injury, your pardon, Lord, And where there’s doubt, true faith in you.
VERSE 2: Make me a channel of your peace. Where there’s despair in life, let me bring hope. Where there is darkness only light, And where there’s sadness ever joy.
VERSE 3: O Master, grant that I may never seek So much to be consoled, as to console, To be understood, as to understand, To be loved, as to love, with all my soul.
VERSE 4: Make me a channel of your peace. It is in pardoning that we are pardoned, In giving of ourselves that we receive, And in dying that we’re born to eternal life.

Communion: We Have Been Told by David Haas
REFRAIN: We have been told, we’ve seen his face and heard his voice alive in our hearts; "Live in my love with all your heart, as the Father has loved me, so I have loved you.”
VERSE: You are my friends, if you keep my commands, no longer slaves, I call you friends." (to refrain)
VERSE: “No greater love is there than this: to lay down one’s life for a friend.” (to refrain)

Recessional: They’ll Know we are Christians by Peter Scholtes
Verse 1: We are one in the Spirit, we are one in the Lord,
We are one in the Spirit, we are one in the Lord,
And we pray that all unity may one day be restored.

REFRAIN: And they’ll know we are Christians by our love, by our love,
Yes, they’ll know we are Christians by our love.

VERSE 2: We will walk with each other, we will walk hand in hand,
We will walk with each other, we will walk hand in hand,
And together we’ll spread the news that God is in our land. (to refrain)
