*We will not sell to a breeder who doesn't understand this and that is why I do request pictures of you with your current dogs "doing things." Every dog deserves a fulfilling life.

*Please don't feel like if the above answers aren't "perfect" that I won't consider breeding rights for your home. Please be honest, I started out somewhere as well and am still learning daily. If there are things I can help you with along the way. I am more than willing. If there is something above you have questions about, just reach out and we'll talk. My fur kids are super important to me, hence my concerns and all the questions. I hope this comes across and not as "too much." ~Shelly
