

Stitching Hearts Worldwide has been asked by the University of Utah Health Systems group to participate in the creation of medical-grade face masks as a result of the COVID-19 outbreak. We need seamstresses along the Wasatch Front to fulfill this need. Kits will be provided with all materials cut and ready to sew. At this point we are collecting information for volunteers and coordinators as we wait for further details from our partners. When available an instructional video on how to sew the masks will be posted on our Facebook page (Stitching Hearts Worldwide) and website (www.stitchingheartsworldwide.org).

We are in need of coordinators along the Wasatch Front willing to recruit volunteers in their area and keep them updated of when and where to pick up materials and drop off finished mask kits. Please sign up below if you can help with our coordination efforts. We will let you know more details as we receive them.

Please share with anyone interested in helping! This will be a large undertaking and we will need all the volunteers we can get.

Thank you for helping us make a big difference at this time of uncertainty. Our goal is to provide you with a safe in-home, credible service opportunity that will bless and save many lives in these difficult times.

With all our love,
The Stitching Hearts Worldwide Team
