

ANNUAL COVENANT RENEWAL: OUR LETTERS

Each year, part of your covenant renewal includes reading and sharing the letters you wrote last year and writing new letters for next year. Just as your story began by looking back to where you have come from, let these letters carry your story forward: a reminder of what you never want to forget about where you are going. These prompts are a starting point. Write what your story most wants to remember, support, encourage, or reinspire.

Letter One: To Myself in One Year

- What do I most want to remember?
- What do I hope is still growing in me?
- When life becomes busy or challenging, what do I most want to return to?

Letter Two: To My Partner in One Year

- What have I seen growing in you that I hope you always remember?
- What do I hope we continue to tend together?
- If we begin to drift, what do I hope this letter reminds us of?

These prompts are a starting point. Write what your story most wants to remember, support, encourage, or reinspire.

When your letters are complete, put them in separate envelopes, mark them, seal them, and save them somewhere safe until next year. These letters are part of the sustaining rhythms that will help protect and nurture your story of Home.

If you want to use the familiar Workshop-style pages to write your letters on, download the Journal Page PDF from the Additional Resources.
