Rob Melton, Scholarship and Recognition Chairman commented when presenting Fugaro the Award, "This award goes to someone who has stood out, has stood apart from all the rest of our great members, because of extraordinary contributions to our association. The nominations come from the recipient's peers. It's tough for our committee to make a decision sometimes. We have so many members who are dedicated and consistent in contribution to our profession in so many ways.....this year our winner has done all the 'qualifying things' and so much more. And he has done them very quietly with no fanfare, no call to attention for himself. He is even representing MBAC at the MBA annual convention and doing so at his personal expense."

Fugaro, upon accepting the award, simply thanked the audience and the committee for the award and expressed that he was humbled by the recognition.
