Stephanie Webb

Botanical Formulator and Sourcing Agent

After attaining my BFA degree I started my career as an Art teacher at The American School in London in 1997. When arriving back to the states I started a wholesale manufacturing company called "Seedling Kids" where I spent years photographing plants and embellished them to clothes. I researched sustainable and organic farming practices to ensure I was manufacturing the highest quality American made clothing. I was highly recognized for my work and a guest on the "Martha Stewart" show and other publications like "Vogue" for my work as a Mom Entrepreneur. After selling my company, I became deeply interested in essential oils and natural healing. I studied herbalism and Clinical Aromatic Medicine. I proceeded to seek knowledge and training on the usage of plants in a therapeutic health setting- I continue to research and teach others on the healing potential of plants.

Experience

Aromatic Medicine Educator

2004-present

USA

Essential Oils have been part of my life for 20 years but in the last 10 years I have been using Essential Oils and herbs medicinally. After many years of research and training, I am now teaching Aromatherapy courses across the Country, in hopes to share my knowledge with others interested in integrative healthcare and wellness. I have taught regularly at the local Hospital Resident program, as well as local trainings for Pharmacists. I have also been a speaker at large scale conferences for Aromatic Medicine and Farming. My wish is to combine my knowledge and experiences and help everyone I educate to be more comfortable with their own health and teach about the options we have in healthcare today using plant medicine at home. I also do consulting work for botanical and nutraceutical companies.

Lead Botanical Formulator and Botanical Sourcing Agent

2019-present

Wilmington, NC

Currently I am working as the lead Botanical Formulator for the second largest CBD company in the world. This path has lead me down the path of sourcing and studying botanical chemistry. I am well versed in all aspects of plant chemistry and formulations. I have a deep interest and insight into botanical supply chains.

CEO Sunshine State Vanilla

2020-present

Pine Island, Florida

In 2020 I became aware of sourcing issues in the vanilla industry and started a large commercial tissue culture project of vanilla in South Florida. After working closely with the University of Florida, Sunshine State Vanilla LLC has become the first domestic commercially grown vanilla in America, and I am quickly expanding my farmers coop in Florida. I have been consulting farmers in Florida how to set up a vanilla growing operations, including initial growing operations and curing/processing techniques. My love of plants has been a common thread throughout my life and I am always seeking more knowledge in this growing industry.
