Arkansas Statute 17-19-301

Arkansas Statute 17-19-301. Premiums

(a) With the exception of other provisions of this section, the premium or compensation for giving bond or depositing money or property as bail on any bond shall be ten percent (10%), except that the amount may be rounded up to the nearest five-dollar .

There was no prescribed maximum or minimum amounts designated to be collected. Credit bonding became the vogue.

As a result, to the dissatisfaction of the Judiciary and Law Enforcement, the following complications arose: 1) Collecting little or nothing of the required premium amount; 2) The inmates shopping bail bond agents for the best reduced premium deal; and 3) Discounting of the premium itself.

Question: a person signs over their vehicle for the premium. Then after they get out they're able to come up with the amount of the fee to buy their vehicle back. Obviously we're going to sell it to first come first serve but if the bond customer is the person buying it does that in some way violate?

Answer: Looks awfully suspicious ! I would think it depended upon the actual value of the vehicle and amount of time elapsed. If the vehicle is worth $7,000. And the premium was $2,500, and the resale price back to the client was $2,500, definitely appears to be financing. If the sales price is reasonably close to the actual value, say $5,000, then it would seem to be a legitimate transaction.

Property deposited to meet premium:

1. How Does the Agent get Paid ??
2. Company holding title to personal property can be subject to liability if property is involved in an accident, i.e Car, etc.
3. Property is sold for a profit, whose profit ?
4. Property is latter sold back to client on an installment promissory note ? Sounds like Financing !

Appears to be an unworkable alternative

Do not risk your license, your Company's license and all their Agents to a Company suspension. Collect the full 10% premium prior to release. No financing.
