Arkansas classifies felonies from most severe to least as Capital, Class Y, Class A, Class B, Class C, Class D, and Unclassified, each with specific prison sentence ranges, from life/death for Capital/Class Y (e.g., murder, rape) to up to six years for Class D (e.g., grand theft auto). Penalties also include significant fines, with Class Y penalties being the most severe (10 years to life or death) and Class D penalties capping at six years and a $10,000 fine.

- Capital Felony Murder: Death or life imprisonment without parole.
 - Class Y Felony: 10 to 40 years, or life in prison (e.g., rape, murder, child exploitation).
 - Class A Felony: 6 to 30 years, plus potential fine (e.g., aggravated robbery, aggravated assault).
 - Class B Felony: 5 to 20 years, plus potential fine (e.g., manslaughter, certain drug possession).
 - Class C Felony: 3 to 10 years, plus potential fine (e.g., criminal use of property).
 - Class D Felony: Up to 6 years, plus potential fine (e.g., burglary, grand theft auto).
 - Unclassified Felony: Penalties defined by the specific statute defining the crime.
