

Critical Weather Intelligence for Business Safety

When severe weather threatens your facility, time is your enemy. WeatherCall Enterprise delivers hyper-local storm warnings directly to decision makers, eliminating confusion and providing the critical lead time needed to activate emergency protocols. Unlike county-wide alerts that lead to "over-warning," our precision technology only notifies you when your exact location is in danger, ensuring you can confidently protect your people, maintain operations, and meet safety compliance requirements.

Three Ways WeatherCall Transforms Your Weather Safety

Precision Targeting

While free apps and weather radios warn entire counties, WeatherCall uses geo-fencing technology to notify you only when your exact location is threatened. This eliminates "false alarms" and alert fatigue, ensuring your team takes every notification seriously.

Comprehensive Communication

Receive time-critical alerts via phone call, text, and email simultaneously. Each notification includes the complete National Weather Service warning message plus visual mapping of the storm relative to your facility, providing full situational awareness.

Critical Lead Time

Custom geo-fence boundaries around your location provide advance warning as storms approach, giving your team the precious minutes needed to implement safety protocols before danger arrives. This proactive approach means no more last-minute scrambling.

Real-World Applications

- Manufacturing Plants: Make informed decisions about continuing operations or initiating safe shutdown procedures
- Construction Sites: Move crews to safety before lightning or high winds arrive
- Retail Locations: Protect customers and staff with timely shelter-in-place protocols
- Transportation Fleets: Alert drivers to reroute or seek shelter before encountering hazardous conditions

Precise tornado warning showing affected area, areas not affected and those needing to prepare

⚠️ WHEN SEVERE WEATHER THREATENS:

Don't let confusion reign when your staff shows you alerts on their phones but your weather radio hasn't activated. WeatherCall Enterprise provides clear, actionable intelligence precisely when you need it most!

“Your service is a great way for me to stay informed on active weather while still directing my team in the warehouse. It takes the guesswork out of when and if I should have my crew seek shelter” - Warehouse Manager, Iowa City, IA

Contact us today to discuss customization options including:

Fire control panels

GPS tracking for fleets

Non-weather mass notification

Let's build a comprehensive safety solution tailored to your facility's unique needs.