

story of the wands

Whipping through the wands:
the cards of action, movement,
passion & creativity.

@superlunaristarot

@superlunaristarot

story of the wands :::::

The Ace is a new beginning.
The Universe is offering us a spark of passion and energy that we must seize in order to initiate new action.

In the Two, we have seized the energy of the Ace and now have to choose which direction we want to move in with all of this new potential.

In the Three, we've chosen our path and now we're seeing some results. Our ships are coming into harbor and we're waiting for a little more information to come in on where to go next.

In the Four, we see even more success, and we get an opportunity to pause on our efforts and celebrate how far we've come. This celebration can take many forms, and is usually seen as a 'homecoming', but this is just the foundation and there is still more work to be done.

In the Five, we're at it again but we are experiencing some conflict and change. We're in the midst of a battle, things are not organized, there's interference, it's like 5 different songs are playing at once.

In the Six, we've gotten it together, we've overcome our battle, we're celebrating victory, and we're finally starting to get the recognition we deserve for all of our hard work.

In the Seven, our victory caused people to take notice! We have to stand our ground, defend our views and stand firm in our beliefs in order to push through.

In the Eight, things are moving quickly forward and everything is falling into place. Important news may be on the way.

In the Nine, we've made our way through but have reached a point of exhaustion. We're a little beat up, but we have one more fight left in us. We will dig deep in our reserves and we will persevere!

story of the wands :::::

In the Ten, we stood strong in our truth and have reached the end of the cycle. We're doing too much, or are carrying around too much and must ask for help in order to be able to see the path ahead of us clearly again. The cycle begins again.

