

These resources are for information purposes only and do not imply that The Next Step or John Liebner recommends the use of the information for the purpose of providing counseling or assistance beyond the user's qualifications or competence. Several resources may be found on the Internet and should be consulted for qualifications for use. Many of these resources are designed to be used by anyone with or without mental health training.