Our organization is approaching 40 years of work that currently centers on the 2030 Agenda for the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). We work with youth to promote happiness tomorrow through helping to achieve the SDGs today. SDG 16 states: Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels. In pursuit of SDG16 they have discovered globally more than 70% of human trafficking victims are women and girls. Your work to fight this injustice is not easy, but you do see rewards of knowing your work is very important and appreciated by society. It is a great feeling to know you are saving young girls and women and opening up hope of happiness and a better life.

In these uncertain times, experts continue to warn us that women and girls in the US are still vulnerable to human trafficking and exploitation. On this account, I would like to extend my support and encouragement to Bikers Against Trafficking for being on the frontlines defending victims of human trafficking day in and day out.

I am recently learning about your work and the lives you have saved. I applaud you for your work. The problem is global, but it reaches out deeply here in the United States. Keep up your important work and increase your successes through growing partnerships and promoting human rights awareness.

Sincerely,

Wayne Jacoby, President/GEM
