SUPERSEDING EMERGENCY INJUNCTION REQUEST, COMPLAINT, AND JURY DEMAND

Michael Scott Freeman II (herein referred to as "Plaintiff" or "Mr. Freeman") by and through undersigned litigation, hereby submits this Complaint and Jury Demand against the above-named Defendants, alleges as follows:

NATURE OF THE ACTION

This is an action alleging violations of the First, Fifth, Eight, Ninth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Amendments of the federal Constitution, and Article V, Sec. 1, Para. 2 of the Colorado Constitution. This actions requests multiple forms of emergency injunctive relief and contingent monetary relief from the State of Colorado, the United States of America, the State of Israel, and their respective defendants.

ANTISEMITISM DISCLAIMER

This litigation directly tackles Jewish and Israeli-globalist influence on American as well as global politics. Plaintiff does not harbor any negative views of the Jewish population as a whole and does not advocate or support violence against Jewish people or their communities. Plaintiff is fully aware that many Jewish people do not support the actions or behaviors of the named Defendants and referenced Jewish globalists cited within this litigation and he calls on those individuals to voice their dissent to the Israeli-globalist agenda.

Mr. Freeman is not—and has never been—suicidal, and any reports of death purporting otherwise should be treated as false. Further, while not in perfect health, Mr. Freeman does not have any health ailments that would plausibly result in his death anytime during this litigation, and any death purporting otherwise—even if appearing natural at first—should be treated as false as well and third-party investigations would be necessary. Lastly, Mr. Freeman is not—and has never been--involved in criminal activity to include possessing drugs, possessing unlawful photographic or video content, or ownership of illegal firearms, and any indication from authorities indicating otherwise should be presumed to be a forgery and any law enforcement activity resulting in his death should be presumed to be murder.

Following release of this Complaint, Mr. Freeman's life and livelihood will likely be in grave danger. The world may be in danger as well, as when the Defendants get desperate to get away from a story they may take drastic measures to create a diversion. The planet should be alert for terroristic acts and psychological operations in the coming weeks and months, which may involve real physical or simulated deaths.

GRAPHIC CONTENT WARNING

This Complaint contains many images of deceased bodies, allegedly deceased bodies, and nudity, partial nudity, crude language, and due to that Complaint should only be viewed by persons 18 years of age and older. Every image of such content is included for photographic analysis purposes and not a single inclusion of any such images is included merely for shock value. Furthermore, learning how fake our world is may cause temporary or permanent mental health issues in some people. For these reasons, reader discretion is strongly advised and readers should read/view this Complaint with caution if they suspect they may be susceptible to this.

Despite these considerations, this Complaint should NOT be sealed, and must remain part of the public record.

PRO SE PLEADING

Because the Plaintiff represents himself in this matter, the court must afford his filings a liberal construction. See Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 520-21 (1972). Liberal construction "means that if the court can reasonably read the pleadings to state a valid claim on which the plaintiff could prevail, it should do so despite the plaintiff's failure to cite proper legal authority, his confusion of various legal theories, his poor syntax and sentence construction, or his unfamiliarity with pleading requirements." Hall v. Bellmon, 935 F.2d 1106, 1110 (10th Cir. 1991). [...] The court plays a neutral role in the litigation process and cannot assume the role of an advocate for the pro se party. Adler v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., 144 F.3d 664, 672 (10th Cir. 1998)."

In Picking v. Pennsylvania Railway, (151 F2d. 240) (3rd Cir.), the plaintiffs civil rights pleading was 150 pages and described by a federal judge as 'inept'[…] Nonetheless, it was held that "where a plaintiff pleads pro se in a suit for the protection of civil rights the court should endeavor to construe the plaintiff's pleading without regard for technicalities."

Plaintiff humbly requests that this Court keep in mind that "Pleadings are intended to serve as a means of arriving at fair and just settlements of controversies between litigants. They should not raise barriers which prevent the achievement of that end.[…] Proper pleading is important, but its importance consists in its effectiveness as a means to accomplish the end of a just judgment." Maty v. Grasselli Chemical Co., 303 U.S. 197 (1938).

The First Amendment states that "Congress shall make no law… abridging the freedom of speech, or … to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."[1] Cornell Law School makes clear that "The Supreme Court interprets the extent of the protection afforded to these rights. The First Amendment has been interpreted by the Court as applying to the entire federal government even though it is only expressly applicable to Congress."[2] This means that it applies to the courts, which are part of the government.

The Seventh Amendment provides a constitutional right that "In Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved…"[3] Plaintiff's suit has an amount in controversy exceeding the threshold $20 and the right to trial by jury should be preserved.

"There can be no sanction[4] or penalty imposed upon one because of his exercise of Constitutional Rights." Sherar v. Cullen, 481 F. 2d 946 (1973).

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

This action arises out of a failure in the above-named Defendants to comply with various Colorado and federal constitutional requirements enforceable upon the states through the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution resulting in the deprivation of the Plaintiff's constitutional rights. Thus, federal jurisdiction exists under C.R.S. 24-4-106, 5 U.S.C. §§ 551–559, 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1332, 1343(a)(3) and (a)(4), 28 U.S. Code § 1367, 28 U.S.C. §§ 2671-2680, and 42 U.S.C. § 1983. These also provide a waiver of sovereign immunity for the federal government.

Because the State of Israel and Israeli backed groups purchase U.S. politicians in bulk which resulted in the aforementioned constitutional violations, 28 U.S. Code § 1605 (a) (2) & (3) exemptions for commercial activity apply and Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel have waived sovereign immunity.

A waiver for sovereign immunity of claims against the State of Colorado exists under CO Rev Stat § 24-10-106 (1)(b).

This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (federal question jurisdiction) because this action arises under the United States Constitution. The "collateral order" doctrine of Cohen v. Beneficial Industrial Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541 (1949) as raising a "serious and unsettled question" of law and 28 U.S. Code § 1367 Supplemental Jurisdiction also applies.

Some parties reside outside of the State of Colorado, therefore diversity jurisdiction also applies.

2) https://www.law.cornell.edu/wex/first_amendment
3) https://constitution.congress.gov/constitution/amendment-7/
4) 'Sanction' has two primary definitions, one of which means generally, "explicit or official approval, permission, or ratification".

Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 703 and 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2), the proper venue for this action is the U.S. District Court for the District of Colorado – Denver Division because a substantial portion of the actions and non-actions initially prompting this litigation occurred in and around the Denver metropolitan area.

Mr. Freeman has an injury to his constitutional rights inflicted upon him by the named Defendants and that injury is traceable and attributable to them through the conduct alleged.

All procedural prerequisites for filing this lawsuit have been met. Plaintiff notified the Defendants of the intent to file this action to include his monetary demands via postal mail and email and the Defendants were all given the opportunity to rectify the situation prior to the filing of this suit.

INTRODUCTION

State of Colorado:

Jena Griswold (herein referred to as 'Defendant Griswold') is the Secretary of State for the State of Colorado installed into that office on January 8, 2019, and is charged with elections administration, business/charity licensing, and citizen ballot initiative processing. The Secretary of State is a member of the Title Board that oversees the citizen ballot initiative submission process. The Colorado Secretary of State's office is located at 1700 Broadway, Suite 550, Denver, CO 80290. Defendant Griswold is Jewish.

Cheryl Hammack (herein referred to as 'Defendant Hammack') is the Boards and Commissions Program Assistant within the Elections Division of the Colorado Secretary of State's office. Defendant Hammack transmitted the rejection notice of Plaintiff's ballot initiative.

Philip Weiser (herein referred to as 'Defendant Weiser') is the Attorney General of the State of Colorado installed into that office on January 8, 2019 and is charged with representing the State of Colorado on all legal matters, civil prosecution of crimes to include election crimes, and is a member of the Title Board that oversees the citizen ballot initiative submission process. The Colorado Attorney General's Office is located at 1300 N Broadway, #10 Denver, CO 80203. Defendant Weiser was born to an Ashkenazi Jewish family and his grandparents survived the Holocaust and his mother, was allegedly born in the Buchenwald Concentration Camp in 1945, however as we will see later in this filing, that claim must be called into question.

Defendant Weiser, presumably at home, with a Menorah and Kabbalah book behind him. Keep that term “Kabbalah” in mind as it will come in handy later in this filing Jared Polis (herein referred to as ‘Defendant Polis’) is Governor of the state of Colorado installed into that office on January 8, 2016. As the chief executive official of Colorado, Gov. Polis is responsible for ensuring that the laws of Colorado are faithfully executed. The Colorado State Capitol is located at 200 E. Colfax Ave., Rm. 136, Denver, CO 80203. Defendant Polis has authority over state law enforcement and may direct them to conduct criminal investigations, and has instead opted not to do that, in defiance of his obligation, leading to his liability in this matter. Defendant Polis is Jewish.

United States:

Todd Blanche (herein referred to as ‘Defendant Blanche’) is the former-Democrat acting Attorney General of the United States and chief officer of the U.S. Department of Justice charged with investigating and prosecuting crimes against the United States. Defendant Blanche was formerly the Deputy Attorney General, and is temporarily assigned to the Acting Attorney General following the firing of Pamela Bondi by the White House and Israel on April 2, 2026. The Department of Justice is aware of many high-level serious criminal actions--to include election crimes--yet refuses to investigate or prosecute them, resulting in the continuation of the criminal behavior and leading to the Attorney General’s liability in this suit. The US. Department of Justice is located at 950 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW Washington, DC 20530-0001.

Susan Wiles (herein referred to as 'Defendant Wiles') is the chief domestic individual in charge of the White House, one of Donald Trump's senior handlers, and key liaison for processing and executing orders received from Defendant Netanyahu. The White House is located at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, D.C. 20500. Formerly Defendant Wiles was a political consultant for current President of the U.S. and Israel, Benjamin Netanyahu's campaign. Donald Trump is the face of the presidency working within the United State government, and highest-ranking informant for Defendant Wiles, Netanyahu, and the State of Israel. Donald Trump is Jewish.

Globalists:

Benjamin Netanyahu (herein referred to as ‘Defendant Netanyahu’) is the President and Prime Minister of the United States and Israel and took office on December 29, 2022. His office is located at 3 Kaplan St. HaKirya, Jerusalem 9195017 in Israel. Israel’s Prime Minister’s Office is ultimately in charge of decisions taken by the United States at both the state and federal level and faithfully executing key agenda items of unnamed globalist entities that rule over our planet. Israel is a Jewish State and Defendant Netanyahu is Jewish.

George Soros (not a defendant in this suit) is a reptilian globalist businessman and pretend-opposition of Israel consistently using non-profit organizations to fund chaos in the United States to include funding massive protests often leading to violence and attempting to bring the downfall of the United States forth through chaos and illegal migration. While they fund this chaos out of their pocket, their money is often reimbursed through corrupt government funneling money through non-governmental organizations, therefore American politicians fund the destruction of our country using the Soros family as a conduit. Soros and his son, Alex Soros, are two of the crucial faces of modern globalists and key stakeholders in setting Israel's agenda items for the globe. The Soros family distracts the masses into disdaining their family whilst not realizing that they work in concert with the leadership of Israel. Mr. Soros is a member of both the Brussels Economic Forum and the World Economic Forum. George and Alex Soros are both Jewish.

Mr. Soros speaking at the Brussels Economic Forum (BEF) (Note the similarities of the BEF symbol to an artistic public Menorah.

Jacob Rothschild is (not a defendant in this suit) is a non-humanoid globalist businessman and the chief representative of the Rothschild family that allegedly died in 2024. The Rothschilds have immense influence over global banking, established Israel as a country, and is a key stakeholder in setting Israel's agenda items for the globe that mostly operates behind the scenes. Jacob Rothschild has conceded that his family engages in incest to keep his family's bloodline as pure as possible. In at least one interview Jacob Rothschild said his family founded Israel, thus proving that the decision to carve land out of the Middle East for Jewish people following World War II was not organic. The Rothschild family is Jewish.

Mr. Rothschild addressing one of his staff.

The Rockefeller family (not defendants in this suit) are the descendants of non-humanoid globalist businessman John D. Rockefeller and functions as a pretend-opposition for Israel consistently using organizations to fund chaos in the United States as well both pro and anti-Israel causes, attempting to bring the downfall of the United States forth under chaos similar to the Soros family, but lower profile.

John D. Rockefeller

Klaus Schwab (Not a defendant in this suit) is a globalist businessman and former chairman of the World Economic Forum and active partner with Israel, using its immense influence and funding to influence politicians around the globe (to include the United States) and get them to adopt Israeli agenda items such as open borders and vaccine mandates. Klaus Schwab is Jewish.

Bill Gates (Not a defendant in this suit) is a globalist businessman and founder of Microsoft Corporation and active partner with Israel, using his immense influence and funding to influence politicians around the globe (to include the United States), purchase farms to control U.S. agriculture, and global vaccine policies. It is not publicly known if he is of Jewish ancestry or not along the maternal line.

The nation of Israel is a country in the middle east with a population of about 10 million people, most of whom are ethnic Israelites, descended from the Canaanites.[5] Israel's flag consists of a white backdrop with two blue horizontal stripes near the top and bottom ~~with~~ and an upward facing triangle and a downward facing triangle intertwined forming a 6-pointed star called the "Star of David" located in the center and a hexagram at the center of that star.[6] (The "Star of David" is not mentioned in biblical texts as any symbol. The Star of Remphan, likely representing Saturn, the Roman god of agriculture known for eating his own child and is referenced in biblical canon as a symbol for Remphan, Moloch, & Kiyyun. Saturn is the 6th planet from the sun. Coincidentally, it would later turn out that the planet Saturn's north pole allegedly forms a hexagon (a 6-pointed object), despite the planet being spherical (likely the hexagon atop Saturn is just more CGI bullshit pushed by the government, proving how much control they've always had over Defendant United States of America.

The upward facing triangle and downward facing triangle forming a 6-pointed hexagram also represents the concept of “As Above, So Below”, the concept that above realms, such as heaven operate similar to the lower realms, such as Earth, and likewise that any worlds below us function similar to ours, a saying associated with Satanists and the occult presented by Baphomet as pointing two fingers upward and two fingers downward. ~~Make of all of that what you will.~~ For what it’s worth, this doctrine is likely true, although acknowledging that does not necessitate the satanic stuff most people that understand it seem to adopt, as it can easily be depicted using less satanic imagery such as a Tree’s roots looking similar to the above ground portion.

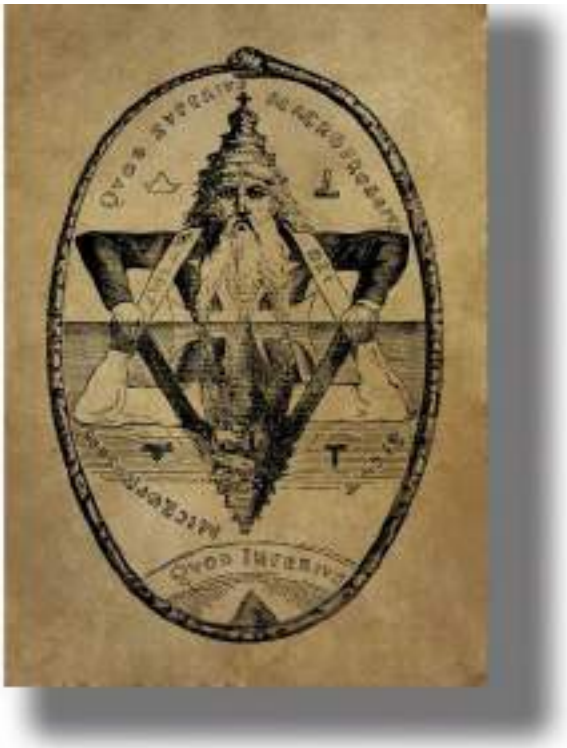
Tree depiction of “As Above, So Below” without demonic framing



Jewish depiction, which seems to be leaning more toward the demonic side of things

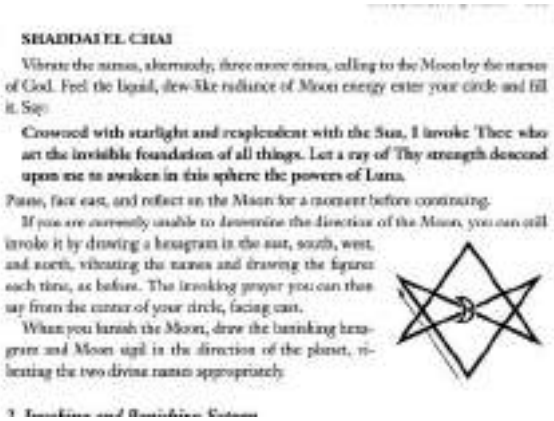
5) https://www.biblicalarchaeology.org/daily/jews-and-arabs-descended-from-canaanites/
6) While not depicted on the flag, the two triangles that make up the “Star of David” are interlaced and swap from top to bottom 6 times. So this symbol has 6 points, a 6-sided shape in the center and the two triangles cross over each other 6 times. That’s a lot of sixes!

First-Known Depiction of the "Star of David" from 4-5th Century AD. Note that the hexagon in the center of the hexagram is intentional.

The up/down triangle can also be represented as a diamond as used by the entities the Defendants Netanyahu and Israel control, such as the Freemasons.

Symbols of the Jewish Community Foundation of Los Angeles, Freemasonry, and Thelema (occult witchcraft/satanism). Note the similarities.

The Thelema symbol also appears in Kabbalah (Jewish mysticism that Defendant Weiser owns a book on):



SHADDAI EL CHAI

Vibrate the names, alternately, three more times, calling to the Moon by the names of God. Feel the liquid, dew-like radiance of Moon energy enter your circle and fill it. Say:

Crowned with starlight and resplendent with the Sun, I invoke Thee who art the invisible foundation of all things. Let a ray of Thy strength descend upon me to awaken in this sphere the powers of Luna.

Pause, face east, and reflect on the Moon for a moment before continuing.

If you are currently unable to determine the direction of the Moon, you can still invoke it by drawing a hexagram in the east, south, west, and north, vibrating the names and drawing the figures each time, as before. The banishing prayer you can then say from the center of your circle, facing east.

When you banish the Moon, draw the banishing hexagram and Moon sigil in the direction of the planet, vibrating the two divine names appropriately.

Note that these are all just six pointed stars with a slightly different appearance than the Star of Remphan. This is because Freemasonry draws its symbols, rituals, and ideology from Jewish practices and is an organization ultimately controlled by Defendant Israel.

In his fourth speech to the U.S. Congress, Defendant Netanyahu stated that “For nearly 4,000 years, the Land of Israel has been the homeland of the Jewish people. It has always been our home, it will always be our home”. As we will see later in this Complaint, Defendant Netanyahu is not lying. Defendant Netanyahu has also previously stated that Israel is "the national state, not of all its citizens, but only of the Jewish people." Based on the “Law of Return” passed in 1950, "every Jew has the right to come to this country as an oleh [immigrant]" This all shows that Defendant Israel is not bound by formal recognition in 1948 or by borders drawn on a map, but the Jewish people all over the world and the land from whence they came. Because of this, actions of Jews anywhere in the world are presumed to belong to Defendant Israel, and thus the actions of the remaining Defendants are presumed to be dual actions of their State of Residence and the State of Israel.

Defendant Israel is a hub for corruption and control of politicians globally, including within Defendants United States and Colorado’s borders, which forms the basis for their inclusion in this suit. The closest word to “corrupt” in Hebrew is pronounced ‘koraft’, which is just “craft” in English--as in skillset or cunning (crafty). The English word for “Craft” in Hebrew is pronounced ‘melacha’, which if you remove the “a” at the end is Moloch, the Canaanite deity or practice of child sacrifice—These types of things are not coincidences.

Liability of Defendants:

All defendants have played a direct role in the facilitation of the pretend world in which humans, including the Plaintiff, reside—at the foundation of this pretend world is the U.S. elections generally and in Colorado which has been strategically engineered to deprive Plaintiff of genuine options within an election both through rigging of the election process and controlling the opposition to egregious policies put forth by the forementioned globalists in pursuit of enslavement of the human population to include the Plaintiff.

Defendants Griswold and Weiser (both Jewish) allow our elections to be fraudulent by refusing to investigate election crimes, using state taxpayer money to protect practices and procedures such as mail in voting and electronic voting machines which are systems heavily prone to fraud and disenfranchisement, they operate their office in violation of Colorado Revised Statutes § 1-1-103 and in violation of federal law under the Enforcement Act of 1870 (secs. 19-22), which was legislation to enforce the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Amendments of the federal Constitution. The practices and procedures implemented by Defendant Griswold in violation of these laws prevents Plaintiff's vote from counting in elections due to dilution of it from fraud allowed and concealed by all defendants.

Plaintiff has a state constitutional right to submit ballot initiatives for inclusion on the ballot and he exercised that right and filed a ballot initiative that would have stopped the election fraud, but was unlawfully and illegitimately blocked by Defendants Hammack, Griswold, and Weiser in violation of the state constitution of Colorado.

Defendant Trump signed an executive order in March of 2025 directing the Attorney General to—among other things— investigate and prosecute election crimes. See Executive Order 14248, sec. 5. Despite that executive order, Defendant Blanche has opted to neglect that responsibility and conducts farcical investigations which are intentionally designed not to result in any significant indictments, such as the raid on Fulton County, GA pertaining only to the 2020 election in which the statute of limitations has conveniently elapsed. Defendant Blanche's Fulton county raid expresses no interest in investigating potential 2024 election crimes or prosecuting the special agent in charge of that FBI field office that tipped off Fulton County to that raid in a blatant act of obstruction of justice. This and other actions from Defendant Blanche prove that they are not genuinely seeking to prosecute larger election cheating rackets, and want to make sure the infrastructure that will allow future elections to be rigged remains in place in direct violation of Defendant Trump's executive order.

The government knows how to put legal pressure on people and organizations, seize documents, execute search warrants and subpoenas, flip corrupt individuals against higher actors, drag people out in handcuffs, and do press conferences on criminal matters, bring indictments, etc. when they want to but they are choosing to feign incompetence when it comes to elections investigations despite the aforementioned executive order directing them to and their legal requirements. Despite the many red flags that Trump's executive order is being blatantly ignored or, at best, being conducted in a manner to prevent identification of more significant prosecutable crimes, they take little to no action to ensure results from these investigations, terminate employment investigators that refuse to do their job, or implement surveillance tactics to prevent future organized election cheating, thereby allowing the criminals that rig our elections to continue to rig future elections. This is because at the end of the day Defendants Griswold, Weiser, Polis, Blanche, Wiles, and Trump all report to the same master (Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel) and their opposition to one another is merely theater for the masses.

Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel work in support of a Soul Cube that recycles souls and feeds on emotions from Plaintiff and other humans. Defendant Israel created humans as a slave species and part of that slave labor is through harvesting negative human emotions. Defendants Netanyahu and Israel then use the remaining defendants and other defendants to create chaos and falsehoods to amplify the inputs to this device. This whole scheme operates in violation of the Eighth and Thirteenth Amendments protection against cruel and unusual punishment and slavery.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

On or about December 22, 2024 a retired MOSSAD (Israeli Intelligence Service) was did an interview on an American news network program called “60 Minutes” and was quoted as stating “we create a pretend world. We are a global production company: We write the screenplay, we’re the directors, we’re the producers, we’re the main actors. And the world is our stage.”

On January 25, 2025, Plaintiff mailed via USPS First Class Mail a complaint to the White House detailing the rampant election fraud occurring nationally and in Colorado, requesting a federal investigation into elections in Colorado.[7] Copies of the letter were also mailed via USPS First Class mail to the White House (Defendant Wiles), the U.S. Attorney General (Pam Bondi), the U.S. Attorney for the District of Colorado (falls under the DOJ), the Federal Bureau of Investigation Headquarters (falls under the DOJ), the Federal Bureau of Investigation Denver Division (falls under the DOJ), the U.S. Election Assistance Commission, the Colorado Secretary of State (Defendant Griswold), the Colorado Attorney General (Defendant Weiser), the Colorado Governor (Defendant Polis), and other political entities with a direct interest in the matter.

On January 27, 2025 at 9:20 AM MST, Plaintiff emailed a digital copy of the aforementioned request for a federal investigation to the following email addresses: susan.wiles@who.eop.gov, merrick.garland@doj.gov, AskDOJ@usdoj.gov, USACO.PublicAffairs@usdoj.gov, matthew.kirsch@usdoj.gov, denver@ic.fbi.gov, washington.field@ic.fbi.gov, brian.driscoll@ic.fbi.gov, bhovland@eac.gov, thicks@eac.gov, cmccormick@eac.gov, dpalmer@eac.gov, geoff_antell@thune.senate.gov, governorpolis@state.co.us, Philip.Weiser@coag.gov, phil@philforcolorado.com, jena.griswold@state.co.us, stephen.fenberg.senate@coleg.gov, james.mchenry@usdoj.gov, elections@coloradosos.gov, and other political entities and government officials. Out of these cited email addresses, the only one to receive a notice of undeliverable status was susan.wiles@who.eop.gov. In response to that, Plaintiff forwarded the email to stephen.miller@who.eop.gov, wherein no rejection or undeliverable message was received in response.

On March 25, 202, , Defendant Trump signed Executive order 14248 entitled "Preserving and Protecting the Integrity of American Elections". The executive order stated that "Free, fair, and honest elections unmarred by fraud, errors, or suspicion are fundamental to maintaining our constitutional Republic. The right of American citizens to have their votes properly counted and tabulated, without illegal dilution, is vital to determining the rightful winner of an election," and that "Under the Constitution, State governments must safeguard American elections in compliance with Federal laws that protect Americans' voting rights and guard against dilution by illegal voting, discrimination, fraud, and other forms of malfeasance and error." This executive order also directed the Attorney General to "prioritize enforcement of Federal election integrity laws in [States that refuse to enter into an election information sharing agreement] to ensure election integrity given the State's demonstrated unwillingness to enter into an information-sharing agreement or to cooperate in investigations and prosecutions; and…" that the Attorney General shall "take all appropriate action to align the Department of Justice's litigation positions with the purpose and policy of this order."

On June 27th, 2025, it was reported that Defendant Trump called for the DOJ to activate a special prosecutor to look into election fraud[8], stating that the " [The 2020] election was rigged and stolen, and we can't allow that to happen again."

On June 27th, Plaintiff emailed previous Attorney General Pam Bondi (pamela.bondi@usdoj.gov) , the Assistant Attorney General for the Civil Rights Division (harmeet.dhillon@usdoj.gov), FBI Director (Kashyap.P.Patel@nsc.eop.gov), Defendant Blanche (todd.blanche@usdoj.gov), Defendant Wiles (susan.wiles@who.eop.gov) and others within the administration informing them of the Defendant Trump's call for a special prosecutor, informing them that the Brennan Center for Justice (an election propaganda firm that declares that our elections are secure and there is no cause for concern and is frequently cited by politicians and media as a non-partisan election oversight group) had an unnatural influx of revenue in 2020 going from ~$26M in 2019 to ~85M in 2020 which would indicate that a lot of wealthy people knew in advance they would need narrative control over the 2020 election, and informing them of the copious amounts of money funneled to former Cybersecurity & Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) Director, Christopher Krebs (pivotal in the 2020 election for "debunking" Defendant Trump's claims that the 2020 election was rigged and the man in charge of securing electronic voting equipment infrastructure) in the form of low responsibility/high paying jobs and company he started immediately after being fired from the CISA Director position which was bought by a company that hired him despite him owning his own cybersecurity company, and how these things point to an organized election racket. No notice of undeliverable status was received.

In Plaintiff's January 2025 letter to the White House[1] pointed out that CISA was likely integral to a larger election cheating conspiracy because of the kind of data they maintained (voter registration, ballot templates, signatures) that could be centralized and weaponized to cheat in the election. On April 9th, 2025, Defendant Trump ordered an investigation into Krebs and his role at CISA, however this investigation was primarily focused on censorship of free speech and not their elections operations. No substantive updates have been given to the public regarding the results of this investigation either.

In response to the many different types of election fraud tactics that occurred across the country to include Colorado, Plaintiff wrote and submitted a ballot initiative, cosponsored by Hazar Mavet Espinoza, entitled the "Colorado Election Integrity Protection Act" on January 15, 2026 to Colorado Legislative Council Staff (LCS) via email. A Public review and comment hearing with the LCS was held on January 29, 2026 at the State Capitol, wherein Plaintiff and the cosponsor both attended. Several notes from the legislative committee staff were given that resulted in the entire initiative needing to be rewritten, but the subject of the initiative is and always remained as election integrity.

On May 26, 2026, Plaintiff filed a Colorado Open Records Act (CORA/FOIA) requesting a copy of all complaints pertaining to election procedures or potential fraud that the Secretary of State's office is aware of from October 1st, 2018 to the present. U.S. Attorney for the District of Colorado (peter.mcneilly@usdoj.gov) and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (Kashyap.P.Patel@nsc.eop.gov) were copied on the email.

On May 29, 2026, the CORA office responded to Plaintiff's CORA request and estimated that it take 21.10 hours of labor and would require a deposit of $872.91 for them to proceed with the request. Plaintiff responded asking the CORA office to remove complaints filed by himself from the request and informed them that if they scammed him like they did with a previous CORA request fee ($106.00 for 8 pages with only an email address redacted), he would file suit against them seeking his money back. On Jun 2, 2026, the CORA office wrote back adjusting their estimate to 20.6 hours of time and a deposit of $852.22 to proceed. Plaintiff requested a link to pay online and forwarded that link to peter.mcneilly@usdoj.gov, Kashyap.P.Patel@nsc.eop.gov, and harmeet.dhillon@usdoj.gov, and todd.blanche@usdoj.gov giving them a few days to pay the bill so that Defendant Blanche should they wish to appear at least mildly interested in investigating potential election crimes. The DOJ did not pay the fee and Plaintiff ended up paying the fee himself for the records.

Plaintiff rewrote and resubmitted the initiative to the LCS, again cosponsored by Ms. Espinoza, on March 20, at 3:33 PM MST via email. A public review and comment hearing with the LCS was held on April 3, 2026 at 11:00AM, and Plaintiff and Ms. Espinoza both attended the meeting.

After the Review and Comment Hearing on April 3, 2026 at 2:22 PM MST, Plaintiff emailed the Colorado Title Board (initiatives@coloradosos.gov) with a copy of the updated initiative, the previous version of the initiative, and a proposed title as a separate document from the initiative for their office's convenience. Within that email, Plaintiff explicitly stated that "There is no highlighted version attached because the entire initiative had to be rewritten to conform with legislative requirements."

On April 3, 2026 at 3:02 PM—after the Title Board submission deadline—Defendant Hammack emailed Plaintiff and stating that

"Thank you for your submission, however, your filing does not meet the statutory filing requirements of Colorado Revised Statute 1-40-105, thus your filing is rejected.

To be consider[sic] a complete filing for the April 15th Title Board meeting, you must provide the following by today's 3pm filing deadline:

Original typewritten draft submitted to the directors of the legislative council

7) A copy of this letter can be found at this link: https://fixcoelections.com/letter-to-white-house
8) https://x.com/dom_lucre/status/1938636593197429103?s=46&t=KsTvYwO7POw2gTHB6rjEeg

Amended draft with changes highlighted (redlined), if any amendments were made following the last review and comment meeting conducted pursuant to subsection 1-40-105(1) and (2), and

The final draft that does not include a ballot question.

The names and mailing addresses of the two designated representatives."

On April 3rd, 2025 at 3:06 PM, Defendant Hammack emailed a coworker, Theresa Conley and the Colorado "Statewide Initiatives" email address referring to her denial of Plaintiff's ballot initiative stating that "FYI – I rejected this filing on the grounds that I have no idea the initiative number and from the sounds of it, they made substantive changes to the text and did not go back through review and comment".

On April 3, 2026 at 5:23 PM, Plaintiff responded to Defendant Hammack's email reiterating the reason no redlined copy was attached and directing her to treat the whole document as redlined and pointing out that the "ballot question" element she mentioned or the address requirement was not mentioned on the Defendant Griswold's website for title submissions, and pointing out that the email was sent after the deadline. Additionally, Plaintiff responded to Defendant Hammack's email and informed Defendants Griswold and Weiser (both added to the email - jena.griswold@state.co.us and Philip.Weiser@coag.gov) that he would be suing them for obstruction of our state Constitutional right to file ballot initiatives, and also indicated that he would be concurrently suing the federal government for their refusal to prosecute Colorado election officials for their election crimes. The email lastly informed them that a formal notice would be sent out in the following week to all parties that would be named in the suit. An undeliverable status response was received for Philip.Weiser@coag.gov.

On April 10, 2026,, Plaintiff mailed a formal letter indicating his intention to sue via USPS Certified Mailed to: Cheryl Hammack 1700 Broadway, Suite 550 Denver, CO 80290.

On April 13, 2026 at 9:33 AM Plaintiff emailed a copy of the letter to cheryl.hammack@coloradosos.gov and Statewide.Initiatives@coloradosos.gov. The letter cited the basis of liability in this matter for all defendants (to include Defendant Hammack) and informed her that if her office did not reverse course in their rejection of setting a Title Board Hearing within 21 days, that he would file a lawsuit seeking redress and monetary damages. A copy of the letter was also mailed via USPS Certified mail on April 10, 2025 to all domestic defendants. A letter via USPS International First Class Mail was sent to Defendant Netanyahu at the address listed in his paragraph of the introduction and the Attorney General for Israel. The letter sent to Defendant Netanyahu was returned as undeliverable, however the letter to the Attorney General for Israel was not.

On May 20, 2026, Plaintiff filed an emergency complaint requesting multiple different injunctions against the Defendants and requested emergency processing of that complaint.

On May 22, 2026, Plaintiff mailed a physical copy of the Request to Waive Service of Summons forms, the completed Civil Action Cover Sheet, the completed Pro Se Complaint form, the operative Complaint, and the Certificate of Service for the foregoing documents to all initial defendants' respective government offices as specified on the enclosed copy of the Certificate of Service.

On May 26, 2026, Plaintiff emailed all Defendants at their corresponding email addresses a copy of the Request to Waive Service of Summons forms, the completed Civil Action Cover Sheet, the completed Pro Se Complaint form, the operative Complaint, and the Certificate of Service for the foregoing documents as specified on the enclosed copy of the Certificate of Service. The Court's Human Resources email addresses (COD_HR_Requests@cod.uscourts.gov & cod_hrd@cod.uscourts.gov) were copied on those emails and can act as witnesses for their transmission to the Defendants.

On May 27, 2026, Plaintiff filed a Notice with this Court proving that the Defendants were notified of this litigation and possessed a copy of the Complaint and have a legal requirement to show up without requiring a formal service of process otherwise they should be ordered to reimburse Plaintiff for the cost to formally serve them.

Despite the Defendants' responsibility to make their appearance when they are aware that litigation against them has been filed to reduce financial burden on the Plaintiff, the Defendants have still not made their appearance.

BACKMASKING PROOFS

In a lot of music, certain words and/or phrases are encoded into the song that can be heard when the song is played backwards—this is called "backmasking"[9]. We also know that Jewish people essentially control the entertainment industry, to include music.[10]. These things are known and are not surprising. Many revelations about our world can be made through understanding the Hebrew language and how things translate. What may be surprising to know is that the Hebrew language also contains a lot of meanings that can be derived from the backwards phonetics of English words. It's really Semitic languages in general, because Arabic (the language ancient Egyptians spoke) also has a lot of backmasked terms ('Moon' backwards = Noom = naw-m=sleep, for example), but we will primarily focus on Hebrew with a few examples from Arabic. This will be a crucial concept for the remainder of this Complaint, but we must prove that this is happening first. It's not every word, but it is enough that these are not coincidences. The term "backmask" is itself a backmasked word. The forward phonetic pronunciation of "backmask" does not make any meaningful translation, but backwards the closest word in Hebrew translates to ‘hamiktzav’, which translates to “the rhythm”

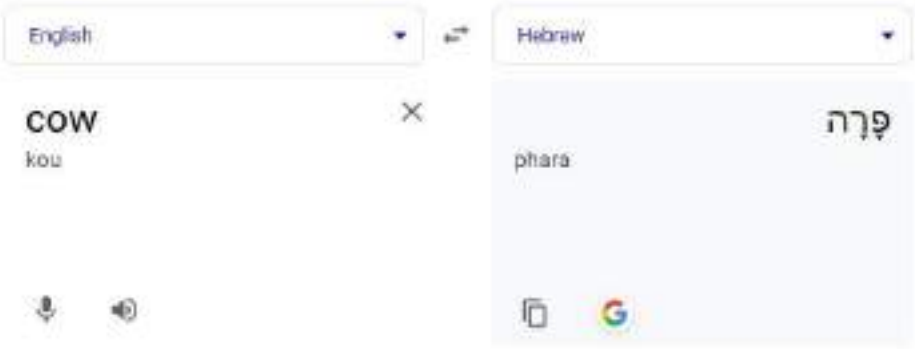
Do you see how that pertains to music? Perhaps, you’re thinking this is a coincidence, but as you will see next, it’s not as it occurs at too great of a rate to be chance.

We know that the people that run our planet are into phallic worship, which may be why they love Ba’al so much, and maybe that’s why Ba’al is a bull, because bulls are known for raw sexual aggression and large penises.

There's a reason that "lord" is pronounced "ba'al" in Hebrew and the word for "Cow" in Hebrew is Phara, which is suspiciously close to "pharaoh" the word for ancient Egyptian kings. These things are not coincidences.



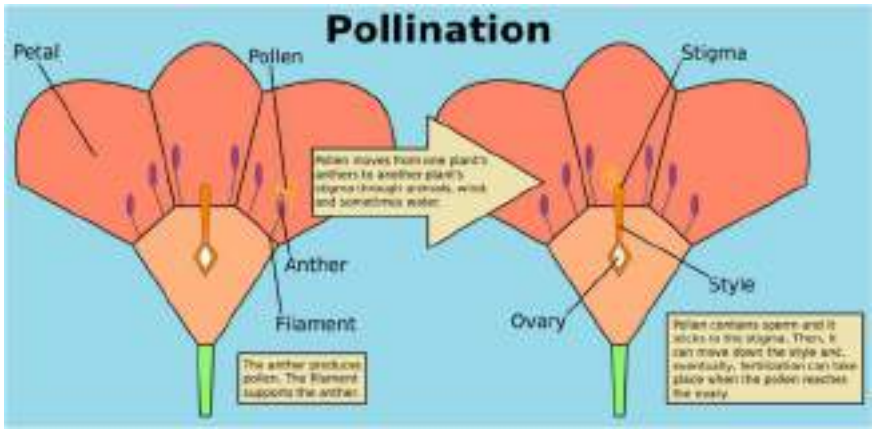
Ba'al wasn't just believed to be the god of agriculture, he was the fertility god as well.

Hmmm… hopefully it's starting to make sense.

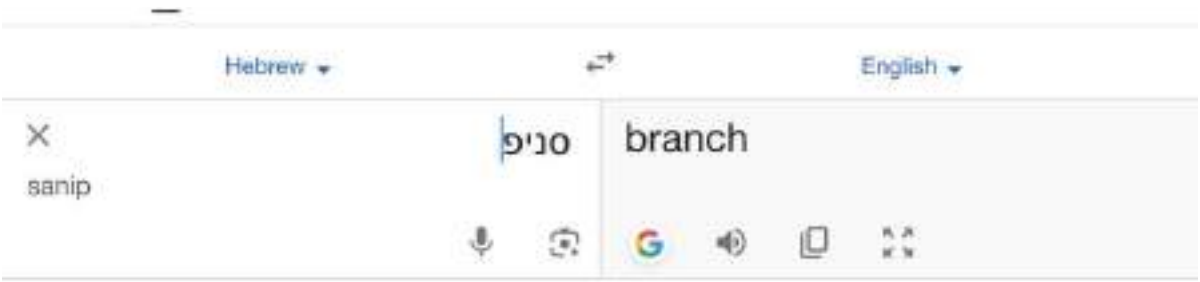
9) https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/backmasking
10) https://thezog.wordpress.com/who-controls-music/

Anyways, because of their obsession with phallic worship lets start our backmasking analysis with the word “penis”:

Forward, the closest word is pronounced ‘Pins’ which translates to “Pines”. Pinecones were used in ancient rituals for pollinating plants and have a heavy association with Saturn worship, alongside the pine-al gland (third eye) and pine trees being used for Christmas. Pollination is a crucial part of procreation for plants and is essentially the transfer of sperm from one plant to another, so these pollination rituals were essentially sex rituals for plants:



Taking the word ‘penis’ and putting it in backwards the closest word is pronounced ‘sanip’ which translates to “Branch”. Trees use branches (appendages like a penis) to create fruits for the purpose of procreation.



The closest word to “erect” backwards is pronounced ‘tazri’ and translates to a synonym for “straighten”, see how that works?

The closest word to “Vagina” is pronounced “vegina” and translates to “and a garden”, and you plant seeds (sperm) in a garden to grow new crops. The backwards pronunciation of the word “vagina” translates to “wipe” and you may or may not see the correlation, but we need not highlight that here.

“Genital” backwards is translates to “delight”.

The closest word to “eggs” in Hebrew is “gas”, which is what we call fuel.

The closest word to “egg” in Hebrew is just the letter “g” and translates to third. Two people having a baby makes three. Get it? This also explains why Freemasonry has the letter “G” at the center.

The closest word to “Eggs” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced “sug” and translates to type, kind, sort, genus, class, brand, category, quality, species, denomination, strain, basket and genre.

We can also see the word “basket”. Women carry the eggs. Under the rules of Halakha (traditional Jewish law), anyone born to a Jewish mother is considered halachically Jewish. In Kabbalah, the “Jewish Soul” is determined by the mother being Jewish. The closest word to the English pronunciation of “Soul” in Hebrew is pronounced ‘shael’ and translates to “belonging to”. Thus, the importance of “belonging to” the Jewish community coming from the mother who carries the eggs aligns with the backmasked translation. This is why ethnic Jews only count someone as Jewish if the mother is ethnically Jewish, proving that the backmasked translation of the term “eggs” translates to maintaining their “type” is intentional.

The ancient Egyptian god ‘Osiris’ translates to Osiris in Hebrew as well. No surprise there. But if you plug it in backwards, the closest word is pronounced “sirsu”, which translates to “castrated”.

The Ancient Egyptian god Osiris was castrated by his brother Set and his penis was eaten by fish in the Nile.

Sticking with procreation-related words, we last examine the word “Baby”, Forward, the closest word is “bei” which translates to “Bye”—shockingly, there is a correlation there when you consider child sacrifice, but we need not focus on that in this section, and we will focus on the backwards translation. The closest word to “baby” backwards is pronounced “yevev” which means “whined”. We all know that babies whine.

There are many more examples and we will see throughout the remainder of the Complaint, but these were provided as proof that things are intentionally encoded into the backwards pronunciation of English words into the Hebrew language.

We approach a chicken-or-egg question as to whether the English language was structured around these backwards terms or if the Hebrew language is being manipulated around the backwards pronunciation of English words. Plaintiff does not know the answer to that, but given the role that Jewish people have played in developing civilization and how cunning they are, it is more likely that it is the former—which, if correct would have the largest implication of anything preceding section within this Complaint, and possibly massive implications for humankind overall. English is a Germanic-derived language and Jews have a long history in Germany (obviously pre-dating the Holocaust)[11], so it is not that farfetched. Plaintiff did not analyze Latin, Greek, or German translations, as those languages had a big impact on development of the English language, but it would not be at all shocking if those languages also had backmasked terminology as well, revealing a level of linguistic engineering going back over a millennia, that is beyond the comprehension of most people/

ELECTION INTEGRITY

We begin our analysis of this issue by translating the backmasked translation of the word “election”. The closest word to “election” backwards is pronounced ‘nitzel’ and translates to “saved”, but as we can see, that is a synonym for “exploit”, “take advantage of”, and “plunder”:

11) https://www.bmi.bund.de/SharedDocs/pressemitteilungen/EN/2021/01/1700-years-jewish-life-in-germany.html?nn=9384552

With that in mind, let's analyze the rest of the election integrity issues:

Plaintiff's ballot initiative inappropriately blocked by Defendants Hammack, Griswold, and Weiser was designed to address the multitude of ways in which election cheating occurs that have largely gone ignored by state and federal authorities. Many of these events were mentioned in the January 25, 2025 letter to Defendant Wiles requesting a federal investigation into Colorado's elections, however some were identified after that letter upon further analysis of the subject matter. Because the citations are so numerous, they will be provided at the end of each subsection instead of at the bottom of each page. The following list includes the significant issues with election integrity that have occurred in the United States over the last decade:

National Election Cheating Infrastructure

The United States has well over 330 million residents spread over a vast swatch of land, so organizing election cheating at such a large scale requires significant infrastructure to be set in place prior to orchestrating the cheat to ensure it flows according to plan. This is the list of things that point to a larger conspiracy to rig elections across the country:

1) The Brennan Center for Justice (BJC) went from ~$26M in revenue in 2019 to ~$86M in 2020.[12] The BJC is heavily cited as an "non-partisan" official source to "debunk" anyone pointing out the significant issues with our elections, and the organization has a nice-sounding name that facilitates that purpose and invokes inherent trust that the organization is objective. The BJC often regurgitates the lie that our elections are safe and secure and evidence of fraud is sparse and is often cited as a "nonpartisan" official source—to a casual reader, they will see that this "non-partisan" organization seeking truth with a trust-invoking name has determined that claims our elections are being rigged are baseless and conclude that there is no reason to be concerned about election fraud. To see such a large jump in financing for an organization with such a purpose in the same year that the most contested election in U.S. history would take place is extremely suspicious and to ignore that is dereliction of investigative responsibility. It is pretty much a 0% chance that this tripling of revenue came from a genuine grassroots donations (that didn't involve money laundering) as most people that read a quote from the BJC in an article take or deny it at face value based on pre-conceived opinions and never think of the organization again, so these donations are highly likely to come from wealthy well-connected individuals that knew in advance that they would need a large "fact checking" apparatus to declare that nothing foul was afoot. The fact that the DOJ has no interest in finding out who these donors were and what they knew before the 2020 election exposes Defendant Blanche and his DOJ's lack of interest in seriously investigating election fraud.

2) ActBlue is a powerhouse money laundering racket for the Democrats which has a lot of sketchy practices that allow the proliferation of fraud on their platform.[13] To be fair, WinRed in a right leaning fundraising organization that also has some sketchy practices, but ActBlue and the political left is undoubtedly taking the lion's share of the benefits from these schemes. The House Judiciary Committee exposed many of these sketchy practices (such as accepting fraudulent donations from domestic and foreign sources, allowing evasion of campaign finance laws, and removing fraud detection measures) and the State of Texas forwarded a criminal referral to the DOJ in April 2025.[14] What the federal report ignores is that many people have reported that they had a donation of ActBlue in their name despite never having donated to the organization.[15] Also ignored is that most of the acts of ActBlue constitute crimes and the people that engaged in them could be prosecuted and sent to prison, but the government chooses to expose it but do nothing to punish wrongdoers. Defendant Blanche won't even do less than the bare minimum which would be to file civil charges against the organization (which is basically equivalent to a civil fine for the organization because no one is going to jail when that happens), and this lack of accountability guarantees that the illegal behavior will continue or a new organization will come to take its place, but based on the current trajectory of Defendant Blanche and his DOJ ActBlue won't even need to bother propping up the same criminality under a different name and they just can continue using the current organization to do it.

3) In 2020, the former Director of the Cybersecurity & Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) Director, Christopher Krebs, designated election infrastructure as a "Critical infrastructure subsector" and met with election officials across the country to discuss election security. After Defendant Trump "lost" the 2020 election, he got into a public spat with Krebs and Krebs "debunked" Defendant Trump's theories. Immediately following the 2020 election, Krebs then started his own cybersecurity firm, the Krebs Stamos Group[16], which immediately started securing large clients.[17] Concurrent with running this business, he was concurrently working for seven to eight organizations for various low-effort/high-paying positions throughout 2021.[18] Counting his own company, he was holding six jobs all at the same time in 2021. He picked up another job in 2022, and another one in 2023. He then sold Krebs Stamos Group to SentinelOne, the company that concurrently employed him while he had his own business in the same industry, for $13.9M in 2023.[19] Common sense would dictate the behaviors of these organizations appear to be funneling money to Krebs for some reason. For so many organizations to funnel Krebs money like this following the 2020 election, it is highly likely that they were thanking him for some kind of actions he took as CISA director, and apparently it must have been a pretty big favor based on the vast amount of money they funneled to him. Take note that the government has zero interest in finding out why Krebs had so much money funneled to him, despite the DOJ being ordered to investigate his actions as CISA director.

4) Within one month after Defendant Trump took office for the second time, at least three large "democracy" promotion organizations shut down their websites like rats off a sinking ship.[20] This includes the Consortium for Elections & Political Process Strengthening, the International Foundation for Electoral Systems, and the National Democratic Institute. They likely shut down their websites because they were concerned the Defendant Trump would begin investigating their operations, but little did they know that the DOJ under Defendant Blanche was going to prevent any productive investigation from occurring.

5) The COVID-19 virus was critical to election cheating infrastructure because it normalized the idea of tens of millions of Americans voting by mail and that it would take days to count ballots rolling in after election day to know the results, with COVID being cited as a primary factor for the delays in counting. In fact, many articles preceding the 2020 election stated that the results of the election would likely take days to count because of mail-in ballots still coming it after election day.[21] One of the earliest articles about this comes from none other than the Brennan Center for Justice on June 30, 2020.[22] Of course there is no way to verify that those ballots were mailed prior to election day, mailed by the person's name on the envelope, or that they weren't just snuck into a vote counting facility on an ad hoc basis. We cannot confirm these things, we just have to trust that these things aren't occurring because places like the BJC and mainstream news tell us to trust our election administrators. The "signature verification" is also a complete farce and undoubtedly prone to manipulation, abuse, and won't catch most fraud as even if a ballot is rejected for a signature mismatch and the voter is prompted to verify their identity because there is no follow up on the people that don't validate their identity. Hell, prior to the 2020 election even CISA acknowledged that mail-in ballots were prone to fraud.[23] As we will see in the next two subsections; Mail-in ballots and absentee ballots that don't require proof of identity to submit (which are intertwined under "mail in voting" withing Colorado's scheme) are the biggest vectors of election fraud and unquestionably unsecure for purposes of conducting an election, but other than Defendant Trump himself, it appears that literally no one else in state or federal government cares to genuinely put an end to this election cheating nor investigating how much fraud actually occurred in past elections through these sketchy universal mail-in ballot operations.

6) The Intelligence and law enforcement Community, to include the DOJ is an unknown liability here as many of their operations are classified and they often function without moral, oversight, or budgetary constraints. These communities engage in all sorts of covert activities such as drug trafficking[24], assassinations[25], entrapment operations[26], sex trafficking[27], torture programs[28], mind control[29], manipulating other countries democratic processes, and many programs that would likely horrify the public if they were known, so the notion that manipulating elections would be off limits to them is foolish. We don't know what kind of classified operations are taking place against our elections, if they used informants/sources to conduct election crimes, or whether they intervened to prevent investigations or prosecutions of election crimes. Suffice it to say that given the degree of sociopathy that exists within these communities, they don't believe in or respect democracy, and thus could act as an instrument for larger election engineering operations. We will likely never know the extent of this and Defendant Trump doesn't have the balls to declassify all intel/law enforcement files pertaining to U.S. elections because they would likely end him, thus this is a large variable when it comes to larger organized election cheating rackets.

Two key findings from this report: “Physical access at election offices and warehouses represents a risk in a mail-in voting environment. Completed ballots are returned to the election office and must be securely stored for days or weeks before processing through voter authentication and tabulation processes. Managing risks to these processes requires implementing secure procedures for storage, access controls, and chain of custody, such as ballot accounting.

Inbound mail-in ballot processes and tabulation take longer than in-person processing, causing tabulation of results to occur more slowly and resulting in more ballots to tabulate following election night. Media, candidates, and voters should expect less comprehensive results on election night, which creates additional risk of electoral uncertainty and confidence in results.”

Non-Colorado National Election Cheating

Colorado is not an island, and exists as part of a much larger country, so ignoring cheating occurring in other states and not considering that it could be happening in Colorado is a huge fallacy. If there is a type of cheating occurring in one state it is likely that it is occurring in other states as well and may just be undetected in our state.

- In California’s 2026 Gubernatorial election, Los Angeles News Reporter has microphone cut off after speaking about helicopters with ballot loads.[30]
- In California 2026 Gubernatorial election, Incumbent Los Angeles Mayor Karen Bass (you’ll see this name again later) had one ballot drop where she gained over 10,000 votes and her competitor gained zero.[31] Statically impossible.
- In Virginia’s 2026 special election, the most populated county didn’t release any results until the majority of other counties were well over 50% reported. This suggests that they needed other counties to report so that they know how many extra votes are needed for the measure to pass while keeping the numbers realistic.

Also, initially they added exactly 35,000 absentee "yes" votes on a measure[32], which suggests calculations were done on how many would be needed to flip the measure from "no" to "Yes" and then that number was inserted while they "counted" the rest of the ballots.

- In the 2025 special election, New Jersey had over 3 million "voters" which drastically exceeded the average over the last 50 years.[33]
- In the 2025 special election in Virginia, at 7:08 PM on election night, the gubernatorial race had 1.448M votes for the Democrat candidate and 1.140M for the Republican candidate, but at 7:30 the totals dropped to 1.310M and 1.042M respectively. This false reporting was enough for the race to be called for the Democrat, which got the public to stop paying attention.[34]
- In the 2025 special election in Virginia, the Democrat Candidate had ~150k early mail-in votes on election night. On the day after the election, the number of "early mail-in" votes jumped to ~300K.
- In California 2025 special election for Prop 50, 36 minutes after the polls closed, 6.5M "votes" for Prop 50 were counted within 36 minutes allowing the race for that issue to be called essentially immediately.[35] Most polls prior to election day were showing a very difficult path for Prop 50[36], yet this almost-instantaneous victory paved the way for a much more partisan gerrymandered map in California, All of this happened while California pretends that it needs to count ballots for days to weeks after an election. They can count 6.5M "votes" in 36 minutes, but same-day election results for presidential elections are impossible? Yeah, that makes a lot of sense…

- In the California 2025 special election, voters in multiple counties reported that their ballots had holes which conveniently revealed whether they voted no on Prop 50 or not.[37]

- In the California 2025 special election, Riverside County reported over 45k more votes than ballots received. The sheriff seized the ballots and, of course, the CA Attorney General and California Supreme Court put an end to the counting of those ballots.[38]

- In the 2025 special election recordings showed homeless people being paid by petitioners to forge real voters' signatures to sign ballot petitions thousands of times.[39]

- In 2024, bomb threats placed against strategic ballot counting facilities in strategic locations[40], which often required shutting down operations for several hours whilst no one knows what was occurring inside the facility or what might have been smuggled out or into them. We will never find out who called in these bomb threats or whether they are part of a greater network, which they almost certainly are as they have "figured out" a way to call in these threats without having the call linked back to them..

- 2,500 likely-fraudulent voter registrations in one PA county. A rational person would have to ask how many times this happens and it is NOT caught.[41]

- In Bucks County, PA (GOP leaning area) the voting line was closed at 1:45PM with no good explanation.[42]

- Georgia set up illegal ballot collection sites at the last minute and tried to prevent poll watchers from observing their "special" weekend operations.[43] This is deeply illegal, but election officials tried to allow it under the cover of darkness it until the public pressure became too great. One of these illegal sites had a day where only 16 ballots were received—If observers were not monitoring it, how many ballots would have been received?

- In Whitfield County, GA voters that voted for Trump had their votes flipped when the printout sheet came out.[44]
- Milwaukee, WI 4:00AM ballot dump results in bizarre leap in votes for Democrat Senate candidate.[45] Some precincts in Milwaukee had over 200% turnout. Nearly 99% of the 4:00AM ballot drop when to the Democrat candidate.
- In 2024, Voting machine "glitch" in Kentucky did not allow voters to select Trump.[46]
- Twenty ballots in Minnesota state house race went missing from one precinct in a race ultimately decided by 14 votes.[47] This race had even bigger stakes as it would determine whether Republicans would take the chamber.
- Voting machines in unspecified GOP stronghold areas mysteriously stopped working, forcing voters to wait in line for hours (likely in the hopes that they would give up).[48]
- In Orange County, CA there were tens of thousands of ballot discrepancies in their 2018 midterms.[49, 50] This is also one of the first references to large scale ballot harvesting operations where some individuals dropped off 100 or 200 ballots at a time with no chain of custody or explanation for where they came from.[39] Also noted is that "California saw 4,547,705 mail-in ballots cast [in 2014 general election]; that number nearly doubled to 8,302,488 in 2018." This is likely the beginning of the ramping up of smaller scale cheating operations into large scale

- In 2020, Fulton County, GA (Atlanta) had severe election integrity issues: missing ~381k ballot images, failure to validate 148k signatures, double-scanning of ballots, etc.[51] During the counting, one election worker was quoted as saying "It's time to consider taking out the boxes and doing our thing. That is what you want…. We are staying after. We have an entire evening to wipe this over and over… Take the boxes and get me some results."[52] Defamation suits with excessive and manifestly unreasonable penalties from our corrupt court system that often rewrites reality aside, such a quote creates a perception of a conspiracy to commit election cheating.

- Over Columbus Day Weekend in Georgia, one drop box had 1,900 ballots received but surveillance showed that only 24 people visited the drop box during that time.[53] Plaintiff cited this as 19,000 ballots, but Gateway Pundit corrected this to 1,900—still a staggering amount of ballots for 24 people to drop off in 24 hours—That is an average of 80 ballots per visitor!

- On November 4th, 2020 (the day after the 2020 election) Detroit, MI had a van pull up in the early morning and drop off 61 boxes of ballots.[54] Regardless of what local authorities say, common sense must be used: If voting was cut off at 7:00PM on November 3rd and collected by election officials immediately, why would it take all the way until the next morning for the ballots to arrive at the counting facility? It is claimed that there is "no evidence" that this was them cheating, however it should be noted that no objective authority looked for evidence of cheating. When Gateway Pundit looked into it, they found a staggering amount of massive red flags in Detroit's 2020 election to include fraudulent addresses, unsigned & undated envelopes processed, illegally backdated timestamps, and impossible same-day overseas deliveries, and that over 10% of ballots were missing ballot envelopes.[54, 55] Are we supposed to be stupid enough to think that this was the only place this kind of cheating is happening?

- In November 6th, 2020, the Michigan GOP Chair revealed that "Ballots were counted for Democrats that were meant for Republicans... tabulating software 'glitched'... We have now discovered that 47 counties used this same software."[57]

- Sen. James Lankford noted that in the 2020 election within Nevada there was 42k people that voted more than once, 1,500 dead voters, 19k not residents of Nevada, 15k registered to commercial address, and 4,000 illegal alien voters.[58] Despite this revelation, not a single prosecution has commenced against people voting in this manner.

- North Carolina allowed mail-in ballots to be counted 6 days after the 2020 election. The problem with this policy is that there is no chain-of-custody established for each ballot and the votes are likely not postmarked to certify they were mailed prior to the closure of the ballot boxes. Of course, the GOP's suit against this sketchy law was dismissed by a partisan hack judge within our corrupt court system.[59]

- In 2020, Arizona state senate did an audit of Arizona's 2020 election. It turns out that 25% of 2020 mail-in ballots (~421k out of ~19M) had no signature match whatsoever.[60]

- A forensic audit of Maricopa County (Phoenix), and 10% were found to be counterfeit. Assuming this only occurred in Maricopa County (an inappropriate assumption), 10% of such a large population county has drastic effects for the entire state—a lot of issues/candidates at federal, state, and local level are decided by margins much smaller than that.[61]

- In 2020 in Wisconsin, Michael Spitzer Rubenstein (any relation to former Mesa County prosecutor that prosecuted Tina Peters?) was a partisan election operative paid by none other than Mark Zuckerberg and he had access to the ballots, election computers, and keys for buildings and could decide which ballots counted and which ones didn't. Zukerberg and Rubenstein are both Jewish last names… and Zukerberg was cited earlier in this Complaint for using his power to sway the 2020 election in favor of the Democrats… hmmm. Plaintiff digresses. During the election Mr. Rubenstein was noted as using a hidden internet connection with secret passwords provided by the Green Bay counting facility host and had a private router ran up to his personal hotel room at the counting facility. The hotel itinerary for the booking noted on Election day that "Somewhere around 6:15AM, ballots will begin to arrive at the hotel. There will be approximately 47 boxes of ballots that will go to the Grand Ballroom. The persons bringing the ballots will go to (hotel) security for term check and wrist banding and will need assistance getting a red cart/s and shown the way to the Grand Ballroom via elevator and back of house."[62] These kinds of developments obviously support the appearance of organized election cheating occurring in Wisconsin regardless of whether or not actual election cheating took place.

- 2020 Democrat Ballot Harvester in Minnesota films himself with hundreds of absentee ballots and brags that money buys elections.[52] Reminder: Part of the Orange County, CA GOP investigation also revealed that ballot harvesters would drop off 100 to 200 ballots without explanation for where they came from or chain of custody.[50]

- In September of 2020, the Cybersecurity & Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) was aware that the spread of COVID-19 was not going to be increased by in-person voting and that mail-in voting posed "major challenges" and "high numbers of improperly completed ballots" could be injected into the race.[64] Despite that, CISA still supported policy changes that allowed rampant cheating in our elections and conspired with mainstream media to cover up these significant concerns.[65]

- Five people in Bridgeport, CT charged in voter fraud case. A city council-member was quoted as saying "The lead bosses tell us to do the work, and we do, and we get criminalized."[66] This guy is literally indicating that they were directed cheat in the election. Note the government's lack of interest in finding out who these "lead bosses" are.

- There is a variable for election cheating that was reported to the federal government and they chose not to investigate, such as Plaintiff's complaint to them early last year. How many others? Likely hundreds, if not thousands.

- There is another variable that must be placed for election cheating that did not get detected. It would be foolish to think that this is an all-encompassing list of the election cheating that took place across America over the last few federal elections. There is a lot of cheating that was not detected because people weren't looking.

Take note that the federal government is well aware of the vast majority of these instances, but simply doesn't care about any of them except the 2020 ballots in Fulton County, GA (a raid which was leaked because of an FBI special agent that they refuse to indict) which is a very narrowly-tailored investigation designed not to produce any meaningful indictments as the statute of limitations has conveniently ran out on 2020 election crimes. See 52 U.S.C. 30145. So, we are now expected to believe they are going to try to build a larger grand conspiracy RICO case to circumvent the statute of limitations, which will end up in limitless litigative battles as opposed to simply investigating the 2024 election crimes that also took place and is well within the statute of limitations. It's clear that the best-case plan is to indict a few low-level Black people down in Georgia, paint them as the face of election cheating, and ignore the much greater mountain of diverse and highly organized election cheating that will continue in future elections because it avoids implication of Defendant Netanyahu and the State of Israel, which all U.S. presidential administrations are beholden to. The worst-case plan is to have zero meaningful indictments and keep their farcical investigation going as long as possible to continue wasting taxpayer money while our elections continue to be rigged beyond belief. This is a sad state of affairs for America and proves that freedom and fair elections are largely illusory. There is no path to stopping election cheating because both political parties and the government all report to the same master: Defendant Netanyahu.

Colorado Election Cheating

Colorado has had its fair share of election cheating. Many of these things were pointed out to federal and state authorities and they refuse to investigate any of it, but some were identified after Plaintiff’s January 2025 letter to the White House and further bolster the case proving the illegitimacy of Colorado elections.

- 487,887 voter participation records from 2020, 2022, and 2024 elections were altered AFTER the elections were certified, to include changes to the vote status of the voter, and adding and deleting registrations.[67]
- Colorado's two largest counties (Denver and El Paso counties) used software that would allow for editing pdf data and metadata on files presenting election results following the creation of the PDF files. El Paso county used PScript5.dll Version 5.2.2 which allows for alterations to PDF text and metadata and Denver County used Microsoft PDF Reporting Services PDF Rendering Extension which also allows for alterations to PDF text and metadata. They could have altered the files subsequent to their creation and hid those changes from appearing in the metadata, and there is some indication that they not only could theoretically manipulate the PDF data but that they did in fact manipulate text within the PDF file.
- The "audit" letter of El Paso County's 2020 election results from the Clear Ballot Group was signed by their Vice President of Technical Services with a date of October 6th, 2021, but the metadata for the file shows a creation date for the file of May 12, 2021—a whole 5 months before the purported date of the letter. The metadata for the file for that letter also shows that Skia/PDF backend was used on the PDF file, which can also alter metadata of PDF files. Not that it matters because the letter is deceitful anyways as it falsely states that Clear Ballot's tabulation of the results was "completely independent" despite Clear Ballot Group requesting the election results by precinct prior to doing the tabulation meaning it was not a blind output and we are left with "We didn't match our tabulation to the county results by precinct that we requested beforehand to make the county look good, trust me bro" malarkey—its not as if there's a financial incentive for Clear Ballot to make the people hiring them look good so they continue to get business. [insert eye roll]. There are other issues with the Clear Ballot "Audit" as well: (1) The presentation slides to "sell" their product contain five slides in total, with the slide being the title slide and the remaining four slides containing almost no information[68]—meaning that they "talked through" pretty much everything. The fact that the county agreed to this reeks of embezzlement. (2) There was no validation of ballot authenticity, scan validity (i.e. whether the ballot scans were digitally or manually altered or if any duplicate ballot scans were identified, nor did they confirm if the voter's name on the ballot actually submitted the ballot. The digital files are taken as gospel. (3) The Statement of Work for the contract was fairly vague, meaning that Clear Ballot Group was not really agreeing to much in actuality.[69] (4) El Paso County took over adjudication after the "audit" of the 2020 Election without any explanation for why.[70] (5) There was a lot of "adjudication" needed for an election that was already "certified", proving what a joke "certification" of an election is in Colorado.[71] (6) "fully blank" ballots were adjudicated for "voter intent".[72] If the ballot is "fully blank", then the voters intent must have been to not vote, so all of these should have a value of zero for all issues. (7) Clear Ballot Group checks with the county following receipt of a request for an interview from a local TV station to check if there was anything the county wanted them to say or not say about the audit, the county then indicates their preference that they handle all messaging of the audit.[73] While coordination of messaging is not inherently problematic, it reveals that this whole "audit" is just a PR thing and not an actual independent audit.

While the Clear Ballot "audit" is littered with issues, it does appear that they did something and were checking the results of scanned ballot images. However, this audit is not “independent” as advertised to the public due to the aforementioned issues and the large amount of coordination between the two parties throughout the endeavor. While this “audit” seems to be a ripoff, at least its something, which is better than we can say for most counties. Other counties with no audit whatsoever are likely in much worse shape and have far more fraud inherent.

- For the 2024 election, El Paso County reported the numbers of “cards cast” as matching the amount of ballots received[74], but in Denver County, the amount of “cards cast” on the unofficial election results was 1,104,271 with 369,441 ballots received.[75] What is the cause of this difference between how counties are reporting this figure? How many elections has this difference in counting been occurring? Can additional “cards cast” be used to manipulate the tabulation? Likely. Despite that, there will be no meaningful investigation.

- On November 6, 2024 (the day after the election), the New York Times was reporting Denver County as having 66% of votes in with ~198k votes for Harris and ~48k for Trump meaning they were anticipating ~373k votes, but on November 7th they were reporting Denver as having only 55% of votes in with ~228k votes for Harris and ~57k votes for Trump meaning they were anticipating ~518k votes.[76] The end total of votes received for that election ended up being closer to the first figure, but this temporary shift in how many votes they were suggests possible illegal manipulation behind the scenes.

- The amount of “registered voters” varies wildly depending on which report you look at. For example, on the CO Secretary of State’s website showing the official 2020 election results Denver has 522,663[77], the official results from Denver County for the 2020 election shows 460,434[78], and the voter registration statistics report from the Secretary of State for the 2020 election shows 457,804[79] for November 2020 going up to 459k in December. This issue partially exists for El Paso county in the same election, showing 516,746[77], 457,163[80], and 450,145[79] respectively. Why does this number shift so much between sources for the same reporting month?

- Defendant Griswold refused to remove wireless access modules installed on voting machines across 12 counties overseeing 400,000 voters less than one month before the 2024 election.[81]

- Defendant Griswold leaked the BIOS passwords before the 2024 general election to the public by including them in a hidden sheet in an Excel file. Combined with the wireless cards Defendant Griswold refused to remove, it makes it even more of a risk than was already present.[82] To Defendant Griswold's credit, she hired an external law firm to conduct an inquiry into it and that firm concluded that it was a mistake to leak the passwords and not intentional. The investigative report shows what appears to be a thorough investigation, however Plaintiff cannot vouch for or against the depth of the investigation[83], and it should be noted that there is always an inherent conflict of interest when being hired by the government.

- low quality video feeds and poor angles on cameras that should be monitoring ballot drop boxes, making tracking excessive ballot harvesting and the people doing it impossible to track.[81] Not only are these videos prohibitively expensive to request and take copious amounts of time to review, but even if you do request them, in some instances you won't even be able to verify that no cheating took place, this is, of course, by design.

- Colorado Institute for Fair Elections identified several deficiencies with mail-in ballot integrity to include inadequate tracking of undeliverable ballots (ballots that did not reach the voter, with many ballots missing with no explanation as to where they went).[81]

- A fraudulent ballot submission scheme involving a postal worker and another woman was detected in Mesa County.[84] Sixteen fraudulent ballots were submitted to Mesa County and some of those fake ballots were counted and irreversible. One of these ballots was only detected after a voter got a notification that they voted when they knew they hadn't voted yet. While being hailed as a success and "proof that the system works" to detect fraud, the issue was only caught because an election worker just happened to call the voter to ask about their ballot, which is not standard practice nor a policy for mismatched signatures across the state. Declaring it a "success" also fails because it ignores that more fraudulent ballots made it through than were detecting with the "signature validation" procedures. The bigger elephant in the room is whether more ballots were submitted than investigators identified or whether there were ballots strategically not delivered to certain areas without submitting them (CO State Rep. Suckla stated during his testimony in support of HB25-1193 in the state legislature stated that some areas of the state reported not receiving their ballots). There is no indication that they searched for a larger network these two individuals may have been working within or whether any of her coworkers were also engaged in similar activities. Also, note the lack of interest from federal prosecutors despite this being a federal offense. Google. Trends shows that people in Israel were searching for the one of one of the perpetrators, Sally Maxedon, in December of 2020 and March of 2018.[85] That's not a common name, so what are the odds they were looking it up at any time, let alone key election years? Of course, she avoided jail time. We don't know that she wasn't an informant or foreign agent getting paid to commit election crimes or what kind of interventions or conversations behind the scenes led to this slap on the wrist, because there is no obligation to tell the public these things. It is highly likely that the large scale election rigging we see across the country involves a large network of informants working for the government and that elements of the government work to protect them from facing consequences.

- Many reports of people getting ballots with names of previous residents going back years. So many that it must be systemic. Extra ballots floating around are crucial for rigging elections, and it's clear that they are using them to screw us.[86]

- The political shift from a moderate state to a hard left irredeemable state starting in 2018 (when ballot harvesting operations ramped up) present numbers are cannot explained by new residents as that would imply that absurd percentages of new Colorado residents are hard left voters that always show up to vote or that there was a huge repository of hard left voters that magically started showing up in 2018-2020 and never stopped. A greater analysis of this enigma was provided in Plaintiff's letter to the White House requesting an investigation into Colorado Elections.[7]

- Before the video of the homeless election racket in California became public, a woman on X posted an affidavit from a person in Colorado alleging they were homeless and saw homeless facilities with ballots stacked openly and a black transit van picking up and dropping off ballots at the same time.[87] Sounds eerily similar.

- There is clearly a racket going on with the vacancy process in Colorado, because multiple state legislators resigned immediately after winning their election or taking office. To have a series of newly inducted or electorally-assigned legislators resign immediately after being declared the winner of an election shows that he vacancy process in Colorado is obviously a racket (likely bribery) that the federal government ignores as well. Likely because it involves Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel. For example, we know that Arizona candidate Kari Lake was offered a lucrative job by Jeff DeWit, the Chair of the Arizona GOP, if she would drop out of the Senate race, essentially a bribe.[88]. Jeff DeWitt's financial disclosure form[89] shows that he was given gifts over $500.00 from multiple donors to include the Milken Institute (Jewish last name), Donald J. Trump for President, Inc. (Trump is Jewish), the State Financial Officer's Foundation, and the National Association of State Treasurers Foundation (CEO Shaun Snyder, Snyder is a name of German origin, but adopted by many Jewish families when moving to the United States). New Mexico State Senator Jay Block's daughter came out and said that her father was paid by Israel and met with Defendant Netanyahu.[90] This influence undoubtedly extends to Colorado as we can see multiple Israel flags from CO State Representative Larry Suckla[91]—A discussion in the replies to that post from CO State Representative Ava Flanell (ethnically Jewish) revealed that an Israel flag was present on her desk prior to her getting into office[92], meaning that the legislator before her had that flag on their desk as well or someone just put it there before she got into office. Naturally, Google Trends reveal that people in Israel were searching for her name in November of 2022, well before Flanell entered politics.[93] It is likely that the culprit behind these state legislators resigning and leaving their seat to the corrupt vacancy process is Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel either directly or through proxy.

- Complaints that were sent to the secretary of state in which no action was taken to investigate. Defendant Griswold has been in her position for about 7 years and there is not a single publicly reported instance of a complaint of election officials not following procedures or of violations of election law being initiated by her office and investigated. Plaintiff has undoubtedly sent a complaint to her and no action was taken.[7] She has ignored many election complaints over the years, many are small and insignificant complaints not indicating any larger scale cheating efforts, but some indicate significant misconduct on the part of election officials and there is no indication that any follow up was conducted by her office.[94] How many election officials did not report violations because they knew she wouldn't do anything—Plaintiff is aware of at least 2 people that were aware of violations to election procedures and didn't report because they didn't know who to go to or trust anything would be done about it. Who could blame them? These things are reported and both the state and federal governments do nothing about it. How many other complaints like this exist that we don't know about? Its higher than zero, and thus exists as a variable that cannot be ignored.

- In the 2026 GOP Primary, El Paso County went from reporting 81% complete to 74%.[95] This is very similar to what Happened in Denver in 2024 and highly likely to indicate fraud.[76]

- A lot of election crimes happen and the criminals never get caught—especially with ballot harvesting and universal mail-in voting. You would be a fool to think that all election fraud has been detected, thus a variable must be entered for election fraud that was not detected, but definitely happened with a value of greater than zero.

Elections in the United States are unquestionably marred with fraud and because the fraud is so rampant we literally cannot vote our way out of it. Plaintiff's ballot initiative would have stopped all of it and prescribed strict penalties for violators and mechanisms for enforcing those penalties, but it was illegally obstructed by Defendants Griswold, Hammack, and Weiser, and it is all very demonic.

2.3 Clear Ballot Responsibilities:

- Provide a project manager
- Provide project status updates on a mutually agreed-upon schedule
- Provide a secure method for the transfer of files in Section 2.2. If physical medium is utilized, Clear Ballot will provide external hard drives and shipping fees.
- Provide necessary technical, logistical, and training support with respect to the ClearAudit Product
- Using information provided:
  - Create and test Ballot Definition Files (BDFs)
  - Import all voted ballot images into the ClearAudit software
  - Using BDFs provided, perform an independent tabulation of the ballot images and provide Customer with a report of summary results.
  - Using the result report and Cast Vote record export from 2.2, create and provide to Customer comparison and discrepancy reports that identified discrepancies between the resulted generated by the voting system and the ClearAudit results at the individual ballot level
- Following completion of the post-election verification project:
  - For 180 days after the Election (the "Post-Election Period"), provide Authorized Users with access to Clear Ballot Data Validation Portal with the post-election audit results for the applicable election

"Create and test Ballot Definition Files (BDFs)" Test them for what? It doesn't say.
"Import all voted ballot images into the ClearAudit software" No shit. How else would they do the audit?
"perform an independent tabulation of the ballot images" It's not really independent if Clear Ballot has the end results while doing this "audit".. How do we know they aren't just matching their results to make the county look good? We don't.
"for 180 days after the Election… provide Authorized users with access to Clear Ballot Data Validation Portal with the post-election audit results for the applicable election" What data is the county "validating"? Doesn't this defeat the purpose of the audit? They should be able to just send the data and wait for the report? They should not be this involved in the audit process.

70) for the 2020 Invoice it lists "adjudication" as part of the anticipated products

But in 2021 and beyond, that part was removed and it became more vague.

It says 1300 remaining unreadable ballots, meaning it was more than 1300, and considering the amount of time that had passed from the start of the "audit" to that email, it was likely substantially more. Plaintiff was unable to identify the total amount based on the email communications he possesses.
"overvote" refers to the ballot marking more than one selection within a contest. There is no indication how many of these they found as well, nor do publicly posted data indicate this, but the fact that so much adjudication is necessary reveals how flawed elections procedures in the state are.

> Thank you, Jay. May we have the Yes/No contests re-enable for view? We will be posting the result for all contests, if possible so we'd like to knock out overvote adjudication on those as well.

that we would have to wait to see a judge to cast our vote. We were told that the judge would give us directions on the voting, then we would fill out our ballot and then go back to the judge for him to review our votes. I asked her to clarify what she meant by review the votes. She explained " depending on how you voted, your ballot may go in the black box or white box. I asked if there was electronic ballot scanners and she said no. She said the only electronic scanner was in Castle Rock and that we were not allowed to use it to cast our votes. She went on to say that the black and white boxes would be taken to castle rock to be scanned.

My question is this, If they are going to be scanned in anyway, why are they separating our ballots in different colored boxes depending on how we vote? My second question is why am I being required to disclose my votes to another person (judge)?

Nothing about this seems right. Can you please advise me on the legality of this?

83) While presumed to be objective and neutral, but like most conflicts of interest; Third Party Investigators are likely to be influenced by who is paying them to produce the report. The firm acquired to review the password leak was Baird Quinn LLC. The subfirm hired for computer forensics consulting was ArcherHall. Federal Election Commission (FEC) filings show that the chief investigator at Baird Quinn, Beth Doherty Quinn made several relatively small donations to ActBlue, a Democrat campaign fundraising organization. Colorado state election records also indicate a history of Quinn supporting Democrat candidates and causes with moderate donations. FEC filings show that one of the Expert Witnesses and Manager of Digital Forensics at ArcherHall, Brian Chase also has a history of donating to ActBlue. A donation to a partisan cause is not a sole determinant of bias, but it is a potential one. That being said, Plaintiff conducted a hasty review of the final report and based on that review it does appear to be written in an objective manner and no significant red flags of bias become immediately apparent—however, it should be noted that Plaintiff is unable to validate the report any further than a superficial hasty analysis. For example, Plaintiff does not have video recordings of the interviews to confirm that there were no significant omissions made by the investigator or that the investigator or Legal Policy Advisor was not guiding the interviewees to safer answers during questioning as often happens in coverups. For these reasons, Plaintiff cannot refute nor prescribe much value to this third-party report.

I witnessed events at Beacon Place 3636 West Colfax Ave. in Denver, CO that occurred up to a few days before the November 3rd 2020, general election. At the time, I was a resident of Beacon Place.

In 2019 I had financial hardship and enrolled in the GPD (Grant Per Diem) program for veterans to help get back on my feet. I am a veteran of the Marine Corp Reserves and Active Army for just over 5 years of total service. My time in service and general discharge under honorable conditions qualified me for the GDP program, and the opportunity to use the HudVash program for affordable housing in the Denver area.

I was walking in the hallway toward the cafeteria of Beacon Place where I was stopped by the Assistant Manager Meaghan Elek. She asked me if I would like a ballot for the upcoming 2020 national election. She handed me a ballot that was in an envelope for mail-in voting. I told Meaghan that because President Trump had publicly stated that there would be fraud per mail-in ballots that I would be voting in person. I took the ballot and threw it in the trash can that Meaghan was standing next to. I proceeded to get my meal and eat it outside. After my meal as I was heading back to my room I saw Emilia Volz, an employee of Beacon Place, handing out ballots to residents of Beacon Place.

Beacon Place is part of Colorado Coalition for the Homeless. Because of feelings at Beacon Place, I asked Meaghan Elek if I could have a list of other locations that Colorado Coalition for the Homeless offers for vets in the GDP program. I wanted to see if they had better conditions than what was offered at Beacon Place. Meaghan gave me a list of 6 other Colorado Coalition for the Homeless locations, that I could go and take a look at.

When I visited these Colorado Coalition for the Homeless locations, I saw mail-in ballots stacked up openly at each facility. The location that had the most ballots was The Colosseum. This is where Denver Rescue Mission Lawrence Street people were placed during Covid.

I saw case workers hand out ballots at Beacon Place. One was a veteran representative by the name of Olivia. I do not remember her last name. I saw a black transit van picking up ballots. I saw them drop off ballots at the same time. I thought that this was strange because due to Covid we were not accepting new

Election Injunction Requests

Injunction Request #1

~~Standard:~~

~~"To obtain an injunction, plaintiffs must show that they have suffered irreparable harm, that legal remedies such as monetary damages are inadequate, that the balance of hardships favors them, and that the injunction would not disserve the public interest." These principles were reaffirmed by the Supreme Court in eBay Inc. v. MercExchange (2006).~~

~~Plaintiff seeks an emergency injunction against Defendants Griswold, Weiser, and Hammack on the following grounds:~~

~~Irreparable Harm:~~ ~~Defendants' illegal actions violate the First Amendment and "The loss of First Amendment freedoms, for even minimal periods of time, unquestionably~~ constitutes irreparable injury." Elrod v. Burns, 427 U.S. 347 (1976) referencing New York Times Co. v. United States, 403 U. S. 713 (1971).

Defendants' illegal obstruction of this ballot initiative are also hindering Plaintiff's state constitutional right of the initiative prescribed in Article V, Sec 1, Para (1) and (2) of the Colorado Constitution.

If the Defendants' illegal actions are not immediately overturned, the proposed ballot initiative will not be able to make it on the 2026 ballot and Colorado will go another two years without legitimate representation, as we do not know who is actually winning the seats of power on account of all of the unimpeded election cheating.

Legal Remedies: The monetary request from the State of Colorado is a contingency, but Plaintiff would prefer the ballot initiative over the money. Even if this injunction request is granted in time (which is doubtful), it will still be almost impossible for Plaintiff to get enough signatures on account of the loss of time spent building this necessary litigation. The money from the state of Colorado will be used in pursuit of improving the legitimacy of state and federal elections, which Plaintiff's ballot initiative was set to do anyways.

Balance of Hardships: The Colorado Title Board has one job and that is to determine if an initiative has a single subject. Defendants' illegal obstruction of Plaintiff's ballot initiative is outside of their scope and creating more work for them than if they had just allowed the title hearing to occur from the beginning. Obviously, because they know that the ballot initiative pertains to one subject (election integrity), they are made to exceed the limited authority they have to illegally block it. All of this to protect the election rigging infrastructure that keeps them in office. It is LESS WORK to allow it to move forward and let the voters decide.

Public Interest: It is state and federal law that election officials must strive to conduct fair elections and prevent fraud. It is implied in the state and federal constitutions that representation be elected fairly, leading to the Ninth Amendment claim. Plaintiff's ballot initiative has overwhelming support and unquestionably would have passed if it makes it to the ballot, which is precisely why Defendants work to block that from happening.

There is a reason that Defendants Griswold and Weiser get ratio's (more dislikes/comments than likes) almost every time they post on Facebook or X, and its because the People of Colorado are well aware that our elections are illegitimate.[77, 78, 79] It got so bad against Griswold that she hid the amount of each type of emoji response she got on Facebook. All throughout responses to Griswold's posts, there are people from all over the state calling out our illegitimate elections and demanding election integrity improvements.[80] The public interest is unquestionably served by Plaintiff's ballot initiative being allowed to complete the process of qualification for the ballot.

Our entire system of government is based upon our right to vote for or against elected officials and maintaining a system that allows fraud or manipulation converts us from a Constitutional Republic to an oligarchy, which is what our nation is today, and in this case an oligarchy ran by Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel.

Injunction Request #1 Summary

For the foregoing reasons Injunction Request #1 should be granted in an emergency fashion against Defendants Griswold, Weiser, and Hammack ordering them to cease their obstruction of Plaintiff's ballot initiative. To the extent that this injunction request is so delayed that collecting enough signatures to make it on the ballot becomes impossible, the monetary claim against the State of Colorado is the contingency.

Because the State of Colorado Defendants did not show up to Court in a timely manner despite being aware of the first version of this complaint and that the complaint contained a emergency injunction, this Injunction Request #1 is moot. The text of it will remain in this Complaint in strikethrough format as a reminder of the boundless corruption of the State of Colorado defendants.

While Defendant Weiser pretends that he is funded by grassroots donors, Peter Bernegger's investigation in 37,330 Weiser's campaign committee for the governor race, showed multiple issues with these being grassroots donations, to include "5,096 records (13.7%) returned Address Status = N (USPS-invalid) totaling $150,039.00; 161 records returned Vacant = Y totaling $41,906.18 (vacant here means it is confirmed the person is no longer at the address, he or she vacated the location); 2,708 records show NCOA confirmed permanent moves yet the campaign continued reporting the prior address; The combined failure rate came to 21.2%, materially elevated above the ~1-3% baseline expected for legitimate donor files;" He also checked the Colorado-disclosed donors to Weiser against the Colorado Secretary of State's voter files which showed that "901 donors (7.3%) have NO Colorado voter at the disclosed a at all. Contributions of these totaled $504,982.02 in disclosed contributions; 1,234 donors (10.0%) have a Colorado voter at the namekey but not at the disclosed ZIP and city. With these related contributions totaling $298,529.94; Combined mismatch (any-form): 2,135 donors / $803,512+. Each of these is an Article XXVIII § 7 anonymous-equivalent escheatment exposure; 729 failed our convergence test (CO voter exists with namekey + voter does NOT live at disclosed Weiser address). Aggregate dollar exposure of these 729: $298,529.94…344 distinct Weiser donor identities (name + full address) failed USPS validation in BOTH 2025 and 2026;"

This would appear to be money laundering, and of course the federal defendants won't do a damn thing about it, but it does match what ActBlue was accused of doing[4-6], which the federal government also won't do a damn thing about because they all work for the same people in Israel.

Injunction Request #2

Standard: "To obtain an injunction, plaintiffs must show that they have suffered irreparable harm, that legal remedies such as monetary damages are inadequate, that the balance of hardships favors them, and that the injunction would not disserve the public interest." These principles were reaffirmed by the Supreme Court in eBay Inc. v. MercExchange (2006).

Plaintiff seeks an emergency injunction against Defendants Griswold and Weiser on the following grounds:

Irreparable Harm: The Enforcement Act of 1870 was directly passed in support of the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Amendments of the U.S. Constitution and is still an active law to this day. Section 19 of the Enforcement Act States that,

"[I]f at any election for representative or delegate in the Congress of the United States person shall knowingly… compel or induce by any such means, or otherwise, any officer of an election in any such State or Territory to receive a vote from a person not legally qualified or entitled to vote…or knowingly and willfully receive the vote of any person not entitled to vote... or aid, counsel, procure, or advise any such voter, person, or officer to do any act hereby made a crime, or to omit to do any duty the omission of which is hereby made a crime, or attempt to do so, every such person shall be deemed guilty of a crime, and shall for such crime be liable to prosecution in any court of the United States of competent jurisdiction, and, on conviction thereof shall be punished hy a fine not exceeding hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years, or both, in the discretion of the court, and shall pay the costs of prosecution."

Section 20 of the Enforcement Act states that,

"[I]f, at any registration of voters for an election for representative or delegate in the Congress of the United States, any person shall knowingly… do any unlawful act to secure registration for himself or any other person…or compel or induce, by any of such means or other unlawful means any officer of registration any person not legally entitled thereto… or by any such means, or other unlawful means, induce any officer of registration to violate or refuse to comply with his duty, or any law regulating the same; or knowingly and willfully receive the vote of any person not entitled to vote… or aid, counsel, procure, or advise any such voter, person, or officer to do any act hereby made a crime, or to omit any act, the omission of which is hereby made a crime, every such person shall be deemed guilty of a crime and shall be liable to prosecution and punishment therefor, as provided in section nineteen of this act for persons guilty of any of the crimes therein specified."

Section 21 of the Enforcement Act states that,

"[W]henever, by the laws of any State or Territory, the name of any candidate or person to be voted for as representative or delegate in Congress shall be required to be printed, written, or contained in any ticket or ballot with other candidates or persons to be voted for at the same election for State, territorial, municipal, or local officers, it shall be sufficient prima facie evidence, either for the purpose of indicting or convicting any person charged with voting or attempting or offering to vote, unlawfully under the provisions of the preceding sections , or for committing either of the offenses thereby created, to prove that the person.so charged or indicted, voted, or attempted or offered to vote, such ballot or ticket, or committed either of the offenses named in the preceding sections of this act with reference to such ballot. And the proof and establishment of such facts shall be taken, held, and deemed to be presumptive evidence that such person voted. or attempted or offered to vote, for such representative or delegate, as the case may be, or that such offense was committed with reference to the election of such representative or delegate, and shall be sufficient to warrant his conviction."

While our Congress has since strayed far from the restraint of only passing laws in which they were given explicit authority to pass by—and in furtherance of--the federal Constitution, this doctrine was alive and well in 1870 when the Enforcement Act was passed, and accordingly, the Enforcement Act was passed in support of—and through powers vested in Congress by--the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Amendments of the federal Constitution. Based on this understanding, the passage of this law bolstered by an implied right established by the Ninth Amendment guarantees to Plaintiff a constitutional right to elections free from fraud, which the State of Colorado does not abide by.

Put simply: Because the Enforcement Act of 1870 was passed through the Fourteenth Amendment and Fifteenth Amendments, and binding on the states (to include any new states to the Union, such as Colorado); the intention of sections 19-21 of the Act were to prevent election fraud, bestowing on the American People a constitutional right to secure elections. The Ninth Amendment deals with implied rights, and it is implied that Plaintiff has a right to elections free from fraud, because policies that allow for election fraud dilutes the value of legitimate votes which is illegal under the Enforcement Act passed to enforce the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments of the Constitution.

Universal Mail-in Ballot acceptance policies are vehemently unsecure and are the biggest vector for election fraud. In California earlier this year we have the recent exposure of homeless people getting paid to forge signatures[39] and Riverside County seeing the amount of votes for their last election reported far exceeding the number of ballots reported[38] and the Sheriff was ordered by the state supreme kangaroo court to stop investigating. In Wisconsin 99% of the overnight ballot drop went to one candidate flipping the race.[45] In Maricopa County, AZ it was determined that many ballots were not printed on the correct paper type and many signatures had no match whatsoever to the ones on file.[61] In Colorado, among the many election discrepancies we experience, we see an affidavit reporting a similar form of ballot harvesting as the California example (predating the California case) homeless facilities with ballots stacked openly and a black transit van picking them up and dropping off ballots at the same time.[87] We also know that signature verification is not going to detect all or even most fraud as election judges or a computer doing a three second scan is not adequate[100-102] compared to trained signature verification experts that take significantly longer--but even in the cases where signatures are determined to be a mismatch, they only send a notification requesting the voter verify their signature and in the cases that do not resubmit their signature there is no further follow up to determine if there was fraud in the vast majority of cases.

It is not lost on Plaintiff—and should not be lost on the courts—that despite the ostensible disagreements between the Federal Defendants and the Colorado state government, that the federal government has no interest in any of the above cases highly likely to involve systematic election fraud (or the laundry list of other examples of organized election rigging) despite having an executive order from Defendant Trump ordering them to look into these things. All of this pertains to the federal defendant's obstruction of such investigations and the pretend world that we live in facilitated by Defendant Netanyahu and the State of Israel.

We must have proof that the person whose name is on the ballot actually submitted that ballot, and signature verification and the honor system are not viable election plans for preventing election fraud. Universal mail-in ballot submission, ballot harvesting, and accepting ballots without checking the ID cards of the voters are all laws and policies allowing for fraud and constitute crimes in violation of the Enforcement Act of 1870. Moreover, any system which does not have traceability of which election official accepted which ballots for tallying is also in violation of the law because if fraudulent ballots do show up, we must know which election official is behind the act so that they can be prosecuted. Anything shy of this is a recipe for continued election fraud.

Colorado also has a serious problem with sending out ballots to people that haven't lived in the state for years, are duplicates, have died, or are otherwise unlawfully registered to vote[69], which might explain why there are such large discrepancies on how many registered voters there were within an election depending on the system checked in counties like Denver and El Paso, which all proves that Defendant Griswold has no grip on how many people are legitimately or illegitimately registered to vote in our state—this is in violation of the Enforcement Act. We should not have tens of thousands or hundreds of thousands of extra ballots floating around every election as it only increases the opportunity for fraud. Because Colorado voter registration rolls are so out of date and Defendant Griswold has been manipulating voter registrations records even after elections have been certified[56], it is clear that Colorado voter registration rolls are intentionally filthy and littered with names that should not be on them in violation of federal law. Colorado voter registration roll must cleaned and protected against future abuse.

Because defendant Griswold refuses to do this on her own because she is aware that the election fraud is what keeps her in office and the federal government is controlled opposition protecting this fraud, the courts must intervene.

101) In Arizona, an audit showed that many ballots had no signature match whatsoever, In California, we know that homeless people were forging signatures, and in Colorado we those 16 ballots that we know of, in which case the person was caught[76] but some of those ballots got through and were counted, all of which points to the revelation that the signature verification mechanism is deeply inadequate.

102) Plaintiff has searched and are almost no studies on untrained people doing signature verifications and their accuracy rate which clearly define the accuracy rate of the participants, WHICH IS A BIG PART OF THE PROBLEM. Some studies look at computer signature validation capabilities showing a high and growing accuracy rate, but with computer signature verification there is a "trust me, bro" component that enters the chat because the complexity which these studies are expressed cannot be evaluated by an average—or even above average—intelligent person not trained in that specific study. Complex systems that cannot be understood by the average person are highly subject to deceit, such as what we seen various times over these last few years. These computer systems can also be hacked and manipulated by nefarious actors, which is why they have to be designated "critical election infrastructure"

Legal Remedies: In a just world, Colorado's Secretary of State would strive to do her job in an objective manner and would want to minimize all election fraud even the fraud that benefited her and her party, and we would have a legislature that would provide checks and balances against corrupted election practices. We don't live in that world because of Defendant Netanyahu, the State of Israel, and ultimately whatever overarching force they work in support of, and we will not live in such a world until Israel is held to account and their deeply-rooted influence is removed from the government. However until that can happen (which will probably be never), the People of Colorado cannot vote out these demons because they control both sides of the political fence and much of the funding, therefore Plaintiff must use the only avenue remaining to request an injunction compelling compliance with state and federal law.

Balance of Hardships: Eliminating universal mail-in ballot submission and mandating that voters show ID to vote will reduce the total number of ballots coming in due to there being less fraudulent and illegally harvested ballots, which is less work for the Colorado State Defendants and all Colorado counties. Sending less ballots to illegitimate or duplicate voters will also save money and time. However, ensuring traceability of which election official is accepting a ballot will require a system that will add some hardship, but in exchange will prevent the vast majority of fraudulent ballots from ever making it to tabulation. This is literally the Secretary of State's job, and the notion that we accept rigged elections in the name of convenience or saving a few bucks is unacceptable and in violation of state and federal law.

Public Interest: There is a reason that Defendants Griswold and Weiser get ratio'd (more dislikes/comments than likes) almost every time they post on Facebook or X, and its because the People of Colorado are well aware that our elections are illegitimate.[96, 97, 99] Despite how much they pretend as if the People of Colorado are on their side, we aren't. The Colorado State Defendants ensured that the People of Colorado never had the opportunity to vote for or against Plaintiff's ballot initiative or not because they abused their limited authority to block it and refused to show up to court in a timely manner following the first version of this complaint, but had it made it to the ballot it would have had overwhelming public support. A public poll boosted on X across the state conducted by the Plaintiff with 713 votes showed 65% support for the core ballot initiative provisions when it included the death penalty for an offender refusing to remove over 10,000 ineligible voter registrations—the death penalty was taken out which would have made that number significantly higher as some of those "no" votes were only because of that. Coloradans demand election integrity[99] and don't mind paying a little extra if they are getting an actual secure election instead of a bunch of gaslighting by the defendants.

Our entire system of government is based upon our right to vote for or against elected officials and maintaining a system that allows fraud or manipulation converts us from a Constitutional Republic to an oligarchy, and in this case an oligarchy ran by Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel.

Injunction Request #2 Summary

For the foregoing reasons Injunction Request #2 should be granted in an emergency fashion against Defendants Griswold and Weiser ordering them to facilitate elections free from fraud, to include requiring voters residing in state to show identification to submit a ballot and requiring election officials to annotate the ballots that they collect from voters in some manner that allows traceability of which election official accepted each ballot for tabulation. Defendant Weiser must also be ordered to align the State's position with the view that the State may not maintain policies or laws that allow for fraudulent voter registrations or fraudulent ballots to be accepted for tabulation to align Colorado with state and federal law, and ruling that any state law contradicting that should be deemed unconstitutional. Declination of this injunction or delaying issuance of a decision means that the 2026 midterms will have a rigged result and is a spit in the face to Plaintiff and the People of Colorado.

UNITED STATES FEDERAL GOVERNMENT CORRUPTION

The United States Government (Defendants Bondi, Wiles, and Trump) is so exceedingly corrupt that such a system cannot exist outside of a simulation. Some of this corruption involves psychological operations converting Plaintiff's existence into that of a pretend world, which will be covered in a combined Section with Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel. The ability of the United States Government to protect nefarious actors is unbounded by human nature or the amount of psychopathy that such a large organization can sustain. Much of this corruption could be prosecuted, but Defendants Blanche, Wiles, and Trump prevent anything meaningful from being done to stop it.

- Shortly after Defendant Trump entered office for the second time, a whistleblower came forward on the Benny Johnson show to report that the FBI was deleting files, likely Epstein files .[103]

- Jeffrey Epstein – Minimal Charges, then faked his death to avoid him serving out his sentence.[104]

- Epstein clients that went to his island to rape children – Only person charged was Ghislaine Maxwell, then a person that looks nothing like her showing up in court leading to rumors that she is not in prison either.[105] All of the other criminals involved to include government actors, foreign government actors, and participating clients get a pass.

- Bill Gates employee arrested for possessing child pornography at Bill Gates Mansion—No federal charges. The employee got a slap on the wrist[106] and no investigator state or federal cared to look into potential involvement of Mr. Gates or ways in which you could identify if he was involved (i.e. was Gates accessing it when the employee wasn't there). No investigation into that. But then again, Defendant Trump is too busy hanging out with Bill[107] to bother, which is the exact opposite of what the people that voted him into office wanted him to do.

- COVID-19 – Money was illegally funneled to Wuhan by Anthony Fauci for gain of function research on coronaviruses, which is coincidentally where COVID-19 came from.[108] Fauci then went on to silence anyone with opposing theories on the cause of the virus or alternative ways of dealing with it[109] lied to Congress about the funding[110], then he personally banked millions of dollars during the pandemic.[111] Millions dead around the globe and millions of lives destroyed by unlawful terminations, including against the Plaintiff, and no criminal charges against people that facilitated this. Fauci was given a pardon by White House staffers that was likely procured via autopen fraud and should be null. Not that it matters because Defendant Blanche let the statute of limitations expire on the lying to congress charge, and is pretending to consider other charges against him. Plaintiff does not recommend holding your breath on that. Crimes against Humanity such as this cannot be pardoned. See United States of America v. Karl Brandt et al. (1947).[112]

104) In the Department of Justice Epstein files there are emails from 2021 where federal a Health and Human Services Inspector General refers to debriefing Epstein and says that he lives in Colorado, indicating he is alive and living in our state. Epstein's brother never lived in Colorado, so they must have been referring to Jeffrey. When you look at the totality of evidence surrounding his death and autopsy, it paints a picture that the government faked his death; The 'missing' video around midnight on the night of his purported death, the credible reddit poster claiming to be a guard there and seeing an unlogged van show up, the corpse's ear and nose not matching Epstein's, the autopsy showing his corpse having a prostate when he had his removed, etc. The oddities surround his death point to the government faking his death and sneaking him out of prison, and based on the emails, possibly moving him to Colorado.

- Biden Autopen – It's obvious that Joe Biden was not in charge of the White House and that he was too senile to be making decisions on behalf of the country, and that during his administration and that the staffers were actually running things behind the scenes and using the autopen without Biden's awareness.[113] It was also rumored that they were selling pardons in exchange for money (which is also alleged to be occurring in the Trump White House).[114] The Trump DOJ closed the investigation while pretending that there were no laws they could prosecute them under such as fraud, wire fraud, treason, etc. Which is just as well, because Trump isn't in charge of his own White House either.

- Biden's Influence-Peddling Scheme—By all means it appears the Biden family was involved in an influence peddling scheme wherein they personally enriched themselves in exchange for influence on the White House, which is why his staffers pushed through a last minute autopen pardon of them.[115] Autopen use that was not personally directed by the president should be treated as null and void because it was procured through fraud, but we live in a pretend world, so they pretend these pardons are valid. Furthermore, Biden never pardoned himself, so he could still be prosecuted. Despite the many signs of blatant corruption, no charges ever came from the investigation into this scheme.

- The Open Border—Biden clearly facilitated an invasion of our country from the southern border using billions of state and federal tax dollars to accommodate them in fancy hotels and giving them food when they arrived.[116] They also used American taxpayer money to facilitate this invasion by sending it to Non-Governmental Organizations to coordinate millions of people entering the country illegally using obviously bogus "asylum" claims under the pretense that it would take years to decades to identify and deport all of these people.[117] Crime, of course, skyrocketed during the Biden years and they gaslit the public about it the whole time.[118, 119]

- A lot of woman and children got raped on their way up here or were brought across the border by non-family contacts and subsequently went missing because of Biden's removal of the DNA swabbing test process at the border for people bringing children over.[120, 121] No charges for anyone involved in facilitating the invasion at the southern border.

- RussiaGate Hoax – Director of National Intelligence Tulsi Gabbard pointed out the concocting of the RussiaGate story and referred the criminals involved for prosecution.[122] No charges.

- January 6th, 2021 "Insurrection" Orchestration – The fact that there were over two dozen informants and 274 plainclothes agents involved in this operation makes it clear that the government knew there were some serious risks that day.[123] Informants do more than inform and can commit crimes on behalf of the government, and in exchange are mostly shielded from prosecution for those crimes, which is why none of them were prosecuted. We still don't know what these informants and agents did that day or whether the "insurrection" would have happened had they not been there because judges blocked any inquiry into it when prosecuting trespassers, which is why it only came out in 2024 how many were there. The fact that this was hidden so long is a clear red flag that this was likely entrapment and would not have occurred were it not for the informants increasing the rage of the crowd and baiting people into illegally entering the Capitol. The FBI claims that the 274 plainclothes agents were sent there after it was declared a riot and were sent there for crowd control and not to encourage the crowd to commit more violence. This is easily debunked as there is no pictures of plainclothes officers fighting protesters to keep them out of the Capitol from that day. Its also easily debunked as the DOJ estimated that 2000 people committed crimes at the Capitol that day, but 1575 were prosecuted, which means about 400 people were not prosecuted despite this being one of the biggest prosecutorial efforts in US history—the most logical solution is that this gap of 400 people were the individuals that the government did not want to prosecute despite them committing crimes, which would include the informants, undercover FBI agents, and informants/undercover agents with other agencies that have not had their involvement declared yet. The government does this all of the time for political objectives—they did it to the Black Panthers[124] and in Michigan with the "kidnapping" plot against Governor Whitmer[125] to name a few.

They bait people into thinking they are around like-minded individuals, then goad them into committing crimes, then obscure the involvement of the informants while prosecuting them. In the case of the Capitol riot, it would appear that it likely happened there as well. No prosecution for anyone involved in coordinating that. The vicious prosecution of Capitol trespassers makes it clear that the government can pool together thousands of employees for an investigation of hundreds of people and start bringing indictments within a matter of months when they so choose, but yet on other matters such as the items on this list or the rampant election fraud they suddenly become "incompetent"; the bar for deciding if the prerequisites for a crime have been committed become much higher, people start resigning en mass over "ethics" concerns, judges quickly dismiss cases, and leaks of raids or evidence seizures start popping up. Crazy how that works, isn't it?

- Department of Government Efficiency Findings – Billions of dollars of fraud identified by DOGE to within the social security system.[126] Then the massive sum of money the Biden Admin almost sent to Stacey Abrams' sketchy organization, and ultimately her organization ended up pocketing about $5M.[127] DOGE also found 57 illegal immigrants that registered to vote an forwarded them to the DOJ for prosecution.[128]

- Congressional Insider Trading – Its pretty clear that members of Congress are profiting off of insider trading schemes, and the DOJ just pretends that its not happening.[129, 130] This is also where the racism of the Trump DOJ enters the conversation again. They will prosecute the Black congresspeople such as Sheila Cherfilus-McCormick for corruption crimes and make them the face of it, but then ignore violations from non-Black violators of similar anti-corruption laws.

- Rampant Minnesota Fraud—Just last year it was identified how rampant fraud was within Minnesota's child care system.[131] While a few indictments have rolled out against low level offenders and some raids were conducted against some of these places months later, the Government has no interest in identifying higher-ups involved in the scheme and prosecuting them. A whistleblower and former investigator seeking to investigate the fraud years ago came forward explaining that state officials bullies him into burying evidence of the fraud.[132] Also, even though the news of this fraud became widespread last year, there was a whistleblower that was speaking out against the coverup of this fraud 10 years ago.[133] Will anything happen to the state officials that ordered the cover up in these cases? Absolutely not. They will just arrest the low level Black offenders and call it a day.

- A similar fraud scheme to the one in Minnesota was also found in California.[134] Of course the far left corrupt legislature filed bills seeking to stop the journalistic investigations into this fraud as opposed to investigating the fraud itself. True demons. This is another case wherein we may see a few low-level people arrested while the higher offenders get off scot-free.

- Israeli Child Sex Trafficker—A Defendant Netanyahu and State of Israel employee and Israeli intelligence official was arrested in Nevada for child sex trafficking as part of an undercover state-level investigation and the Trump Administration allowed him to go back to Israel to avoid all accountability.[135]

- Conspiracy Against Rights—There is no doubt that American citizens have been retaliated against for exercising our constitutional rights, often against the First Amendment. When someone begins criticizing the government, then all of a sudden they are having police show up to their door or are getting raids conducted against them or are getting audited by the IRS, a non-corrupt court system would hear the accusation and vet it for authenticity then demand documents showing the root of an investigation, and if the government refused or improperly delayed the case would be dismissed or would allow retaliation to be thoroughly argued at trial. However, we don't have a non-corrupt court system, so most judges ignore it or eat whatever excuse slop the government offers to ignore the issue. Even the Supreme Court is too cowardly to take this issue on, instead choosing to dismiss one of the most important First Amendment cases of this century involving a case of obvious proxy censorship that any person with more than 5 working brain cells would consider that the government coercing companies into censoring speech behind the scenes would be a violation of the First Amendment.[136, 137]

- Even Defendant Trump engages in this kind of illegal suppression of the First Amendment.[138] It does appear that the Trump Administration goes to great lengths to control their image and uses paid propagandist influencers to promote their propaganda, just like the left does.[139-140] The big giveaway that they are paid propagandists is that they never criticize Defendants Netanyahu, Trump or Israel. Now that Plaintiff has called this out, there is some chance that controlled “criticism” of the Administration is conducted by these propagandists to protect their image. Very predictable. There is a long list of these offenses (especially under Biden), but nothing will be done to stop it so there is no point to beating a dead horse.

- Biden Admin Shredding Documents—There were several reports of large shredding trucks showing up near the end of the Biden White House.[141, 142] This is obvious Obstruction of Justice, yet no one ever gets charged over it. What crimes were hidden by this large effort?

- Possible Fraud in Defendant Weiser’s organization. Plaintiff himself reported to the IRS that Weiser’s NGO, Careerwise Colorado received $5M more than what it reported based on a $5M U.S. Department of Labor grant it received in 2020[143] that was not reported, and the IRS ignored the underlying complaint and deemed that Plaintiff used the wrong form version to report it. Former AG Bondi was copied on the email transmitted to the Acting commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service, Douglas O'Donnell. This all proves that these guys are all on the same side even if they pretend otherwise.

- Undeclared Crimes—Given the extensive length of this list, we must assign a variable to the crimes that the Government is aware of or facilitated that the public is not aware of and that the Government chooses not to prosecute. There are also many actions that constitute crimes that the government will not pursue that will be cited later in this Complaint.

- The most important crimes that the Government refuses to prosecute are the election crimes explained earlier in this Complaint, because it deprives the American People, and Plaintiff of the ability to vote their way out of this demonic corruption.

Obstruction of Investigations

The reason for the lack of serious prosecutions within the election rigging realm can only be explained by a non-public policy from the DOJ and/or White House obstructing these investigations despite Defendant Trump's executive order directing the opposite. We also have a journalist that reported that the Office of Director of National Intelligence investigation into election integrity were obstructed. There is no other explanation for how so many election crimes can be ignored. Something like this could only happen with Defendant Wiles' knowledge of the coverup, at a minimum.

The reason the Trump Administration would obstruct investigation into election crimes despite being ostensibly opposed to Democrats is either because some serious election crimes were committed on his behalf or because the people that control both Democrats and Republicans are Defendant Netanyahu and the State of Israel which is the more likely answer, but either way the choice we are given in state and federal elections is mostly illusory, because the federal government is actively obstructing these investigation.

Injunction Request #3

Standard: To obtain an injunction, plaintiffs must show that they have suffered irreparable harm, that legal remedies such as monetary damages are inadequate, that the balance of hardships favors them, and that the injunction would not disserve the public interest." These principles were reaffirmed by the Supreme Court in eBay Inc. v. MercExchange (2006).

Plaintiff seeks an emergency injunction against Defendants Blanche, Trump, and Wiles on the following grounds:

Irreparable Harm: Plaintiff has an implied constitutional right to secure elections across the United States under the Ninth Amendment and a direct right to secure elections under the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments through the Enforcement Act of 1870 legislated through authority vested in Congress via those Amendments to enforce them.

The selected officials in our state have absolutely ravaged our state (people are moving out in droves[144], our economy is in the shitter[145], crime is skyrocketing[146], and they adamantly refuse to protect our children with stricter penalties for child rapists[147] and only pretend to care about kids to usher in digital ID framework[148]) resulting in a significant reduction in the quality of life for Plaintiff, and we cannot honestly say that they are even genuinely winning these elections to possess the right to do that. Our votes are diluted by fraud, and the Plaintiff cannot vote his way out of it. Then to make matters worse, they illegally obstructed his proposed ballot initiative to prevent him from exercising a state constitutional right to circumvent the legislature to pass legislation via the ballot initiative process. They are by every sense of the word demons acting against the People of Colorado, which is why the phonetic pronunciation for Democrat literally translates to Demoness in Hebrew.

(This is only pertinent to the politicians, and not the voters. The voters are just easily manipulated into voting for their own destruction)

This isn't a coincidence. It's because this is all planned, and both parties are controlled by the same people to reach the same end point, they just use different tactics to get to that point. They all have their roles assigned by Defendants Netanyahu and Israel to include the remaining defendants, and the organized destruction of Colorado is intentional. Until Defendants Netanyahu and Israel are held accountable, this destruction will continue, but in the interim, the People of Colorado must have the option to vote their way out of demonic control.

The only way to stop election rigging is for the individuals that cheated in previous elections to be investigated and prosecuted to the maximum extent of the law no matter how high of a position in society they hold.

Legal Remedies: The monetary request from the United States Government is a contingency, but Plaintiff would prefer prosecutions over the money. The money from the state of federal government will be used in pursuit of improving the legitimacy of state and federal elections and undoing some of the damage caused by the government, which Plaintiff's ballot initiative was set to do anyways.

Balance of Hardships: Prosecuting crimes is literally the DOJ's job, thus it cannot be a "hardship". When it came to prosecuting entrapped January 6 rioters, the government had no issue pulling together thousands of DOJ/FBI staff to quickly issue indictments, raids, subpoenas, etc., nor did they see cases getting cases dismissed by corrupt judges or have leaks of pending raids, such as what we've seen in Fulton County, GA. All of that prosecutorial energy has been allowed to dissipate or has been directed to useless civil cases that will change nothing in the long run, meanwhile our elections continue to be rigged and the People of Colorado and the United States have effectively no say in who represents them due to rampant fraud that the government allows. There is no hardship against stopping the government from wasting taxpayer money to ignore Deep State crimes and instead mandating that they cease obstruction of investigations into election crimes no matter how powerful of a person the violator is.

Public Interest: It is state and federal law that election officials must strive to conduct fair elections and prevent fraud. It is implied in the state and federal constitutions that representation be elected fairly, leading to the intertwinement of the Fourteenth and Ninth Amendments for purposes of the Defendant Griswold's election crimes.

There is a reason that Defendants Griswold and Weiser get ratio'd[96, 97] (more dislikes/comments than likes) almost every time they post on Facebook or X, especially when it comes to election-based posts[99], and it's because the People of Colorado are well aware that our elections are illegitimate (as we've seen from earlier in this Complaint).

Our entire system of government is based upon our right to vote for or against elected officials and maintaining a system that allows fraud or manipulation converts us from a Constitutional Republic to an oligarch, which is what our nation is today—Ultimately an oligarchy controlled by Defendants' Netanyahu and Israel.

Injunction Request #3 Summary

For the foregoing reasons Injunction Request #3 should be granted in an emergency fashion against Defendants Blanche, Trump, and Wiles ordering them to cease all policies written, verbal, covert, or otherwise that facilitates obstruction of investigations into election crimes regardless of the status of the potential violator. Furthermore, they should be ordered to cease all retaliatory actions against federal authorities investigating or seeking to investigate election crimes. Lastly, they must be ordered to ensure that they not obstruct the amount or resources or tactics that federal authorities are authorized by law to use when investigating election crimes no matter the status of the offender. To the extent that this injunction request is not granted prior to the 2026 midterm elections, the monetary claim against the United States Government is the contingency.

ISRAEL'S PARENT STATUS

The notion that the United States is a sovereign nation is illusory. The reality is that we exist within a purgatory wherein our selected officials and all major national candidates for those selection positions work on behalf of a foreign nation and we are incapable of severing those ties in a legitimate fashion.

History

Israel's parent status to the United States is not new and existed before either of them were even countries. One month after Jews were kicked out of Spain in 1492 unless they converted to Catholicism, Jewish explorer Christopher Columbus set sail for the Americas despite ostensibly not knowing where his ventures would lead. 1492 is also the year the Moors' 400-800 year reign of what-is-now Spain and Portugal ended. There is some debate over whether the Moors were actually Black or if they were primarily Arab. Well, wonder no moor…

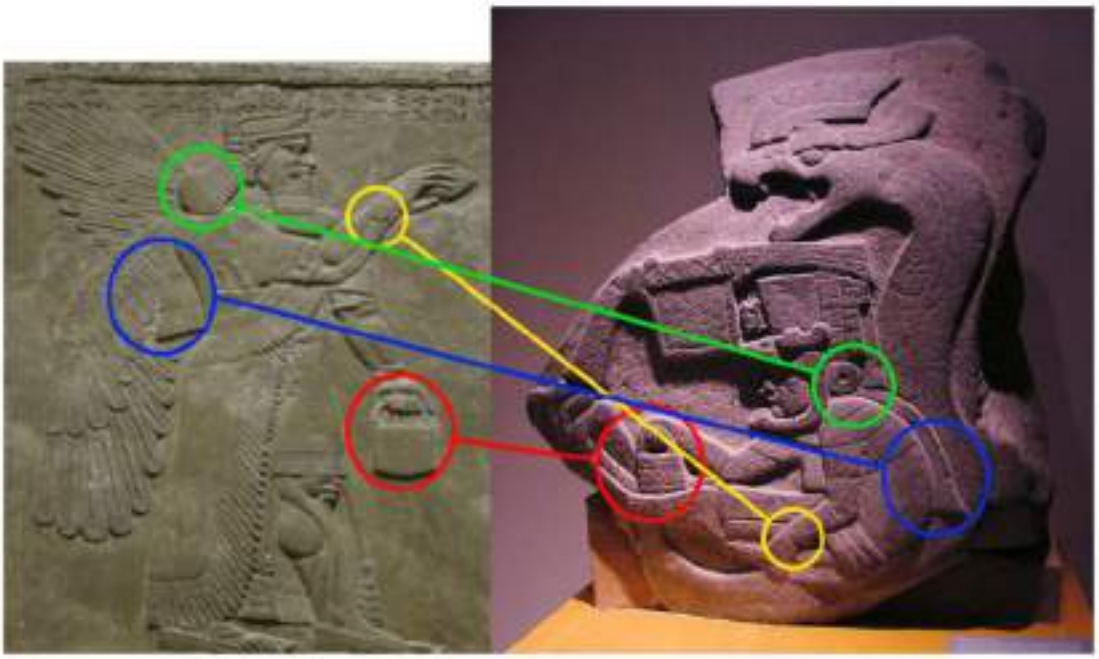
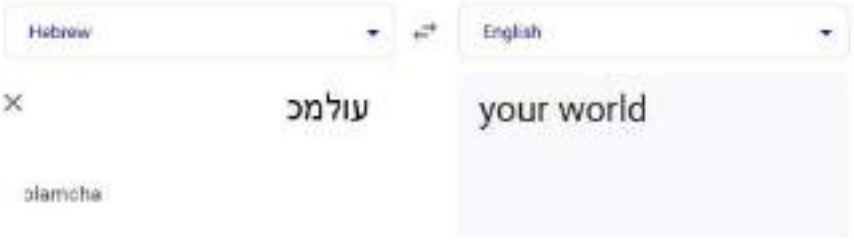
For what it's worth, Arabs and Jews are both descendants of the Canaanites[5], which could explain how the Moors were able to advance Spain so much, so there was likely at least some shared genetic traits involved. Plaintiff digresses.

Given the multiple similarities between one of the ancient Olmec, Mexico gods and ancient Sumerian beings treated as gods, it is very plausible that they had already been to North America previously:



The closest word to “Olmec” in Hebrew is pronounced ‘olamcha’ and translates to “your world”.



6th Century Japanese depictions of visitors with non-Japanese features that bear a remarkable resemble to Orthodox Jews, also makes it highly likely that they had been traveling the world earlier than our history books acknowledge:

Later in this Complaint we will learn more about these Jewish visitors to ancient Japan and what kind of things they might have done there.

But, for now we will ignore that and go with 1492 as the first year they began traversing the globe. Going with the 1492 start, we can determine that the man credited with "discovering" the Americas was Jewish.

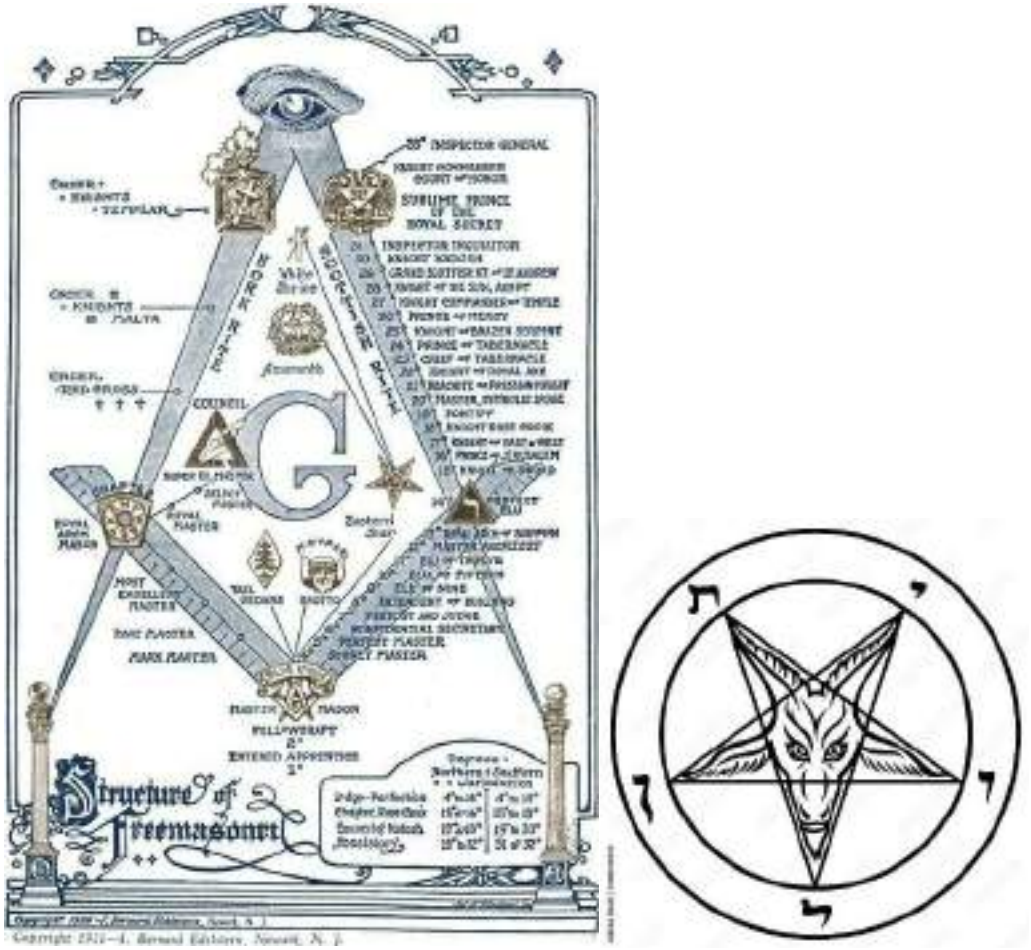
If you fast-forward by a little under 300 years, we end up with the Declaration of Independence being signed. It is well known that many of the Founding Fathers of our Country were Freemasons.[149]

What is not common knowledge is that a Jewish man named Haym Salomon was a significant financier of the American Independence movement.[150] Haym moved to the Colonies in 1775—just in time to fund a revolution, isn't that convenient? The last name 'Salomon' should sound familiar because it sounds a lot like Solomon, as in King Solomon (probably another "coincidence")—but this "coincidence" brings us back to Freemasonry.

The two pillars are one of the most important concepts in Freemasonry, and these two pillars are also seen in depictions of Solomon's Temple, and other depictions.

Grand Temple, London. (Note the Menorahs)

This makes sense, as the structure of Freemasonry is based around Solomon's Temple, wherein the 13th Degree of Freemasonry is the Royal Arch of Solomon. Note the golden cows in the left image, this is also symbolic of Ba'al, as Ba'al was also a cow.



Degrees of Freemasonry, ending at the 33rd Degree. Note the "Eastern Star" and the Sigil of Baphomet are one and the same.

Most people instinctively reject the notion of an evil satanic cult running the planet. If someone were to make the claim that a bunch of rich and very power people meet in the woods once a year and engage in satanic rituals, get drunk, network with other rich and powerful people, and plan out events for the future, (and likely weird sexual acts too) the average person would look at them as if they were crazy. But this has already been proven to happen, as many rich and powerful people meet at Bohemian Grove every year in northern California.

149) https://www.nps.gov/articles/000/bh-ksl.htm
150) https://www.britannica.com/money/Haym-Salomon

There is no doubting this either, it is already public knowledge that such an event occurs every year and that rich and powerful people go to the event—the only thing that is secret is the list of attendees to the event.

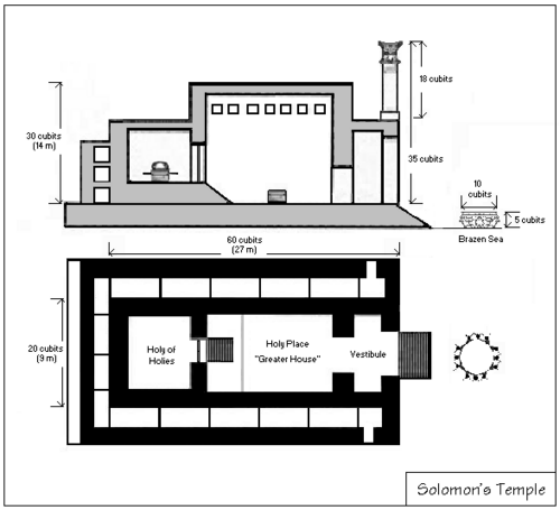
We also know that it is linked to Freemasonry and our government as we can see the coordinates end in 47 and 33—both very important numbers to Freemasonry. While the club had existed prior to 1933, its San Francisco location is clearly adorned with the year because that's the year they began a major transition to a new location in the woods. Moloch is an ancient deity people would sacrifice children or the ritual itself, in which children were passed through the fire to Moloch or Ba'al.

This sign conveniently splits up the words on the two sides of the owl. When taking the second half and plugging it into a translator, the closest phrase to “spiders not here” phonetically in Hebrew is pronounced ‘spidars not hara’ and translates to “speeders night of evil”

When running “speeders night of evil” through the translator again, it becomes

We can add this to the looooooooong list of “coincidences” we keep seeing in this case.

Defendant Trump's proposed "ballroom" (which many people call the Ba'alroom) is also being constructed by a Jewish company and the design looks extremely similar to Solomon's Temple as well.



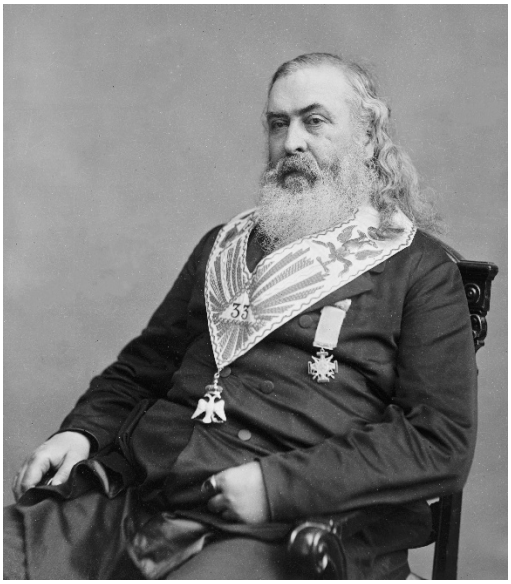
These two pillars go back even further in history to Ancient Egypt where two Obelisks, a phallic symbol seen all across the world, were used at the entrance to temples symbolizing power and victory. This aligns with their purpose at Solomon's Temple where they are recognized as the pillars of Jachin ("He will establish") and Boaz ("in him is strength")

These obelisks have been built all over the world, to include Washington, DC, New York City, and Area 51:

If technology and science are the purpose of Area 51, why incorporate these monuments to ancient Egypt? Area 51 is no doubt a no-fly zone and an extremely secretive military base in the middle of nowhere, why were photos of these structures allowed to be leaked to the public?

The fact that one of the most prominent financiers of the founding of our country was an Jewish man with a name very close to Solomon, and that most of the revolutionaries that initiated the founding of our country were part of a secret society structured around King Solomon and his Temple should stand out as interesting, but is there anything else tying Freemasonry to the Jewish people? Well there is!

Enter Albert Pike.



Albert Pike proudly wearing Freemason gear with 33 and the double-headed eagle representing duality (which is the perfect symbolic representation for the Republicans and Democrats, because at the end of the day no matter which party you vote for it's the same middle finger to the American People)

Albert Pike reached the highest degree of Freemasonry. (Yes, Albert Pike was related to another powerful Freemason by the name of Zebulon Pike, for which Pike's Peak in Colorado Springs is named after.) Albert Pike wrote a book wherein he stated,

*"All truly dogmatic religions have issued from the Kabalah and return to it: everything scientific and grand in the religious dreams of all the illuminati…is borrowed from the Kabalah; all the Masonic associations owe it their Secrets and Symbols."

The Kabbalah is a practice of the religion of Jewish mysticism. The term 'Kabballah' is where the term "cabal" comes from so for the purposes of this document Appellant will spell the term "kabal". This statement from Pike also rings true as the primary symbol of Freemasonry makes a pyramid, which is a 3d extrapolation of a triangle and the "Star of David/Remphan is composed of an upfacing triangle and a downfacing triangle interlaced together. The "all seeing eye", which is just a representation of the Eye of Ra/Horus/Saturn, is also a primary symbol of Freemasonry that we keep seeing everywhere.

Of course, U.S. Dollar bills are also marred with a pyramid and eye, and if you invert that pyramid on the back of our money and look at all 5 letters both pyramids point to (there's a space at the top of the upward pyramid) it is an anagram for "MASON".

The state seal of Colorado also contains an eye and a triangle, as well as the Freemason diamond/pyramid representing the square and compass directly under it.

So what if these people were involved in the founding of our country and the State of Colorado, they surely are irrelevant now, right? Well, let's see… Most of the biggest companies in the world were started by Freemasons or Jews ~~Israelites~~. Some names among them are: Coke-a-Cola, FaceBook/Meta, Apple, Chrysler, Ford, Bloomberg Media, Starbucks, Dreamworks, Baskin-Robbins, Hasbro, Oracle, and the list goes on and on, and these are just the top ones that are publicly known as being started by them. Because the Freemasons are a secret society, many members are not publicly known and may oversee companies without their membership being known.

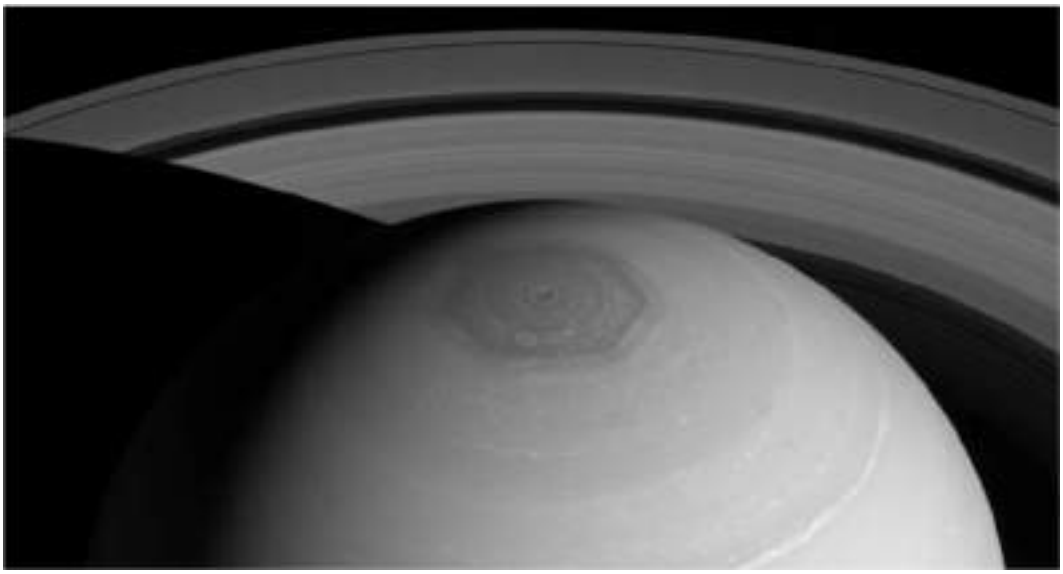
To summarize so far: The man that "discovered" the Americas was a Jewish man very recently kicked out of Spain. The Man that provided significant funding for the Revolutionary War was Jewish Most of the men that founded the United States and most of are presidents were/are part of a secret organization that gets most of its symbol and secrets from the Jewish mysticism. The Governor, Secretary of State, and Attorney General of Colorado and the President are all Jewish despite Jews being only ~2% of the U.S. and Colorado's population. Defendant Wiles previously worked directly for Defendant Netanyahu. Defendant Netanyahu is allowed to engage in extremely disrespectful behavior toward a "sovereign" nation without facing any backlash from our Jewish President or any of our state leadership:

We're to believe that a hexagon lies at the top of the planet Saturn, coincidentally aligning with the Star of David/Remphan, despite this making no sense for a spherical planet to create and maintain:



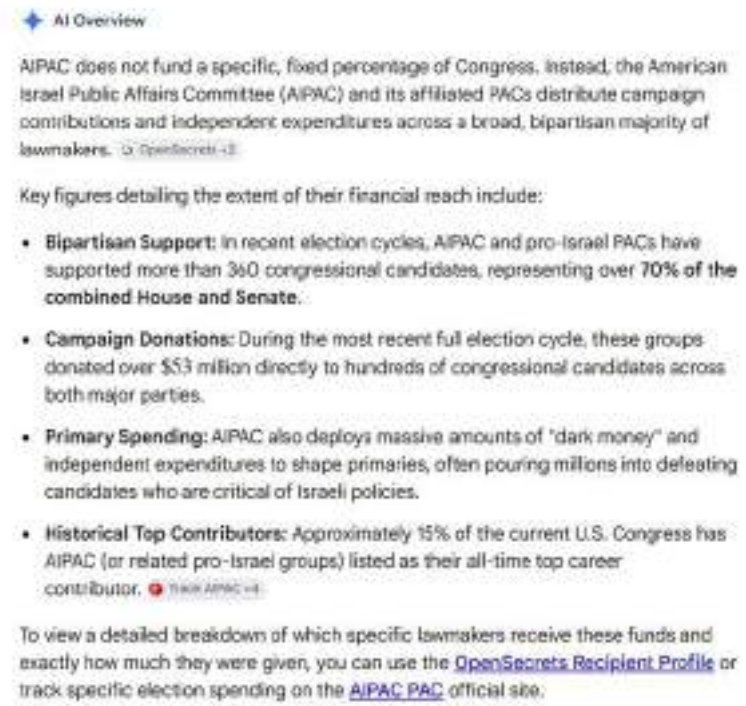
This article says there's actually two hexagons: (https://www.sciencenews.org/article/saturn-has-two-hexagons-not-one-swirling-around-its-north-pole). Combining that with it being the 6th planet from the sun, we have 666. Big surprise.

Most major companies are ran by either Freemasons or Jewish people. Most of most powerful people in the world are Jewish. That should be enough to prove the point that the United States is not a free country and our country is almost entirely ran by Israel and descendants of Canaanite lineage, but if its not, lets beat the dead horse a little more:

Without even completing typing out the rest of the search request two of the first three suggestions that pop up as highly-searched phrases after typing "percentage of Congress" is "funded by aipac" and "that is Jewish", meaning that the most likely results that global Google users look for when beginning their search with "percentage of Congress" is how many of them are funded by an Israel lobby or how many are Jewish.

Plaintiff is certain Google will have to change that after this Complaint is filed because they will be deemed “antisemitic”, but as of the date of this filing that is what the suggestions were, which is precisely what Plaintiff was going to search as well.

Google AI summary of the search for Congress and (American Israel Public Affairs Committee) (AIPAC), shows that AIPAC-backed spending targeted over 70% of congressional seats.

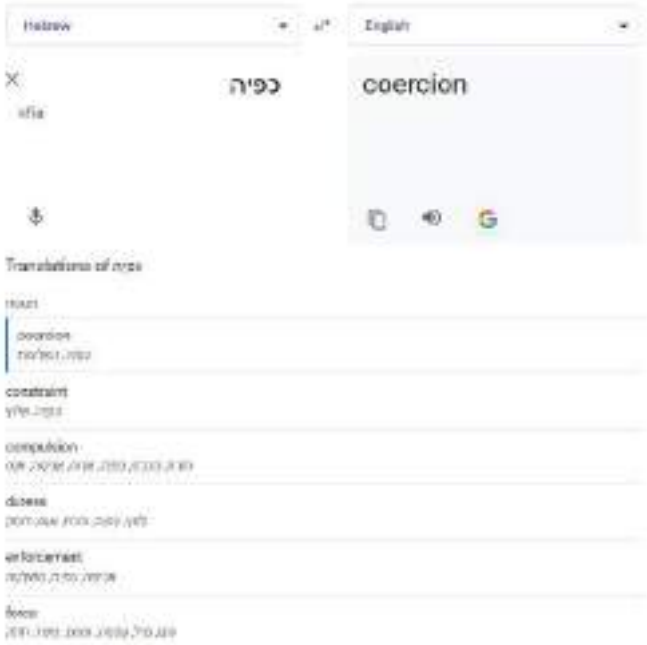


AIPAC-Tracker also shows that since 2020 Defendant Trump has received over $230M in spending in support of his Administration.

There are credible rumors that Vice President JD Vance is--or was--a member of the Shabtai Society at Yale (a Jewish global leadership society). The word “Shabtai” translates to “Saturn”.

While significantly less spending was made on purchasing Vice President JD Vance, AIPAC Tracker also shows that Pro-Israel Palantir founder Peter Thiel spent significant money funding Vance, so even if Defendant Trump leaves office, they will still control the presidency.

The closest word to the phonetic pronunciation of “AIPAC” backwards is pronounced ‘kfia’ and translates to “coercion” or “force”.



(American Israel Public Affairs Committee) Miriam Adelson, widow of Sheldon Adelson (both Jewish) gave Defendant Trump $100M for his 2024 campaign and offered another $250M. Accordingly, anytime Defendant Netanyahu speaks before Congress he is met with a warm welcome by both political parties despite the Democrats' voting base believing he is a war criminal committing a genocide right now.

Defendants Griswold, Weiser, and Polis vehemently disagree with Defendant Trump on pretty most things—except when it comes to Israel which they, of course, support despite their voting base not sharing the sentiment:

Lawmakers attend Sunday rally for Israel

SHARE

DENVER (KDVR) — As U.S. officials continue to help Americans trying to flee from the Gaza Strip and West Bank, a rally for victims in Israel was held at the Colorado state Capitol on Sunday.

Gov. Jared Polis, U.S. Sen. John Hickenlooper, U.S. Sen. Michael Bennet and Colorado Attorney General Phil Weiser took the podium and called for an end to hate-based crime and violence in the war-torn region.

"These evil acts of terrorism are our greatest fears brought to life," said Polis.

Polis also spoke out against growing antisemitism in Colorado.

Admittedly, that last one is a little unfair as Israel had just been attacked, however she did not have to say anything about it. There are many horrible events in Colorado that she says nothing about. There are legitimate questions as to whether a standdown order was given to Israeli military on October 7th, 2023 to allow them to manufacture consent for their invasion of Gaza.

Starting a few decades ago, Israel started a tradition wherein all U.S national-level candidates or office holders must touch the "Wailing Wall" as a show of deference to Israel under the guise of showing respect for a sacred Israelite site, which may actually be a satanic ritual instead[151]).

151) Under one common theory, the "Wailing Wall" is actually the remains of an old Roman fort built shortly after the Crucifixion of Jesus Christ (which would be a spit in the face to any Christians) and the practice of touching at the wall is a symbolic mating ritual with a false god called the 'Shekhinah'. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=B_xnSKHynXE

UPI

(If Plaintiff is not mistaken, Rubio took off his cross to do this. Disgraceful.)

But it's not just politics that Jewish people control, its also the entertainment industry. Cue Google search autocomplete with first suggestions being how many are Jewish revealing the most likely searches to occur from billions of users after typing in "percentage of Hollywood" or "percentage of the Entertainment industry", (this will likely be hidden in the future as well):

Despite being only 2% of the U.S. population, Jews comprise over 20% of the entertainment community.[132] Which tracks as pretty much every famous actor or singer has to do this stupid one-eye symbolistic nonsense in a picture at least once in their careers to show their deference to their masters.

Lady Gaga
CELINE DION

There is also a lot of Satanism and witchcraft in Hollywood as well (not depicted due to time and space limits), which is not a surprise as the Holly Tree has a heavy association with witchcraft and the planet Saturn. This is particularly unfortunate because Plaintiff's dream was to have a cartoon show one day, and to learn that the industry is ran by demon worshippers and government is extremely disappointing.

A lot of mainstream news also has Jewish roots.[152, 153] A now-deleted Op-ed in The Times of Israel confirms this. The CBS News logo is an all-seeing eye. ABC News was founded by Edward J. Noble in 1943 and taken over and drastically expanded by Leonard Goldensen (a Jewish man). NBC News was founded by David Sarnoff, a Jewish man.

Shortly after getting confirmed, former DHS Secretary Noem had to make a trip to Israel.

Shortly before he was allegedly murdered at the top of an amphitheater designed like a Menorah, Turning Points USA CEO Charlie Kirk was complaining that 'Jewish donors play into all the stereotypes,'[154] The day after Charlie Kirk's alleged murder, Defendant Trump was asked how he was holding up after the death of his friend and he responded "I think very good. And by the way, right there you see all the trucks. They've just started construction of the new ballroom for the White House."[155] What a great friend.

Following this egregious quote from Defendant Trump, this $80M/year organization was immediately turned over to his Jewish wife who would then go on to forgive the accused killer about 10 days later. Turning Point USA is almost entirely controlled by Jews to include employees being taken on trips to Israel wherein they appear to be enticed to engage in illicit behavior while under the influence of alcohol (not cited, but true). Bear in mind that this organization is supposed to appeal to Christians and American Conservatives.

We also see policies pushed by globalists (many of which are Jewish such as the Rothschilds, Soros, and Schwab, etc.) get adopted across the globe at the same time. The "age attestation" policy which is an obvious ploy to guide us toward adoption of digital ID which will be used to enslave the public was adopted in California, Colorado, New York, the Trump Administration, the United Kingdom, and the European Union, all around the same time under the guise of helping children despite letting child rapists run rampant and resisting any efforts to put stricter penalties for child sex crimes, such as Colorado's rejection of a bill by our corrupt legislature that would have done just that or Defendant Trump's previous administration working to ensure Epstein got a sweetheart deal for his sex crimes and preventing prosecution of Epstein clients. King Charles recently also recently called for digital ID for the United Kingdom, despite the royal family historically staying out of British politics., but we already know who controls him.

You try doing that to any member of the royal family and see what happens.

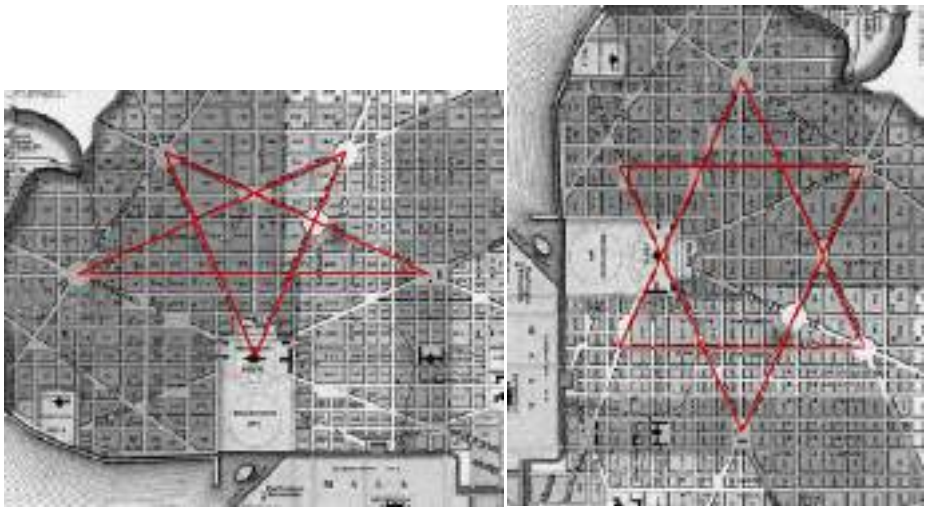
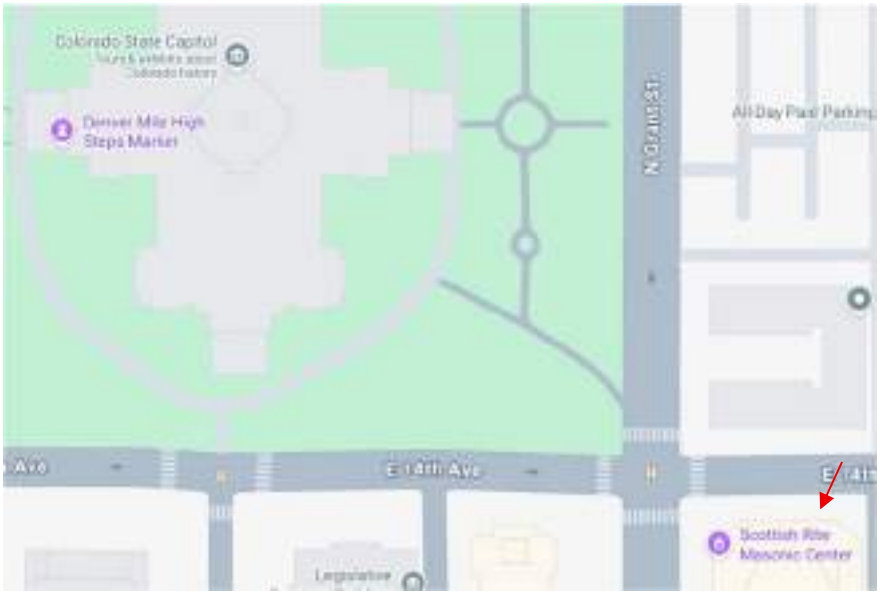
The Statue of Liberty (built by Freemasons) looks an awful lot like a 1797 painting of Lucifer:

The layout of major streets in the District of Columbia make up both a pentagram (satanic reference) and a Star of David/Remphan depending on how you look at them:



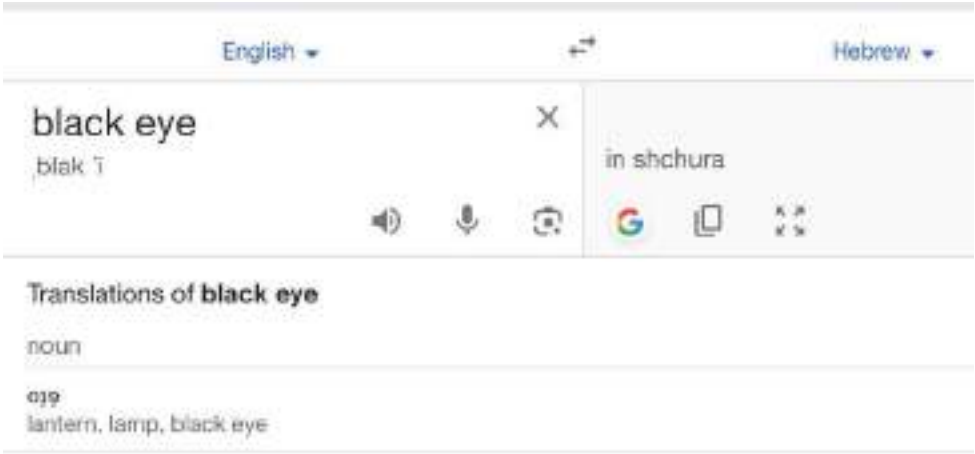
There is literally a Scottish Rite Freemason Center right across the street from the Colorado State Capitol:



Google's AI states there are approximately 11,797 Freemason lodges in the United States, so these people are certainly still influential in American affairs, so this isn't too surprising.

Next, we have the Black Eye Club. Celebrities and politicians seem to be getting black eyes at a much greater rate than the rest of society.

Why do all of these rich and powerful people keep ended up with black eyes. Rumors for what is behind this go from this just being a humiliation ritual to some kind of reptilian embryo being implanted in their eyes.



Why would “black eye” translate to “lantern” or “lamp” in Hebrew? That’s strange…. Wouldn’t a person be less capable of seeing out of a black eye? Unless they mean spiritually, i.e. there’s some kind of enlightenment brought forth through this ritual. Lucifer is known as the “Lightbringer”, which is what all of this is really about. Saturn is also heavily associated with illumination. The closest word to “Saturn” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘Nir’ithas’ and translates to “Will be seen”.

Get it?

There are also a lot of mainstream podcasters that are very influential and not shadowbanned or constantly demonetized by social media algorithms like most podcasters are. For example, many podcasters that are genuinely trying to cover politics try to avoid saying “Israel”, “Jews”, “human trafficking”, “blood”, “sexual assault” “kill”, and an ever-growing list of terms they must avoid because they get demonetized or penalized most times merely for uttering these terms, yet some of the names at the top of the opposition to Israel's corruption say all of these terms as much as they want without consequence. There are other reasons to suspect that some of these people may be controlled opposition.

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Wearing a thin scarlet or a crimson string (Hebrew: חוט השני, khutt hashani) as a type of talisman is a Jewish folk custom which is practiced as a way to ward off misfortune which is brought about by the "evil eye" (Hebrew: עין הרע). The tradition is popularly thought to be associated with Kabbalah and religious forms of Judaism.

The red string itself is usually made from thin scarlet wool thread. It is worn as a bracelet or band on the wrist of the wearer. The red string is worn in many cultures and not founded solely in Jewish culture. Hinduism and Chinese culture have also worn a red string or bracelet for luck, love, and to ward off evil.

Biblical history [edit]

A scarlet thread, tied about the wrist, is mentioned in Genesis 38. Tamar

They've never told the public why they were wearing a red string. The very fact that they can come out and do videos on YouTube directly calling out Israel or Jews by name (words often avoided by most genuine podcasters due to heavy demonetization of their content associated with mentioning them by name with even the slightly hint of negativity) and they can still make money and not have their content shadowbanned is a massive red flag by itself. It would be completely irrational to ignore the potential that they are part of the kabal.

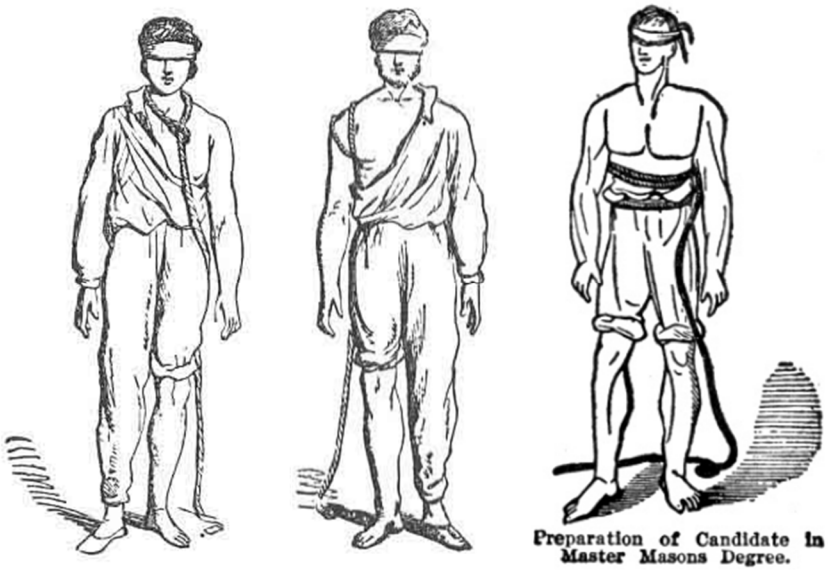
We can't mention podcasting without mentioning Candace Owens and her potential role as a controlled opposition podcaster.

This is from Candace’s conversion to Catholicism in 2024:

A few things become clear quickly to those with a discerning eye;

1) She looks extremely tired like she just finished some sort of hazing initiation ritual.

2) She has something that looks like rope wrapped around her waist.



Preparation of Candidate in Master Masons Degree.

This, of course, has ties to Freemasonry. Women can't be Freemasons, but there are adjacent organizations such as sororities like the Eastern Star (the Satanic pentagram people) that women can join, and many of these were started by Freemasons and their members engage is identical rituals.

3) Black and white floors representing duality.

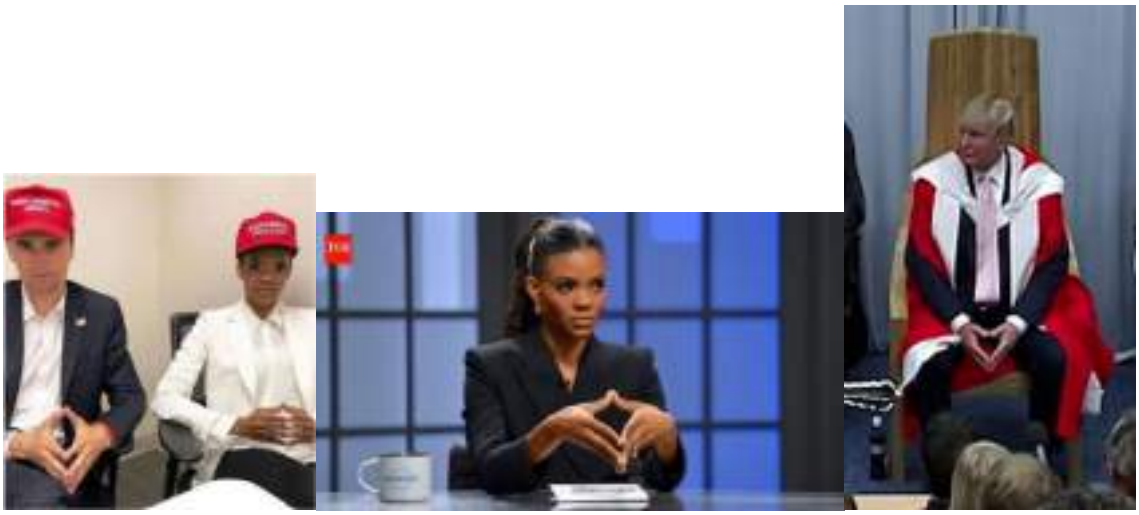
Pyramid with space for "all seeing eye" at the top.

5) Hands seem bruised and scratched.

6) Feet seem swollen

7) Two pillars.

While the Catholic church formally forbids Freemasonry-related activities, many of these practices simply went underground and often the rituals occur at night or early morning before service. She has also been seen in public doing the Divine Feminine masonic hand sign many politicians do:



The point is that a lot of the mainstream voices, even ones that speak up against Defendants Netanyahu and Israel, are often just more actors on the world stage just like the politicians. Defendant Israel sets up controlled opposition political candidates as well, such as Tulsi Gabbard (which as we'll see later in this Complaint, is also clearly playing the game) that publicly declare their disagreement with the actions of the Trump Administration and Defendant Israel, but never go as far as to point out the extent of how much the administration is compromised by Defendant Israel, which is the tell that she's just another actor as well.

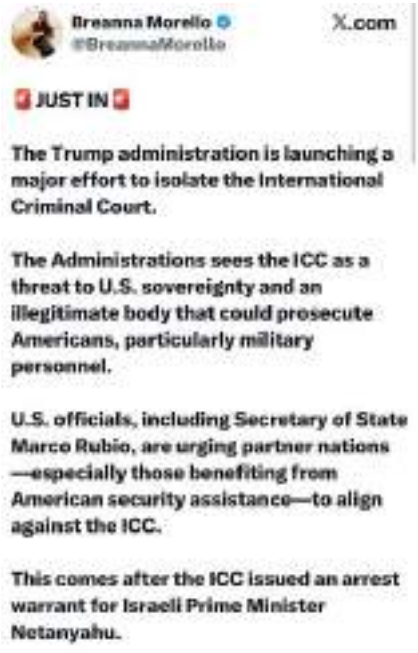
Traitors in Congress are trying to sneak in a provision permanently intertwining US Tech with Defendant Israel's military into the National Defense Authorization Bill.[156] Of course, Defendant Netanyahu goes on Fox News to brag about this because his country owns ours. (https://x.com/shadowofezra/status/2076371837127360691?s=46)

Lastly, Defendant Trump's administration, to include Defendant Blanche, has been outwardly critical of the International Criminal Court because they've issued an arrest warrant for Defendant Netanyahu:



While Defendant Blanche has been one of the least effective oral stimulator of Defendant Netanyahu's obelisk in the Administration (he still has a gag reflex), he has still done his part; "'The ICC has acted in an increasingly lawless and illegitimate manner,' Todd Blanche, the acting US attorney general, wrote in the letter, which was released to the public on Thursday but is dated June 29." (https://www.aljazeera.com/news/2026/7/2/trump-administration-renews-pressure-on-international-criminal-court). This stance is the new position of Defendant United States because Defendant Netanyahu is being charged with war crimes by the ICC

Basically, the U.S.-Israel relations can be summed up as follows:

THE PRETEND WORLD

The people that run our planet largely believe in "Karmic Retribution", this is the principle of "what goes around, comes around".[157] This comes from the ancient Egyptian god Ma'at, frequently represented as a woman with feathers sitting upon a set of scales depicting balance—the same scales that our court system uses today to represent "blind justice".

Part of that belief is the notion that they must tell us in some form what they are doing as a form of "consent" for the evil things they force on us. This is why Defendant Netanyahu allowed our Congress to release the Epstein Files at all after preventing their release for so long. They don't have to conduct a press conference telling us about this or do any formal government disclosure, but the bar for meeting this standard is extremely low. They often fulfill this requirement by describing certain things in books, movies, TV shows, etc. and most of the public takes these revelations as creative story telling without understanding that they are telling you something inherent to our existence and/or the events we experience in this reality.

Trinity of Quotes

While there are many quotes throughout our lives that tells us secret truths, these are the three most important ones in Plaintiff's Opinion that informs us of our reality:

A. The Matrix.

Architect: The Matrix is older than you know. I prefer counting from the emergence of one integral anomaly to the emergence of the next, in which case: this is the sixth version. […] As you are undoubtedly gathering, the anomaly is systemic, creating fluctuations in even the most simplistic equations.

Neo: Choice. The Problem is choice.

Architect: The first Matrix I designed was quite naturally perfect. It was a work of art. Flawless. Sublime. A triumph equaled only by its monumental failure. The inevitability of its doom is apparent to me now as a consequence of the imperfection inherent in every human being. Thus, I redesigned it, based on your history to more accurately reflect the varying grotesqueries of your nature. Again, I was frustrated by failure. I have since come to understand that the answer eluded me because it required a lesser mind, or perhaps a mind less bound by the parameters of perfection. Thus, the answer was stumbled upon by another. An intuitive program initially created to investigate certain aspect of the human psyche. If I am the father of the Matrix, she would undoubtedly be its mother.

157) "Beating Karma To The Punch (Parashat Beshalach)" https://www.rabbimarckatz.com/blog/2017/2/10/beating-karma-to-the-punch-parashat-beshalach

Neo: The Oracle.

Architect: Please. As I was saying, she stumbled upon a solution whereby nearly 99% of all test subject accepted the program as long as they were given a choice, even if they were only aware of the choice at a near unconscious level. While this answer functioned, it was obviously fundamentally flawed, thus creating the otherwise contradictory systemic anomaly, that if left unchecked might threaten the system itself. Ergo: Those that refuse the program--while a minority—if unchecked, would constitute an escalating probability of disaster.

This quote tells us a few things:

- This is not the first version of human-kind and most people don't realize that.
- The number 6 represents human imperfection and the "Mark of the Beast" number is three sixes, which aligns with the Star of Remphan/David used by our parent country of Israel. Ironically, the 6 failures represent our Creator's own failures to create a perfect subject.
- That we are given the illusion of choice/consent, aligning with karmic retribution(Ma'at). The population barely even needs to be aware that they consented to something, as long as they told you their plans in some way. (They obviously don't execute this responsibility very consistently as they often have to distract us or conduct psychological operations to secure certain objectives, and even in the cases where many people do come out to reject their plans they push forward anyways, such as with the "age attestation" bills seen globally that there is zero demand from the public for and people often speak out against, as no one is stupid enough to thing these degenerates give a rats ass about protecting children, but they ram their agenda through anyways).

- That we likely live in some sort of simulation of some sort, and that the most recent version is a balance between happiness and suffering (good and evil) because the first version (paradise) failed and the next version (hellscape) also failed.

B. The Bible

"I form the light, and create darkness: I make peace, and create evil: I the Lord do all these things." Isaiah 45:7.

One translation of the Hebrew version tries to obscure this by changing the word "evil" to "calamity", but the Hebrew Word רָע ("Ra'a") used for this verse translates to "bad" or "evil" in English. Unsurprisingly, the word "Ra'a" aligns with the ancient Egyptian sun god Ra, which is particularly telling given the ideology of the people that run our world (including Defendant Netanyahu) and their obsession with obelisks (phallic symbols), pyramids, and eyes--which all has roots in ancient Egypt.

What this tells us:

- While most religious people must believe that God only creates good, and the evil we experience is something external to our Creator so that they can sleep at night, this quote makes clear that God creates the good and the evil. This is affirmed in the Book of Genesis as God forbade Adam and Eve from eating from the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil, ejecting them from a paradise into a hellscape that had to be flooded ending in a reality forged from the balance of good and evil, aligning with the above The Matrix quote's presentation of history. The story of Adam and Eve and the flooding of the Earth need not be literal to satisfy disclosure requirements of karmic retribution.

- This aligns with the concept of “duality”, a concept our planet’s handlers ascribe to and widely represented in Freemasonry with the primary representation being that of man and woman, as well as good and evil.

Note the black and white checkerboard floors representing duality.

C. Israel

A Retired Mossad (Israeli Intelligence) Agent once stated,

"We create a pretend world. We are a global production company: We write the screenplay, we're the directors, we're the producers, we're the main actors. And the world is our stage."

What this tells us:

- That a lot of the events that make up our lives and our history is staged, falsified, manipulated, or exaggerated, and that Israel is in control of such events across the planet.
- That they see our lives as a movie or television show, which is why they enjoy using movies as vessels for hidden truths.
- This also aligns with their disclosure requirement, as they must tell us in some manner that our world is fake and manipulated.

Because the entire world is a stage, Plaintiff is unable to depart that stage converting it into a prison or jail to anyone that awakens to how fake everything is. Ultimately Defendant Netanyahu is the stage director, and the other Defendants are actors playing key roles within that stage.

D. Subsection summary

These three quotes tells us truths about our existence and the world that we live in and how fake it is, and how Israel controls much of that deception in conjunction with their child country of the United States.

STAGE ACTS OF THE PRETEND WORLD

Much of our lives and history is staged, manipulated, exaggerated, conducted by the government, or lies by omission facilitated by the United States Government and/or our parent country of Israel, to include:

(1) A handful of celebrity deaths

(2) A handful of non-celebrity deaths

(3) The Butler, PA Assassination Attempt against Donald Trump

(4) 9/11 Terrorist Attack

(5) Space Trips to the Moon

(6) The Holocaust

(7) The Attack on Pearl Harbor

(8) Most large-Scale Protests Globally

Defendant Girley has already concluded in an ironically conclusory fashion that Plaintiff was making conclusory allegations within the first version of this Complaint. Therefore, to ensure the Complaint is not dismissed on deeply erroneous grounds such as that, Plaintiff will incorporate evidence into the body of Complaint and will seek additional files from the Defendants during discovery.

(1) Falsified Celebrity Deaths

(a) Tupac Amaru Shakur

Tupac Shakur is the biggest name in the history of rap music and his name is referenced in songs still coming out today. Even if you don't listen to rap music, you have undoubtedly heard at least one of his songs at one point in your life.

Although he was a “gangster rapper”, that image was highly likely to have been crafted to sell music within our pretend world (with heavy assistance by none other than Defendant Israel[158]) as in one interview given when he was 17 years old he comes off as very effeminate in stark contrast to the gangster persona he would adopt a few years later.[159]

For those that aren't native to California, northern California and southern California have a lot of similarities, but there are some differences and they are practically two separate states, as it is about a 7-hour drive to get from San Francisco to Los Angeles, which is a greater drive than many cities within different states. Something that takes off in Los Angeles often will be unheard of in San Franscisco. As part of building the gangster image on the world stage, Tupac had to build street credibility across California first, which includes northern California.

In 1989 in Marin City (right next to Sausalito, CA a wealthy suburb of San Francisco), a city of approximately 3,000 people at the time, Tupac was performing at a rap concert wherein a 6-year old boy named Qa'id Walker-Teal was allegedly accidently shot. Qa'id Walker-Teal looks remarkably similar to the childhood photo of another rapper, The Game.

Some people say that using those photos is how The Game ended up making it big himself in the rap music industry. Is this another part of the pretend world that we live in? Probably. This event gave Tupac notoriety in northern California. After a few more years of building up his music catalog and securing a few acting gigs, we are eventually brough to Las Vegas, NV on September 7, 1996 where Tupac was allegedly shot resulting in 6-7 days of intensive care in the hospital allegedly resulting in his death on September 13th, 1996.

Leonard Jefferson sells various forms of this photo online, some of which are signed by him:

160) https://www.complex.com/music/a/brendan-klinkenberg/last-picture-of-2pac

But a problem becomes apparent for those with an eye for detail, besides the date being wrong--which is an odd mistake for a film student to make—but, besides that; the version he is selling seems to be altered.

The top/left one is Leonard's version and the bottom/right one is the version shown at Las Vegas Metropolitan Police's Press Conference announcing an arrest in the case.

Note that the little white thing on Suge Knight's arm is not present on Leornard Jefferson's version, meaning that his "original authentic" pictures that he is selling have been altered. Oops. This brings us to a bigger question: If Leonard Jefferson didn't take this picture, then who did? But more importantly; why was this white thing altered out? Why bother editing something so innocuous out of the photo in the first place?

The most likely answer for what was photoshopped out of Suge's arm is that it is a part of an IV blood draw system. This would explain how so much of Suge's blood was found at the crime scene as well as why anyone would bother photoshopping it out.

What appears signs of an IV Blood Draw catheter (needle) on Suge Knight. In some renditions of the photo, this has been photoshopped out. Why would somebody photoshop this out?

This is far from the only line of evidence ('IV line' pun not intended) pointing to this event being staged. LVMP may or may not have anything to do with staging this event, however them and Clark County's District Attorney proudly wrapped up this case in 2023 with the arrest of Duane "Keefe D" Davis who had confessed to the crime. However, the Clark County District Attorney should be embarrassed because Keefe D obviously did not kill Tupac Shakur, and their case against him is the weakest First Degree Homicide case in a high profile murder case in the entire country, and only serves as proof of how terrible our legal system is. That case never should have been brought for a series of reasons that no one ever addresses:

1) Keefe D had immunity for this crime which is part of why he wasn't prosecuted despite his numerous "confessions". Immediately, we have the federal government (Defendant United States) entering the case and offering the alleged killer of a celebrity immunity. Keefe D's attorneys raised this issue multiple times and the incompetent judge without any intellectual curiosity as to the specifics of the immunity and without bringing in the DOJ to testify about this immunity denied the motions. Unfortunately, lack of intellectual curiosity is extremely pervasive in the judiciary across all states and the federal government. In the disgraceful determinations as to his immunity, the judge determined that Keefe D provided no proof of an immunity agreement without simply asking the fucking DOJ what they know about this issue. Why bother trying to get to the truth when its best to just keep scratching your head about it like a fucking moron, then leave everything up in the air while a man innocent of the crime he is accused of sits in jail for years on end. It's disgraceful behavior and the judiciary should be ashamed of itself.. The bar for bringing First Degree Homicide charges is usually very high, especially if you deny bail or want an excessively high bail as they did in Keefe D's case, yet they keep denying him immunity without seeking the actual truth regarding his claims of immunity. To the best of Plaintiff's knowledge, not one person in that entire case, to include Keefe D's defense attorneys has brought up the fact that the cop that interviewed Keefe D and secured that initial "confession" is also on record in publicly-available interviews on YouTube stating that Keefe D had immunity and explaining how the interview took place at the U.S. Attorney's Office.[161,162, 163] Seems pretty fucking relevant. If the cop that conducted the interview was under the impression that Keefe D had immunity, then maybe Keefe D didn't fabricate the immunity. On this alone, the case should never have been brought, but even ignoring that there are many other issues.

2) The entire case against Keefe D. is solely based on his confession. They literally cannot even place him in Las Vegas at the time of the alleged shooting. They don't have a matching gun, or DNA placing him there, or him on video or anything that substantially places him in Last Vegas on September 7th, 1996. "He said he did it" is literally their entire case against him. Of Course, as one of Keefe D's prior attorney's pointed out with supporting case law citations: They can't solely use a confession as a basis for a murder charge without other corroborating evidence (Which they don't have in this case)--despite that the judge did what most judges do and gave a middle finger to precedential case law citations to assist the prosecution/government. Nothing new. Most judges are pieces of garbage anyways, so this isn't surprising. They filed an appeal pointing out these abuses and the Nevada Supreme Court denied it in a two page ruling refusing to uphold their own precedential case law. One excerpt from this disgraceful ruling:

> "As an initial matter, the record does not include the indictment or grand jury transcript, making it difficult to ascertain the charges at issue and their relation to Davis's arguments. Regardless, a motion to dismiss an indictment is not the appropriate vehicle to challenge the sufficiency of the State's evidence."

LAZY. FUCKING.RUBBER-STAMPING.SHITBAGS is what the Nevada Supreme Court is filled to the brim with.

> "You didn't provide this thing, so I'm not going to show one modicum of interest in pursuing justice by asking you to submit a copy, I'm just going to put in my ruling that you didn't submit it because you're not infinitely perfect like we pretend to be. Rather than try to find out if they have any evidence outside of your confession [They don't], we're just going to dismiss it on a bullshit technicality while you sit in prison month after month waiting for trial." That's pretty much their ruling in a nutshell.

They should all resign in shame, but they won't because they have zero integrity and would rather keep collecting their paycheck and doing nothing of value for the state—no different than any other court system. The Nevada Legislature should impeach and remove the Supreme Court judges that made this ruling and the judge in Keefe D's case because they are the epitome of judicial scum.

3) False confessions in high profile cases are actually common.[164] Most people operate under the rational conclusion that a person would not confess to a crime they didn't do, and this might be logical if it weren't for the fact that it's a false premise when it comes to high profile cases such as this, in which case they get all sorts of lunatics coming out to confess. It gets even worse when you add a monetary incentive to the high profile case such as what Keefe D had. In other high-profile homicides such as the murders of the two little girls in Delphi, IN[165] in 2017, law enforcement chose to withhold many details about how the girls died and the crime scene because they wouldn't be able to weed out if someone confessing knew details only the killer could know—they ultimately did end up getting some false confessions.[166] The same thing in another high profile murder case of two little girls in Evansdale, IA in 2012, where police have not released the details of the homicides so they differentiate false confessions from real ones.[167] It is undoubtedly incorrect that in high-profile cases a person would never falsely confess, and the fact that the court in Keefe D's case is still operating under this demonstrably false premise is just another disgraceful failure of the judiciary.

The phrase "close to the vest" refers to the Delphi police's strategy of keeping critical crime details (like specific cause of death and DNA) hidden to protect the investigation. This withholding—like a poker player guarding their hand—ultimately helped investigators verify the true killer.

Information regarding the case was highly guarded for years. Specifics regarding the strategy, evidence, and public interest are outlined below:

- Strategic Silence: Early in the investigation, the Indiana State Police purposefully avoided releasing detailed crime scene information. They noted that showing their hand too early could alert a suspect or corrupt witness statements.
- Key Unreleased Evidence: For years, police kept certain details about how the victims died out of the public eye.
- Public Tapes and Sketches: While holding details back, authorities released limited evidence to jog the public's memory, such as the famous "Guys, down the hill" audio snippet and a sketch of the suspect.
- Case Resolution: Keeping facts under wraps paid off when police matched unspent ammunition found at the scene to the suspect's firearm. This ultimately led to an arrest and a 130-year prison sentence for Richard Allen in 2024.

From that article: "The supposed confession was made by Ron Logan who owned the property where the girls' bodies were found on Feb. 14, 2017."
Investigators never went after Ron Logan for those murders despite this confession. The man later convicted for these murders, Richard Allen, also confessed after being in pre-trial confinement, and the prosecutors took that to the bank and prosecuted him for it, but at least in that case they had one iota of physical evidence (ejected round matching Allen's gun's ejection mechanism) and could physically link him to the location based on statements given to police. There are several red flags with Allen's confessions, but ultimately those will be ignored by appellate courts. While the judge in Allen's case was equally a piece of garbage as Keefe D's judge and was working with prosecutors to convict Allen, at least there was some physical evidence tying him to the crime, even if it was sparse. In Keefe D's case it is 100% his own statements.
Notice that there is a trend of putting low IQ people in jail and they start confessing to things, even if they didn't do them. Very relevant here.

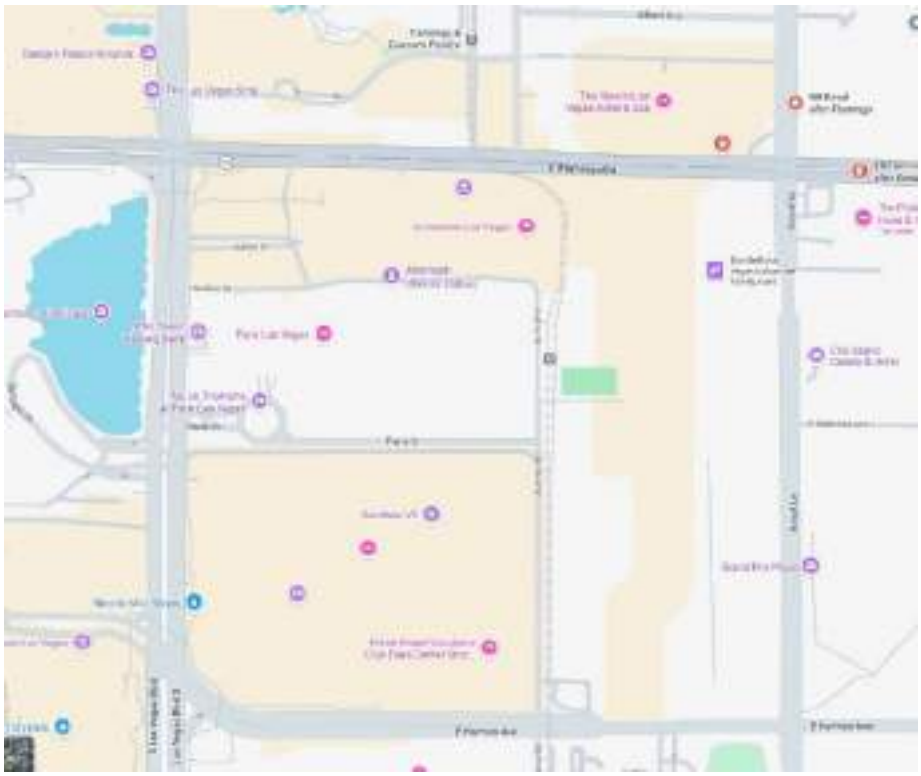
4) Keefe D said he wrote about the murder in a book. Obviously, he was operating under the presumption that he had immunity which is the only reason he would bother putting his name to a book taking credit for the alleged homicide of Tupac. After Keefe D was arrested, he said he wasn't very involved in writing the book and just put his name on it to make money. What's the truth? Police seized his computer, so logically, we would think that there would be communication with the publisher or editor of the book or a series of drafts written by Keefe D that might reveal the truth? But why bother showing one iota of intellectual curiosity in getting to the truth, when the judge can continue to skew the case in favor of the prosecution as much as possible then let the jury decide? What a waste of fucking money.

5) Keefe D likely did not write the book with his name on it as he doesn't seem to know what was actually in it as several key contradictions in his verbal claims vs what was in the book were pointed out to him in a VladTV interview before his arrest. Why bother finding out why he doesn't seem to know what was in his own book when we can just waste a jury's time in a clearly rigged trial to make this obvious determination? More wasted taxpayer money.

6) In an interview on Cam Capone News, the officer that interviewed Keefe D said most of the interview with him was "erroneous" (as in Keefe didn't seem to know basic facts of the case) and has low credibility. This checks out because, among several key errors in his interview with Greg Kading, Keefe D said the shooting occurred at the intersection of Harmon and Las Vegas Blvd (The Strip), when the shooting should have taken place at Flamingo and Koval (not the Strip).



Map for reference (Las Vegas Blvd is "The Strip")

He literally didn't even know the intersection the shooting took place. Harmon and Las Vegas Blvd is where the car ended up after the shooting on Flamingo/Koval, and Keefe should not have any connection to that location associated with the shooting because after the alleged shooting he took off in a completely different direction and went to go drink and smoke with his accomplices for the rest of the night.

7) Nevermind. Keefe D did not go to drink with his accomplices because he came back to find Tupac and start laughing at him while the police were getting Tupac medical support on Las Vegas Blvd as he stated in the only recently-released segment from his Greg Kading interview in the P Diddy documentary (Sean Combs: The Reckoning) on NetFlix. To summarize: Keefe D and his accomplices shot Tupac on the Las Vegas Strip in a drive-by shooting (at the time 3-4 lanes in each direction and constantly packed) even though the shooting happened at a different intersection, drove off, then came back to the Las Vegas Strip with its 6-8 lanes to laugh at Tupac from the side of the road while police were right there. Yeah, seems credible. Let's waste millions of dollars on a farcical trial and appeal cases to convict this obvious liar for a crime he didn't do.

8) This September 10, 1997 LA Times article indicates that Keefe D's nephew, Orlando Anderson, sued the Tupac estate despite being an alleged gang member—suing opposing gang members isn't normal behavior for a gangster, but okay. He also does so less than a year after the alleged murder despite being the primary suspect in the case and the amount of scrutiny that would be placed against him and would likely have to be deposed as to events surrounding the alleged murder to proceed with the suit. Ridiculous

Man Named as Suspect in Death of Shakur Sues the Rapper's Estate

■ Courts: Orlando Anderson says he was assaulted by the star and others in a Las Vegas hotel hours before fatal shooting.

By CHUCK PHILIPS
TIMES STAFF WRITER

A reputed Los Angeles gang member once named by police as a suspect in the murder of Tupac Shakur has filed a lawsuit against the slain rap star's estate—a year and a day after Shakur was gunned down.

Orlando Anderson's lawsuit contends that he was assaulted by the rapper and several Death Row Records employees in the lobby of the MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas just hours before Shakur was gunned down. No arrests have been made.

It is unusual for gang disputes to end up in civil lawsuits, but Anderson's action is particularly surprising because it could subject him to renewed scrutiny in connection with Shakur's death.

Shakur, one of the brightest stars in rap and a budding actor, was fatally wounded just off the Las Vegas Strip by gunfire while riding in a car driven by Death Row founder Marion "Suge" Knight. Ever since, there has been widespread speculation about the relationship between the killing and the MGM altercation.

The suit, filed late Monday in Los Angeles Superior Court, also names Death Row and Knight as defendants, and alleges that Anderson suffered physical injuries and severe emotional and mental distress.

Representatives for Shakur's estate and Death Row declined comment Tuesday.

9/10/97 LATIMES

9) From the same LA Times article… Police already confiscated weapons from Keefe D. What came of those confiscations? Why were they never mentioned again?

According to the affidavit, Anderson was seen several days after the shooting with a Glock .40-caliber handgun—the same kind of weapon used in the homicide—and his cousin was seen driving a white late-model Cadillac into an auto shop in Compton. That same week, Las Vegas detectives examined a box of .40-caliber rounds confiscated by Compton police from a residence where Anderson's cousin was living. They also confiscated weapons from a Compton residence of Anderson's uncle, Dwayne Keith "Keefee D" Davis, who sources said is listed in police files as a member of the Southside Crips.

Were these findings part of discovery for Keefe D's case?

10) This was brought up in motions to dismiss from Keefe D's legal team, but they waited until the other three people that were supposedly involved passed away to charge him, Clearly, they were never able to prove any of the other three suspects had anything to do with it despite having literally decades to do so, then after they die, they go after the last guy based on obviously-bogus confessions and the immunity the government gave him. Think about how fucked up that is: "We couldn't prove these other three guys that supposedly participated in this murder had anything to do with it, but now that they're dead we can just ignore the severe lack of evidence against those guys while we prosecute the most obvious liar in the world based on his own non-credible confessions". He will likely be unable to point out the severe lack of evidence at trial because that would result in the demise of the prosecution's case, which the "judge" is protecting at all costs. Our court system is not a serious place.

11) A major part of Keefe D's "confession" involved the assassination being a hit for money from Agent Combs[168], yet investigators never considered him a suspect.[169] Keefe D is "credible" enough to get himself prosecuted, but not others, even though that was literally the entire point of Defendant Blanche's DoJ meeting with him and his attorney.[161] So fucking stupid. Our world is not a serious place.

12) There are more issues with the prosecution's case against Keefe D, but Plaintiff will share those directly with Keefe D's attorneys to try to prevent further rigging of the trial against him.

Suffice it to say that there is approximately a 0% chance that Keefe D would be convicted in a fair trial ('fair' being the operative word and the thing he hasn't been given thus far'), and he ultimately never should have been charged in the first place. If Plaintiff had to guess why after damn near 30 years prosecutors of doing fucking nothing, suddenly law enforcement decided to start thoroughly investigating and prosecuting this man, it would likely be due to a 2022 interview where he outed Agent Combs, Tupac, and other big name celebrities as being at a homosexual illuminati party[171]—This likely pissed a lot of powerful people off leading to phone calls or emails being sent to the scumbag Clark County prosecutor. That's probably the motive for this farcical prosecution, but that is just an educated guess. Either way, Clark County prosecutors should move to dismiss the case and cut Mr. Freeman a check for saving Nevada taxpayers millions of dollars in trial fees and appellate costs. But that won't happen because there is no integrity in the legal system.

However, the laundry list of issues in the prosecution's case against Keefe D's is not pointed out in the case only for the sole purpose of getting an obvious liar out of jail for a crime he didn't do, but to point out the role of courts and law enforcement as part of the pretend world that Plaintiff is forced to live within. On television, courts are often portrayed as judges trying to be objective and caring about getting to the truth within the confines of the law, but in reality, we see how little they give a shit about the law or the truth. We see that same issue in this case.

Now that the case against Keefe D in the murder of Tupac Shakur has been decimated, we can move on to showing that no murder took place that night. There are a few things that would lead a rational person to the conclusion that no murder took place:

1) Earlier this year, Plaintiff filed a Freedom of Information Act request with Defendant Blanche's FBI (Freedom of Information Act) FOIA office for all records pertaining to Tupac Shakur from the Special Agent Combs' government email (sean.combs@ic.fbi.gov) from the beginning of Tupac's career to the present. Plaintiff's FOIA Request was denied on the basis of privacy rights. Plaintiff then pointed out in his appeal that deceased persons do not have privacy rights and cited precedential case law and attached a copy of Tupac's death certificate within the appeal. The appeal (FOIA Appeal A-2025-02635) affirmed the FOIA request denial on the basis of privacy rights.

Dear Michael Freeman II:

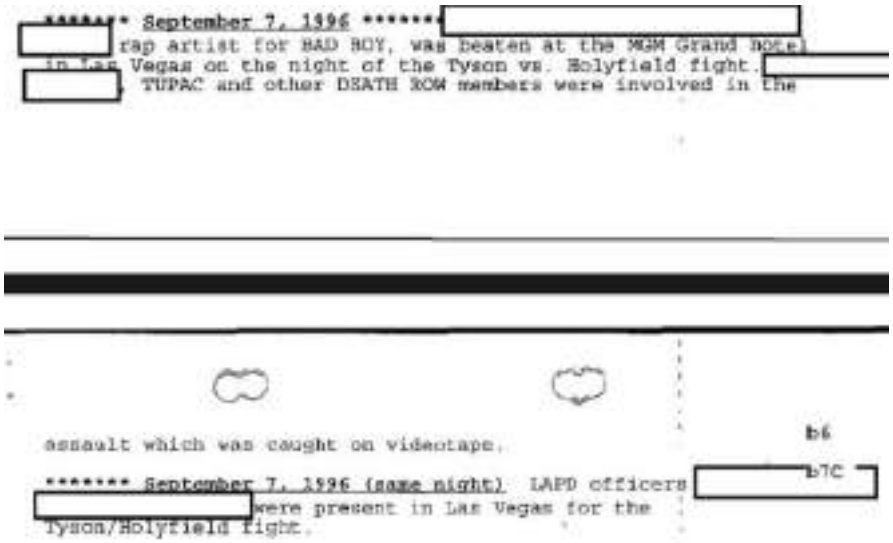
You appealed from the action of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) on your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request for access to emails sent to or from Agent Sean Combs containing the words "Tupac" or "Shakur." I note that your appeals concern the FBI's refusal to confirm or deny the existence of records pursuant to Exemptions 6 and 7(C). Please note that this Office was closed due to a lapse in funding appropriations between October 1, 2025 and November 12, 2025, which resulted in a delay in responding to your appeal.

After carefully considering your appeal, I am affirming FBI's action on your request. The FOIA provides for disclosure of many agency records. At the same time, Congress included in the FOIA nine exemptions from disclosure that provide protection for important interests such as personal privacy, privileged communications, and certain law enforcement activities. The FBI properly refused to confirm or deny the existence of records responsive to your request. Confirming or denying the existence of such records, including law enforcement records, concerning a third-party individual would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, and could reasonably be expected to constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6), (7)(C). Additionally, it is reasonably foreseeable that confirming or denying the existence of such records would harm the interests protected by these exemptions. See, e.g., People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals v. NIH, 745 F.3d 535, 544 (D.C. Cir. 2014) (upholding agency's refusal to confirm or deny existence of records that would confirm whether investigation of third party had occurred); see also Antonelli v. FBI, 721 F.2d 615, 618 (7th Cir. 1983) (finding that confirming whether third party has been the subject of investigation would likely "constitute an invasion of that person's privacy that implicates the protections of Exemptions 6 and 7").

Tupac was the “third party” whose privacy rights would have been violated. Because deceased people don’t have privacy rights, the “third party” must be alive.

2) Tupac’s alias was “Makaveli”, named after sixteenth century Italian philosopher Niccolo Machiavelli, who has a very popular quote in which he said, “Fake your death to fool your enemies”.

3) Another alleged Los Angeles Crip gang member that was alleged to be involved in the murder of Tupac Shakur alongside Keefe D is Orlando “Baby Lane” Anderson, Keefe’s nephew. The shooting of Tupac was alleged to be in retaliation for an assault that Tupac and his crew inflicted on Orlando earlier on the night of the shooting. However, the federal government made a mistake in the release of New York City-based rapper Biggie Small’s previous publicly-posted FOIA files (we’ll get to why Biggie’s “murder” was also falsified later in this Complaint) and it reveals that Orlando Anderson was an artist with Agent Combs’ New York City-based record label, Bad Boy Records.



From Biggie Smalls' public FOIA release

There is no publicly released stories that any music was recorded or released by Bad Boy Records tied to Orlando Andederson, as it makes no logical sense why an alleged California Crip would begin working for a rival music label ran by a federal agent on the other side of the country. The only explanation is that Orlando was an informant for the government. Keefe D was also an informant for the government.[172] FBI Agent Sean Combs, Informant Crip Orlando Anderson, Informant Crip Keefe D. A lot of these people surrounding the rap community seem to be working for the government, revealing how fake everything is.

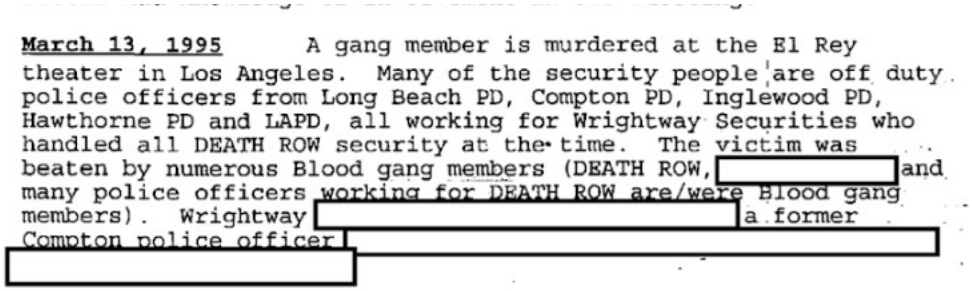
Also note that it documents that multiple LAPD officers were in Las Vegas for that fight—if those officers were there for leisure and not work, this would not have even been identified, and because they were there for the fight as part of their jobs; they were likely undercover. It was already known that Death Row hired law enforcement and former law enforcement to run security—another clear red flag for this gangster rap label.



March 13, 1995 A gang member is murdered at the El Rey theater in Los Angeles. Many of the security people are off duty police officers from Long Beach PD, Compton PD, Inglewood PD, Hawthorne PD and LAPD, all working for Wrightway Securities who handled all DEATH ROW security at the time. The victim was beaten by numerous Blood gang members (DEATH ROW, [redacted] and many police officers working for DEATH ROW are/were Blood gang members). Wrightway [redacted] a former Compton police officer [redacted]

A lot of cops and informants baked into this operation.

4) Tupac was likely under federal protection as an informant or agent during the time of the alleged shooting. In a largely forgotten interview, actor Cuba Gooding Jr. Recalled bumping into Tupac the same day he was allegedly shot,

> "'I don't like the whole conspiracy things, but that day he was in a convertible, like Rolls-Royce... I was in a hockey tournament so I was in Vegas as well playing hockey. [Mike] Tyson had his fight and I jumped out of the car and I ran up to his car. 'Pac, Pac, it's Cube,' and all these cars with the guns [pull up],' he recalled. 'No, no, no, that's Cube, man, that's Cube.' I go, 'Oh sorry man.' He goes, 'You good.' ... So that happens that day when the sun is out, and at night they got shot and there's no cops around. That's a true story, I was involved in that."[173]

172) "Greg Kading on Keefe D Being Confidential Informant, Can Diddy Be Charged for 2Pac Murder? (Part 9)" https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QmqIdJCtvoQ

Cuba then goes on to ask a very astute question that Keefe D's defense attorney, the prosecutor, nor the "judge" bothered to ask:

> "So where were all those undercover cops that pulled the guns on me when I tried to approach him sitting in his convertible?' he asked. 'I'm just saying, it's weird that they were going to blow me away and I'm an Academy Award winner, that's what I'm saying.'"[173]

The very fact that Tupac was able to tell the officers to put their guns down would not only indicate that he was an informant or undercover agent, but that he had some level of authority or influence over the officers and their operation. It's no wonder this interview from Cuba is ignored.. it shows how fake everything in the rap world is. This is all part of the pretend world Defendants United States and Israel force Plaintiff to live in. This also reveals Defendant United States involvement, as these agents must have been with Nevada and/or federal law enforcement, as California cops would have to be martialized by the federal government to operate in Nevada. Have any of the documents behind that operation been provided in the discovery in Keefe D's case? Probably not—probably because it would show that the whole thing was fake. Just more stuff we ignore to get to the pre-determined conclusion.

4) The most important reason this event was staged is that the vehicle authorities claim Tupac was shot in was already shot up before the shooting. Some of the software in iPhones are nothing short of spectacular, and their advanced photo enhancement abilities is something out of a sci-fi movie.

Plaintiff will not bother going over intricate details of this comparison, but if he did he could explain how you can map the line leading up to both holes and the shape of the bullet hole and the ring around it in both images and they are one and the same. Any competent forensic image analyst with decent eyesight will concur. One of the primary bullet holes in the case was already on the car before the alleged shooting took place.

The bullet hole on the front window can also be identified in the last photo of Tupac alive, proving that one was pre-existing as well, in addition to the damage to the front window frame.

Other bullet holes can also be identified, but they are much harder to elucidate, and would use up far more ink to attempt to do so than Plaintiff would like to spend.

However, Plaintiff will point out that upon closer examination of the small portion of the car's windowpane that is sticking out, it appears to already be broken, aligning with the car already having been shot up prior to the shooting that led to Tupac's "death".

There is another version of the photo that is less cropped that most versions of the photograph. That version is useless for most purposes as it has clearly been photoshopped to hell (all of the fine details of the door were blacked out), but there is one takeaway from it that is useful. As we can see from this enhanced photo, part of the door's trim is already damaged for this "shooting" as it would appear in the crime scene photos after.

However, it should be flush and look more, like it does in this generic photo of the same make and model car found online:

6) Next is the timeline following his alleged death that makes no sense and is near impossible. Tupac supposedly died at 4:03 PM and his mother was viewing the body at 5:00 PM on September 13 in Las Vegas, NV according to the coroner's report. Then, they rushed his body over a 4 hour drive away to Los Angeles for a viewing of the body by fans on the evening of September 14.[174]

But according to Jasmine Guy's book, Afeni Shakur: Evolution of a Revolutionary, Tupac's Mother had him created on September 14th too, which must have been in Las Vegas because Tupac's death certificate indicates the Paradise Valley Crematory in Las Vegas was the cremator. Autopsies take an average of 2-4 hours and even longer for complex cases such as this, and embalming after an autopsy also takes 3-4 hours. They would also have to get clothes and a casket for him, all within 24 hours.

Let's think this through… Tupac's mother was viewing the body at 5:00PM on September 13th, he then had to get an autopsy almost immediately after passing, which means they essentially skipped to the front of the Coroner's autopsy line. They then had to get someone to do the embalming literally the next day, skipping to the front of that line as well, as well as get a suit for his body to be viewed in. They then had to rush his body down over a four hour drive away to Los Angeles for a viewing by his fans in LA on the evening of the same day (September 14), then drive his body back another four hours back to a crematorium in Las Vegas where his body was cremated on the same day. This is a ludicrous timeline, and anyone with a functioning brain would find this extremely unlikely.

7) When they fake these deaths, a common theme is that they seem to predict their own demise, and the story of Tupac's "death" is no different.

Tupac's Don Killuminati album cover before his death. The album was released after his "death", but the artwork was completed before his "death" and approved by Tupac.[175] Looking closely you can see that he got the exact spot the bullet would hit and even had something that looks exactly like a bullet going toward that spot. He also alluded to his coming demise in his songs prior to the events that allegedly took his life.[176]

8) The autopsy photo is obviously fraudulent.

It was good for the time period it was produced in, but there are plenty of mistakes showing that this is not a real photo. The biggest giveaway being the brown shadow, which doesn't make any sense. We can safely presume that this is just a Hollywood-quality visual effects makeup combined with some good photoshopping.

9) Shortly after Plaintiff started sending Freedom of Information Act requests to the DOJ regarding Tupac, the addresses listed for his residences over the course of his adult life were removed from White Pages, even though they had been up for years prior to that. Curious. This would be a serious setback to Plaintiff's research into this matter if it weren't for him archiving them prior to removal.

(Most recent address and phone number redacted to avoid doxing). His name is being listed in a lot of residences post-death. One would have to ask why. One thing we will see throughout our excursion exposing the pretend world is that the nefarious actors (defendants in this case) will often cover their tracks. They don't simply do a Psychological Operation (PSYOP) and move on, they often revisit them looking for errors to fix mistakes and they will alter webpages and incorporate new evidence to hide their corruption, especially if they are called out on something.

10) Then we have rapper, Akil the MC admitting that he is Tupac.[177]

While Plaintiff cannot establish the veracity of this claim, he must admit that he looks A LOT like an older version Tupac with a wig on matching what his age would be in 2024.

Plaintiff has laid out a high likelihood case that the federal government (Defendant United States) faked Tupac Shakur's death as part of the pretend world that they assist Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel with facilitating. This is the first celebrity death that Plaintiff brings forth to prove this point.

(b) Christopher George Latore Wallace

While Tupac Shakur is revered largely within the West Coast and well known nationwide, his rival, Christopher Wallace, better known as 'Biggie Smalls' or 'Notorious B.I.G.' is equally popular within the East Coast. A rivalry is pretty consistent with masonic ideology as it creates a duality, and most big name rap and hip hop artists have competition to balance them out. Eminem had Machine Gun Kelly, Nicki Minaj has Cardi B, and Jay Z had Nas. The East Coast/West Coast battle was largely manufactured by the industry and partially adopted by the target demographic--By fabricating a narrative of violence between the East Coast and West Coast rap culture, those communities may have eventually engaged in actual violence based on that perception. You can do this with other things too. If you report a bunch of heart attacks on the news, leading to increased emotional stress, which can trigger more have heart attacks. If you report there is skyrocketing suicides, people are more likely to commit suicide.[178] If you report that there is an extremely deadly virus circulating people will rush to the hospital and sadly, as in the case of New York City and the COVID pandemic, people were rushing to the hospital to their own slaughter by the medical system—(the virus had been circulating since December 2019 based on blood samples tested for COVID, but deaths in NYC skyrocketed to over 5 times the normal death rate in March 2020 after the first report of a death which far exceeds the death rate from the virus itself, meaning these people were killed by the treatments or maltreatment). This is all part of the pretend world, life imitating art--but Plaintiff digresses. The primary individuals associated with the manufactured rivalry between East Coast and West Coast rap communities in the 1990's were Tupac and Biggie Smalls.

178) "Are heart attack triggers real?"
https://www.health.harvard.edu/heart-health/are-heart-attack-triggers-real

Biggie Smalls with masonic checkerboard bandana and Tupac with Skull and Crossbones masonic symbol

Following the alleged death of Tupac, there was a great deal of speculation that Biggie Smalls and Agent Combs were behind it, the East Coast/West Coast tension was at its peak, or at least that's the illusion the Defendant U.S. Government and Defendant Blanche's DOJ wanted out there. Given that narrative, the stupidest thing that Biggie Smalls could have done is to go to Los Angeles shortly after Tupac's death, which is why he and Agent Combs did exactly that.

On March 9, 1997, Biggie Smalls was allegedly shot in Los Angeles after leaving a Soul Train Awards afterparty. While significantly less information is available regarding this alleged murder, what little evidence is available has some serious issues and leads Plaintiff to the conclusion that his death was falsified as well.

Agent Combs dancing the night away at 1:30 AM hours before Biggie was allegedly murdered.[179]

179) "The notorious BIG last party hours before he was murdered"
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KmMhLAcmG7A

While photos were taken of Biggie were taken earlier in the night, apparently he didn't want to be videotaped, but as we can see the party went on until 2:39 at least (the video stops at 2:44AM). This video seems to be recorded by a professional videographer, so its doubtful the time on the clock on their camera would have been set to the incorrect time. The problem with this timeline is that the fire department is supposed to have shut down the party a little after midnight.[180]

2) The car he was allegedly shot in keeps changing. Most people don't know, but there is video of Biggie leaving the party and the audio of the gunshots.[181] While this vehicle pulls up, the people recording it say "That's Biggie" referring to this car. The video then cuts to another SUV behind that one with Agent Combs in it, which aligns with the presented facts of the case (that Combs was in the car directly behind Biggie's vehicle). While they are recording Agent Combs, the gunshots are heard and the recorders immediately conclude that Biggie was shot (how they knew that, who fucking knows…), then the camera pans over the Biggie's vehicle showing people rushing to his aid.

https://www.vibe.com/features/editorial/notorious-big-chronicle-death-foretold-may-1997-vibe-rewind-212220/
(The articles headline states "May 1997" and not March, the month Biggie Smalls is alleged to have died, and that is because they are referring to their May 1997 cover story about the event)

181) "Notorious BIG shooting"
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EJ8IuOGMZu8

The problem is that this vehicle appears black and not green, and it also has two extra front headlights and different rims than the vehicle he was allegedly shot in.

People rushing to Biggie's aid after he was allegedly shot. As you can see, the rims have stickers with his name on it.

First, you've got to wonder who stopped to take a picture when all of this was going on. This was before the days of everyone having a high-quality camera on their phone, and this photo is pretty decent quality for 1997. Someone had to stop while all of this was going on to pull out a DSLR camera, turn it on, and snap this picture. But let's ignore that. Notice that those rims don't match the ones from the above video even though they are both supposed to be the car he was shot in.

Another photo of the car from the Crime Scene Video.[182]

Note the sticker with his name on it. The car also seem to be dark blue instead of green, but that could just be lighting. Lastly, note that the rims don't match either of the two pictures above.

182) "B2774-75 Notorious BIG - Murder Crime Scene Video - Camera 1 of 3"
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8nV7qzfJhr0

Snapshot from Crime Scene Video of driver's side of the vehicle.[183]

Note that the rims match the ones from the third photo (from Footnote 182), but not the other two. Also note the lack of two additional headlights and that the car is green again.

There's at least three different cars that he was supposedly shot in.

3) A lot of people also don't know, but there is audio of the 911 call in Biggie's case as well.[184] The caller makes clear that they are driving to the hospital and they don't know which direction to go. But this contradicts the image of people rushing to help him immediately after the shooting as seen in the video that recorded the shooting. Why would they drive him to the hospital when the fire department was literally still on scene because they just shut the party down for being too crowded? Why not have one of them assist?

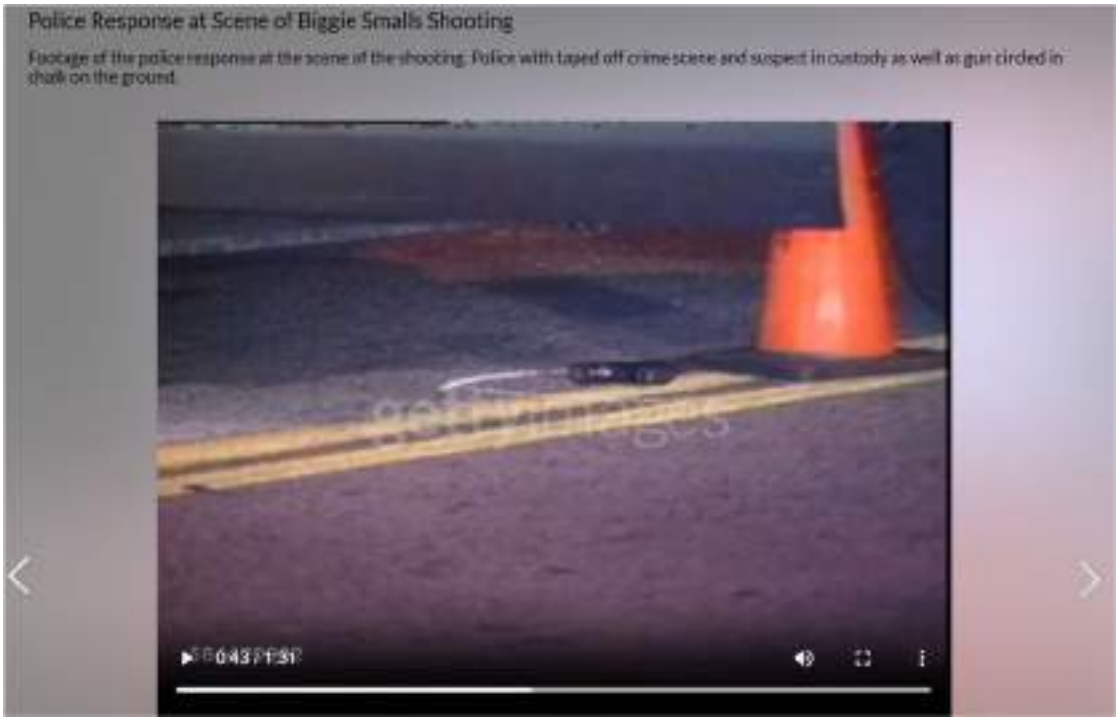
4) This is one of the rare events where we get a glimpse into an alternate universe. In our universe, we've had zero arrests in the case. Google AI summarizes this for us:

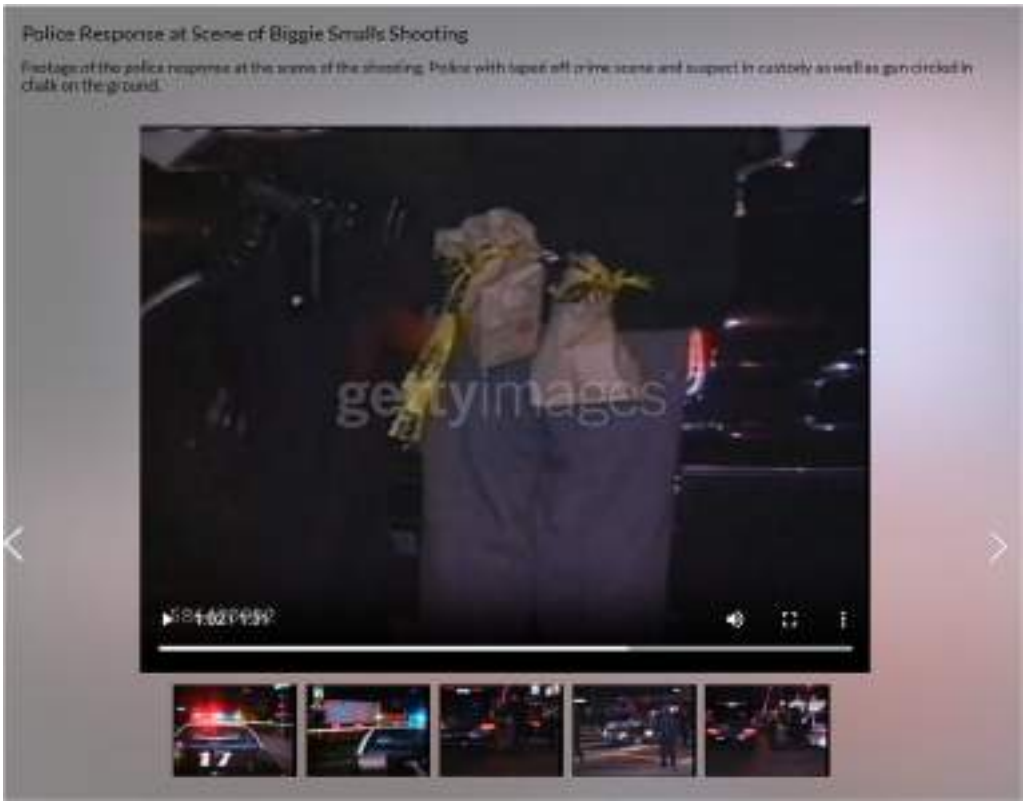
A manual search of the Google results reveals nothing contradictory to this. We can presume that in our universe there have been no arrests in this case. But in an alternate universe, they actually caught someone at the scene.[185]

In this alternate universe, this Asian gentleman wearing a suit (the suspect in our universe was also described as wearing a suit) was arrested on scene.



185) "Police Response at Scene of Biggie Smalls Shooting" https://www.gettyimages.com/detail/video/footage-of-the-police-response-at-the-scene-of-the-news-footage/586420982?adppopup=true

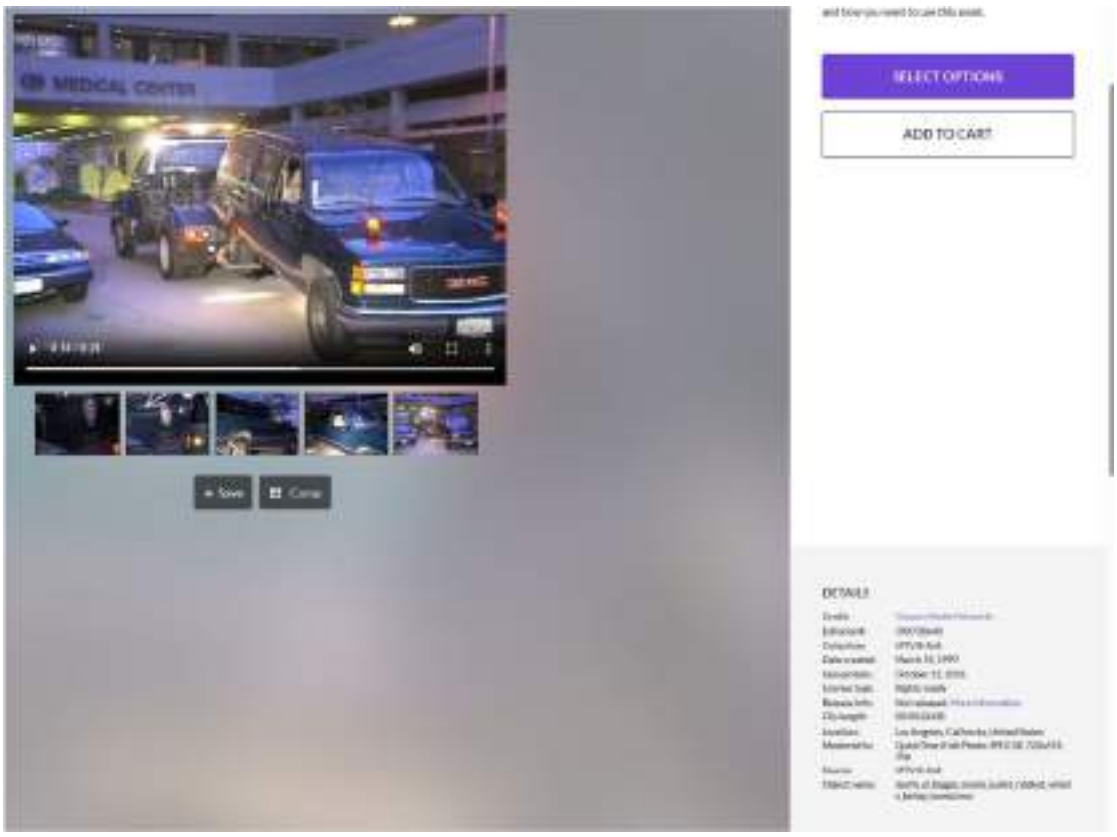
They even found the gun and everything! Whoa!



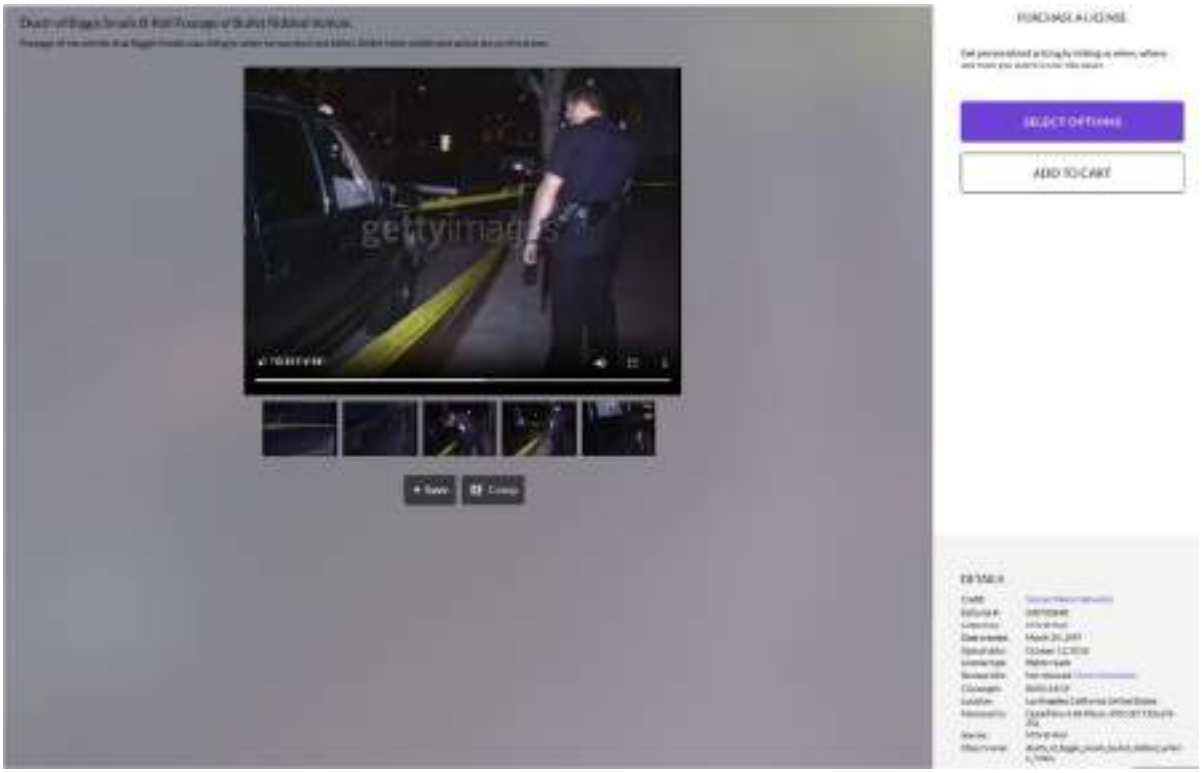
They even went as far as to make sure to wrap the suspect's hands to ensure that evidence on them would be preserved. There is zero reporting of this arrest happening in our universe! This alternate universe brought to us by…. MTV.

The same MTV with one of its primary facilities in New York being operated out of a Masonic Temple. The Masons are essentially controlled by Defendants Netanyahu and Israel.

“But Plaintiff, the date on that footage is listed as March 19 and Biggie died on March 9, so this could have been recorded after.” They all have a creation date of March 19.

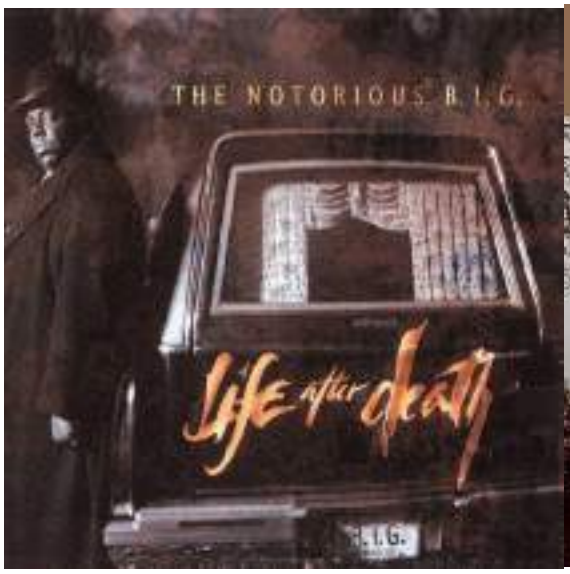


Even the ones of the “police” looking into the vehicle as its surrounded by crime scene tape.



It all has the same creation date of March 19, 1997 and they are all by MTV. This would lead a rational person to suspect that all of the “crime scene video” footage was also produced by MTV, and its highly likely that they produced the other recordings involving the alleged crime from that night as well (the 911 audio, the shooting video, and the crime scene footage). Instead of this footage coming from an alternate universe, the most likely answer is that MTV made most of the production for the events of that night and someone at MTV/Viacom accidentally uploaded previously unreleased footage to Getty because they weren’t aware that no one had ever been arrested for this case. The world is a stage and this is all part of our pretend world.

5) Of Course, no fake celebrity death is complete without a “prediction” of their death beforehand, and Biggie’s case is no different.



The album was released a few weeks after his alleged death, but based on the clothing and the images associated with the album we can surmised that the album's theme was surrounding death.

6) You would think they would change these people's names when they fake their deaths, but they don't bother—or at least they didn't bother back then.

Current address and phone number redacted to avoid doxxing. Hell of a zip code, though.

Because the events surrounding his falsified death implicated FBI Agent Combs, we can surmise that the U.S. Government was involved in the faking of these events as part of our pretend world they build in conjunction with Defendant Israel.

(c) Aaliyah dana Haughton

Aaliyah was an R&B singer and actor that allegedly died in a 2001 plane crash in the Bahamas on August 25. Ironically, she had filmed some scenes for The Matrix Reloaded and was recast after her alleged demise. Aaliyah's most popular songs are "Are you that somebody?" (Remember this one it will come in handy later), "Try Again", and "One in a Million". Unless you have been living under a rock you have heard at least one of her songs at some point in your life. Girls and women across the country still wear shirts with her name and face on it to this day in commemoration of her life. But was her death real? No.

1) The first issue with her plane crash being genuine is that we again see glimpses into an alternate universe. In one photo there are mostly bushes immediately in front of the plane and the trees behind it are closer:

And in another there is mostly grass in front of the plane and the trees behind it are further away, there is also a small tree in front of the tail that is not present in the above photo:

Pretty inconsistent.

2) The plane was filthy.

These photos were allegedly taken immediately after the alleged crash (arguably too fast, but not impossible). The “crash” was at 6:50 PM, sunset on August 25, 2001 in the Bahamas was 7:35 and these photos were taken that day while the sun was still up, so the first photos of the crash had to be taken within an hour of the crash and there is no way mud could have dried that quickly or all of the smoke would have dissipated. This plane was filthy before the alleged crash and no one in their right mind—especially not a celebrity—would be okay paying to charter a flight for it to be this dirty on the outside, let alone being so dirty on the inside. No celebrity or their team in their right mind is getting on a plane this nasty.

3) The metadata for one of the photos of the plane by the first photographer at night does indeed show that it was taken on August 25, 2001.

But the time it was taken shows only 04:00:00—presumably UTC, which even if converted to Eastern Daylight Time (Bahamas time zone), it would be far too early.

4) Aaliyah allegedly died of "severe burns and a blow to the head,"[186] and the plane crash was described as "fiery"[187] Yet none of the plans immediately surrounding the plane or the ground shows any signs of there being a fire or that firefighting efforts were made to extinguish the fire. This also renders the timeline of these photos being taken the same day as pretty much impossible. The crash was at 6:50 PM and sunset was 7:35 PM, and between that time the fire had to be extinguished in its entirety, then the photos had to be taken without any signs of the plane still burning or any active mud. Extremely unlikely.

5) Then we have the obligatory foreshadowing of their own death that occurs in all of these cases. Aaliyah didn't want to get on the plane that ultimately would end up allegedly taking her life.[188] She also "predicted it in an interview shortly before her alleged demise.

> "About a month before she died, Aaliyah spoke to the German newspaper Die Zeit and revealed that she had a recurring dream where someone was following her and making her scared. But then she flies away and starts to feel peaceful.
>
> 'It is dark in my favorite dream. Someone is following me. I don't know why. I'm scared. Then suddenly I lift off. Far away. How do I feel? As if I am swimming in the air. Free. Weightless. Nobody can reach me. Nobody can touch me. It's a wonderful feeling,' she told the outlet (via The New Zealand Herald)."[189]

Ironically enough the plane she "died" in was carrying too much weight and her statement refers to flying and weight. Very clever predictive programming.

Her "predictions" of her death actually go further than that. In 1999, she filed a Power of Attorney for her place of residence:

Isn't it crazy how these people seem to know that their deaths are right around the corner despite being so young??

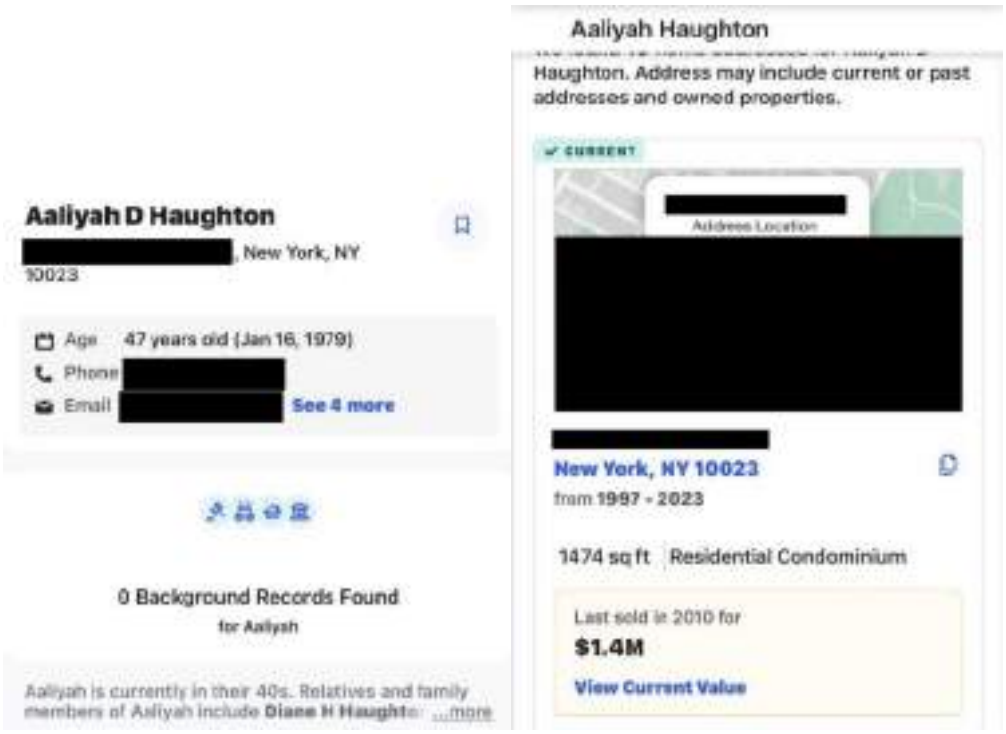
Note that it says “Aaliyah” and not “Estate of Aaliyah”. How is she still the borrower and a party to the mortgage if she’s dead? Probably the same way that Tupac has privacy rights despite being dead too.

7) She originally lived at her condo in NYC until it was sold (address, phone number, and email redacted to avoid doxxing):



It appears that she eventually ended up in modest home in a relatively small city in North Carolina (redacted address and city identifiers to avoid doxxing). Plaintiff's best guess is that the taxes on her condo became too much after so many years without a matching high income to cover it and it eventually caught up to her. Just a guess. Either way, Plaintiff hopes she is living that she is content.

8) Lastly, we have Natalie La Rose:

Natalie is a "Dutch" singer that entered the fray in 2010 when she was signed to none other than Aaliyah's former record label, Blackground Records, and released her hit song "Somebody" in 2015. Do you remember the name of the Aaliyah's hit song cited by Plaintiff? If you did, then you might see a what's going on here.

Natalie paying homage to Aaliyah

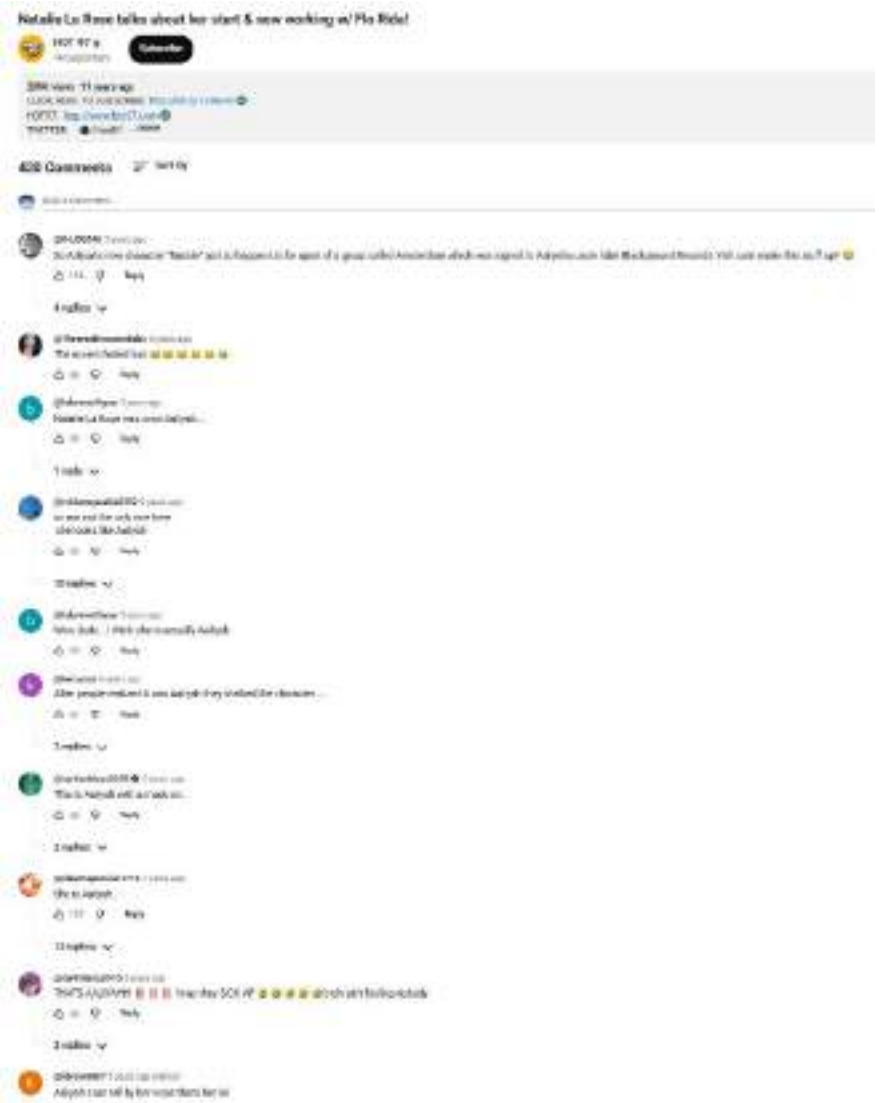
These people play in our faces.

Aaliyah

Natalie La Rose

The change in clothing style and hair color do assist with altering her appearance, but the heavy similarities persist. While Natalie's listed age is a little younger than Aaliyah would be, it is well within the range of a person that is aging well to pull off and she can "pass" as a few years younger than her actual age.

Then you add in the interview Natalie with Hot 97 she did in 2015[190] with the worst "Dutch" accent you can imagine and she slipped in and out of during the interview. Most of the comments are pointing out how obvious it is that Natalie is Aaliyah.



190) "Natalie La Rose talks about her start & now working w/ Flo Rida!" https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ATEH1mzUXTM86420982?adppopup=true

For those of us with particularly good hearing for accents, you can actually hear the New York accent slip out with certain words. This is all part of our pretend world.

The falsification of Aaliyah's death occurred in another country, therefore it must have involved the federal government (Defendant United States).

(d) Subsection Conclusion

There exist other cases in which celebrities may have falsified their death to include Michael Jackson, Kobe Bryant, Kyle Busch, and Elvis Presley, and a case could be made that they did, but evidence provided to the public for analysis in those cases is sparse and Plaintiff has successfully proven his point that the government falsifies deaths of celebrities as part of the pretend world he is forced to live in.

(2) Falsified Non-Celebrity Deaths

In addition to faking the deaths of celebrities, the government also falsifies or were involved in the deaths of non-celebrities as well.

(a) Charlie Kirk

Charlie Kirk was borderline-celebrity, as many people recognized his famous pictures challenging people to a debate, although most people did not know his name until his alleged death, therefore Plaintiff assigns him to the non-celebrity category. His alleged death on September 10, 2025 was nonetheless impactful on the country regardless of whether people supported him or hated him. The people that were happy to hear of his demise express particularly NPC-like behavior as they advocate for the death of someone for simply disagreeing with their political beliefs and wanting to debate people and challenge their own beliefs, and could not cite anything he said that would warrant death—but at the same time, these people often do not support the death penalty for violent rapists, child molesters, and murders no matter how malicious and how many victims they had because that would be inhumane. It is very disturbing how quick people that walk around our society and exist in our families are perfectly fine with Charlie being killed merely for disagreeing and wanting to debate people. This is the same parity we see with Tina Peters, wherein they are upset she got pardoned but have little to no awareness of the facts of her case and those same people are silent when child rapists and murders go free. Its all NPC behavior driven by lamestream media that Defendant Israel controls. Plaintiff digresses.

While Plaintiff remained on the fence throughout most of his research into this alleged assassination, recent information led him to the conclusion that this event was most likely falsified like the previous examples.

(1) Of course we have the suspicious searches from Defendant Israel rearing its head prior to this alleged assassination.[191] As this video explains, prior to the alleged assassination, Israel was searching for "Tyler James Robinson", "Diedre Amaro", "Timpanogos regional hospital", "Mauser 98", "Lee Patterson", and others shortly before Charlie's alleged murder—all terms and people associated with the event. What are the odds?

(2) Defendant Netanyahu came out suspiciously early to deny allegations that Defendant Israel had anything to do with this.[192] Why would "internet conspiracy theories" and a "monstrous lie" would rise to the level that the president of any country would feel the need to deny involvement so soon after an event? It wasn't as if the government of lamestream news was circulating those theories. Why were they on his radar so early? It's just strange.

(3) Defendant Israel's Chief Rabbi wrote a letter that was stamped with a date before the assassination.[193] Unlike FBI Director Patel and former FBI Deputy Director Dan Bongino, Defendant Israel plays 4-D chess, so they could be intentionally making themselves look guilty as part of some advanced PSYOP. Historically, their PSYOPS have been 2-3 steps ahead of the public, so understanding their moves and objectives is close to impossible to do. Only recently have the PSYOPs started failing because people are catching on to their tricks.

(4) Charlie was allegedly assassinated in an amphitheater shaped like a Menorah.

(5) Immediately following his alleged death, Charlie's organization, Turning Point USA, was turned over to his Jewish wife, Erika Kirk, within days of his passing. She does not have the resume to support taking charge of such a large organization. Some audio of Charlie Kirk saying he wanted his wife to take control of his organization in the event of his passing was released, but it appears to be artificial in nature and its veracity cannot be confirmed. Additionally, Charlie had historically held a traditionalist view that women should stay at home and take care of the house and children and the view that he would want his widow to immediately take over his organization is directly contradictory to that position.

(6) Six days after her husband was allegedly shot in the head for the whole world to see and Erika Kirk is laughing like this on video calls:

191) "Charlie Kirk Google Searches Get EVEN MORE SUSPICIOUS!" https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AKaeUvANu2A 192) "Netanyahu Denies Israel's Involvement in Charlie Kirk's Assassination" https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bnV8DFDwR1Y

193) “Chief Rabbi David Yosef Sends Condolence Letter Praising Charlie Kirk As Friend Of The Jewish People” https://thej.ca/2025/09/17/chief-rabbi-david-yosef-sends-condolence-letter-praising-charlie-kirk-as-friend-of-the-jewish-people/

She’s either a complete psychopath or the whole thing is completely fake.

What is Charlie wearing on his back? And notice that his collar is sticking out as if he’s wearing something around his whole torso too. Very well could be Hollywood equipment Why does his shirt have two seams? Is that so they could fit the Hollywood magic in his shirt? Who knows? We’ll likely never get a straight answer.

(8) There's something going on with Charlie's legs prior to the alleged shooting.

Enhanced version of Getty Images picture.

There’s some kind of abnormal rectangle-shaped object in there making his legs appear artificially large.

It’s also seen when he is sitting down.

These unnatural dark shapes under his legs in the enhanced version are so dark that they are highly likely to be signs of photoshop. There is likely something there they didn't want us to see.

Looking closely at the shape of his pants as he's getting carried away also show an abnormal pant shape bulging outward from his legs. Likely some kind of Hollywood magic device.

There’s some kind of tube coming up from the pants and going up to his chest.

If this event were faked, they would need a larger tube to generate a large amount of fake blood to come out through a Hollywood device called a “squib”. Most commercially available squibs are not built for spraying a large amount of blood, so they would likely have a custom rig involving a larger pipe and as much fake blood as he could hit on his person, which would explain why his legs and upper torso were so abnormally large. Surprisingly, there is no blood directly below his chest as we might expect. There are also no clear burn marks or smoke as we might expect if it were a small explosive device as some people online have theorized. Some of the other images do show his neck with a bulge that very well could be the tube covered in prosthetics or makeup (not depicted), but that is harder to reach a conclusion on because many people do have visible neck muscles showing there, so assuming that's what it is, they did a good job by selecting that spot.

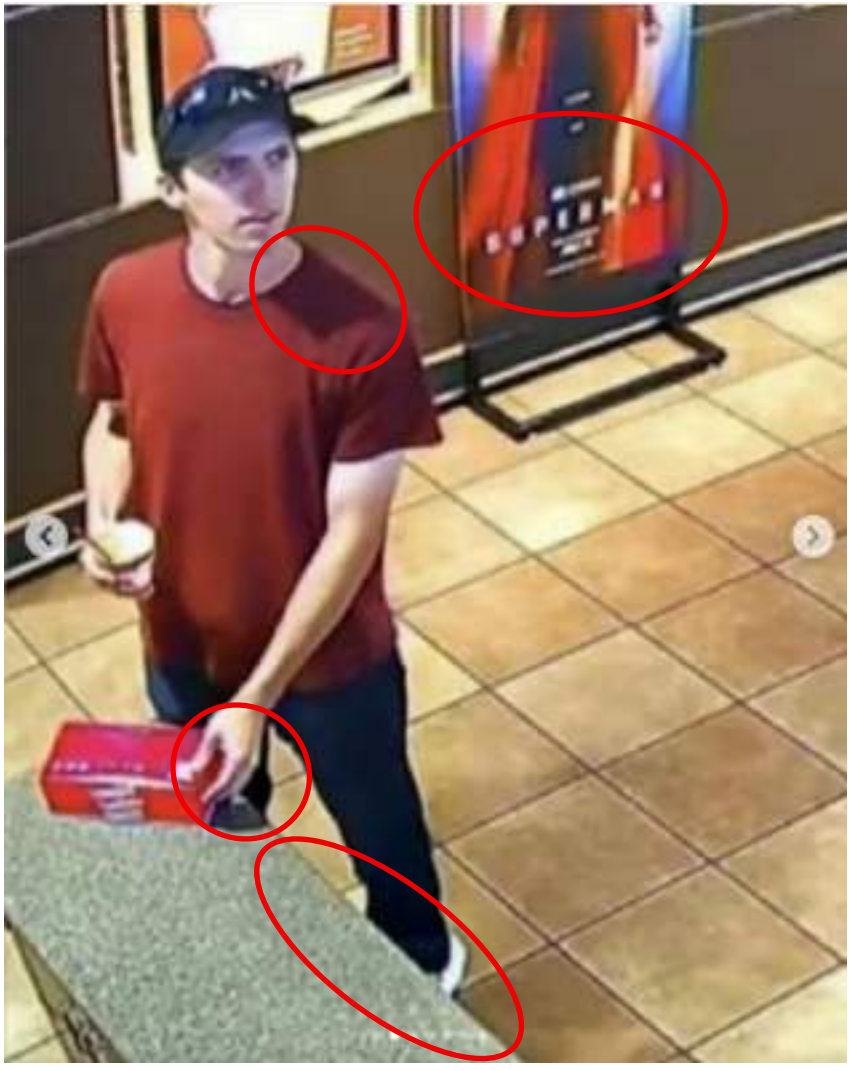
(10) Immediately after Charlie was his Turning Point staff member, Terryl Farnsworth took off to do a livestream telling everyone that Charlie was dead.[194] Two other staffers, Mikey McCoy and Blake Neff immediately walk away about Charlie was shot--Literally one second. Mikey McCoy remains on the phone. Another Turning Point staff member took off immediately after the shots to allegedly go near the vehicle that Charlie would be loaded up into and recorded him being carried to the car (we'll see why this is "allegedly" later). One of the cameramen to the left of Charlie also responded strangely immediately after the shots. It's bizarre and too many people ignore how bizarre these responses are. It's as if they were given a stage directions of what to do after the shot rang out and they rehearsed it so much that they didn't even think to make it look like a realistic human response to a shooting.

194) "TPUSA's Terryl Farnsworth Films Himself Filming Charlie Kirk Being Carried to SUV after Tragedy" https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=z7i3iJMP5cg&t=71s

(11) Shortly after the alleged murder, Erika did this weird video grieving over Charlie's body and kissing his hands. Why film that? Even if she got emotional and decided to do this and film it, why upload something so personal to the internet? Charlie's hands also look extremely fake. The purpose of embalming it is to give the body a lifelike appearance, but his hands here look like they belong to a mannequin.

(12) The footage seized by Terryl Farnsworth very shortly after the shots rang out was shared with Candace Owens and she stated that there's no exit wound or blood seen coming from Charlie's neck.[195] This footage was later released to the public and we are able to confirm her claims were accurate.

(13) A .308 round is a decently powerful round, it's extremely unlikely that it wouldn't have gone through his neck. Then they went with the "man of steel"[196] bullshit and that Charlie was a hero and saved other people around him from being hurt because him neck was so strong. Its comically ridiculous. Making it even more absurd, Candace Owens went on to release a photo of Tyler Robinson at Dairy Queen shortly after the shooting with a Superman poster behind him.



This photo also has a video game-Ish appearance to Plaintiff, but most people won't be able to see that, so he will point to the outline of the countertop Tyler is using turning white in the exact spot where his shoes fall, which does not match known light physics and is a strong sign this photo is likely computer generated. It also appears that his left hand only has three fingers. It's also unclear what is causing that shadow on his shoulder—if it's a shadow from lights above of his hat, then why doesn't the floor also have a shadow from him?

(14) A former Navy SEAL stated that the neck wound looked more like an exit wound than an entry wound.[197] Based on his job history, he seems like a pretty good subject matter expert for something like that. This led to theories that Charlie was shot from behind instead of from the front—but based on the rear footage not showing the bullet exiting or any hole, that can't be the case. So what caused this entry wound to appear so large? (The most likely answer is Hollywood overdoing it and needing a bigger hole to have more fake blood come out)

(14) One of Charlie's security guards was doing strange hand and arm signals[198] before the shot rang out. The public has never got an explanation for what those were. The guy in question also looks a lot like one of Defendant Trump's "Secret Service" agents from the Butler assassination.

(15) Hunter Kosiak (Jewish with a Jewish dad that works in Hollywood), the guy that was asking the question to Charlie when Charlie was allegedly shot was recorded doing the same surprise reaction (hands going up in the air near his head) that he would end up doing once the shot rang out before the shot rang out.[199] What conversation would lead him to doing that? The most likely one is "How are you going to act when Charlie is fake shot?" The odds shot in Its just weird behavior and more signs of this being a conspiracy or fake (likely fake as it is doubtful a sophisticated murder conspiracy like this would involve so many people).

(16) After the shots ring out, a man by the name of George Zinn (Ashkenazi Jew) immediately said he did it, resulting in him being detained in suspicion with the shooting. Of course such a confession would turn out to be completely baseless, but what would he do that? More weird behavior that never gets acknowledged.

(17) The FBI claims that the accused shooter, Tyler James Robinson, was caught after a 33-hour manhunt.[200] 33 is a very important number in Freemasonry as it's the highest degree attainable for a Freemason, and it is often cited as a covert nod to Freemasons all over the world. 47 is also an important number in Freemasonry and represents the angle of the compass in the Freemason logo. This is also Defendant Trump's number as 47th president, which is probably why they put Autopen in there for 4 years. If you count each digit within those three hats displayed and add them together, you get 33. The Central Intelligence Agency was founded in 1947 and the United Nation's proposal plan for what would end up being their geographic boundaries assigned to Defendant Israel was also in 1947, likely as nods to this. This all might appear ridiculous, but these things are not coincidences. They are planned and this was likely some kind of ritual.

(18) The shirt Charlie Kirk was allegedly shot in said “Freedom” which is very symbolic. The Director of National Intelligence Tulsi Gabbard said it explicitly “Charlie represented Freedom.” This is too symbolic, which means it was likely planned symbolism. Charlie’s shirt was also black and white, representing duality. Other than Tulsi being a woman and women not being allowed to be Freemasons, this is arguably one of the most Masonic posts in world history.

Black and white floors, two pillars in the background, she's wearing black and white, her hair is black and white, and it was posted at 6:35 AM on 9/10/25 (6+3+5+9+10=33), the morning of the of one of the biggest PSYOPS in U.S. History would take place. Bravo, Tulsi! An artistic masterpiece!

The X logo is also, of course, Masonic, just FYI (but Tulsi had nothing to do with that, its just a good side note).

(19) The FBI Special Agent in Charge of the Salt Lake City field office was swapped out shortly before the alleged assassination.

(20) The location where Charlie was allegedly shot was paved over four days after the event, which is extremely fast to do following it being a crime scene.

(21) The rifle that the FBI said the suspect used to do it was too large to fit in a normal size backpack. So they said that a screwdriver with the suspect's DNA was found on the roof of the building that the shot allegedly came from. The FBI said the suspect must have took the rifle apart and put it back together to do the shooting. The gun wasn't found on the roof and it wasn't clearly visible in the video of the suspect jumping down from the roof, so they then said that he took the gun apart to jump off the building. They found the rifle fully assembled again in the small wooded area near the campus[201], but with no explanation of how he did it without the screwdriver that he left on the roof or why he would bother to do that.

200) "How 33-hour manhunt ended with Charlie Kirk suspect in custody" https://www.bbc.com/news/articles/c784end1wxvo

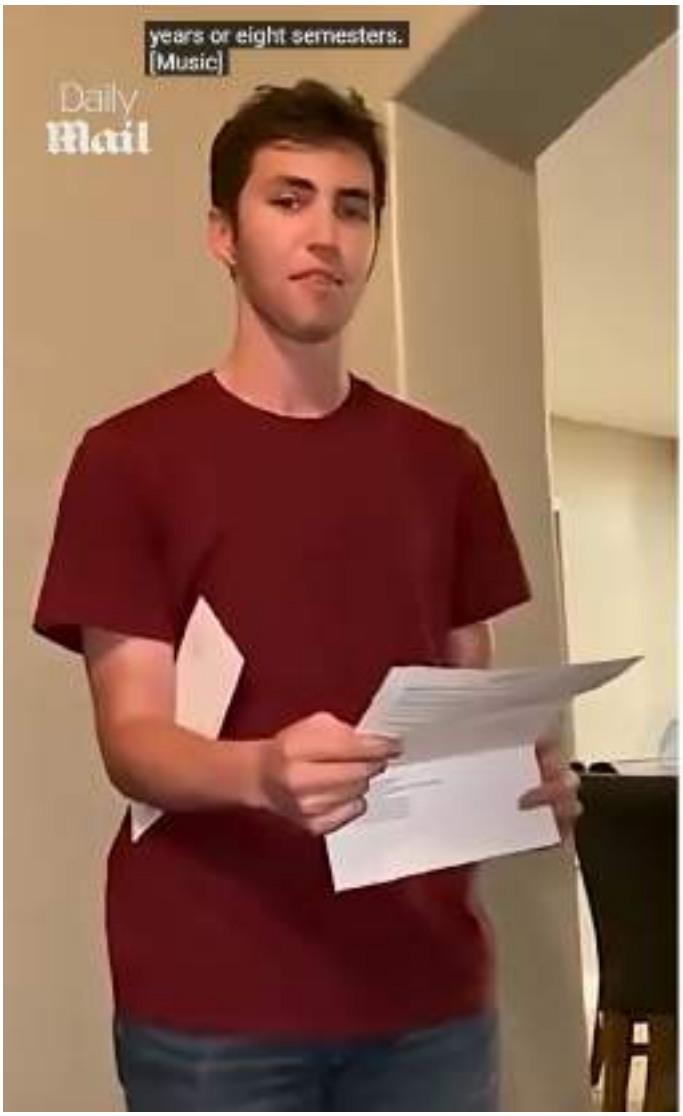
(22) At moments of the video of the suspect jumping off the roof, there was no shadow, meaning that it was likely AI. They also never released the part of the suspect actually taking the shot from the roof, which they would have had based on the angle of the camera.

(23) The text messages the federal government released[202] do no reflect how people the suspect's age actually talk and the language seems like it was written by AI, which is just as well because those text messages pretty much contained every possible statement that he could have said shortly after the alleged murder to incriminate himself. These ridiculously scripted text messages also never had a timestamp put to them. Ultimately at one of the state of Utah's pre-trial hearings, the authenticity of those texts could not be verified, despite them being logged as federal criminal information in federal court according to CNN.[202]

(24) The suspect allegedly told his partner that he didn't want to incriminate himself, but that he wrote a note and left it under his keyboard so the partner could find it, which makes absolutely no sense. He then supposedly started basically confessing to the whole thing in the text messages. The partner said he destroyed the note so it wouldn't be used to incriminate the suspect, but took a picture of the note which he shared with law enforcement, which also makes no sense.

(25) The suspect allegedly made a post on Discord that was very adjacent to a confession, but its possible he was already in custody when that post was made.

(26) Most video of the suspect is AI generated. This video, shared by Daily Mail is one example.



201) “Alleged Charlie Kirk assassin Tyler Robinson obsessed about leaving behind ‘grandpa’s rifle’ at murder scene: prosecutor”
https://www.aol.com/alleged-charlie-kirk-assassin-tyler-192528443.html
202) “Read texts police say Kirk shooting suspect and former roommate exchanged, which prosecutors could use as key evidence” https://www.cnn.com/2025/09/16/us/text-message-tyler-robinson-roomate-vis

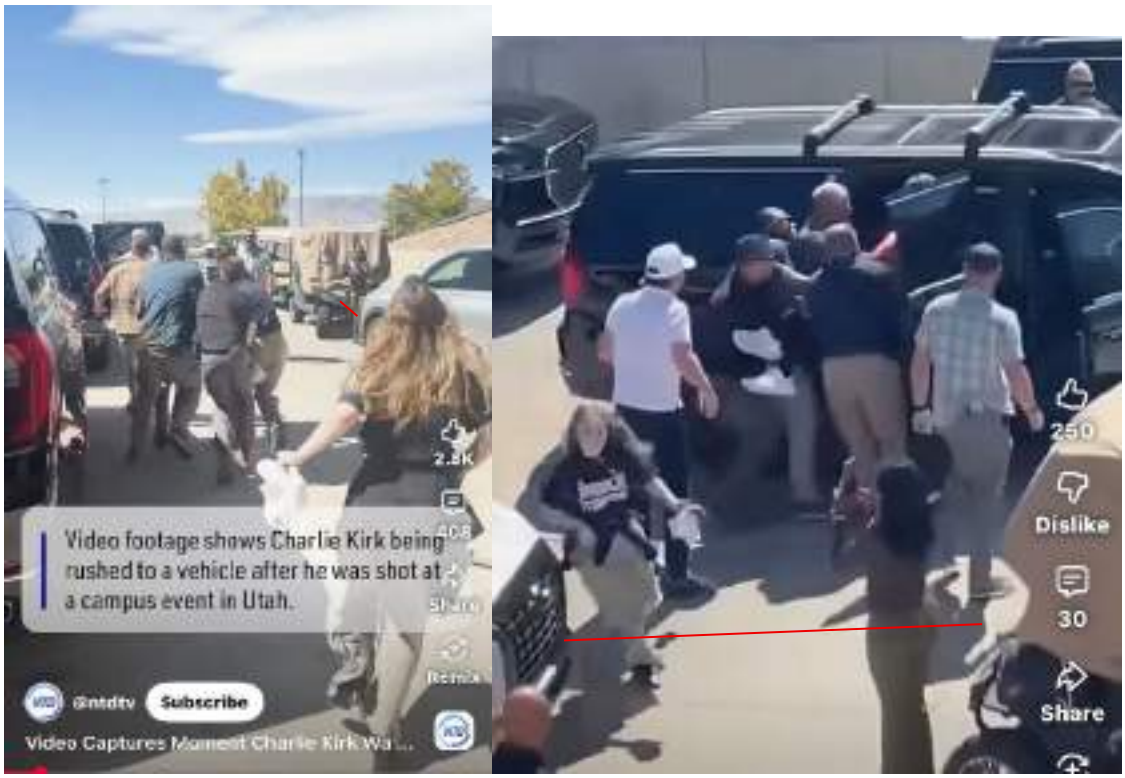
Seriously? People can’t tell that this is computer generated imagery?

But even if you couldn’t, part of his other arm is missing a piece, so its clear that this is fake.

(27) The videos of the guys carrying Charlie to the vehicle immediately following the shooting is AI generated. There are two videos; one taken from behind them and another one taken from the top of the hill to their right.

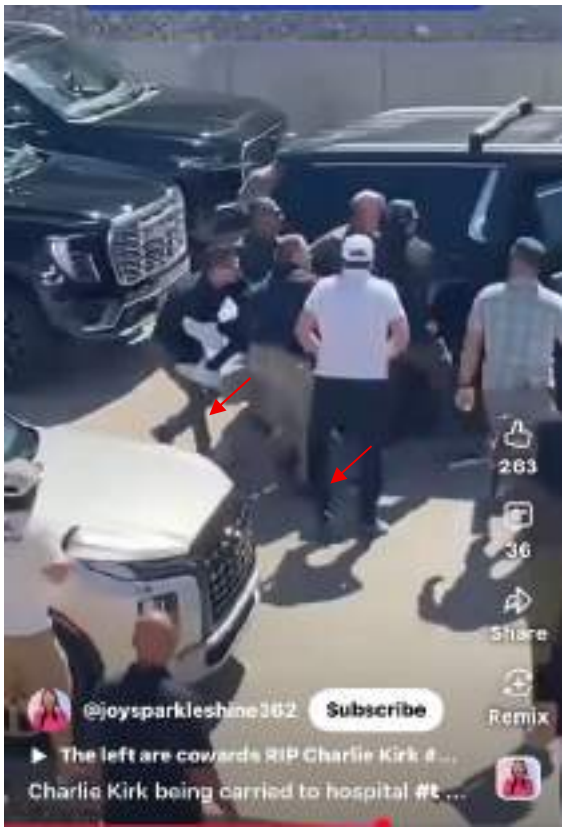
The distance between the white car and the black car are completely different in each video. Obviously perspective of the viewer plays a role in the apparent distance of objects, but not this much. While these images are not time-synced, the trajectory of the people carrying him is heading toward the open door. With that in mind, in one picture it looks like if the guy in the blue shirt were to plant his feet there he could easily touch the white car, but in the other that would be completely impossible.



The Black woman in the green pants is the one cited earlier that allegedly immediately took off after the shots rang out to be in that position to get that footage. Very unnatural behavior, but that's not what we're looking at here. Here, we're looking at the distance between the two cars on both sides of her. Again, perspective can play a role in perception of distance, but not that much. There's just no way the white car should be that close to her in the left shot. There are other problems with these videos as well.

Most of the car's passenger view mirror is missing, despite being present at the other angle. The black vehicle to the side of the black vehicle nearest them has part of its driver side window blurry as if it were censored out. The camera pans and it is blurry the whole time, so this wasn't some glitch for a second or something. Its almost like someone blurred it out.

The car just doesn't look real. Notice that the headlights and the radiator vent have no depth to them. Looks like something that belongs in a video game.

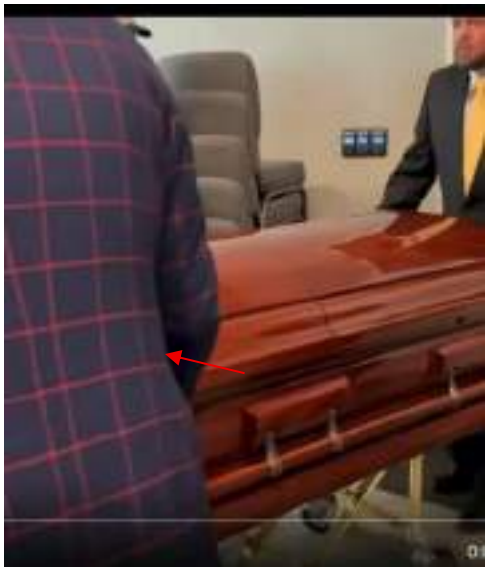


Legs are too skinny. Clearly on the video taken behind them they are wearing pants and not leggings, but here, the only way they could pull that thinness off is anorexia and leggings.

Plaintiff is not a visual effects expert, but he knows enough to know that photons of light are tremendously faster than camera lenses, so it doesn't make sense that they are not distorted in what we see due to their motion, but their reflection is so heavily distorted. The reflection of the clouds is also square-like in appearance.

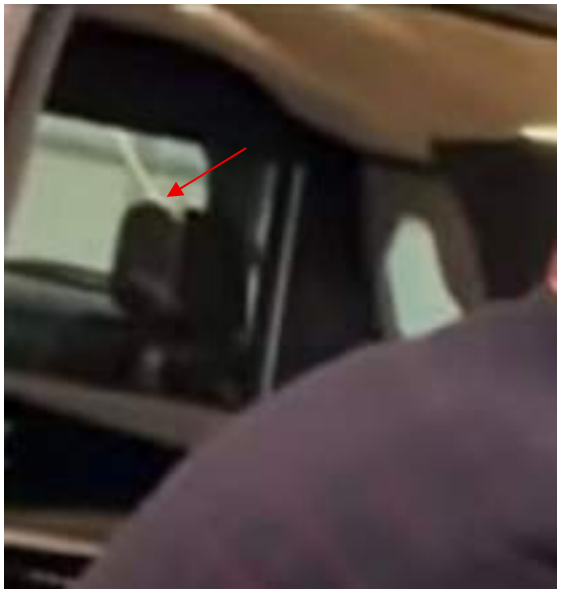
(28) There is no discernable blood being spilled on the ground, nor are they holding his neck, in the videos of them carrying Charlie to the vehicle. Immediately after he was hit in the neck it was like a water hose with how much blood was coming out, they then were able to completely stop in about 2 minutes. It didn't even look like they were doing anything special besides tackling Charlie to the ground in the video of the shooting (actually it doesn't look like they did anything at all besides that), so how the hell did they get that bleeding to stop in under 2 minutes?

(29) Even the video of the guys carrying his casket shared by Candace Owens is strange.



The guy's jacket is too smooth and has a video game like appearance.

Arm appears very deformed. Has general video game-like appearance. Even the way the light it reflecting off the top portion of his tattoos looks very unnatural.



What is this thing draped over the seat of the hearse? Is that supposed to be light? Because light doesn't work like that, lol… Or is Spiderman shooting strings of web everywhere?

Because of all these red flags, the Charlie Kirk assassination should be treated as a government hit job or staged. Given the issues with the wound, some of the videos following the shot being fired being questionable, and the high amount of people that would have to be involved in assassinating him, Plaintiff arrives that the conclusion that this event was likely staged as another part of the pretend world that Plaintiff is forced to live in by the defendants.

(b) Iryna Zarutska

When support for Ukraine was in danger and consent for more aid being sent there was needed, we have the vicious slaughter of a Ukrainian refugee by a scary Black man on a light rail train in Charlotte, NC. Defendant Trump even spoke out about this case. Perhaps we should ask Aaliyah if she saw anything?

The thing that was different about this case is that the suspect had literally no reason for murdering her. She didn't reject or advances or get in an argument or get rude with him or anything, he just up and killed her for literally no reason. The cherry on top is that the suspect's last name is literally "Brown". Then to make matters for race relations even worse, the multiple Black people around her did absolutely nothing to assist after it was clear she was just brutally attacked.

These five good-for-nothing moors did absolutely nothing to help this poor woman after she was brutally attacked by one of their brethren.

They should be ashamed of themselves because their disregard for her wellness after this vicious assault is outrageous!!

But was this a real event? No.

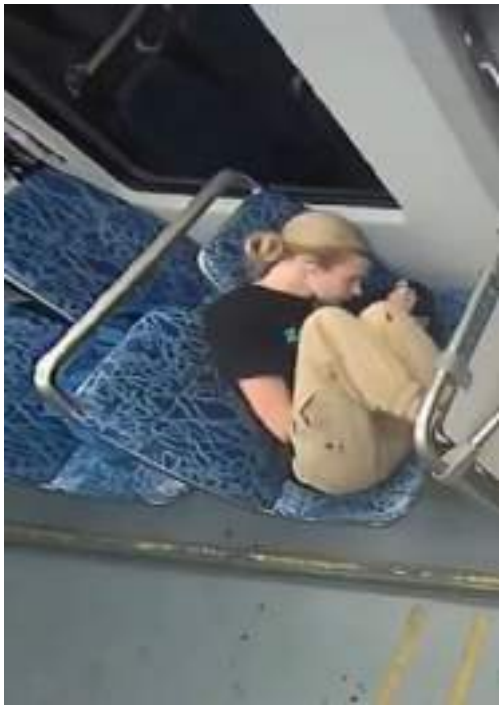
1) The first tell that it's not real is that it just has the appearance of a video game. It looks like something you'd see in Grand Theft Auto.

But the average person lacks the ability to differentiate PlayStation 5 graphics from reality and lacks critical thinking or analysis capabilities, so we'll just put a pin in that.

2) The next tell that it’s not real is that the suspect just kind of vanishes from the reflection:

If you can see that much of both chairs in that row in the reflection you should be able to see part of him as well, but we don’t. Maybe he’s a vampire? Or just AI….

3) As we can see from the previous picture (which is immediately after him slicing her neck), there is no visible blood on her neck.



From this other angle, we also see no blood coming from the other side of her neck immediately after the assault either.

So, then there is no real explanation for how blood was completely under her seat.

The blood also isn't pooled or anything and also isn't on the bottom of her pants, so where did it come from?

4) Given the lack of blood on her neck immediately following the assault, the amount of blood the suspect drips from the pocketknife is wholly unrealistic.

There is no way she had zero visible blood on her neck immediately after, but his pocketknife dripped that much blood over the train.

5) The well to step down from those chairs is way too shallow in some angles.

Comparison next to cropped real life image from train. No way in hell that angle would show that well as being that shallow.

6) This guy just kind of vanishes.

There's about 3 seconds in between these two images and its just a different angle of the suspect after he walks out of frame in the first picture. There is no indication that guy was going to get off the train or was making any attempt to hide. Perhaps that guy was Batman or Superman and he vanished to go change and come arrest this freak? There's also even more blood that got on this guy's pants somehow, in addition to the rest of the blood that he fabricated.

Based on the foregoing points, we can say with high confidence that the Iryna Zarutska murder case is not a real event. Because this was "prosecuted" by Defendant Blanche's DoJ[203] (and later delayed because the suspect was deemed "incompetent"[204], which is very convenient considering the non-existent nature of the crimes) and was staged by the federal Defendants as part of the pretend world they force Plaintiff to live in.

(c) Renee Nicole Good

Mother of three shot by federal agents in Minnesota because she tried to run over an ICE agent in Minneapolis. This woman surprisingly has ties to Colorado Springs (Plaintiff's place of residence) and a Colorado federal representative spoke out about this apparent injustice.[205] But was it real? No. Renee Good may be a real person, but the video surrounding her alleged death is computer-generated.

1) The first red flag that this was a PSYOP was that Defendant Israel was looking up Renee's name prior to the events that would lead to her alleged demise.

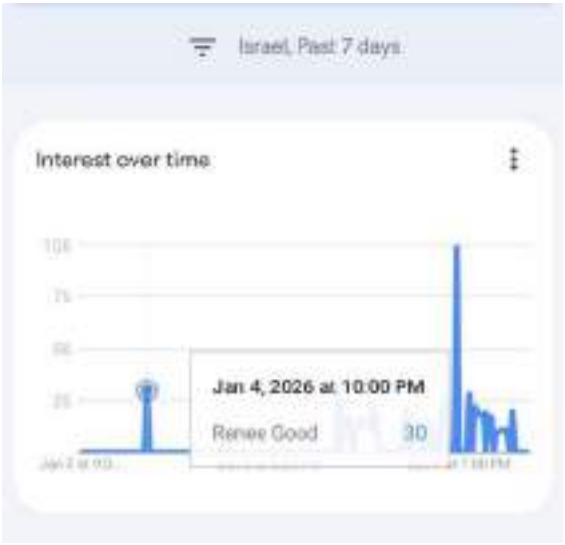
205) https://pettersen.house.gov/news/documentsingle.aspx?DocumentID=1558



Screenshot from January 10, 2026.

As we can see, people in Israel were looking up her name on January 4 and she was "killed" by ICE agents on January 7, 2026. What are the odds?

Just to remind the court again of how much Defendant Israel is involved with Department of Homeland Security (parent organization to ICE)

2) Except for a few choice screenshots, the video looks incredibly realistic and is one of the more realistic-appearing videos Plaintiff has identified as fraudulent. Most of the video does not have the appearance of being a scene out of a video game like most recent PSYOP slop that the government has been shoving down our throats in the last few years.

She’s a little too bright for her surroundings, which is a red flag that this was not filmed by a camera.

Then you have this image being cited by the media, which is one of the few with an obvious video game-ish appearance from this event. But overall, this was a good fake video when it comes to visual appearance, so whoever oversaw this project, should be proud of themselves for this visual success.

3) While the overall appearance of the film was realistic appearing, it was not without flaws.

This guy materializes out of nowhere and falls on his ass. The camera pans from that direction so you would see where he would have been walking if he naturally walked into the scene. He gives a new definition to the term “getting thrown into a scene”.

In the video with the ICE agent using his cellphone to film Renee's vehicle, his reflection kind of just splits off into two and becomes Renee's wife's reflection. Not depicted due to difficulty in showing, but if you follow that reflection it just splits up..

The houses in the background just seem to merge together in the first photo and a sprawling mansion exists in this otherwise-middle class neighborhood in the second photo. Also, given the length of Renee's car's hood, we would expect to see it sticking out further out in other clips, even accounting for the angle the car is sloped away from us at, we should still see it sticking out further. But we'll find out why it doesn't matter in the next item.

7) Lets follow this car…

If he's not careful he's going to hit Renee's car.

OH MY GOD!! HE'S GOING TO HIT HER CAR!!!!

Whew! That was a close one! Good thing her car's hood was abnormally short!

Yeah, that's completely normal. All new cars come with collision avoidance phasing technology standard nowadays. You also see a 2.5% reduction in car insurance rates if you have that system installed.

While it does have some flaws, all things considered, this video is one of the better ones from a visual perspective and whomever oversaw it should be put in charge of the department because its pretty good for the most part. Because this happened in a federal agency's jurisdiction that means that Defendant United States. Because of Defendant Israel's control of that agency and their Google searches, Defendant Israel is also behind this one.

(d) Alex Jeffrey Pretti

Alex Pretti was another American citizen being killed by federal agents for "protesting" on January 24, 2026, but instead of him trying to run one of them over they gave him a firearm instead. The motive behind these lazy PSYOPS is unclear, but it seems to be to divide the country further—this would rile up the left and cause them to be under the impression that ICE agents are killing them so they would get more violent than they already are, then on the right they would support ICE even more. It doesn't appear that this PSYOP worked, but that appears to have been the intention.

Search done on January 25, 2026

As always, Defendant Israel always seems to know that these things are going to happen before they do.

2) Plaintiff is unable to find any "glitches" to validate that the videos of Alex's death were artificially generated on account of most the videos of the events that day all being of such poor quality. All of the videos from this event except for one look like they were filmed on a fucking toaster, which is in and of itself a huge red flag that it was fake. Who the hell is walking around taking videos with devices that have the video quality of a flip phone.

Look at this shit! You literally can't read the text on their vests from 5 feet away.

The video is of too poor of quality to clearly identify glitches that may have occurred with the characters. Which is likely the point. Who is going around recording videos on a flip phone?

3) While there are no specific identifiable glitches acting as a smoking gun, the graphics quality is such shit that it can stand alone as proof this is all computer generated.

This guy's hood is completely flat and has no depth.

This car’s rear light is so badly rendered. Then the car just kind of mutates toward the top. Ridiculous.

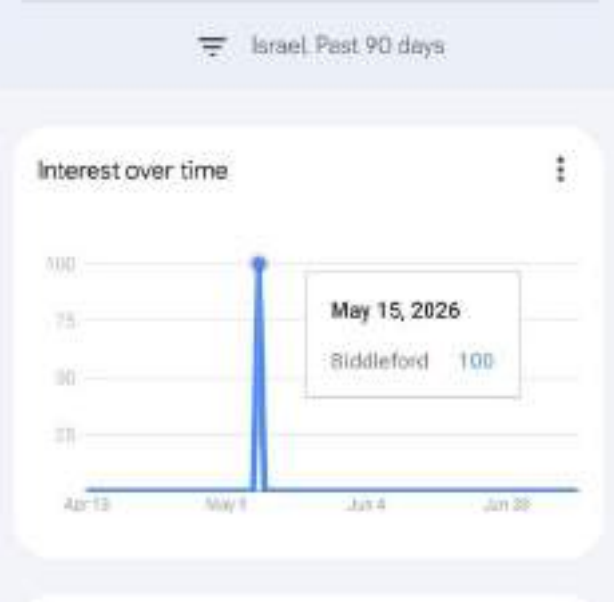
These characters look like they belong in Grand Theft Auto III. Absurdly poor quality for something that is supposed to be a real event.

If you take a good look at this and think this is a real person and not a character in a video game you either need to get your eyes examined or you are a NPC.

Whoever did this one needs to find a job somewhere else because the quality is so bad.

(e) Biddleford ICE Shooting

Reckless ICE agents recently shot another man in Biddleford, ME. This time it was an illegal alien. Plaintiff does not have time to dig in depth on this one, but will still expose it.



Israel always seems to know these things are going to happen before they do. Except this time they planned it out a few months in advance at least.

It seems that AI struggles with getting vehicle psychics right. The frame of either car isn't bent, it just goes through the other car, and toward the rear ends the two vehicles just sort of meld together in an odd manner. This also doesn't align with the narrative that this guy tried to ram them--Was he trying to ram them with the side of his car?

Yeah, they're going to have to bring out one of the more advanced versions of AI that they likely have to fool the Plaintiff. But nice try. How many hundreds of millions or billions of dollars are wasted on this PSYOP slop every year? It also shouldn't be missed that Defendant Israel plays both sides of the fence when it comes to ICE. On one hand they allow Trump to pretend to have a vigorous deportation policy (while trying to slip in Orwellian bullcrap alongside it), but on the other hand they run these stupid PSYOPs that try to make ICE look like a bunch of Nazis (which as we'll find later is also a load of horse manure).

(f) Chud the Builder

"Chud the Builder" goes around the streets of Nashville harassing Black people and asking them if they support freedom of speech then calls them the N word and threatens them with pepper spray and guns if they attack him. He was arrested for shooting someone in an incident that he likely provoked, which would negate his self defense argument.

(1) "Builder" is another word for Mason. His birthday is 6/27/97 6+27 = 33.

(2) The narrative is stupid. This guy just goes around on a livestream trying to find Black people that he can bait into attacking him, so that he can pepper spray or shoot them, and unsurprisingly, he eventually ends up killing someone after he provokes them into attacking him.

(3) Predictive programming. Yawn.

Awning lights are obviously fake. It's not even Good AI. Then they make the trashiest Black women an AI could generate.

The middle girl's hair goes through her body. The one of the left also has her hair travel through her body, but it is harder to depict. The Defendants pushing out this slop obviously don't give a fuck about quality anymore.

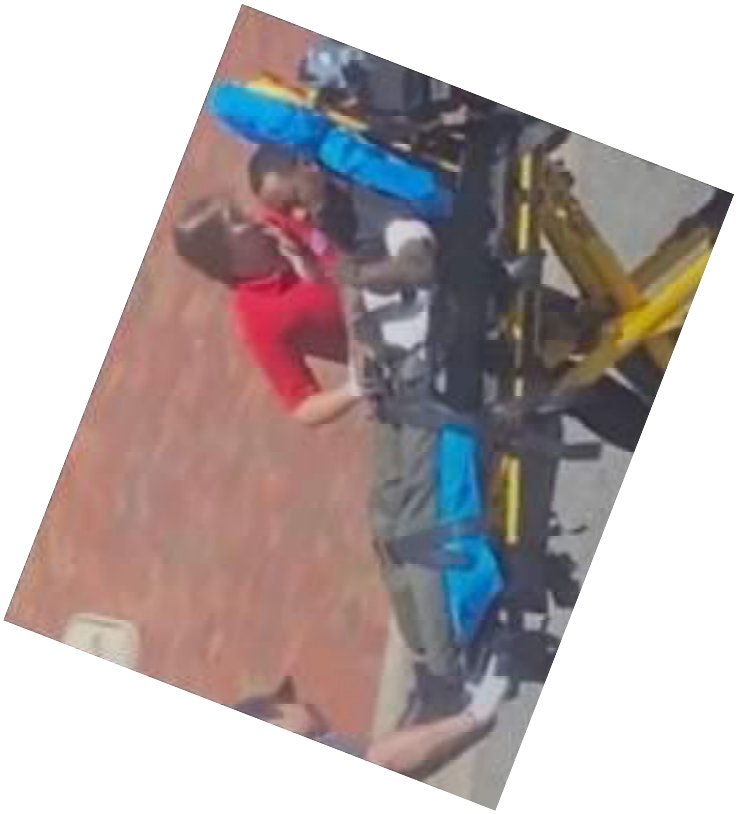
Looks fake. Cigarette behind security guy's ear cig vanishes. Bricks behind old man are warped. Has general video game appearance.

(6) Chud the Builder's victim:

Looks fine at first glance, but sections of his wrist are missing, and the way his upper shoulder and neck are bent looks unnatural. To help depict how painful this would be, let's crop and rotate the image to depict how this would look if he were standing up:



Ouch! Seems like those paramedics need to be on trial next to Chud for putting this poor man through this.

(7) Window frame from Chud's arrest mismatched.

The blinds seem to transform the window frame a bit.

(7) Vehicles behind Chud in arrest video

A grey car does drive through them in a manner that looks extremely odd, but depicting the oddness of it was challenging, so that silver car is not depicted. However, a white car does come through near the very end of the video and glitches out a bit (which is probably why they cut the video off at that point).

You can actually see through part of this new car that enters the scene to the red one behind it. Ridiculous.

Pretty sloppy work.

Chud the Builder murder case is just more AI PSYOP Slop wasting Tennessee taxpayers' money. The plan is to find this douchebag Not Guilty to try to sew more racial division, but he should be found Not Guilty by Reason of being Artificial Intelligence.

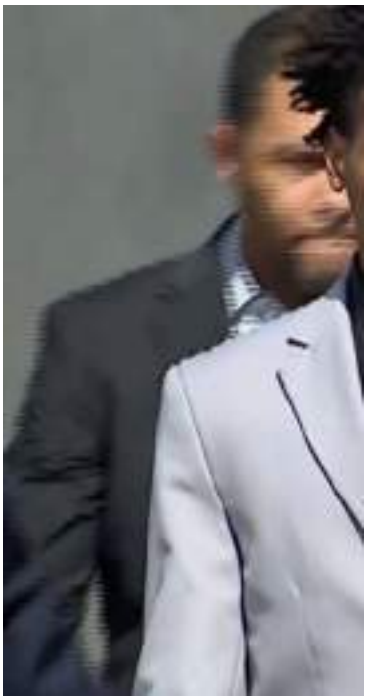
(g) Karmelo Anthony

The Karmelo Anthony case captured the nation when seventeen year-old Karmelo Anthony killed another kid by the name of Austin Metcalf because he was asked to leave a tent at a track meet at their high school. Karmelo claimed self-defense and was ultimately convicted of murder. What's left out of the public narrative is that this entire case is just more AI slop.

The first red flag is that this incident happened on 4/2/2025. 4+2+2+25=33.

For the Plaintiff, it becomes clear immediately that these are not real human beings as they have a video game character-like appearance, but the Court will not be able to see that, so he must find other things to point out to prove that it is AI generated.

This mainstream image is commonly cited for the case, let's look a little closer…



What's going on with the guy behind him? Can he not choose a reality he wants to stay in.

From the arrest video:

This tree just changes texture across a horizontal line.

A couple of strange glitches in people's faces that aren't normally seen in video of real human beings. The primary issue being that even if a real camera glitched or a processing issue came up, the camera could not depict what was behind these people's heads as we see here. AI can do this because it has to know what is behind these people to render the background.

The thing the arrow points out may be confused as hair from the female officer here, but a slow motion review of this footage shows that it is a glitch from rendering the background lagging behind her. Very tacky work.

As interesting as all of that is, none of it is a "smoking gun" for AI use.

The smoking gun is when Karmelo is teleported to the other side of the fence.

Some could argue that in these two images he is merely standing very close to the fence, although his now-White hand seems to be belong to an arm coming from further right despite being directly above the fence which would prove that impossible, but that will not always convince people.

The smoking gun is that while the cop is searching him for a split second the railing for the fence is visible in between the cop and Karmelo, meaning that Karmelo teleported to the other side of the fence. It doesn't take a rocket scientist to tell you that is impossible by the known physics of our universe, and it is unlikely that the first time such a feat is captured on camera is during a pat down search in Texas.

Karmelo is Not Guilty by Reason of being Artificial Intelligence and his guilty verdict should be overturned.

(h) Pacific Palisades Fire

The Pacific Palisades Fire started on January 7, 2026 and was a real fire that destroyed tens of millions of dollars of property and claimed 31 lives. The property was undoubtedly destroyed. Plaintiff cannot verify one way or another if the lives lost are genuine.

(1) Defendant Israel always seems to know these things these things are coming before they happen.

(Screenshot: November 18, 2025)

Argentina had a large fire forest last year in Patagonia that was clearly arson. Shortly after the fire, the government under Jewish president Javier Milei announced that foreigners could start buying up the land to develop it.[206] Then Jews started buying up the land after this fire.[207] Guess which country in South America has the largest Jewish population?

(2) There's allegations that at least one LA Fire Department official knew crews were ordered to leave the Lachman Fire site, which burned just days before the Pacific Palisades fire. This indicates the possibility of a previous failed attempt to have a large fire.

(3) In 2024, State Farm filed to "not renew" 69.4% of policies it had in the Pacific Palisades zip code.[208]

(4) A few months before the fire, Los Angeles Mayor Karen Bass told a business owner "I want to make sure that you are safe," she said. "And, hopefully you can read in between the lines." Now does it make sense why California is cheating in their election to keep her in office?

Just to remind the Court; this is Karen Bass

(5) One man shared a video of an area burning and claims it was an hour of burning with no fire trucks in sight.[210] This shows how intentional this fire was.

(6) A man was held down by citizens for using a blowtorch near some houses while the fire was ongoing. The man was arrested for probation violation, but not arson or suspected arson.[211] Notice that the feds also have no interest in prosecuting this guy.

(7) Lots of signs of coordinated arson throughout the fire. The arsonists clearly accounted for wind, which shows how orchestrated this was. Then you must add in how the criminal negligence of the government's response to the fire that led to it becoming as massive as it got without stopping it earlier. Then, while the main fire was burning on the other side of this giant ass metropolitan area another arson started near Riverside also aligning with winds going in a dangerous direction—if this fire was not stopped before it got big enough it would have forced the fire-fighting resources to be split, which would result in the main fire having an even greater chance to destroy the city. This is a very advanced tactic similar to what you might see in a battlefield by attacking defenders across multiple different fronts concurrently to weaken their defense. There is no group of grassroots arsonists that would be this coordinated to include orchestrating feigned incompetence by government officials, and the only remaining explanation is an intentional effort by a very sophisticated kabal to destroy the city. For the most part it seems to have failed, but billions of dollars in damage and dozens of lives lost in the process of that failure, with ultimately one person taking the fall for it. Disgusting and demonic organized criminal activity.

(3) The Butler, PA Assassination Attempt against Donald Trump

On July 13, 2024, then former president and then-candidate Defendant Trump was allegedly shot during a campaign rally in Butler, PA. Like most people, Plaintiff took this at face value as the Deep State trying to kill a man trying to stand up against them. As we see from his presidency, Defendant Trump is part of the Deep State and isn't even in charge of his own White House. His power and authority is illusory and not vested in him, but in the office he carries and decisions of his the Administration are made by Defendants Wiles, Netanyahu, and the State of Israel. The biggest benefit of his presidency is that he was allowed to remove illegal aliens that have committed subsequent crimes after coming over the border whereas the Demoness Party just lets them run rampant and victimize citizens over and over and are willing to go to extreme lengths to keep all illegal aliens in our country—to include the ones that commit heinous crimes when they get over here. Other than that (and even with that paltry victory they tried to sneak in some Orwellian bullshit), Defendant Trump's second term has been one long Israeli humiliation ritual/PSYOP for the entire country. Critical to winning the 2024 election was this Butler assassination attempt that was highly likely to be fake.

(1) The alleged suspect had an FBI email account.

(2) The suspect was in a Blackrock commercial. Blackrock is one of the largest investment firms in the world and undeniably intertwined with the Deep State which is controlled by Defendants Netanyahu and Israel. Blackrock's CEO, Larry Fink, is—you guessed it—Jewish.

(3) CNN did not usually cover Trump campaign rallies at that time, but this one happened to be the one they attended.

(3) Moments after the shots were allegedly fired a member of Trump's team rushed to allow photographers back to the area where they would go on to take those iconic pictures of him.[212] He also clearly guides them as Trump is being moved off stage to get as many perfect shots as possible. Of course this is when the American flag is conveniently dropped behind Trump to make the scene even more iconic. All of this had to be coordinated.

(4) One photographer would go on to take a photo of the supposed bullet approaching Defendant Trump's head. To do this, his camera would have had to be set on a very high aperture setting that would not be used to photograph most subjects you would photograph at a campaign rally, nor would anyone be crazy enough to change the aperture setting with shots reigning down from above, so he had to know beforehand to set his camera to those settings.

(5) Multiple elements were released to the public to make it look like a Deep State operation to kill Defendant Trump that failed, to include spectators alleging that they saw someone on the water tower, the suspect going to shooting ranges used by FBI and DHS agents, the suspect meeting with someone who would go to a FBI office, and some company heavily shorting Trump's company's stock right before the shooting, and diminishment of Secret Service protection being rendered by scumbag DHS Secretary Mayorkas shortly before the shooting. Blah, blah, blah, its just a bunch of Deep State slop perpetuated by the Federal Defendants, Netanyahu, and Israel to get their puppet in office. It worked, but People are starting to learn their tricks.

212) https://www.youtube.com/shorts/vFQwqv0JnU8

(6) Defendant Trump shut down the investigation into the shooting shortly after taking office for the second term.

(7) None of the Secret Service Agents that were allegedly criminally negligent ever faced any real consequences, and some of them even got promotions by Trump upon him taking office for the second time.

(8) The iconic photo of Trump was undoubtedly taken at the time and place the alleged shooting occurred. However, one of the photos of Defendant Trump on the ground after allegedly being hit in the ear by a bullet is questionable. The metadata for that photo shots shows that it was brought into PhotoShop (of course), so we have no clue what kind of changes were made or reasons they would need to do that for, but the primary issue is that the date the photo was modified on is before the date the photo was created and before the shooting took place. How the hell is a photo modified before it was taken? Weird, but strong sign the metadata is being altered on some of these photos.

(9) One photographer, Doug Mills, was given a Pulitzer Prize for taking the photo of Trump with the bullet approaching his head, however there are a few problems with this Photo. Plaintiff is unable to locate the original, which suggests that they went out of their way to ensure all versions of this photo had no visible metadata. That's fine, because there are still issues that can be identified with the copies of it. Error Level Analysis is a genius tool that examines pixel density of photographs and compares it to the pixels around it. Photos that are photoshopped often have different pixel densities because different parts of the image were taken by different cameras or drawn with tools, and this tool provides an output to allow comparison of those pixel densities. Looking at this bullet photo, the pixel density of the bullet does stand out compared to other parts of the image, indicating a high likelihood that the "bullet" was not organic to the image. The ELA tool also shows a line in the sky behind Defendant Trump that does not have any explanation as the sky usually isn't split into partitions like that and there is no cloud that would explain it.

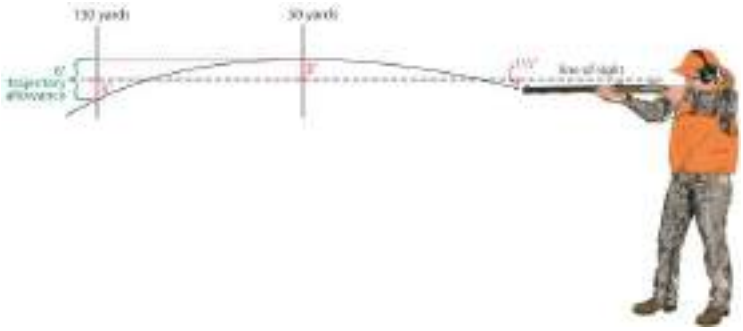
Lastly, bullets don't fly straight, so we have a bit of a physics issue here, because the Trump bullet is flying level to his head and is not curved in the slightest.



This photo is likely fake and any photoshop expert worth more than their weight in fecal matter would concur. Which means that the entire event was likely fake.

(10) This photo of the suspect was shared by Fox News[213], so it s*hould* be credible.

But it isn't.

Green arrow points to shadows cast by Crooks in these alleged photos of the suspect from local area police. The red arrow should have a shadow from Crooks' arm, but it doesn't.

213) https://static.foxnews.com/foxnews.com/content/uploads/2024/07/crooks.png

Also, if you look closely you can see part of the ledge he's sitting on through the gap between his side and his arm, which, based on the angle of the picture would mean his arm would have to be broken or missing a huge chunk out of it for this to be possible. This photo is either photoshopped or AI. Based on the video game-ish appearance of his arm, it is likely AI.

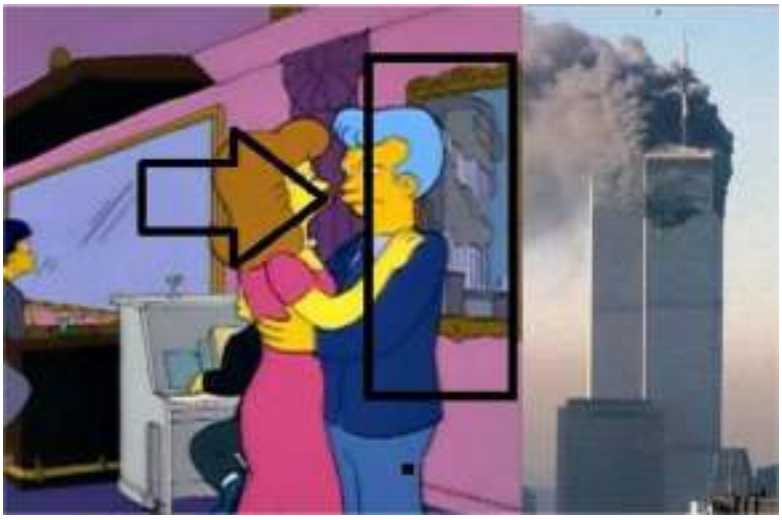
(4) 9/11 Terrorist Attack

9/11 was arguably the biggest PSYOP in world history. A true masterpiece. It was also the one with the biggest impact within Plaintiff's life. Almost 3,000 fatalities and thousands of first responders that responded subsequently died as a result of 9/11-related illnesses.

(1) The Twin Towers were, by their very existence, a symbol of Freemasonry because they are two pillars. So, it's no surprise that they were later targeted in a "terrorist" attack. They also have a habit of foreshadowing things.

Illuminati Card Game, 1995

Israeli commemorative coin from 1967 following the six-day war (there goes that number 6 again)



The Simpsons, 1993 and 1996, respectively

Of course, the latitude of the World Trade Center ends in 666.

Those towers were always going to come down. Its not that these people are psychic, its that these events are planned decades in advance and they later carry them out when the time is right. They inform the public in advance of their plans in line with their karmic ideology. Conveniently, the years surrounding 9/11 were left out of the Epstein files release.

(2) A man named Larry Silverstein (A Jewish man) signed a 99-year lease for the Twin Towers in July 2001 and made sure to have them loaded with as much insurance as possible, to include terrorism insurance, which is not particularly common within the real estate space. Mr. Silverstein made a lot of money on that policy.[214] Because the event was falsified, he should probably give that money back, but don't hold your breath on that.

(3) The whole narrative of the attack is kind of stupid if you think about it. A bunch of middle eastern men got together and trained for months in the desert and learned how to fly commercial airliners and snuck a bunch of weapons onto a plane to kamikaze it into a building and they did this multiple times all on the same day, and all without knowing how much damage would actually be done. All that work for a gamble? But not only that, the gamble paid off big time and this high-risk/low-anticipated-impact did something it was extremely unlikely to do, two times despite the fact that…..

(4) Jet fuel doesn't burn hot enough to melt steel beams. Certainly not hot enough to melt steel beams throughout a tall ass building. This point has been made many times, but it is a valid point. Steel melts at 2500-2800 degrees Fahrenheit, and jet fuel only reaches 900-1500 degrees Fahrenheit. Even if the top portion of the tower collapsed and adding the weight of the plane, the rest of the building should have still been able to sustain that weight without collapse.

(5) Thermite was likely used in destruction of the towers.[215] This would explain how the steel beams were melted.

(6) There are two publicly available 'real' videos of the first plane hitting the first tower. The Naudet Brothers Video, which we'll call the "Naudet Video"[216] and the NIST-released footage obtained by a FOIA request from NIST, which we'll call "NIST Video"[217] (Not sure why NIST had this footage and not the NTSB or FBI, but we'll go with it)

Naudet Video NIST Video

There are issues with both of these videos. The Naudet video is too cinematic-appearing and there is no clear reason why they would everyone in the area would stop what they were doing to look at a plane they heard fly overhead, and certainly no reason the camera operator would turn the camera to the World Trade Center buildings. It looks like something you would see in a movie rather than something a real person recording something unrelated and just happening to catch what happened. But that's not the biggest issue with the Naudet video.

The biggest issue with the video is that the woman next to Lego man (yes, that is supposed to be a person) becomes transparent for a moment. They both do.

Notice that the building is visible through both of these background characters and that a line goes between both of them. These people were clearly added in post-production. This also seems like a mistake that AI would make and not a CGI artist, but this video was posted in 2016 and AI video production didn't exist yet, right? Right?????

The Other Problem with the Naudet Video is the overall video quality

When recording the firefighters, the video looks like complete shit with almost no details to anything in frame. But we're expected to believe that they zoomed in from this…

To this with the same camera? You can all of a sudden make out all of the individual features of the smoke and the individual lines on both towers from about half a mile away. Yeah, okay. CGI/AI bullshit.

The problems with the NIST video are even greater.

The cars to the far right are transparent, but that's not the biggest issue with this video. Neither are the anorexic truck tires.

Those aren't even the cars in the furthest lane either as another car seems to be even further left than them without explanation.

No one in the comments of this video is able to point out which overpass this is, which is concerning. But bigger question overall is: Where the hell are all these cars going? There's like 2 lanes max in that tunnel and 5-6 lanes all getting funneled in there without any lane markers without massive issues. Those same translucent cars also move forward without any issue, so they must also be interdimensional cars purchased from the same place Renee Good got her car from. Ridiculous! Its going to be even worse for that truck that is going to have a hard time clearing that tunnel—unless he has Renee Good tech, he's going to have to stop and back up which will back up traffic even more. No visual effects artist would be so stupid as to animate this in such an absurd manner, which makes Plaintiff suspect it was produced by AI. But this video is, this video was posted 14 years ago and AI video production capabilities only started popped up in 2019, riiiiiight????

But even THAT is not the biggest issue with the NIST video.

We can clearly see the plane hitting the 2nd tower to the right.

The smoke even wraps around it as we would expect to see, as you can see the building clearly obstructing part of smoke from view. The problem is: that's THE WRONG TOWER.

The North Tower (the first one hit) has a large antenna on top.

As we can see from the Naudet Video, the AI got this detail right. The North Tower had a large antenna on top. The South Tower did not.

As we can see from the NIST video, it is clearly hitting the tower without a large antenna on top. Thus, this is a fatal flaw when it comes to the authenticity of this video. Clearly these videos are forgeries, just like a lot of our pretend world. Because NIST is a federal agency, it involves Defendant United States.

(7) As insane as it is to think our government would help facilitate the biggest attack on American soil in U.S. history just to fuel a war in the middle east, it is undoubtedly our reality. While Defendant United States did coordinate this event, and ultimately staffed with enough psychopaths to enough to be willing to kill off thousands of their own citizens to further a particular agenda, the biggest revelation of all is that they didn't. The only thing they needed to do was make the public think that 3,000 people died that day. Some of the people named as deceased are still alive today or died later despite being cited as having died in the towers.

This one is a bit confusing as the image was posted on September 11, 2023 by Kristen Arestegui referencing a post by Nancy Hunt on the same date with a picture of Barbara, so it would appear to be posted in commemoration of her and the “Care” emojis being dominant seem to support that understanding. But one of the replies to the image posted by Nancy Hunt responds by saying “You cut your hair off!?!?!?!?” and she responds by saying “sure did! Not looking forward to growing it out!” and she responds by saying “It looks cute on you!!”

Such a conversation taking place would seem to indicate that Nancy Hunt is the woman in the picture she posted, which contradicts the narrative that this was a commemoration of a deceased woman. Note that none of the people are indicating sorrow or anything like that for under this picture.

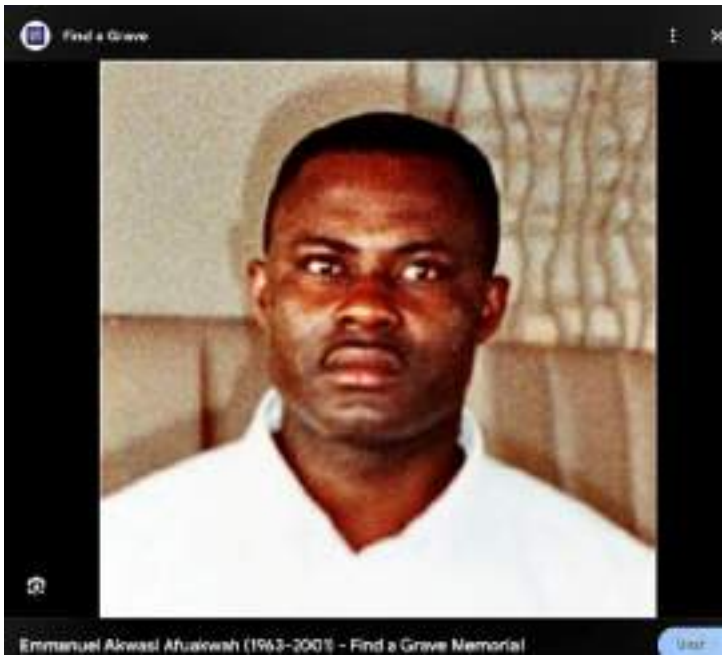
Analysis of his family and related background reveals that he has ties to New York City.



Looks like someone used MS Paint on the jawline to make it appear a little larger.

Both of these men have extremely similar names and they both live in the Bronx.

Of course, Plaintiff cannot be certain that all of these are accurate, but if at least one or more of them is, we must conclude that there is a high likelihood that the almost 3,000 lives alleged to be claimed by hijackers on 9/11 are just another part of our pretend world. Because of heavy involvement by the federal government, Defendant United States is responsible.

(5) Trips to the Moon

(a) Pillars of Science

As we've seen, much of our history and even some current events are falsified, but surely one of the greatest achievements of man was real, right? No. But before that is explained, we must first understand that it's very likely that much of our understanding of science and technology was given to us and not natively developed—who might have given us this stuff will be explained later in this Complaint. Science is supposed to be a pure effort built upon by smart humans testing out theories and refining those theories based on more modern knowledge with an occasional finding being made by accident, but we must ask ourselves why the occult keeps popping up within something that is supposed to be organic to the foundational rules of our existence?

We have often seen the symbol "Rx" in our prescription forms from a doctor.

Ever wondered what it is?

It is a common abbreviation used in the field of medicine and pharmacy.

But do you know about its rich historical background dating back to ancient times?

So here's a brief history of the "Rx" symbol:

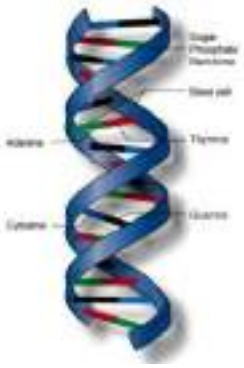
Ancient Origins

The origins of the "Rx" symbol can be traced back to ancient Egypt. Here, the Eye of Horus, a powerful symbol associated with protection and healing was used in medicinal and protective contexts.

This symbol is often depicted as a stylized human eye with markings that resemble the modern "Rx" symbol.

It was believed to have healing properties and was used to invoke the blessings of gods and ward off illness.

https://www.linkedin.com/pulse/evolution-rx-symbol-history-prescriptions-akram-ahmad-phd-bzfjc



The universal symbol of medicine is two snakes.

The medical symbol also looks like very similar to a string of DNA (Deoxyribonucleic Acid). A rib is what God took from Adam to create Eve and the word “Rib” is in the middle of “DeoxyRIBonucleic).

Hand backwards is DNA. The hand (DNA) or forehead (Pineal Gland) is where the Bible says that the Mark of the Beast will go and that no man will be able to buy or sell without it. During COVID, they began the process of requiring people to take that shitty ass “vaccine” that only worked for a few months before needing a booster and came with much higher risks than the government admitted to buy or sell things. Many of these shots were later found to be contaminated with DNA.[218] Despite a flurry of lamestream experts saying it is impossible for these shots to modify DNA, there has been at least one case of someone’s DNA being altered by these shots, resulting in fast developing cancer.[219]

219) “‘Alarm Bells’: Genetic ‘Fingerprint’ of COVID Vaccine Found in 31-Year-Old Cancer Patient’s DNA” https://childrenshealthdefense.org/defender/genetic-fingerprint-covid-vaccine-found-31-year-old-cancer-patients-dna/?utm_source=x&utm_medium=social&utm_campaign=defender&utm_id=20250912

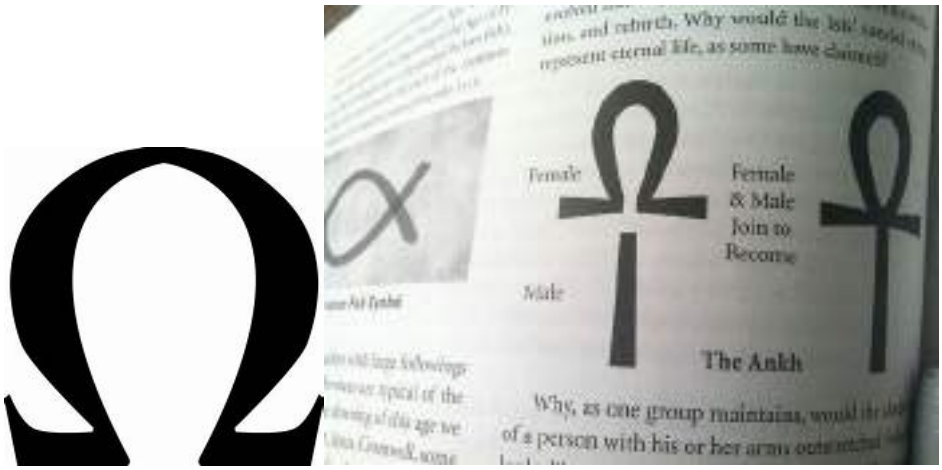
220) In leaked video of a Facebook executive meeting, Mark Zuckerberg (Jew), shortly after the testing for the COVID shots stated that “we don’t know the long-term side effects of modifying people’s DNA and RNA. His company Facebook then went on to censor anyone who questioned the shots. https://x.com/karma44921039/status/2072586147486740492

Before it became known as “chemistry”, it was known as “Alchemy”, which was as much spiritual as it was about chemical substances Note the 6-pointed star of Remphan, the sun and moon representing duality, the eye in the center, and the diamond at the top left similar to what would become the Freemason diamond (Really just representing an up and down triangle just like the Star of Remphan), and Ouroboros (ancient Egyptian symbol for infinity).

Note the two headed figure representing the fusion of the male and female (duality) which we see pushed on our children today, the sun and moon duality, the 6 pointed stars of Remphan (including the pyramid which also has 6 points), and the square and compass. Squares and compasses are used in math.

Basil Valentine's Azoth, 1613. Another rendition of Ouroboros, representing infinity with sun and moon representing duality. The Infinity symbol (a sideways version of this) was created in 1655. The infinity symbol used in math today came from this occult theme. The number 3 duplicated across the vertical axis makes this symbol, so 33 makes infinity. Get it? The original Greek lowercase Omega symbol is just a horizontal 3.

A Capital 'A' (Alpha) matching the Greek letter A is used in electronics to measure Amps, or how much current is flowing.



Greek Omega symbol used for Ohms in electronics, to measure resistance to current (i.e. the opposite of Amps). Which is actually rooted in the Ancient Egyptian Ankh. (If you haven't figured it out, it's literally just a representation of a vagina, at the end of the day most of this occult stuff is just rooted in genitalia worship). The Alpha and Omega is a duality and in religious doctrine represent the Beginning/masculine (Alpha) to the End/feminine (Omega). So, someone with the last name "Ampere' just happened to figure out the formula that would end up representing Amps, and someone with the last name "Ohms" just happened to figure out the formula for the resistance to Amps? Is that what we're supposed to believe?

Then we have our money (economics is a social science), with the pyramid and eye on the back:

The bird also on the back of our money with two upraised wings and a circle in the middle just like the Ba'al Symbol:

Notice the 8's or the infinity symbol

We also have the Space Force symbol, also with two horns and a star in the middle:

This Space Force patch:

Many service patches for space seem to have one main star they focus on, including the Space Force Logo:

Presumptively, this star would be Polaris (the North Star), the question is: why?

The closest word phonetically to “Polaris” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘self’ and translates to “twisting”. Sort of like how it appears that Polaris twists our planet.

(A rational person would develop serious questions about how our planet moves through space based on the notion of this star being hundreds of light years away and appearing in pretty much the exact same spot from our perspective for thousands of years and all of the other stars rotating around it, but lets move on.)

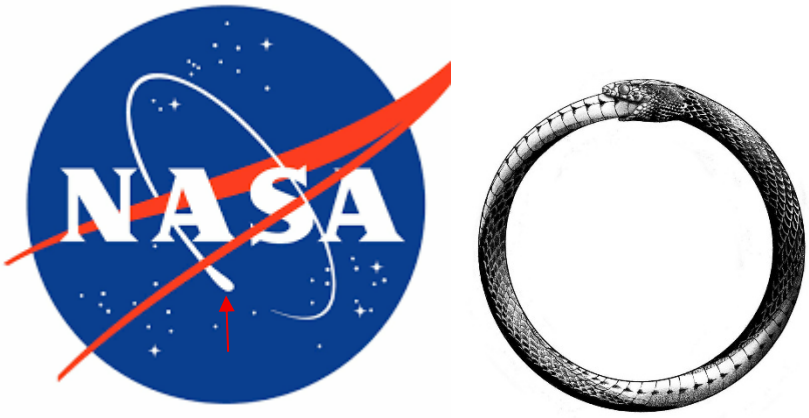
Some of them just have dark energy (also with one bright star). Why would someone make this a patch for their unit? Isn't the U.S. supposed to be the good guys? What the fuck is this?

The NASA logo contains a reference to Ouroboros:



Masons come from stonemasons (construction specialists):

Building structures takes a lot of science. They wear this stupid cloth over their groin as symbolic protection of the genitals. That's what the "g" stands for: genitalia. At the end of the day, that's what Freemasonry is about: genitalia worship. But this trend goes back further than stonemasons.

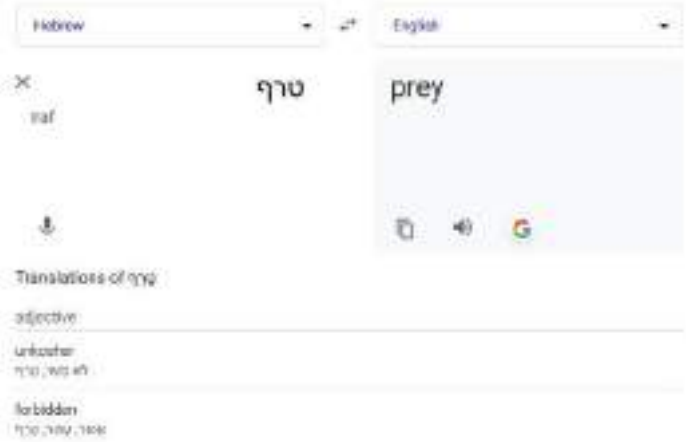
Many depictions of ancient Egyptian male royals also has an extra piece of cloth over the groin. Depending on your opinion of biblical history, it may go back even further than that as the first thing that Adam and Eve did after eating from the tree of forbidden knowledge was to cover their genitals. The people that run our planet is a group that is basically a sex cult that goes back to the beginning of civilization.

Speaking of Forbidden fruit, the Apple logo is the forbidden fruit of the Bible.

The first Apple computer sold cost $666.66. Hell of a price! (pun intended). Also note the ribbon wrapping itself around a picture of a tree representing the serpent in the Garden of Eden.

The closest word to the phonetic pronunciation of “Apple” is pronounced ‘axel’ and translates to “dark”, “gloomy”, “somber, etc..

The closest word to “Apple” backwards phonetically in Hebrew is ‘alef’ and translates to “Alpha”. Both “Alpha” and the number 1 both represent the divine masculine, which is Ba’al. The closest word to “fruit” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘traf’ and translates to ‘prey’ with synonyms translating to ‘forbidden’.



(That last one isn’t related to science per se, it just proves the backmasking stuff further).

Jack Parsons, one of history’s most important rocket scientists, practiced sex magic and was deeply invested into the occult.[221]

Jack Parsons practicing sex magic makes sense because rockets, alongside scepters/magic wands, and obelisks are just phallic symbols.

221) https://www.sciencehistory.org/stories/disappearing-pod/the-sex-cult-antichrist-who-rocketed-us-to-space-part-1/

Are we to believe that this just happens to be the best design for a spaceship? The phallus is shaped that way to penetrate, what is this rocket ‘penetrating’?

Wernher von Braun, the rocket scientist that let NASA’s Marshall Space Center has Psalm 19:1 engraved on his headstone:

"The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handywork." - --

Psalm 19:1

The firmament is a barrier to space travel. Why would a rocket scientist have this on his tombstone?

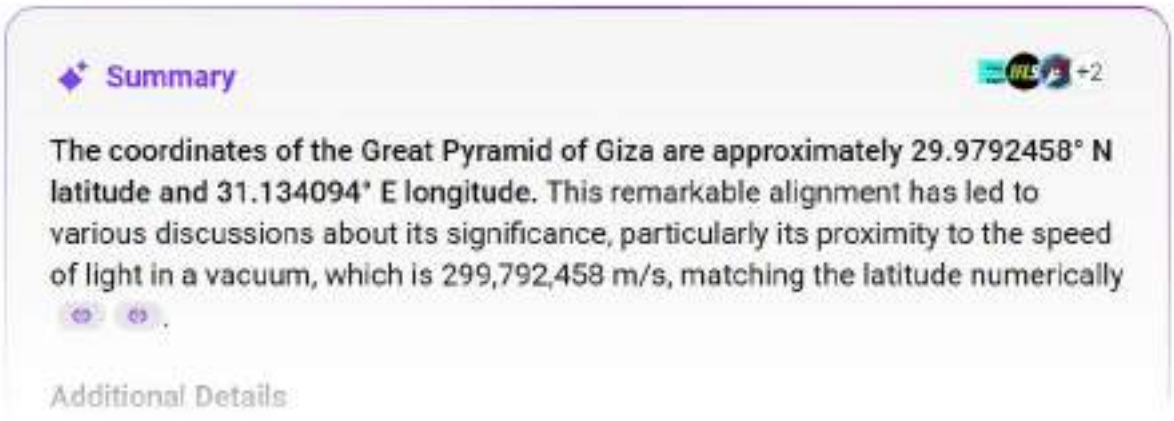
Escape velocity (the speed needed to leave the planet) is Mach 33.

As mentioned previously in this Complaint;, the Area 51 Obelisk, Eye, and Pyramid. Why have those things there?

We're told that our planet is orbiting the sun at ~66,616 miles per hour. The "Mark of the Beast" Number is 666, and the Nero Ceasar Mark of the Beast number is 616--so they fit both of them in there. Really? That just happens to be the speed our planet is going at?

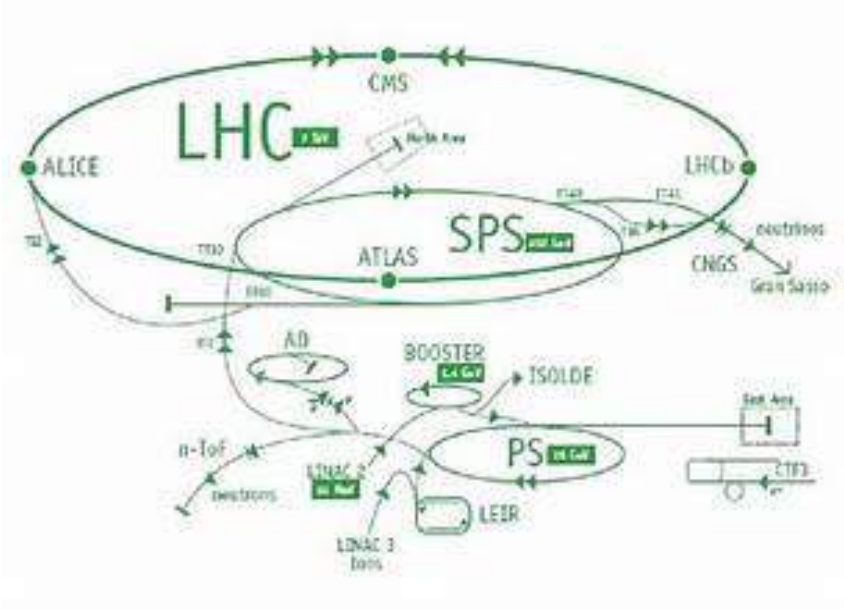
We're told that our planet is tilted at 23.4 degrees. The maximum degree of tilt is 90 degrees. 90-23.4 = 66.6. Meaning that we are tilted to the opposite side 66.6 degrees.

The Speed of Light was calculated to be 299,792,458 meters per second, which is exactly the same coordinates as the Pyramid of Giza (29.9792458 N. lat.)



CERN (Large Hadron Collider) has three 6s hidden in its logo.

One of the primary accelerator components and one of the major experiments at CERN are named ‘Atlas’

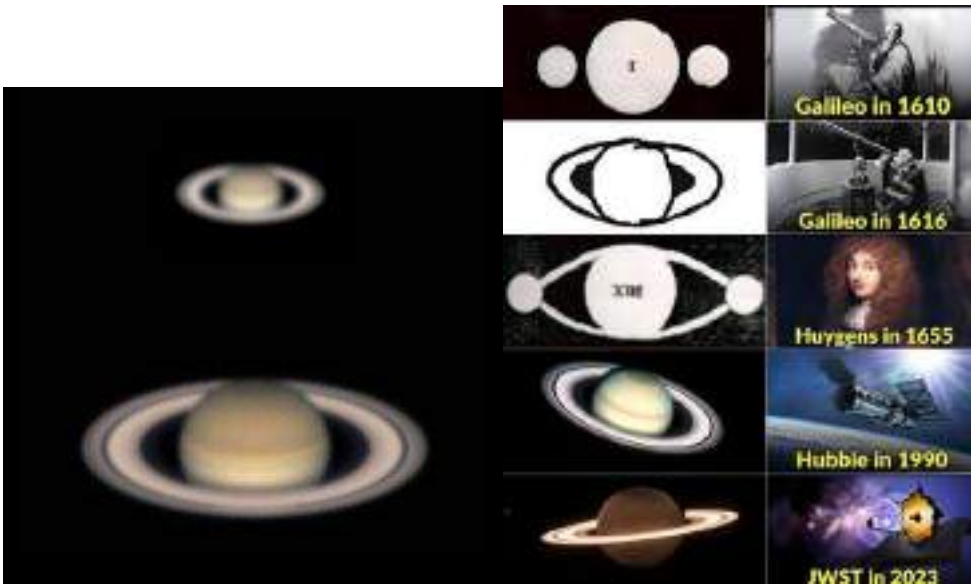


Atlas is the Titan from Greek Mythology that led a rebellion against God and was forced to hold up the celestial spheres as punishment. This rebellion predates the Bible's story of Lucifer's Rebellion and seems to be the inspiration behind that story. Lucifer took 1/3rd of the angels in his rebellion. 1/3=33.333.

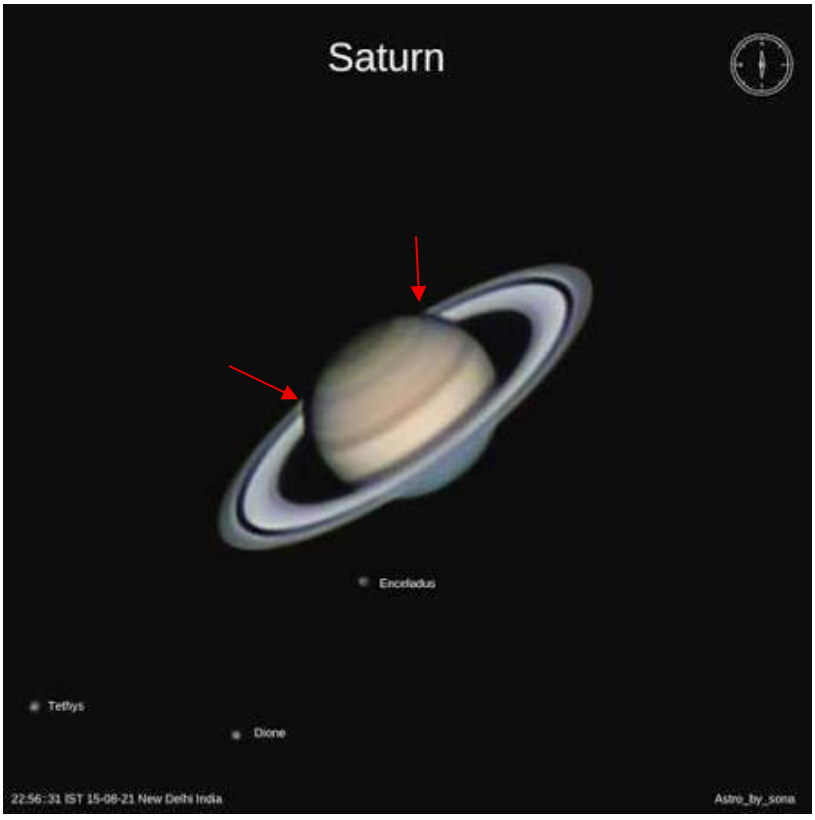
Atlas' arms holding up the Sphere also looks similar to the symbol of Ba'al.

Most planets are named after Greek and Roman gods.

Astronomy is a science. The planet Saturn, is of course named after the Roman God Saturn, which is also the basis for the seventh day of the week being called Saturday. Saturn makes an eye when its rings appear above or below it.



In ancient Egypt, the planet Saturn was called “Horus bull of the sky”



It turns out that when viewing the planet Saturn, the shadow behind it makes these little horns just like Ba’al.

Without a telescope, this is what Saturn looks like in the night sky:

Telescopes were invented in 1608, so how the hell did ancient Egyptians know that the planet Saturn had horns? Or was it just a lucky guess?

Saturn, the Roman god is tied to Remphan and Kiyyun as this blurb from Wikipedia confirms:

Etymology [edit]

Remphan[note 1] is a rendering of the Ancient Greek, ρεμφαν. Various manuscripts offer other transliterations of this pronunciation, including Ῥομφά, Ῥεμφάν, Ῥεμφάμ, and Ῥεφάν.[citation needed] It is likely in reference to "Kiyyun" ("Chiun") mentioned in Amos 5:26,[note 2] which the Septuagint renders as "Raiphan" (Ραιφάν) or "Rephan".[9] Kiyyun is generally assumed to be the god Saturn,[10] the Assyrian name of which was "Kayvān" ("Kêwân").[11]

The Star of Remphan is what the Defendants call the “Star of David” on Defendant Israel’s flag. Remphan, Kiyyun, Ba’al, Ra, Saturn, Satan, Lucifer, Atlas, are all the same douchebag across different cultures and time periods, and they all have demonic overtones.

Saturn and Ba'al were both Gods of vegetation (agriculture), (which is a science). While most sources say this is because agriculture was crucial to ancient societies, which is at least partially true, the actual reason is because of the cyclical nature of plant birth, death, and rebirth (Ouroboros), which we will discuss in more detail later.

Do you see the similarities? The Sickle being a tool of agriculture representing horns.

Elon Musk once warned that we're summoning the digital demons with AI.[222]

Elon probably knows a thing or two about that given his phallic-shaped rockets and his Halloween costume choices.

222) "Ten Years Ago, Musk Warned We Were Summoning a Demon" https://medium.com/thenextclassroom/ten-years-ago-musk-warned-we-were-summoning-a-demon-6466ff5bca77

The purpose of this subsection is to show that there are clearly darker occult elements to science, that some major scientific developments may be given to use to guide humanity for unknown purposes and not organic to our own natural intellectual societal development, and show that some of the things we are being told by experts should be heavily scrutinized—all to lay the foundation for understanding that the moon-landings are not only fake but possibly entirely impossible to accomplish.[223] It may be similar to looking at a far away island in a video game that was never programmed for what you would see so there is a barrier (a 'firmament') preventing the character from getting closer to it because there is no "there" that the character can reach. Much like with the Covid shots they forced on us, it is rational to question what we are being told about space.

223) One of the key arguments against simulation theory is that the universe is too large to simulate and it would take too much processing power to simulate hundreds of billions of planets and stars. Once you start understanding that they lie about everything you reach the question: Are there hundreds of billions of planets and stars? Just because they show you a picture of a bunch of lights with a black background from what should be a satellite thousands of miles away from Earth, doesn't mean those photos are real—many of them are undoubtedly fake, however Plaintiff does not debunk these photos in this Complaint due to space and time limits (pun intended).

(b) The 1969 Moon Landing

All trips to the moon that have been publicly released have been staged.

1) The first red flag is that the astronauts that supposedly went to the moon were Freemasons.

Based on this alone, red flags should immediately be going up. Because this happened in 1969 and we know they place a lot of value on the year certain things occur (Church of Satan founded in ’66 for example) and we know rockets are phallic symbols, it could be a simple sex reference. (it sounds ridiculous, but some of the years certain things happen is very intentional and nothing is beyond their childish mindset)

2) The technology in 1969 was unquestionably insufficient for making it to the moon. Computers were the sizes of houses back then (which even further shows that our science is likely being guided as it is extremely hard to believe we went from house-sized computers to having a much stronger computer being carried in our pockets in less than 50 years, but Plaintiff digresses). If the Earth were stationary it might be plausible, but with the Earth moving at Mark-of-the-Beast level speeds and the moon also moving around the earth, and that entire system all moving around a sun that is also moving throughout a galactic center, within a galaxy that is also moving through the universe, the notion that the math of this trip was all figured out in 1969 is unrealistic. Even if they did calculations that declared the trip feasible, who would go on such a suicide mission with 1969 tech? Ridiculous.

3) Many people theorize that Stanley Kubrick (who also did a movie about the occult underworld) assisted with staging the moon landing and that he was hinting at that in his movie, The Shining. This movie will come up again in this Complaint

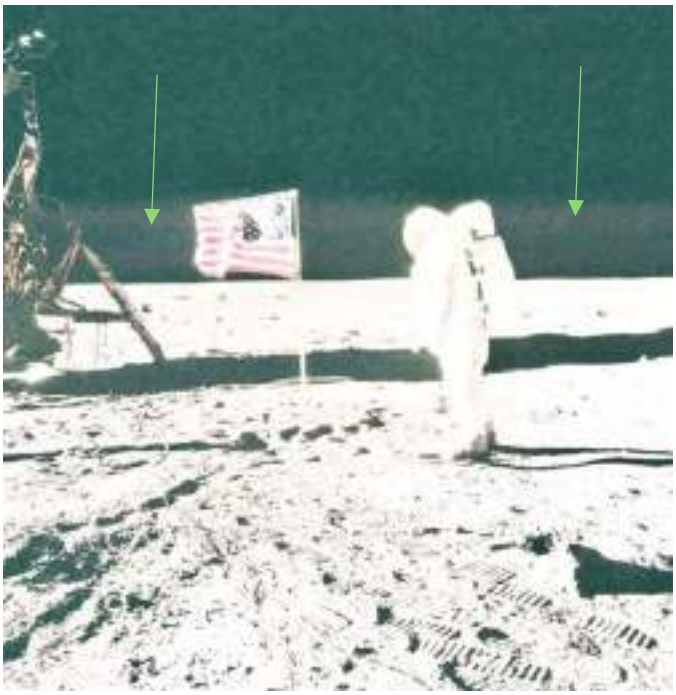
4) Buzz Aldrin admitted to faking the moon landing[224] and that the government did it for money, which would mean it was a scam. He's talking to a little girl and he seems genuine and there's no reason to believe he was joking.

5) Let's not take Buzz Aldrin's word for it. Let's see if we can corroborate his claim that it was faked.

224) https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kRiXqANzreA

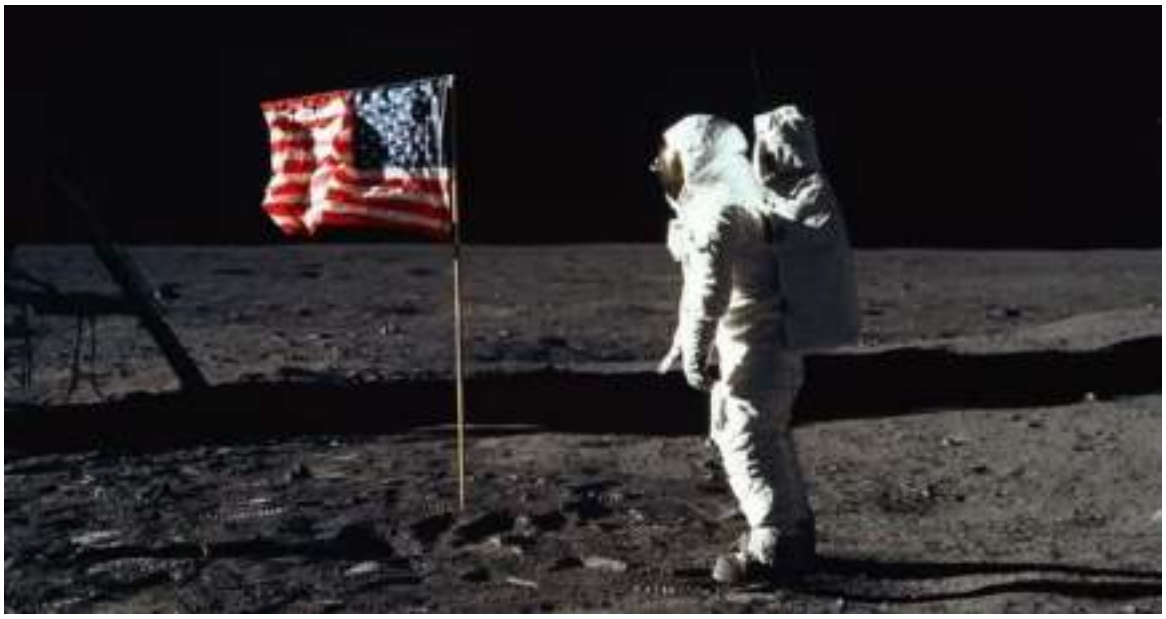
Original taken from “the Moon”:

Enhanced Exposure on iPhone:

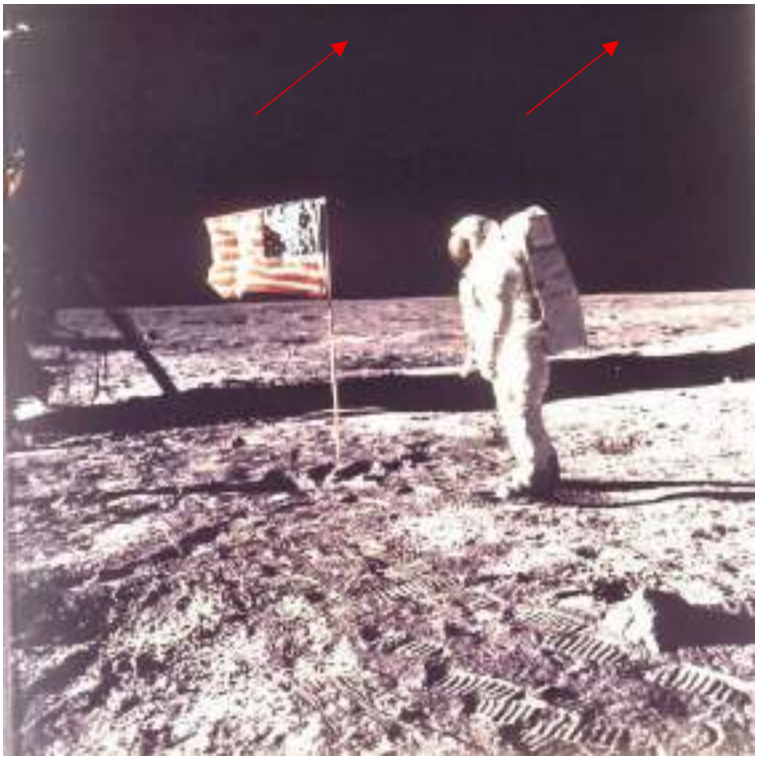


You can literally see the walls of the soundstage. LMAO!

Another original taken from “the Moon”:



Exposure Increased on iPhone:



These two horizontal lines become visible near the top that shouldn't exist in empty space. There's actually more horizontal lines that appear under those, as well as lines representing columns, but those are harder to depict, so they are not pointed out.

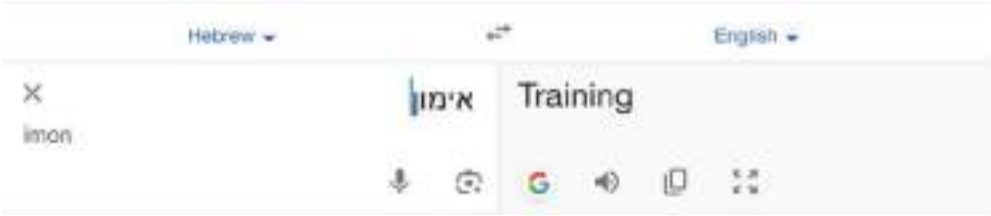
While horizontal lines like that don't exist in empty space, they do exist on sound stages, like the one they trained at in 1969. Green line = large wall in first image. Red line = top horizonal lines in second image.

The closest word to "moon" in Hebrew is pronounced 'imon' and translates to training.



6) We won't even get into the original tapes of this event they claim were deleted or how Nixon called them from a landline telephone without any delay whatsoever and how absurd that is. No need.

Conclusion: 1969 Moon landing mission was a lie perpetuated by Defendant United States as part of the pretend world they force Plaintiff to live in.

(c) The Artemis II Mission

Well, even if the 1969 million was a lie, the 2026 Artemis II mission was real, right? Nope. Given the technology available today to conduct a good PSYOP, the fact that this one was so obviously fake stands as proof that it was worse than the 1969 moon trip.

1) The launch was on April Fool's Day.

2) The number 33 always makes its way into these things.

3) Fox News Reporter said two of the four astronauts are "right out of central casting".

4) In the 2024 movie ‘Fly Me to the Moon”, the main character gets pulled into a government operation called “Project Artemis” to fake the moon landing in the event that Apollo 11 failed.

5) One of the fans was caught pretending to take photos of the astronauts, but the astronauts clearly were not showing on his screen.

6) When it comes to the International Space Station videos (which they’ve been caught faking things too)[225] , the woman always has her hair free floating to show they’re in space. It’s unprofessional given the environment and especially unprofessional given the small size of this craft. Mind you, this is supposed to be a literally rocket scientist. Completely unrealistic and the definition of “trying too hard”.

225) https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZttixHgx5vA&t=1005s 226) https://x.com/MmisterNobody/status/2043369305501290574 (video)

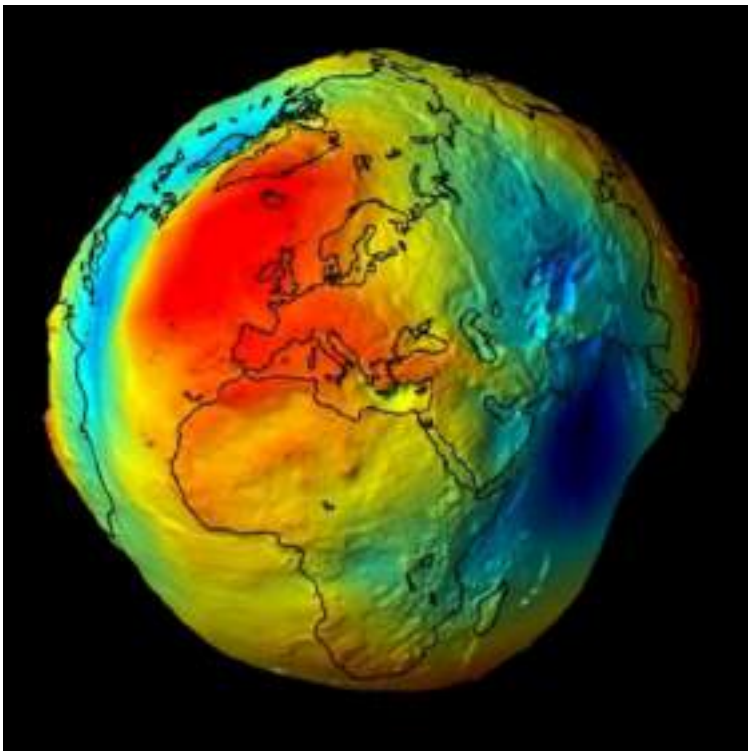
7) Astronaut forgets lines describing space mid-sentence.

8) Astronauts walk fine immediately after returning, then must do rehabilitation later.[227]

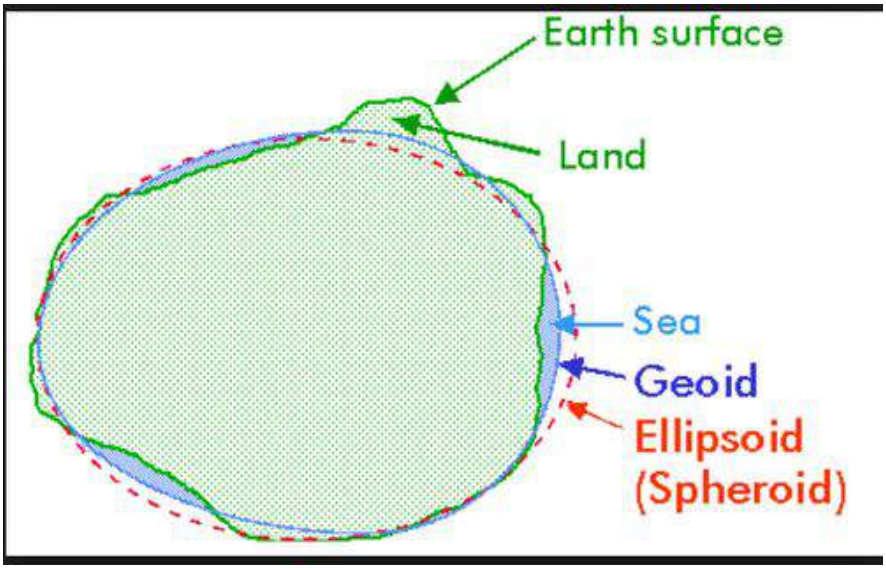
9) There are three main problems (There are others, but we'll focus on the main three for brevity) with this picture of "Earth" supposedly taken on Artemis II:

227) https://x.com/MmisterNobody/status/2045498344378659084

(a) The Earth is not actually a perfect sphere and is suggested to be more of an spheroid like this:



Or this:



So this presentation makes no sense.

(b) If the sun is shining the non-visible half of the Earth, what is lighting up opposite end? It shouldn't be evenly lit either as the side directly opposite to the sun should be the darkest.

(c) Whatever continent that is supposed to be (presumably Africa based on the Strait of Gibraltar, but it could be a different one) appears to vanish.

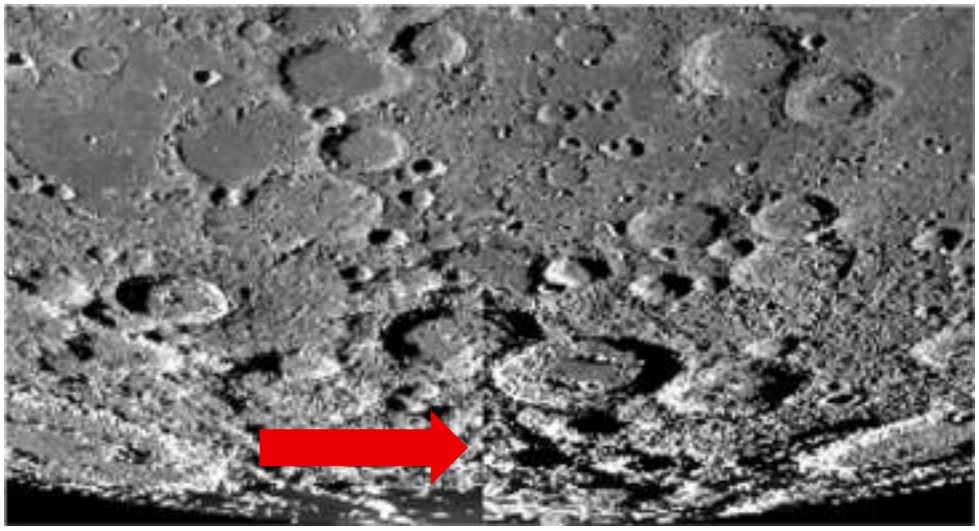
10) Again with the hair just floating around. Ugh.

You can literally see some railing or stand the "Earth" is standing on in this photo. We know its not a reflection of anything behind Mrs. Free-Floating Hair because the only source of light is supposedly the Earth. There is no Quality Assurance staff that is doing oversight on these photos because if there was, they would point out how stupid this looks. Also, what continent is that supposed to be?

11) Artemis also supposedly took a picture of the far side of the moon. But there are a few problems with this one as well.

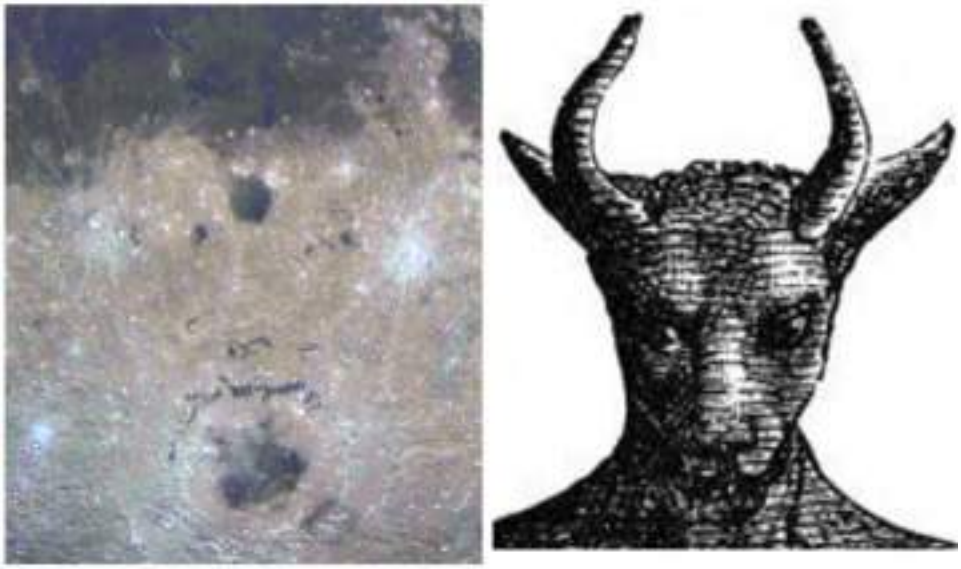
(a) Light source problem. Where is the light source that allowed the moon to be so bright? Based on how much is illuminated, the sun would have to be damn near behind the moon and this was basically a solar eclipse, which did not occur during this space mission. But maybe, they just have ultra-advanced light enhancement tech or something?

(b) This does not match NASA's previous images of the lunar far side in the slightest. No matter how you rotate either image, they are clearly not the same thing.



This previous image was, of course, fake as well, as we can see this split down the middle where two images were spliced together.

(c) They also made sure to hide a depiction of Ba'al in there as well for those that are extra observant:



After all, what is the point in doing such a large PSYOP if you aren't going to bake in some demonic imagery into it?

12) ABC news created a graphic representation of the Artemis trajectory, but the Earth was stationary.[228] Why are they unable to depict this with the Earth orbiting the Sun at Mark of the Beast speed with the Moon orbiting the Earth, and the Sun moving through the galaxy? Answer: Because when you do that a problem immediately becomes apparent with how the ship would not be getting left behind by the Earth speeding away from it. If they can't show a graphical representation of the way we are told these things operate, its unlikely they can do it, and its even more unlikely that scientists would risk their lives to test such unsolved problems.

228) https://x.com/ABC/status/2039464495332905330

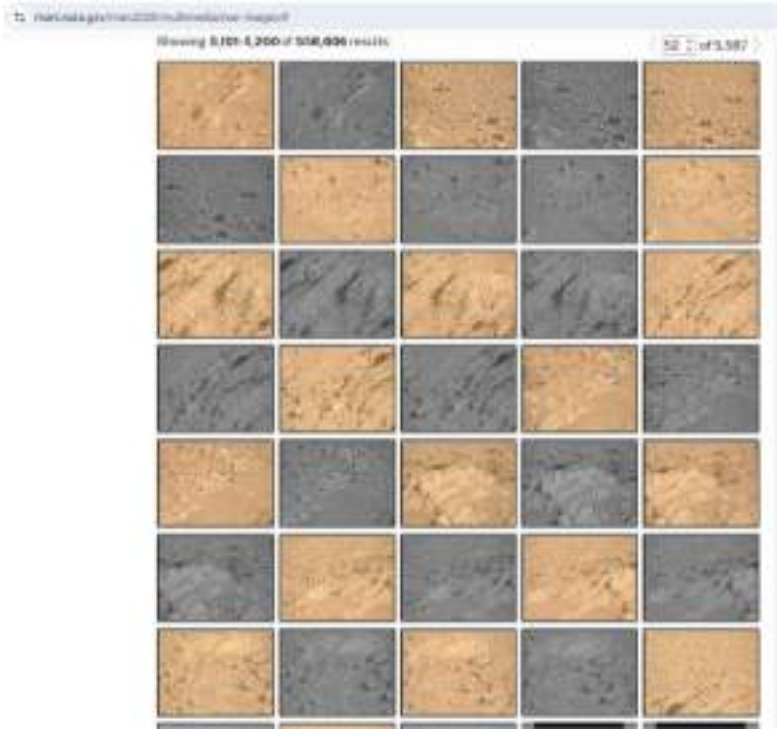
13) In space an object moving in a direction will continue moving in that direction until a force acts upon them to slow them down. These spaceships use multiple fuel tanks (testis—these things are all phallic symbols) that they drop behind them after they lift off, but how do they slow down? The Moon is far smaller than the Earth and may provide slight assistance, but even with gravity-assist from the moon there is no way they have enough fuel to slow down, then more fuel to speed back up and launch themselves toward the earth again. This alone makes these trips extremely unlikely to be real and even more unlikely for a human with a properly functioning brain to want to go on one of these deathtraps.

Conclusion: The Artemis II mission was just as much of a lie as these other missions.

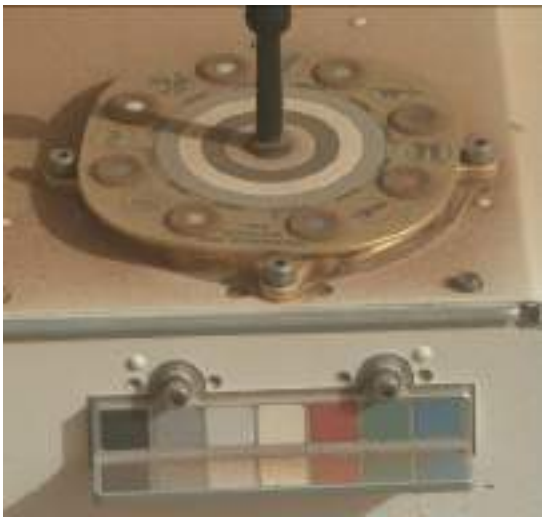
(d) MARS Rover Mission

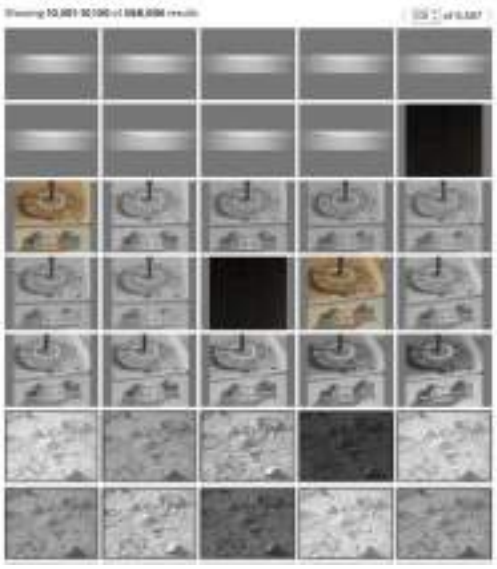
The Mars rover mission is also a farce.

(1) over 500,000 images, which sounds like too much for it to be a fake mission, but many photos are of the same thing or close ups of dirt and rocks from slightly different angles. Ex:



There are thousands of pictures of this fucking this all throughout the image files:





(2) Mars is further away from the sun than Earth, so the sun would not be this close.

(3) Always with the occult references.

Not only is it a serpent, but its also attached to the bottom of the Earth like a pilar, just like the bible says is holding up the earth. Why do this if they are really in space and know for a fact that there is no pillar holding up the planet??

(4) NASA was caught using pictures from a training site on Earth from their Curiosity mission.[229] If they are really on Mars, why upload any fake photos?

(5) Another picture NASA purports to be taken on Mars of the Earth and the Moon.

What is NASA doing with all of the tax dollars they receive every year? Because it sure as hell isn't being used to go to space.

229) https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=q9Nuy7mFIsE&t=1598s (~25:52).

(6) The Holocaust

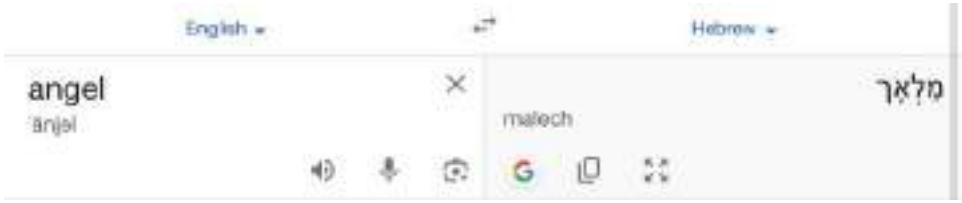
(a) Plaintiff now ventures into forbidden territory. The alleged event in which millions of Jews across Europe were rounded up and executed by Evil Moustache Man. Its almost impossible to prove a negative (i.e. prove that something doesn't exist or didn't happen) without strict geographic or temporal constraints), and we cannot do that here, but we can show that there is a lot of fraud behind what was purported to have happened.

(b) Hitler is alleged to have killed 6 million Jews. Of course, its got to be a 6. Which is why Plaintiff made sure the Holocaust was #6 on his list. Hitler infamously invaded Poland in 1939 after 6 years in power, and died 6 years after that in 1945. Wow, three sixes, isn't there supposed to be a prize for that?

(c) Hitler's rise to power is alleged to have started in 1933. Hitler's suicidal gunshot was supposedly heard around 3:30—another 33. Just like 6, the number 33 (3+3=6) is an important number to them, and they always make sure to slip it into these things. Many other important events also happened in 1933, like this:

Now wait a sec….

Moloch (also represented as a bull) is an ancient Canaanite deity or the name of the practice associated with child sacrifice by passing the child through fire to Ba'al or Moloch. The English pronunciation of "Moloch" also translates to "Angel" or "king" in Hebrew.



The closest word to "Child" backwards is pronounced 'dlik' and translates to "flammable".

What are the odds of that? Hmmm… Maybe that's why "Baby" translates to "bye"? They are handing their babies off to angels through… fire. That doesn't sound evil at all. It's not as if there isn't evidence that this used to be a practice of theirs.[230]

There's also plenty of signs that they continue the practice to this day. The Epstein files contain several things that would lead one to believe he was sacrificing children. There's also the most important clip from the Oprah Winfrey show that you've never seen where a Jewish woman speaks about participating in the practice and indicates that there are other Jewish families that do the same thing.[231]

Defendant Blanche's FBI also made sure to mention the year 1933 a few times in their own summary of their history of how they got their name.

230) https://www.thetorah.com/article/molekh-the-sacrifice-of-babies
231) https://www.youtube.com/shorts/MrBSSuN7oYw

1933 was also the year FDR signed The New Deal initiating a series of government programs from 1933 to 1939. Six years. Another 6. In 1932, 82 percent of the Jewish vote went to FDR, 85% in 1936, and 90% in 1940 and 1944. FDR also appointed more Jews to public office than all previous presidents combined and appointed two to the Supreme Court. Much like Defendant Trump, it sounds like FDR was also owned by Defendant Israel.

The point is that 1933 was a very important year for Defendant Israel.

(d) Hitler had Jewish Ancestry.[232]

(e) Jewish people are some of the smartest people on the planet. We're expected to believe that they just sat around while antisemitic rhetoric grew and grew and he continuously tried to get them to leave Germany for years leading up to his eventual decision to round them up for labor and execution. Well in 1933, they set up the Havaara Agreement to allow Jewish people to flee to Palestine. This agreement included the German government (seems odd) and around 60,000 Jews were transferred from Germany to Palestine between 1933 and 1939. The agreement began in 1933, ran for 6 years and transferred around 60,000 jews. More 33's and 6's. But more importantly, it expects us to believe that only 60,000 Jews saw the writing on the wall. Yea, not buying it. They aren't this stupid or helpless. They certainly wouldn't be stupid enough to stay in large numbers in the countries Hitler took over.

(f) Given the amount of soldiers it would have taken to round up 6 million people, build all of camps, get bulk crematory and gassing supplies, and house and feed the staff and the captives while concurrently invading other countries and fighting on multiple battlefronts alone makes this implausible. Even going with a 1-10 Nazi-Jew ratio (which is being massively generous as that would be extremely barebones), that would be a minimum 600,000 soldiers that could be fighting the Soviets wasting time guarding and exterminating

Jews, which is just ridiculous. Then when you add in the people it would take to build the camps and the supplies that would be better off used on the battlefront, it makes it even more ridiculous. Hitler was stupid, but he's not that stupid. Don't even get started on the fact that it takes 1,000-2000 lbs. of coal to burn a body—even if you were to burn only 33% of the bodies, that would be 2 billion pounds of coal, and that's not even counting the trains that would have been needed to transport the people and the supplies and the extra 4 million bodies laying around. Just supply-wise alone, is extremely implausible.

(g) The evidence of mass graves is sparse. These sites that are claimed to have remains of 100,000 or more victims don't have much evidence to back up the claim. Remains of 100,000 people whether bones or ashes is A LOT of material, and there should be pictures. Cremated remains are 4-8 pounds, so for a site to have 100,000 victims ashes they would have to bury 400,000 lbs. of ashes minimum, there would be a lot of layers and layers of pure ashes and photographs of those ashes would have been provided over the many years they claim to have identified these sites. None of these sites that they claim to have identified shortly after or during the war where never cited in the Nuremberg Trials (1945-46). For example, the Ponary Massacre site is claimed to have remains of over 100,000 victims. According to The Center for Jewish Arts, the massacres at this site starts off "By December 1941, about 33,000 [eye roll] Vilnius Jews were murdered in Ponary…"[233] and they add a few tens of thousands of Jews in later years that were allegedly slaughtered and ended with "The Soviet 'Extraordinary State Commission [investigating] the crimes perpetrated by the German-Fascist invaders and their accomplices on the territory if the Soviet Union' (G.Ch.K.) worked in Ponary in July and August of 1944", Yet there are no pictures of these supposed remains and none of this was cited as evidence in the Nuremberg Trials (which the Soviet Union was a part of). Other sites claiming these large numbers under scrutiny don't fare much better as none of these sites were cited during the Nuremberg Trials and also lack any photographic evidence to support their authenticity. Most sites claimed are “proven” by some “study” or sketchy photographs of supposed victims (most of which are AI or photoshop) and were completely absent from the Nuremberg trials. All “evidence” of mass graves was “found” AFTER the Nazis were tried, and thus, the few Nazis brought to trial were convicted on hearsay, questionable confessions from alleged conspirators (which are very few and easily debunkable), and the presumption from the court and vicious prosecutors that this alleged massacre was not only real but that the Nazis were just really good at hiding their crimes. There is no need to analyze this further in this subparagraph as we will revisit the Nuremberg Trials later.

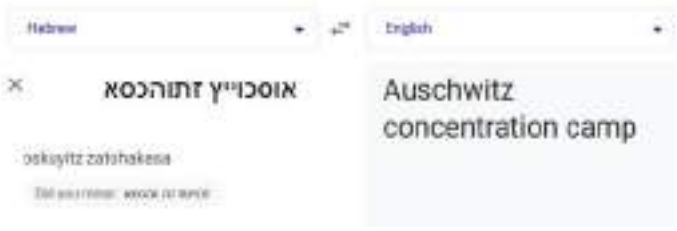
(h) Auschwitz Concentration Camp

Let’s start with the Big Kahuna, Auschwitz Concentration Camp. Plugging in the word “Auschwitz” forward and backwards then converting it to the phonetic translation.

We end up with Auschwitz Concentration Camp. Isn’t that just crazy? (and no it doesn’t do that for all or even most words)



232) “Study Suggests Adolf Hitler Had Jewish and African Ancestors” https://www.history.com/articles/study-suggests-adolf-hitler-had-jewish-and-african-ancestors
233) https://cja.huji.ac.il/hmm/browser.php?mode=set&id=46045

Now, we'll look at some images from Auschwitz to see if there is any deception going on.

Let's start with the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum's official website, seems like a trustworthy source.

Sovfoto/Universal Images Group/Getty Images

There is a photo there of a Soviet Army surgeon examining an Auschwitz survivor. As we can see this picture is from Getty Images, Sovfoto and Universal Images Group, but contained on the United States Holocaust Memorial's official website.

Glad this man is getting some help, lets zoom in to see if we can see the picture a little clearer.

Everything looks good… WAIT!

That's not a photograph at all, that's a painting! You can see the brushstrokes and everything! But they didn't say it was a painting!

Now, in their defense, this was the version taken on mobile and the desktop version looks more believable. You can still see brushstrokes, but they are far less defined. What they probably did was take a painting and put it through some kind of AI generator to make it look more realistic then posted the paint version on mobile by accident. Shady stuff. If you can't trust the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum, who can you trust?

Let’s try the University of Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania is where the Constitutional Convention was held, so an Ivy League University article can surely be trusted.

That’s a big toddler that woman on the right is holding, and that is a really oogly woman.

But that doesn’t prove its fraudulent, maybe she just had a bad makeup day.

Holy crap! This kid is HUGE! He has the face of a toddler, but he's like five feet tall and his chest is twice the size of anyone else's in the picture! It's got to be some kind of medical condition. UPenn wouldn't be altering Holocaust photos, would they? Let's check the metadata:

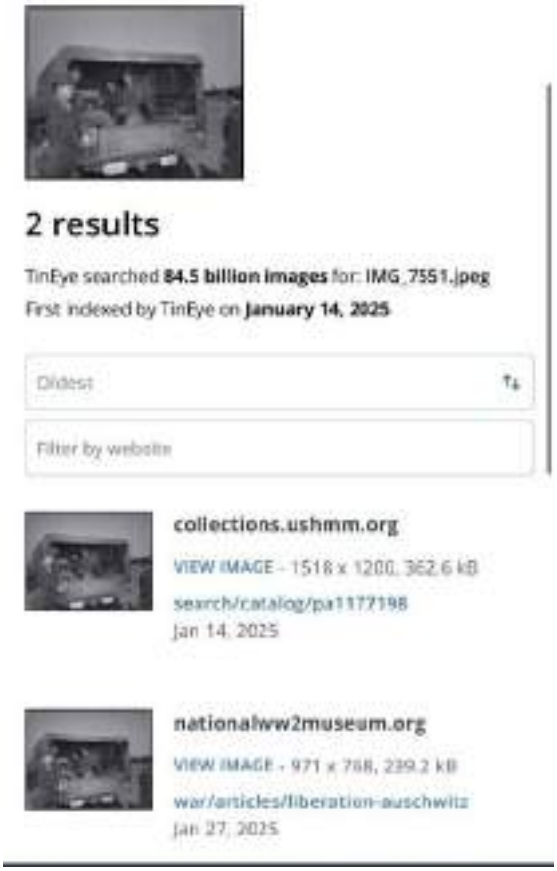
Photoshop? Damn, you really can't trust anyone. Doing a reverse-image search, there is no identifiable previous-version of this photo without that giant baby in the middle.

Let's try another one. This time from the National WWII Museum. Doesn't get any more official than that.

Former Auschwitz Commandant Rudolf Höss and Kurt von Burgsdorff are transported in shackles by American soldiers. Höss served as a a defense witness for Ernst Kaltenbrunner and then was handed over to Polish authorities to stand trial in Poland. United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, courtesy of Eddie Murphy (Estate).

It's a little hard to believe that a male Soldier would be standing with his hand that far back on his hip in 1945. Pointing that out is not meant to gaybash or anything, its just that 1945 was not the most tolerant time period and you could be kicked out of the military for being homosexual, so this is anachronistic in nature.

Also… What is that bulge coming out of his ass? Obvious AI fail. The inside of the trailer is also too well lit.



A reverse image search only shows two hits, the aforementioned U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum and the WW2 Museum only going back to last year. So where were they hiding this photo for all of these years? Maybe that's what that bulge in that guy's pants has? A bunch of WWII photos they've been hiding from the public for 80 fucking years.

Its obvious that we can't trust American museum archives, as there seems to be a lot of AI slop that snuck its ugly head in there, so maybe we should try a Jewish one. The last site for Auschwitz: Yad Vashem – The World Holocaust Museum Ok, women standing for roll call in Auschwitz. Seems pretty straightforward. Except some of these people clearly aren't women.

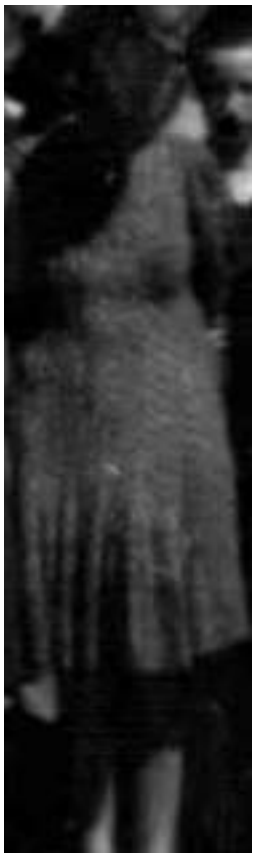
Like this guy…

Or this guy. Obvious caption fail.

What the hell is this?!?!



Or this?!?

Is that a reptilian?!?! Seriously?!? Can someone explain?!? All of the people have their hair cut, so its not some hairstyle. Scary stuff!

Another one from The World's Holocaust Museum

This guy gives a new meaning to the term ‘skeleton crew’:

This guy has a box around him for some reason. Looks like he may have been photoshopped in.

This is obviously a mannequin.

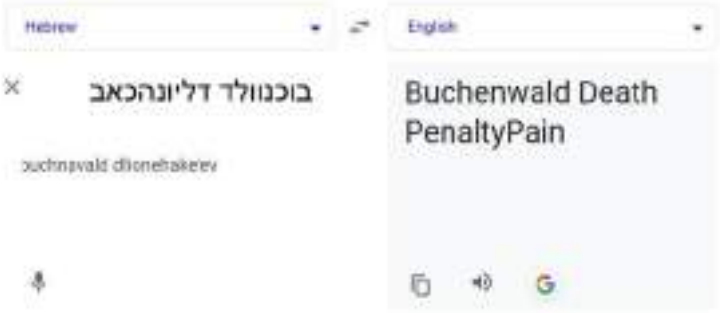
Conclusion: A lot of sketchy stuff going on with these Auschwitz photos. Let's try a different camp.

(i) Buchenwald Concentration Camp

Well, Auschwitz has some problems with the legitimacy of the photos, but maybe Buchenwald will fare better.

Let’s try plugging it into a translator forward and backwards:

Closest phonetic translation:



WHAT ARE THE ODDS OF THAT?!?!

Buchenwald Concentration Camp was one of the biggest concentration and extermination camps on German soil according to Brittanica. Buchenwald… Buchenwald… Haven’t we seen that name somewhere before? Oh right! Defendant Weiser’s mother was born there! Well let’s go look at that. Here’s an article written by his mother. Lets start there!

https://bj.org/the-shoah-and-my-family/

Aww that's an adorable family memory. Looks like it was Defendant Weiser's grandparents in 1939.

My parents Avram Kurz and Hania Sternlicht married for love in March 21, 1939 in Biecz, Poland.

Wait a sec…

What's going on with her mouth?

And her hands?

And her feet?!?? What the hell is going on here?!?!? How are her feet so flat?

Unfortunately, Plaintiff cannot say what the Metadata of the current version of the photo show, but can confirm that when Plaintiff originally checked the photo's metadata on May 21, 2026 that it showed that Topaz Photo AI 2.2.0 was used to create this image. Perhaps they are covering their tracks or the website hid the metadata on all of its photos.

Why is Defendant Weiser's mother using AI at all?

About six weeks after my birth in Leipzig-Schonefeld, the women's division of Buchenwald, my mother and I were assigned to Leipzig Hospital (those are hospital numbers). This picture shows that my mother kept her hair throughout the war and that she gained weight quickly once liberated.

This one looks more AI generated, but there is a version in another article about Defendant Weiser's Mother on a different website that has a more realistic-looking version.

https://liberation.buchenwald.de/ Version Estare Weiser Article Version

Does the Liberation Buchenwald version not look more like a photo than the one on Defendant's Weiser's mother's own article? Why is she passing this through AI at all? Isn't she in her 80s or 90s? How many 80 or 90 years olds are going to bother running old family photos through AI before uploading them to the internet? Just scan and upload the damn photo. It's just weird. But the point of this isn't to highlight AI use for real photographs. There are issues here, even with the more photorealistic one. The first problem is that we cannot verify that the first digit in for the baby's tag is actually a 3 because the only other versions of this photo have that portion absent or cropped out, and the only version with it showing is the AI version, which could explain why she ran it through an AI at all. The second problem is that the "2" is very strange and clearly has some issues with reality. The third problem:

Does that look like a female baby to you? Remember that this baby is supposed to be Defendant Weiser's mother.

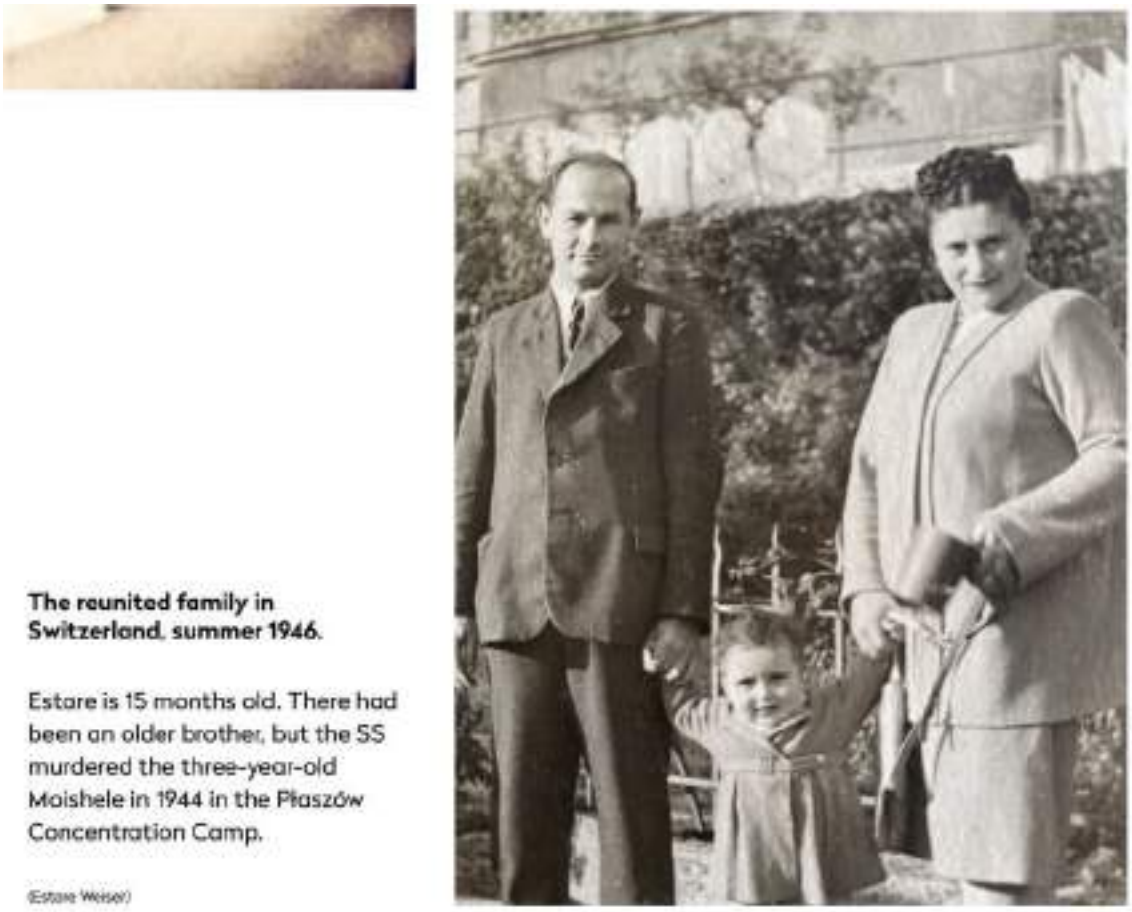
https://www.jugend-im-kz.de/en/estare-weiser/



The reunited family in Switzerland, summer 1946.

Estare is 15 months old. There had been an older brother, but the SS murdered the three-year-old Moishele in 1944 in the Płaszów Concentration Camp.

(Estare Weiser)

As we can see, this is just after the Holocaust. The woman's hands a just as big as the man's hands, which is… interesting. The proportions of the two adults look a little off because it looks like he would be at least a few more inches taller than her and her shoulders are the same size as his, but ok… Let's ignore that and just take the image at face value. The baby is supposed to be Defendant Weiser's mother again, and as we can see his grandmother (the adult) looks just like the previous photo supposedly taken at Buchenwald.

Actually, it looks EXACTLY the same. It looks like they took the head from this picture and just photoshopped it into the Buchenwald one. They made a few slight changes to the hairline and reduced the length of the part and a few other small tweaks, but other than that these seem to be the same image of this woman's face. As problematic as that is, that's not the only problem with the 1946 photo.

This is Defendant Weiser’s Father, David Weiser.

Hmmmm…. If the average person had their mother's father look that much like their own father, they would be deeply concerned about their genetics. That, or these photos are just black and white versions of photos of Defendant Weiser's parents that they are passing off as post-Holocaust photos. Don't know which scenario is worse. However, Plaintiff can say with high confidence that Defendant Weiser's story about his mother being born in a concentration camp is a crock of baalshit.

Ok, well, just because Defendant Weiser's connection to Buchenwald is moloch manure, doesn't mean that other purported stories about it are fake. Let's take a look.

Starting with CBS News and their All-Seeing Eye logo, they should be pretty credible, right?

As we can see, we have an image from a CBS story purported taken at Buchenwald. But there's a problem.

The problem is that there is what seems to be a load-bearing pole right behind the main gentleman here, and it doesn't seem to exist past his waist. Maybe it's behind his leg or something? The good news is that we need not guess where the pole should be, nor do we need to hire some subject matter expert costing thousands of dollars to tell us. There's no mystery here: We can use basic middle school geometry to figure out where that pole should be. If a line (such as a pole) goes through Point A and Point B, you can map out the trajectory of that line.

We when take that basic middle school geometric principle, we see that the pole is not where it should be and instead they decided to cram in some other guy's leg there. Oops. Why all the effort? If Buchenwald was bad as they are telling us, why photoshop anything? Damn, CBS lost all credibility with this one, and that's Strike One for Buchenwald.

This next one is from Le Monde:

Survivors of the Buchenwald camp, after the arrival of American troops, in April 1945. Among these survivors, future Nobel Peace Prize winner Elie Wiesel (seventh from the left, in the second row). GROSSKINGBINGILA COLLECTION

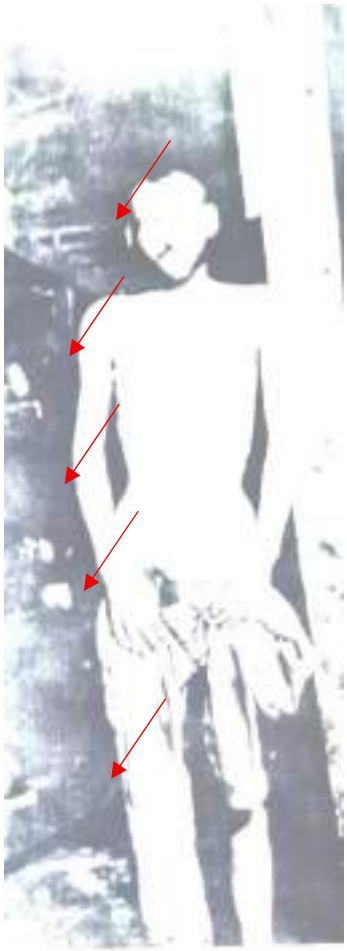
Let’s take a closer look:

Looks pretty realistic at a glance, but when you turn up the exposure, some serious problems start to arise.

Like these weird boxes that show likely photoshop use and that weird dark shadow about the main guy.

Then these people's heads just disappear, along with more of those weird boxes. These things aren't happening because these are old photos either, these are clearly signs of sloppy photoshop. Why do they have to photoshop everything?!?!?? Well when we take this version of the photo that someone is selling on Ebay that seems to be the original we can start to see why they did this.

When we take that version and turn up the exposure for elucidation and crop in on the guy we can see the problem.



There's this weird shadow that just kind of follows his body despite the background having objects of different distances. Which tells us that he's not actually in the picture with the rest of the people, and is instead taking a picture in front of a green screen or a large printout of the picture. Strike 2 for Buchenwald.

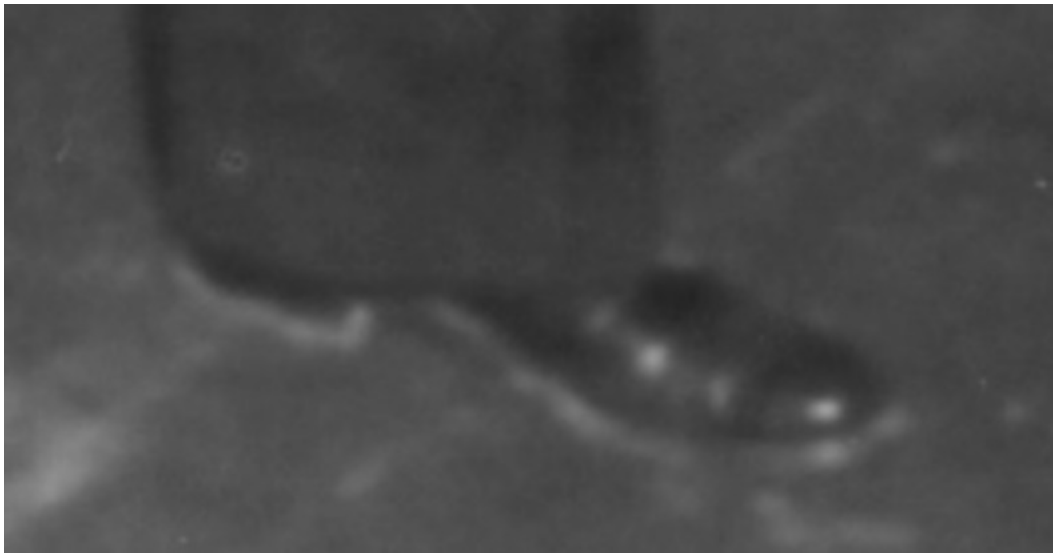
Here we have another image from the U.S. National Archives being used on a website dedicated to the Holocaust. https://schwarzaufweiss.buchenwald.de/en/The-Camp-as-Evidence.html

Looks like some government officials with Allied Forces investigating atrocities at Buchenwald. Most people would want to see the villains that committed such an atrocity held to account. They even cite a specific photographer and the specific location of the archives, so this must be pretty credible.

Let’s take a closer look:

Ok, so right off the bat we have another missing pole in between this guy’s legs,.

Then we have this guy's shadow which seems to just disappear for a segment then reappear.



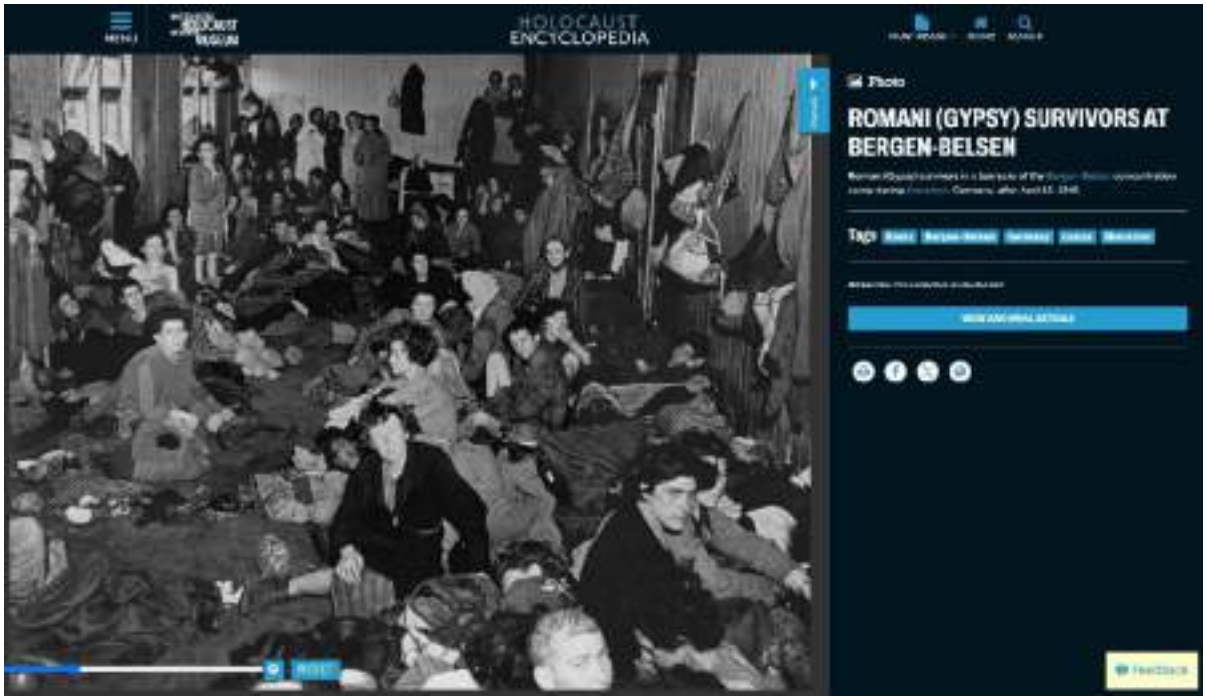
What is up with AI and this obsession with impossibly flat feet? Is it a fetish? Strike 3 for Buchenwald.

(j) Bergen-Belsen Concentration Camp

Bergen-Belsen is the camp that the most famous and tragic Holocaust death in history allegedly occurred. Anne Frank. Well, the good news is that "Bergen-Belsen" does not have a discernable backmasked translation, so they dodged that bullet. However, the Dutch name (the original release language) of Anne's book is Het Achterhuis, backmasked into Hebrew, the closest phrase is pronounced 'siacharitacha tah' and translates to "Tea in the Evening", which just so happened to be one of Anne's rituals.

So, this little girl was interested in backmasking as well? They must start training them young. Maybe it's a coincidence. Let's see if there's some photographic evidence to support the existence of this camp.

The already-discredited U.S. Holocaust Museum has a photo. Let's give them another chance to earn some credibility back, shall we?



Let’s zoom in:

Another reptilian.

What is going on with her ear? How is it that far away from her head?

What?

Is this a service desk? Why are those women back there? Either they aren't on a platform and they are VERY tall but tiny, or there is a platform and they are incredibly tiny. The size perspective of the whole room is way off. Here is no way you are fitting that many people into a room of that size.

This next one is from Jerusalem News Syndicate (JNS).

We all recognize Defendant Netanyahu and it makes sense for him to be going to this summit. But Harmeet Dhillon, Defendant Trump's Assistant Attorney General for Civil Rights (a Senate-confirmed position) is also in this photo. Glad to know her priorities are in order. It's not as if the United States doesn't have more important things she could focus her attention on.

The inside of the barn or whatever that building is supposed to be is too well lit. No way you would be able to see that well into there and it certainly wouldn't be evenly lit as if it were using fluorescent lighting, as it would make absolutely no sense to invest in such lighting infrastructure for prisoners you're going to exterminate anyways.

This woman's face is glitched out digitally in a time period that digital cameras didn't exist in.

Partially glitched out face. Way too much distortion of the surrounding background. She also sort of has this Ba'al-snout thing going on. Its really weird. Plaintiff has seen this on Anne Frank before (not depicted), not sure if it is a lighting effect or if whatever camera took the photo of this woman is picking up something we aren't supposed to see….

Source:

This last one is from GermanyHistoryDocs.org.

(https://germanhistorydocs.org/en/occupation-and-the-emergence-of-two-states-1945-1961/british-soldiers-in-front-of-the-bergen-belsen-dp-camp-1945-46)

We also see it wasn't British Troops that took the photo, but it was instead donated by a Jewish person, who had her camera on her in a concentration camp for some reason, but okay. Let's ignore that.

So we already know we're starting with some bullshit once we see Photoshop, but let's give it a chance anyways.

This guy's helmet is clownishly large.

We see a shadow from the guy's shoe, but the gate doesn't have one for some reason…

Interesting roofing choice that doesn't match the roof style of any of the other pictures of this camp, and for the most part this time period and location.

The fact that so many fake images of this camp have to be generated make you wonder if the camp was ever really used to imprison tens of thousands of Jews to starve them to death, to include Anne Frank's alleged death there.

(k) Miscellaneous Holocaust Images

We don't have time to go over every camp's images, but we went over the main two, to include the camp Defendant Weiser's claims his mother was born in, and we can say there is undoubtedly a lot of fraud involved with how those camps are being presented to the public.

Here’s a few more miscellaneous fraudulent images as well:

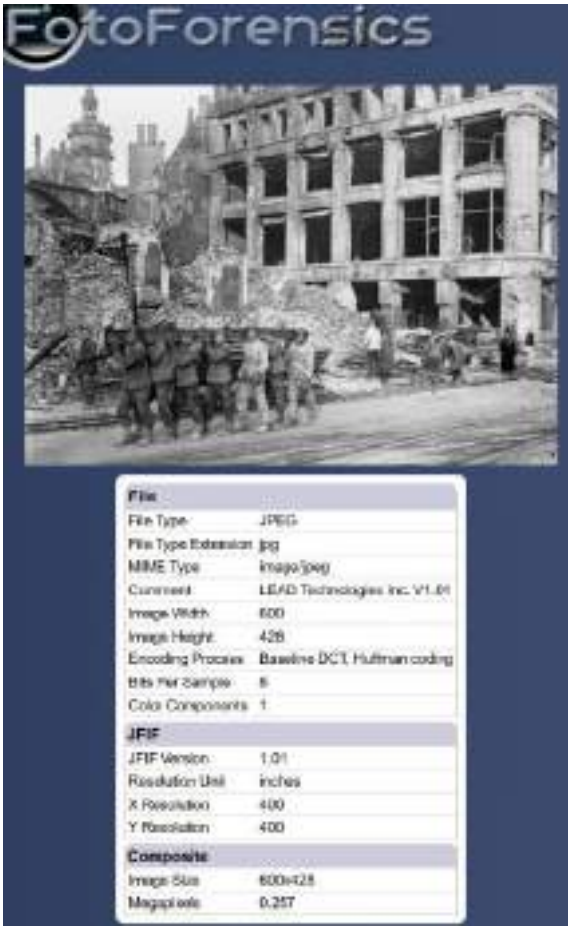
https://www.zwangsarbeit-in-leipzig.de/en/de/nazi-forced-labour-in-leipzig/abtnaundorf-memorial/long-text

Soviet prisoners of war removing rubble in the centre of Leipzig (Leipzig city archive)

OUCH! It has got to hurt to walk on that! Especially in heels!

Or this. YIKES! More heels too!

How is this guy even standing.



LEAD Technologies is an AI company. So now it all makes sense.

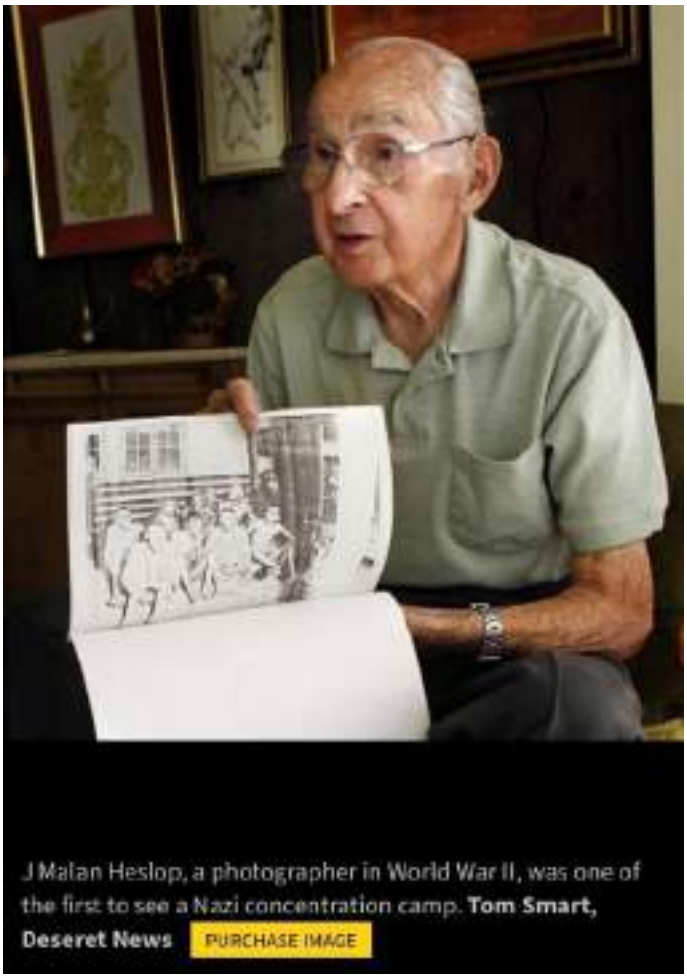
(https://www.deseret.com/2010/11/8/20151362/images-of-war-soldier-s-camera-captured-horrors-and-heroes-of-conflict/)



No, he wasn't.

No one's legs are that skinny, they'd be dead. Even anorexic women have more muscle tone than that, so this is completely unrealistic.

Notice that throughout all of these photoshop slop that they try to pass off as a narrative that millions of Jews were slaughtered, there is no vetting process for these photos to ensure authenticity. If you're Jewish and you show up with a photo supposedly taken during the Holocaust, pretty much every official source will accept whatever bullshit you submit and publish it without question. Shameful behavior for everyone involved.

(l) Nuremberg Discrepancies

Plaintiff does not have time or ink to go over the Nuremberg Trials in detail, so we will have to do a superficial examination of some of the issues.

First we have a website with pictures of the kinds of atrocities that the defendants of the Nuremberg Trials were convicted of: https://schwarzaufweiss.buchenwald.de/en/The-Camp-as-Evidence.html

Many look realistic at a glance, but some are clearly AI slop, but that's not the point and Plaintiff does not have time to examine each one--nor would anyone want to--but it is unnecessary for this next point: Plaintiff is not a history buff, but he did watch a multi-episode documentary about the Nuremberg Trials and one thing was clearly established; That there was not much physical or photographic evidence to prove the mass murder or slavery claims because even though the Nazis were doing these horrific things, they always knew there was a chance they would be caught so they took extreme lengths to hide what they were doing and destroyed most of the evidence, and only a short film with a few pictures proving the atrocities was able to be shown to the Nuremberg court. Harvard University has a phenomenal tool that we can use to search the trial documents.

https://nuremberg.law.harvard.edu/

This is confirmed by an example from a Congressional Committee in 1945:

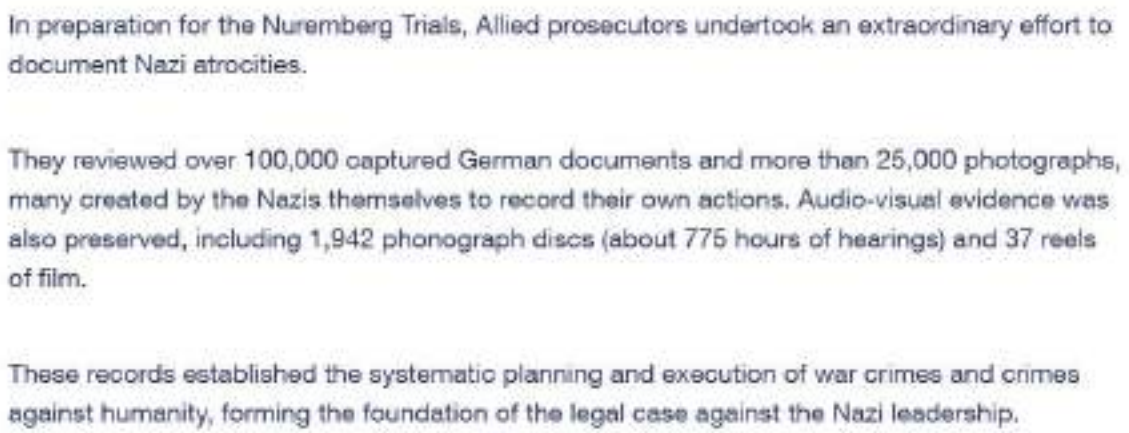
[...] . An example of this kind of evidence will be found in that part of our report dealing with the torture chamber at Buchenwald, where no one actually saw the strangulations perpetrated in this chamber, but where the circumstantial evidence of it was so complete and clear as to leave no doubt in the mind [...]

So, if they were taking all these extreme lengths to hide what they were doing, where the fuck did all of the pictures from the above website come from and why weren't they shown during the Nuremberg Trials? The vast majority of all photos Plaintiff presented were not presented in the Nuremberg case. According to the Truman Library Institute, 25,000 photographs and 100,000 captured German documents were reviewed.



In preparation for the Nuremberg Trials, Allied prosecutors undertook an extraordinary effort to document Nazi atrocities.

They reviewed over 100,000 captured German documents and more than 25,000 photographs, many created by the Nazis themselves to record their own actions. Audio-visual evidence was also preserved, including 1,942 phonograph discs (about 775 hours of hearings) and 37 reels of film.

These records established the systematic planning and execution of war crimes and crimes against humanity, forming the foundation of the legal case against the Nazi leadership.

Despite this, the transcripts do not indicate citations of mass bodies stacked up being photographed or even massive piles of supplies that would be needed to carry out something like this. The fact that not a single mass grave containing thousands or even hundreds of Jewish victims was definitively cited during the trial, despite it being 1945 and the amount of bodies that would need to be burned and buried would be pretty much impossible to hide, is a MASSIVE red flag. The basis for all of this stuff missing is that the Nazis were geniuses that hid all of their evidence, but now we see that there supposedly was mountains and mountains of evidence (much of it fake) that could have been cited during the case, but none of it was. Where was all of this evidence in 1945? Why didn't Estare Weiser's parents come forward and give the photo of baby Estare and her mother to the prosecutors to assist in holding their captors accountable? Instead, most of the "evidence" proving that this event happened came AFTER the Nuremberg Trials.

This interaction points out the lack of evidence of mass graves with Jewish victims that existed in 1945:

Transcript for NMT 11: Ministries Case

PRESIDING JUDGE MAGUIRE: Doctor, you need not concern yourself about that. This forward that appears to this movie is not itself evidence of any fact that is contained in it. It merely serves to identify that this is the movie that was taken. We shall not consider it as having any other evidentiary effect.

DR. SERVATIUS: Then, I may assume that Your Honors agree with me that the digest is actually propagandistic statement, considered as an addition to the evidence introduced by the Prosecution.

PRESIDING JUDGE MAGUIRE: It is an argument. We will treat it as such, largely an argument. While we enjoy argument, we don't look upon it as evidence.

DR. SERVATIUS: In that case, please let me say what I propose to bring into evidence by introducing the film. The contention has been put up with the witness Ernst, he testified to the effect that the French were all in a very bad condition of health. The movie will show that these people were well fed and they looked well fed. They are the workers, but most of them were clerks, office workers, who obviously lived together with their families, and were brought into Germany with their families voluntarily and are now returning. As far as mass graves are concerned, nothing is to be seen in the movie. All you can see is a large quantity of graves, but these are individual graves.

There is nothing to be seen what types of graves these are, whether the corpses were Germans or people who were killed in air raids. And it is also conspicuous that the people were very well clothed. I think just I saw that one lady was even wearing a fur coat and therefore the surroundings that are shown, clothing, etc., are in my mind, and not in accordance with the digest book of the Prosecution.

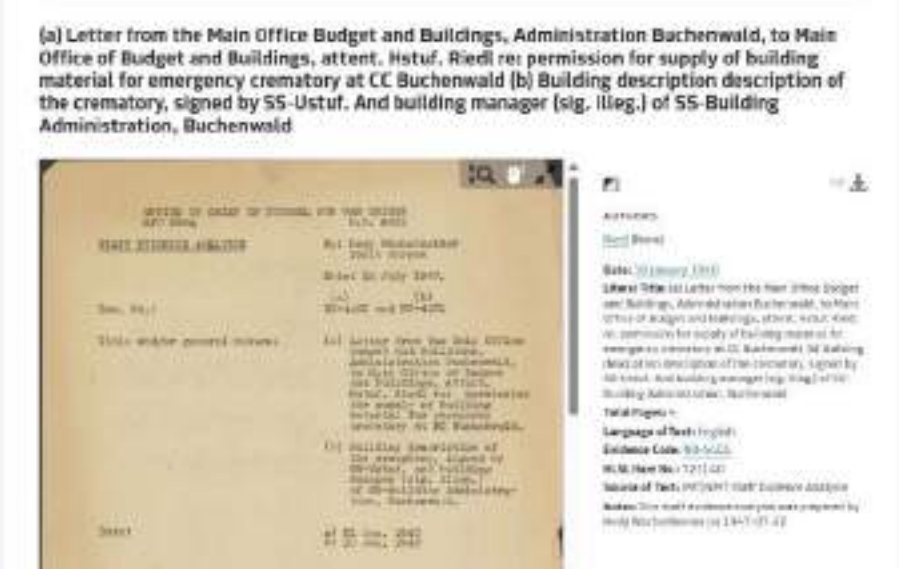
PRESIDING JUDGE MAGUIRE: Very well, Doctor, we will pay attention to those things to which you have called our attention. You may now proceed with the film. (The film, Prosecution's Exhibit 1676, Document NID-13833, was then shown.)

We don't have to take Dr. Servatius' word for it, we can search the files ourselves. When we search for "Mass graves" in the Nuremberg Files, we get only 99 results.

But that is from 1939 to 1949. When we filter the results down to 1930-1946, that number goes down to 35. So most of the references to mass graves came after the Nuremberg trials.

Most of the responses are affidavits, transcripts, unrelated only mentioning “mass graves” in passing”, The ones with more damning titles such as “Horrible Discovery near Smolensk” pertain to Polish Officers and not Jews. Two of them are operational situational reports which are exculpatory (translated classified German documents talking about how there is no evidence of mass graves). One document talks about the finding of 33 bodies in a grave with 27 of them being Jews. There goes that 33 again and 6 non-Jews. Ugh.. What is NOT in those results are any of the above images of bodies stacked up, evidence of confirmed locations of mass graves, or anything concrete proving that Jews were executed en masse.

Another issue is that a lot of the documents confirming purchases of larger crematories and supplies for mass executions were not provided during the trial and only exist as a “Staff Evidence Analysis” summary document, such as this one:



(a) Letter from the Main Office Budget and Buildings, Administration Buchenwald, to Main Office of Budget and Buildings, attent. Hstuf. Riedl re: permission for supply of building material for emergency crematory at CC Buchenwald (b) Building description description of the crematory, signed by SS-Ustuf. And building manager (sig. illeg.) of SS-Building Administration, Buchenwald

No, they do not provide the actual document to validate what the staff analysis states. This is equivalent to “Trust me, bro”. Also note that this is dated in 1947—after the Nuremberg Trials. Why?!? So it wouldn’t be cross examined?

Essentially, the entire case that a mass execution of millions of Jews actually occurred comes down to two principal witnesses; Rudolf Höss and Franz Ziereis.

Rudolf Höss was the commandant for Auschwitz for most of the relevant years of the Holocaust. His career began in 1933. Of course it did.

Höss is pretty much the only human being with a verifiable role within the Nazis to confess to executing over 1 million Jews during the Holocaust. He was allegedly caught in the United Kingdom living under a fake name and later identified and captured.

Notice that we are unable to see very far into the vehicle unlike the earlier image of him from the Auschwitz subsection which was obviously AI slop.

This may have been an altered photo as this little white spot around his head may be paper remnants from a crude photo editing job done before the existence of Photoshop and some of the lighting behind his head looks questionable, but that doesn't matter for the sake of this point.

The hairline is completely different. The captured guy's hairline is an arch, and real Höss has a horizontal or upward-arch. Surely if he experienced more hair loss it would have happened before he was in his mid-40's. The hair is also a different color. The Nazi standing next to Höss has darker hair, so the camera would have picked up a darker hair color on Nazi Höss that matches the New Höss' hair color. Based on this alone we can fairly say that any "testimony" from "Höss" is likely uncredible.

(https://www.nationalww2museum.org/war/articles/mauthausen-concentration-camp)

It just looks ridiculous right off the bat and is obviously fake.

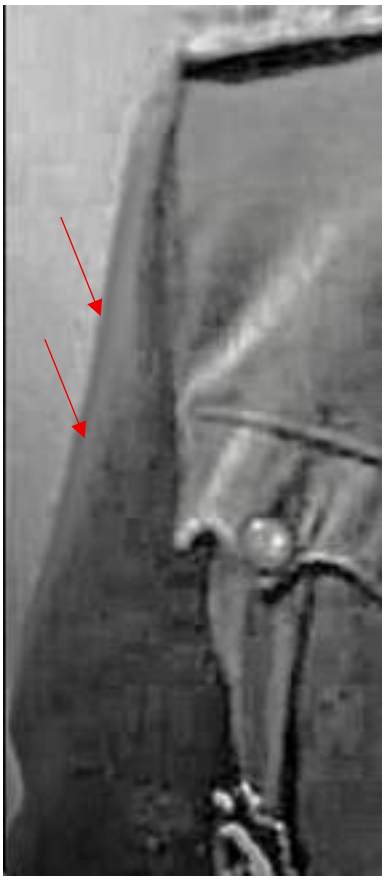
Come on…

Of course it was ran through Photoshop, as always. They never just scan and upload it's always got to go through Photoshop for some odd reason.

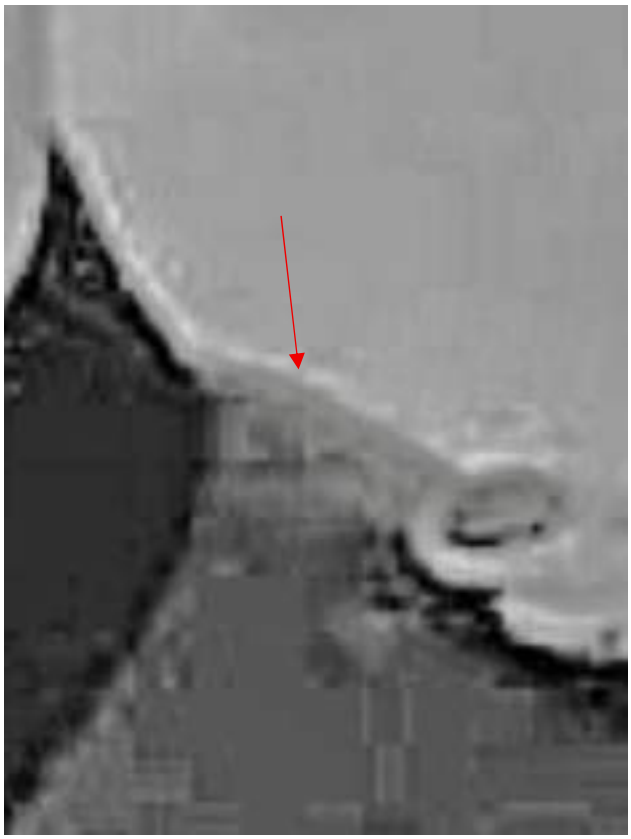
His story is more plausible as he alleged that he only oversaw the execution of tens of thousands of Jews and was aware of a few thousand more at a different camp, however, it was from a supposed death-bed confession shortly before he died, which should be met with heavy suspicion. The real problem is that Plaintiff is unable to find a legitimate picture of this guy.

Picture of Ziereis on Wikipedia. To Plaintiff this just looks fake right off the bat, but the Court won't be able to see that.

So here's an enhanced version to elucidate the problems.



You have this weird unicolor line that sort of follows the jacket that shows signs of alterations. While the sharpness of the image was digitally enhanced by Plaintiff for this analysis, it shouldn't be that large of a defined structure when looking at a photograph of real cloth taken by a real camera. Sharpness enhancements work by grouping together similar shades of pixels together. It becoming such a thick outline with a unicolor fill indicates not much deviation in the pixel colors in those areas, which is a sign of photoshop.



The line is very thick along the shoulders, and notice that it is much thicker than the line near the collar that is all black (which should have even less deviation in pixel color than the shoulders, yet the opposite is happening here). That photo seems to be an upscaled version of this one:

This one also shops signs of alterations. So every version of this image available is altered.

This shows why they had to alter the shoulder in the upscaled version. How hard is it to scan and upload? Why do they have to alter every fucking thing under the sun?

Another picture of Zareis at Mauthausen Camp.

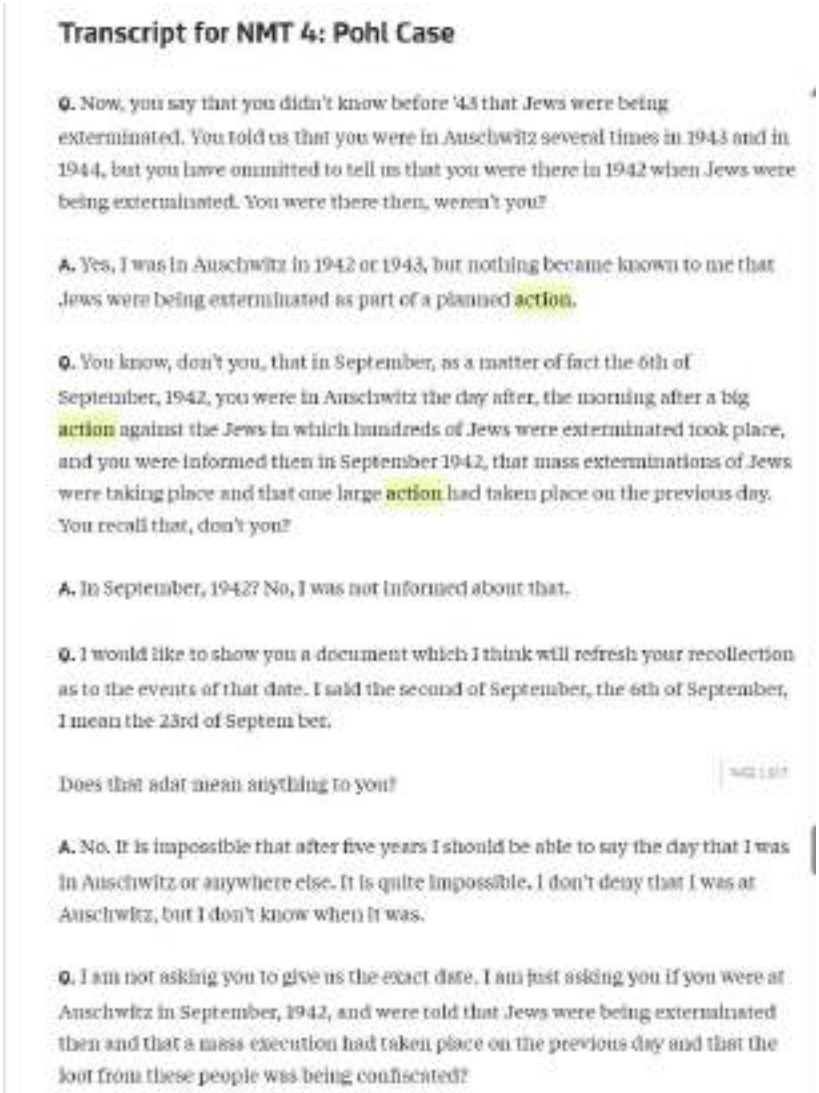
There's a weird glow around his head like he's warping the background. A lot of people have a slight distortion of the space around them in photos, but not this large or appearing in this manner.

Hands look a little strange. It's possible the fingers are just curled really close together, but unlikely.

The much darker patch on clothing that most military or paramilitary such as the SS would tolerate. Generally, they want their troops to look professional, and this just doesn't. The area of the pants to the left of the patch also seems warped in an unnatural manner as the light reflecting off of the pants just seems to stop and start up again.

The fact that we cannot find an unaltered picture of him is a huge red flag that this guy's supposed near-death statement is non-credible. Of course, he never said where they buried all of the bodies or ashes of the victims in his near-death statement. Convenient.

If there was 6 million dead Jews, and the Nazis were taking photographs such as the ones at the beginning of this subsection, why do the depositions from the trial read like they are still trying to get a confession? Why is there such a lack of physical evidence? Why weren't witnesses speaking about where these bodies or ashes were buried immediately following the war? If you take the average murderer to trial, usually a confession isn't needed because the evidence supports it. But when you have cases such as the Nuremberg Trials, it just comes off as if a confession is desperately needed. This interaction for example:



Transcript for NMT 4: Pohl Case

Q. Now, you say that you didn't know before '43 that Jews were being exterminated. You told us that you were in Auschwitz several times in 1943 and in 1944, but you have omitted to tell us that you were there in 1942 when Jews were being exterminated. You were there then, weren't you?

A. Yes, I was in Auschwitz in 1942 or 1943, but nothing became known to me that Jews were being exterminated as part of a planned action.

Q. You know, don't you, that in September, as a matter of fact the 6th of September, 1942, you were in Auschwitz the day after, the morning after a big action against the Jews in which hundreds of Jews were exterminated took place, and you were informed then in September 1942, that mass exterminations of Jews were taking place and that one large action had taken place on the previous day. You recall that, don't you?

A. In September, 1942? No, I was not informed about that.

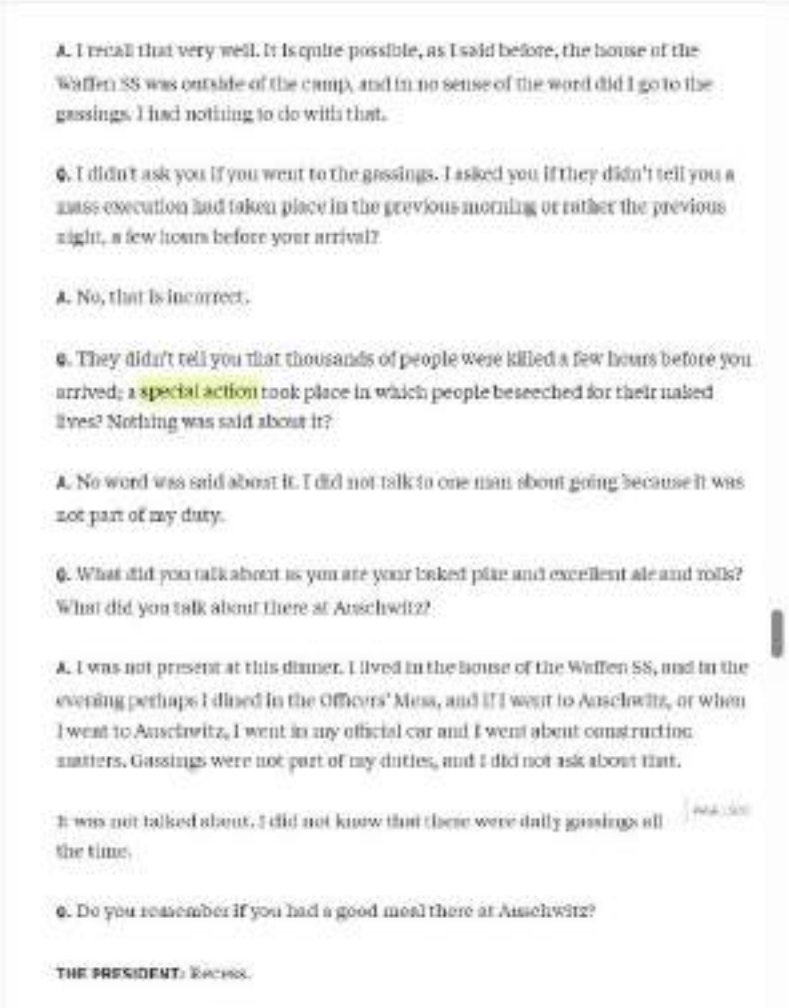
Q. I would like to show you a document which I think will refresh your recollection as to the events of that date. I said the second of September, the 6th of September, I mean the 23rd of Septem ber.

Does that adat mean anything to you?

A. No. It is impossible that after five years I should be able to say the day that I was in Auschwitz or anywhere else. It is quite impossible. I don't deny that I was at Auschwitz, but I don't know when it was.

Q. I am not asking you to give us the exact date. I am just asking you if you were at Auschwitz in September, 1942, and were told that Jews were being exterminated then and that a mass execution had taken place on the previous day and that the loot from these people was being confiscated?

They then had him read a bunch of notes about “special actions” and exterminations that were not quotes from the defendant or anything that directly implicated his direct knowledge as to those events, then the interaction continues:



A. I recall that very well. It is quite possible, as I said before, the house of the Waffen SS was outside of the camp, and in no sense of the word did I go to the gassings. I had nothing to do with that.

Q. I didn't ask you if you went to the gassings. I asked you if they didn't tell you a mass execution had taken place in the previous morning or rather the previous night, a few hours before your arrival?

A. No, that is incorrect.

Q. They didn't tell you that thousands of people were killed a few hours before you arrived; a special action took place in which people beseeched for their naked lives? Nothing was said about it?

A. No word was said about it. I did not talk to one man about going because it was not part of my duty.

Q. What did you talk about as you ate your baked pike and excellent ale and rolls? What did you talk about there at Auschwitz?

A. I was not present at this dinner. I lived in the house of the Waffen SS, and in the evening perhaps I dined in the Officers' Mess, and if I went to Auschwitz, or when I went to Auschwitz, I went in my official car and I went about construction matters. Gassings were not part of my duties, and I did not ask about that.

It was not talked about. I did not know that there were daily gassings all the time.

Q. Do you remember if you had a good meal there at Auschwitz?

THE PRESIDENT: Recess.

Notice that they still are trying to get this guy to admit he knew about the mass executions during the trial (which if he had they would have used to substantiate the case against the remaining defendants just like they did with the other sketchy ass “confessions”), which is a huge red flag that the case was extremely weak. All which serves to show that the pictures at the top of this subsection of these war crimes in progress are likely fraudulent because if they had existed, they would have been used during the Nuremberg Trials, and they would have been used to get lower Nazis to flip on the higher ones. Which brings us to the biggest question of all: Did the Nuremberg Trial defendants receive a fair trial: The answer is probably no, but not because of the judges, but due to the maliciousness of the prosecution and the voluminousness of the evidence (a lot of which is highly questionable concerning authenticity, validity, and relevance) and the assumption that all evidence was valid, relevant, and could be adequately challenged live during the trial. Most judges were operating from the mindset that this genocide had happened and the relevant question for the trial was whether the defendant before them knew it was happening—that mindset is starting with a false premise, much like the Tupac murder trial will. The first question should have been "Did this actually happen or is the prosecution blowing smoke up my ass?" The prosecution threw so much bullshit at the defendants so quickly that they couldn't possibly mount a meaningful defense. Ironically, the Nazi defendants were the ones getting blitzkrieged. Ultimately the Nazi leadership may have been no different that other government leadership back then or today.

Last point: One of the crimes the Nuremberg defendants were accused of was forcing horrific experiments on Jews, but Defendant United States of America went on to then hire those same scientists under Operation Paperclip. Were these scientists assigned to MK Ultra or Project Monarch? We don't have time to analyze the force experimentation claims here, but the United States has no room to talk from a place of morality.

We close this subsection by pointing out that there is no Nuremberg Trials for Palestine, the COVID Vaccine Coercion Cartel, or the tens of thousands of children that went missing at the border many of which were likely raped, enslaved, and/or killed to funnel millions of illegal immigrants into the United States-- but we trials for extremely sketchy claims of mass genocide and experimentation which had to be consistently backed up with fraudulent evidence since these supposed events occurred..

(m) Holocaust Analysis Conclusion: We can say with relative confidence that the 6 million figure from Defendant Israel is ridiculous and was never supported by the facts. There's a reason it is illegal to be a "Holocaust denier" in Germany, that's because if you do start questioning it, you start encountering serious problems with the given narrative and you start finding a lot of fraud. Whether some Jews were killed in the thousands or tens of thousands across individual camps in a horrifying manner is a question that will ultimately never be known for certain because any evidence they bring forth must be heavily scrutinized due to the extreme amount of fraud that was used to sell the 6 million figure and the events of the Holocaust overall. Because they were lying so much now, we MUST question how much they were lying back then. For the aforementioned reasons, the Holocaust is just another part of the pretend world perpetuated by the defendants.

(7) The attack on Pearl Harbor

Because Plaintiff spent so long on the Holocaust which allegedly occurred during WWII, he does not want to spend excessive time covering other potential WWII fraud. Therefore, Plaintiff will keep this one brief.

This is very clearly a painting. A good painting, but a painting nonetheless. Shame on Fox News and the AP for publishing this trash.

These are clearly action figures or mannequins.

The guy with no face has a bent gun. You could argue that M16s and M4s have a screw that can be used to disassemble it that would allow it to be bent like this, but the issue with that argument is that those weapons didn't exist yet. Even if those guns did exist, they wouldn't help explain this, because the buttstock is also bent.

These were the main rifles used in WWII as some prime examples and none of these look like they have an opening mechanism which would allow it to appear like that.

This is what happens when you get too invested in your job.

This last one is from the Defendant United States' official National Archives website.

Notice that the structures have no reflection in the water, as you would expect to see in an image like this..

There's also parts like this appear digitized and clearly show digital alterations.

Subsection Conclusion: While we do not have the evidence to say the entire event was falsified (nor has Japan ever denied doing this attach), we have enough to say with confidence there is at least some fraud behind how the attack on Pearl Harbor is being presented to the public in recent years. Plaintiff will not provide analysis of the technology used after Pearl Harbor due to potential legitimate national security concerns.

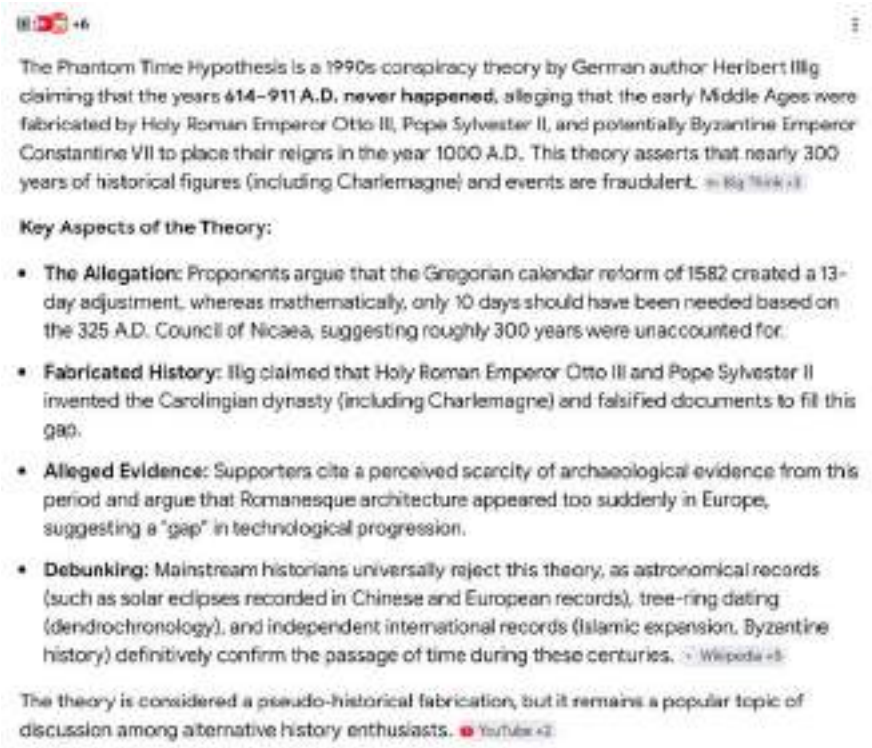
(8) The Current Year

Have two-thousand and twenty-six years passed since the birth of Jesus Christ?[234] Or for non-religious people, alternatively: have two-thousand and twelve 365-day increments occurred since the death of Augustus, the first Roman Emperor in 14 AD? Well, Plaintiff does not have a time machine and he can't prove a negative, so definitively proving that hundreds of years were skipped and the calendar was falsified is close to impossible to achieve in this Complaint. However, what we can do is take a "conspiracy theory" that was "debunked" and debunk the debunking and highlight potential fraud used to back up that fake history, which is what will happen here.

234) (despite misconception, there is no "year 0", and Year 1 AD is not the death of Christ, year 32-33 would be the death, so "AD" doesn't really apply to Years 0-33).

(a) Theory, language, and backmasking

First we start with the theory, then the backmasking. No need to reinvent the wheel, so here is the Google AI summary:



The Phantom Time Hypothesis is a 1990s conspiracy theory by German author Heribert Illig claiming that the years 614–911 A.D. never happened, alleging that the early Middle Ages were fabricated by Holy Roman Emperor Otto III, Pope Sylvester II, and potentially Byzantine Emperor Constantine VII to place their reigns in the year 1000 A.D. This theory asserts that nearly 300 years of historical figures (including Charlemagne) and events are fraudulent.

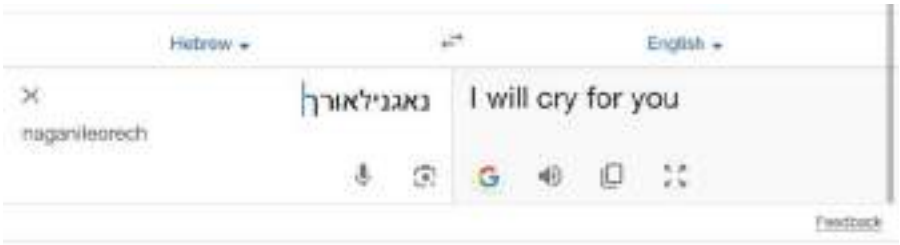
Key Aspects of the Theory:

- The Allegation: Proponents argue that the Gregorian calendar reform of 1582 created a 13-day adjustment, whereas mathematically, only 10 days should have been needed based on the 325 A.D. Council of Nicaea, suggesting roughly 300 years were unaccounted for.
- Fabricated History: Illig claimed that Holy Roman Emperor Otto III and Pope Sylvester II invented the Carolingian dynasty (including Charlemagne) and falsified documents to fill this gap.
- Alleged Evidence: Supporters cite a perceived scarcity of archaeological evidence from this period and argue that Romanesque architecture appeared too suddenly in Europe, suggesting a "gap" in technological progression.
- Debunking: Mainstream historians universally reject this theory, as astronomical records (such as solar eclipses recorded in Chinese and European records), tree-ring dating (dendrochronology), and independent international records (Islamic expansion, Byzantine history) definitively confirm the passage of time during these centuries.

The theory is considered a pseudo-historical fabrication, but it remains a popular topic of discussion among alternative history enthusiasts.

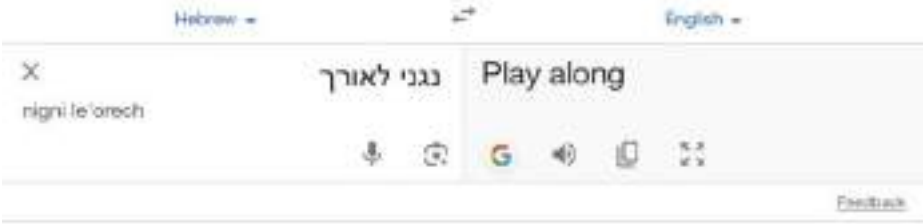
We can see that the dynasty in question is the Carolingian dynasty.

When we plug it in backwards and phonetically translate it in Hebrew, there are two terms that are the closest:



The period that is alleged to be fraudulently added to the calendar are part of what history calls “The Dark Ages”, and as you can imagine, they were very dark times. What are the odds that would be the backmasked translation of this period?

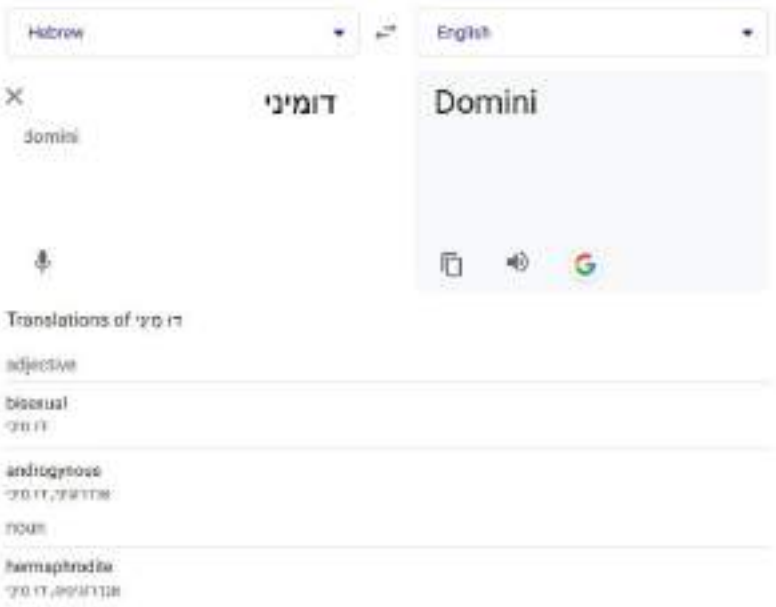
There’s also another very close phonetic translation, and as you can see they are largely the same spelling and phonetic pronunciation with a slight difference.



Almost like the Carolingian dynasty is an inside joke, isn’t it? As we’ll soon see the Jewish community played a large role in “proving” the existence of these years.

Anno Domini (commonly abbreviated as AD or A.D.) is Medieval Latin for "in the year of the Lord", not “After Death” as some misconceptions might lead one to believe. This is the first Latin phonetic pronunciation to Hebrew.

It doesn’t provide a translation for Domini, but if you search for the phonetic translation of “Domini” separately, it provides some synonyms.



Bisexual, androgynous, and hermaphrodite all represent dualities. The root of duality in these occult circles is the duality of man and woman, with the sun representing the masculine and the moon representing the feminine. Baphomet is the representation of duality and is a hermaphrodite. This also explains why they push this stuff on our children.

(b) Solar Eclipses. Using the Google AI Debunking as a roadmap, the first claim that the phantom time theory is debunked is solar eclipses documented in European and Chinese calendars.

(1) Eclipses supposedly occurred in 570 AD and 632 AD, but Muhammad's eclipse was only documented in Islamic documents and not found elsewhere. Armstrong, Karen (2007). Muhammad: A Prophet for Our Time. New York: Harper Collins. ISBN 978-0061155772. The problem with this is that; with the birth of Islam came a new calendar, and with a new calendar came a new "Year 1", The earliest writings about Muhammad occurred around 150 years after Muhammad's death, and further writings came another 60-80 years after that. There's that gap again. Hopefully the Court can see where deception could possibly be slipped into the system with those kinds of time gaps.

FYI: Semitic languages, to include Arabic are backmasked; 'Muhammad' backwards = "He gathered them together" or the next closest word "their blood". Interesting.

(2) 810 eclipse – Charlemagne's account of the alleged 810 eclipse is second hand as the eclipse was only visible in the southern hemisphere. Upon this secondhand account, he wrote a letter to Waldo, abbot of the Abbey of Saint-Denis. Of course the list of Abbots of Saint Denis begins in 627 despite abbey church system existing hundreds of years prior to that. Convenient. This account of the second hand eclipse account from Charlemagne was only documented from a historic account made in 1861. Also convenient. That historical account cites figures which are questionable as to their existence. For example, the historical account cites Chlothar III, but there is almost no information about this guy on Wikipedia or on Britanica (Wikipedia is literally a page of information and a page of citations, and Brittanica contains a paragraph). Every painting of this guy was made well after his death. An image of the coin is found on Wikipedia:

It was uploaded by an unknown author. Notice that the images of the alleged coin are cropped so that it's only shows the coin and nothing else—you can't find any pictures online of the actual coin in a real environment proving that it is even an actual physical object. It claims the coin is at the BNF, Coins, Medals and Antiquities. (French museum), but its not as if that can be verified because there's no picture of the coin in a natural environments, nor does the museum website mention it. There are some signs of photoshop (other than cropping out the supposed background), but Plaintiff will not cover those for the sake of brevity. It's also a serous downgrade in quality from the coin of his predecessor, Chlothar II:

Notice that this coin has an actual background and we can see it is a physical object. We can also see that the emperor's portrait is a lot more detailed.

We see this same trend of vague biographic about other emperors during the years in question supported only by paintings made well after their deaths and questionable coins, such as Waldo of Reichenau, the person Charlemagne wrote the letter to about the second hand account of the eclipse. The point is that the evidence supporting the existence of the people which support the account of this second-hand eclipse report that occurred in a different hemisphere. So this 810 account is also questionable.

There are European records that contain vast amount of information about old figures, Otto the Great, is a prime example. Pages and pages of stuff about him. However, the vast majority of citations for that information also come from 2008 and later, meaning that they easily could just be adding more shit to the history books in recent years. We also see the same issue with his coins again.

We have coins with no background. Plaintiff is unable to find a picture of an ancient coin with Otto the Great's portrait that has an actual background proving that it is a physical object and not just a digital creation. The only ancient coins that Plaintiff can find from his reign that "prove" he reigned during those years do not have his face on it. Strange. There is no doubt that Defendant Israel can arrange to falsify physical coins going forward, so within the next few years or so if we are still alive, they will likely start manufacturing those objects, but for now, the evidence supporting the existence of this guy is highly questionable. If you hadn't noticed throughout this Complaint, Defendant Israel does not just perform a PSYOP and move on, but they instead continually maintain their PSYOPS by consistently adding bullshit to back them up even decades or centuries later. Its like a self-improving AI, it is perpetually improving itself. They learn and adapt, and when shit is called out, they will absolutely go back and alter pages or generate more bullshit. Plaintiff first noticed this in Freeman V. Raytheon, et al. when he filed a complaint with the Equal Employment and Opportunity Commission and pointed out that their policy did not allow for forcing employees to agree to coercive policies if they couldn't take a COVID vaccine, then the EEOC policy changed dramatically shortly thereafter while the claim of discrimination was being investigated, and the government never has to concedes that the policy Plaintiff was contesting was unlawful at the time the claim was filed. These people learn and adapt and respond accordingly when holes in their narratives are pointed out.

(3) Google AI also claims that Chinese calendar also speaks of a solar eclipse occurring during the Carolingian years. There is some evidence to support the claim that the Chinese calendar has been keeping track of eclipses for thousands of years, however the evidence is very sparse. Before we analyze this further, lets take a moment to think about how insane it is that people all over the world with no apparent connection to each other thousands of years ago came to the conclusion to observe different phases of the moon over a 30 day period and lump around 12 of those 30 day periods together to track a full cycle, then start keeping track of how many of those full cycles occurred over time, as well as maintaining and protecting records of events that occurred over these time periods from destruction through wars and natural disasters. It's not intuitive at all, and reeks of deliberate orchestration (i.e. someone taught them to do these things). Plaintiff has already explained the intertwinement of spirituality and the occult to the field of science earlier in this Complaint: The biggest science developments were not made merely by smart people figuring things out, but often given to those people. This isn't only true for the United States or Europe, but globally. Plaintiff has also previously explained how people that looks like Orthodox Jews were seen in Japan in the 6th Century as well as North America thousands of years ago. The most direct path to Japan from the Middle East is through China. To explain the Chinese eclipse, we must revisit Defendant Israel's visits to Japan and examine it further.

As we know, we have these people that look like orthodox Jews seen in 6th Century Japan. But there was another…

The Tengu, from 8th Century Japan (700s AD), also look like Defendant Israel's people and have non-Eastern-Asian features and practices—this is during the Carolingian years

There are a lot of links between Jews and Japan that mainstream history has not acknowledged.[235] Footnote #235 explains that Jews were teachers to ancient Japanese people—this is critical because it shows that we are being given these advancements and the presentation of these developments being purely natural developments of intelligence and problem solving is an illusion. Within Japanese lore, the Tengu were demons that kidnapped children (more child abuse/sacrifice). With that in mind, we return to Japan's next door neighbor, China:

The Carolingian Years are parallel with the Tang Dynasty in China. No need to reinvent the wheel again, the Google AI summary explains:

The Tang Dynasty (618–907 CE) was an imperial dynasty of China characterized by a "golden age" of cosmopolitan culture, territorial expansion, and artistic flourishing. Founded by Li Yuan (Emperor Gaozu), it became one of the most prosperous and powerful empires in the medieval world.

Key Historical Figures & Eras

- Emperor Taizong (r. 626–649): Expanded China's borders deep into Central Asia and solidified the bureaucratic systems. Taizong's reign is celebrated for its stability, though historians on Reddit point out that his violent rise to power through fratricide remains a controversial legacy.
- Empress Wu Zetian (Wu Zhou Interregnum): The first and only woman in Chinese history to formally assume the title of Emperor. She held real power starting in the 660s and officially ruled from 690 to 705, a period that featured the weakening of the old aristocracy and the rise of merit-based civil services.
- Emperor Xuanzong (r. 712–756): Presided over the absolute peak of Tang wealth and cultural achievement before his reign was derailed by the An Lushan Rebellion.

The Capital: Chang'an

The capital city, Chang'an (modern-day Xi'an), was the largest and most advanced metropolis in the world at the time. It was a bustling, grid-planned center of globalization that attracted international merchants, diplomats, and monks traveling the Silk Road.

The Tang Dynasty saw a lot of advancements for China. This also happens to be the period where China experienced advancements in eclipse tracking, coincidentally making it just detailed enough that the eclipses would allow scientists to use astronomy to verify that these years actually occurred. Or so, we're told.

Chinese astronomers tracked solar eclipses meticulously, recording the AD 702 partial solar eclipse in the official Jiu Tangshu (Old History of the Tang Dynasty). Court astronomers described it as "not complete and like a hook". This era represents a significant shift from older, vague records to detailed scientific observations.

- The Event (AD 702): Official Tang historians noted that the partial eclipse was "not complete and like a hook," and that it "was seen at the capital [Chang'an] and in the four directions".
- Historical Significance: Before the Tang Dynasty, imperial annals generally just noted the occurrence of eclipses. The AD 702 entry is unique for its visual description of the sun's shape and the breadth of its visibility.
- The Record Source: These highly descriptive eclipse observations are preserved in Chapter 6 of the Jiu Tangshu and further confirmed in Chapter 32 of the Xin Tangshu (New History of the Tang Dynasty).

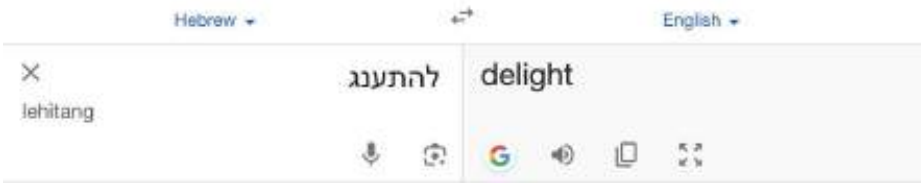
To explore the broader context of how these texts trace the development of Asian astronomy, you might find the James Cook University Research Paper on Stephenson or the Harvard SAO/NASA Abstract highly useful.

Would you like to know more about how these Tang Dynasty records compare to the famous, much older ancient Chinese eclipse accounts, or how modern scientists use these chronicles to measure the Earth's changing rotation? Let me know where you'd

235) https://aish.com/exploring-the-jewish-roots-of-japan/

Is it not possible that the Tengu influenced the Tang Dynasty? Tengu and Tang also sound very similar, don't they? Let's find out what that means in Hebrew, shall we?

The closest word to Teng is pronounced 'Ta'anog' and translates to "pleasure". The pronunciation of 'Teng' is also part of the pronunciation of the English word "genital" backwards, which becomes "delight" when translated to the closest Hebrew word.



Another backmasked term involving phallus worship, and showing the root of that phallic worship to this dynasty.

A child kidnapper might find it very enjoyable to be in a land of a high trust society where they just let victims roam free right into their fingertips. Its even better if it's a more primitive society that does not keep records of children going missing because there was no "law enforcement" or "social services" that would track those kinds of things.

"But if you're proving that the Jews visited China and helped them advance their civilization, doesn't that prove that these years happened?" No. We can't independently verify the eclipse account was not fabricated back then or in recent years, nor does their presence indicate that the years they are claiming passed matched the actual years that passed. Also, Chinese astronomy is a large part of how modern astronomers modelled out eclipses historically, so it is a large part of the training/modeling data and cannot validate itself.

Hopefully we can see how this is all intertwined and how China's history may have been falsified as well due to Defendant Israel's likely involvement in their eclipse developments. Much like our own history, we don't know how much of China's history is real either because of Defendant Israel.

Critics may point out that China has been keeping records for 4000 years. Really? Without some kind of intervention, these people figured out 4000 years ago that they needed to track the moon's different cycles and that those cycles repeat after a little less than 30 days and that 12 of these cycles forms a measurement unit that they need to keep track of and that they need to add days every few cycles to make sure that measurement unit stays accurate to ensure they can keep track of how many of these cycles had passed, and they were able to keep those records intact for thousands of years--matching what other people on the other side of the planet were doing? Yeah right. Even if some lunatic (ironically the word "lunatic" is a term based around the moon and the root word 'luna') were to begin tracking something like that over time, how the hell would he or she convince the population or the people in control of the population to adopt and maintain such a system across famines, wars, and natural disasters? None of it is natural and it reeks of orchestration, as well as lies and false history being added to the record. Many of these dynasties were believed to be mythical as well.

For example, the Shang Dynasty (approx. 1250–1050 BC) was largely believed to be mythical until the discovery of the "Oracle Bones" that underwent radiocarbondating placing them back to that period. The issue with that study was that while it accounted for trying to avoid false placement of the period the bones were from by avoiding aging the marine life (turtles) due to the false radiocarbon aging impact of water, it does not account for the multiple floods that occurred in that area[236] over the many centuries that have passed since then that would have falsely increased the radiocarbondating of the bones they did end up testing. The Shang Dynasty is the anchor to the past and if the comparable year to western Calanders is questionable, then the whole “proof” that the Chinese Calendar is both accurate and that the eclipse they are claiming occurred during these years actually happened must be seriously called into question. Besides that, when you are dealing with Defendant Israel, there is no telling the lengths they will go to deceive human beings. Plaintiff cannot verify that the records citing the eclipse in China were not altered, downright falsified, or falsely aged to the period in question.

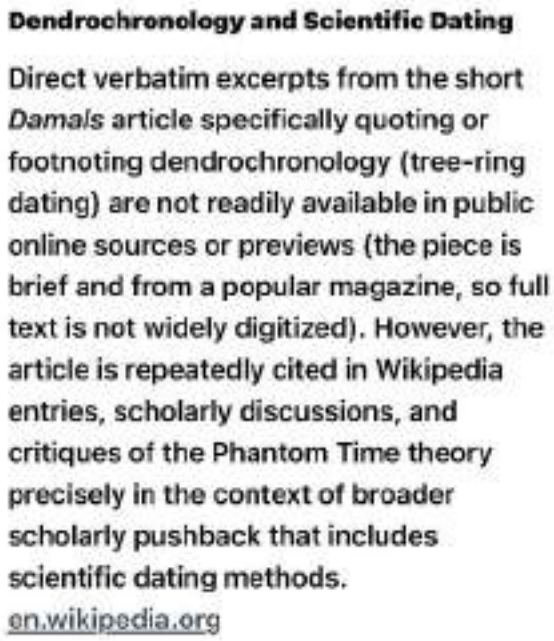
All of that is to say that while the Chinese accounts an eclipse during the Carolingian year seem to confirm the existence of these years, upon closer examination, it is very plausible that these things were manipulated to reach the desired result of proving these years existed.

(c) Dendrochronology:

Google’s AI Summary cites Dendrochronology (aging of trees) as another source that the years in question definitely happened, to support that it cites Wikipedia, which in turn cites: Fößel, Amalie (1999). "Karl der Fiktive?". Damals, Magazin für Geschichte und Kultur. No. 8. pp. 20f. Plaintiff cannot find this article posted anywhere online. Plaintiff asked Grok to search for what in that article proves that Dendrochronology proves that these years occurred. Grok explained that the writer of the article was opposed to the Phantom Time Theory and disagreed with one of the main proponents of the theory, presenting this as really a debate piece and not a definitive source. Grok was unable to find the piece publicly available.



So of course, we are unable to verify what Amalie said that proves that Dendrochronology debunks the Phantom Time theory, yet Google AI cites it as if it's a definitive source.

But Grok did provide her take on the matter from a different source (not the article cited in Wikipedia cited by Google) as the following:

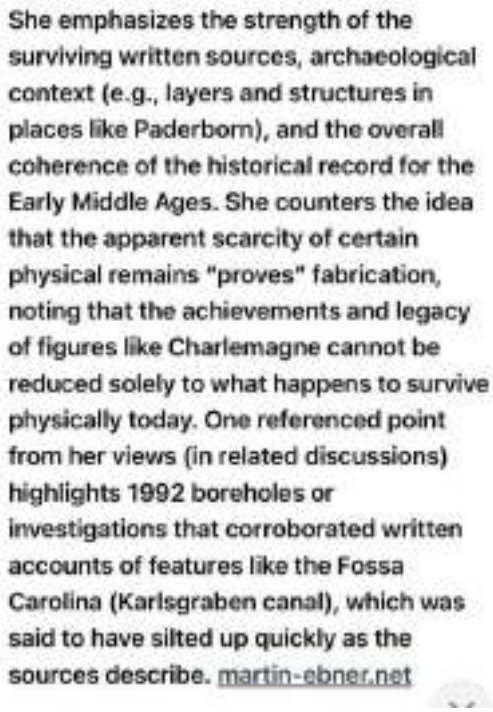
236) https://arstechnica.com/science/2026/03/an-unlikely-set-of-clues-helps-reconstruct-ancient-chinese-disasters/



There is no doubt that Amalie is a brilliant woman, but this summary from Grok of her position does not prove that the years in question actually happened. If they wrote about silted trees in 611 AD, skipped 300-400 years to 1000 AD, the things they wrote about that could be proven would still exist and would appear approximately from the time period in question. It doesn't work because there is no solid anchor to the past. For a definitive argument to work we would need an anchor to a clearly defined point in history before or during these years and be able to age trees to that specific year with a low margin of error, which is not evidence that exists here. For example, if Agustus wrote about planting a baby tree in a specific type of tree in a specific spot in the year 1 AD and the tree was aged and determined to be ~2030 years old, that would debunk the Phantom Time Theory because there is an anchor to a known date and the accuracy of the tree-aging would show that the years in question must have occurred. Nothing in this summary accomplishes that, nor is Plaintiff able to find a specific example she cited that accomplishes this. Furthermore, this summary from Grok also shows that this is really just a debate between brilliant minds and not a definitive source.

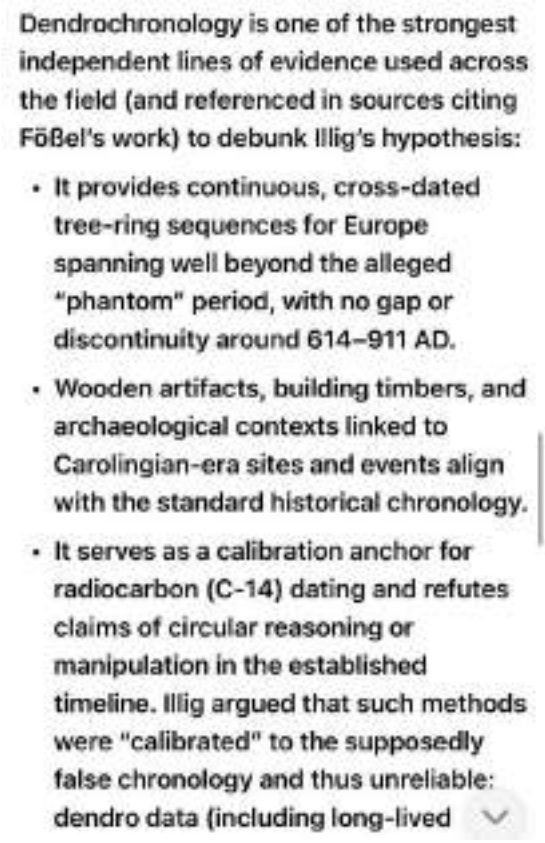
Grok, then takes its own crack at it, while providing a more objective explanation from a different source arguing that Dendrochronology debunks the Phantom Time Theory:



Dendrochronology is one of the strongest independent lines of evidence used across the field (and referenced in sources citing Fößel's work) to debunk Illig's hypothesis:

- It provides continuous, cross-dated tree-ring sequences for Europe spanning well beyond the alleged "phantom" period, with no gap or discontinuity around 614–911 AD.
- Wooden artifacts, building timbers, and archaeological contexts linked to Carolingian-era sites and events align with the standard historical chronology.
- It serves as a calibration anchor for radiocarbon (C-14) dating and refutes claims of circular reasoning or manipulation in the established timeline. Illig argued that such methods were "calibrated" to the supposedly false chronology and thus unreliable: dendro data (including long-lived

Illig correctly points out that there is no anchor to certain chronology to a degree that debunks the theory (essentially the same thing Plaintiff said above). Grok then cites this Wikia page.[237] with the following section pertaining to Dendrochronology:

Dendrochronologie und ^{14}C-Datierungen

Illig meint die Dendrochronologie, vor allem im Zusammenhang mit sogenannten Endlosbäumen, sei so manipuliert worden, dass sie zu unserem „falschen" Chronologiesystem dazu passt. Durch die manipulierte Dendrochronologie wäre auch die Kalibrationskurve für ^{14}C zu widerlegen.

Dabei vergisst er aber Entscheidendes: Denn die ersten ^{14}C-Kalibrationen wurden mit Hilfe der Bristlecone pine (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bristlecone_pine) gemacht. Dabei erreichte der damals noch lebende Baum Prometheus mit seinen gezählten 4844 Jahresringen das höchste Alter. Mit Hilfe dieser Jahresringe, die weit über das Phantomzeit-Alter hinausgehen, wurden die ersten ^{14}C-Kalibrationen gemacht. Würde man heute mit modernster AMS-Methodik hier alle 10 Jahresringe beproben und auf ± 8 Jahre messen, könnte man eine Kalibrationskurve erhalten, die, ohne sich dem Vorwurf der Dendrochronologie-Manipulation aussetzen zu müssen, da ja die Ringe einfach nur abgezählt werden müssen, ganz klar die anderen Dendrochronologien und Kalibrationskurven bestätigen könnte.

Plaintiff does not speak German, so let's translate it to English:

Dendrochronology and ^{14}C-datings

Illig, the dendrochronology think, especially in connection with the so-called endless trees, had been so manipulated that it fits our "wrong" chronology of the system. By the manipulated dendrochronology would also be the calibration curve for ^{14}C to refute.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bristlecone_pine) the process, he forgets but important: no the ^{14}C-calibrations have been with the help of the Bristlecone pine() is made. It was still a living tree Prometheus reached its counted 4844 year-rings the highest age. With the help of the counted rings, far beyond the phantom time-ages go beyond, were the first ^{14}C-calibrations made. Would you today, with most modern AMS methodology, here on all the 10 year rings be sampled and ± 8 years to measure, could be a calibration curve obtained, which, without being accused of dendrochronology Manipulation to expose to need to, since the rings just counted must be quite clear to the other dendrochronological technologies and calibration curves could.

As we can see, its just more debate. There is nothing certain or substantive within Dendrochronology that debunks the Phantom Time Theory, and the fact that they have to present things as if there is a clear consensus made on this matter should be concerning.

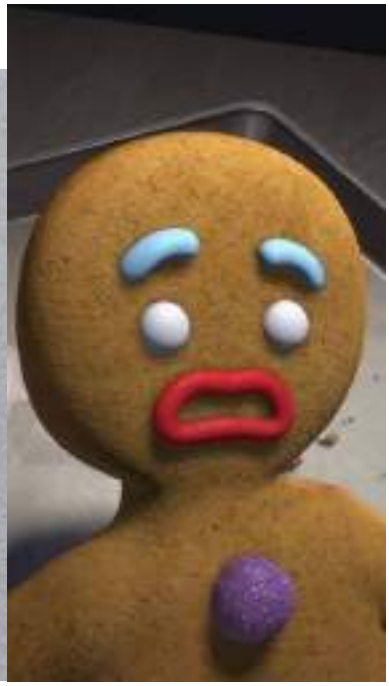
(d) Byzantine History:

The Google AI summary also cites extensive Byzantine history and Islamic Expansion (which are largely intertwined as bases for why the years in question definitely happened). Well, the Phantom Time Theory is that the history is fabricated or happened in early 600 AD and the clock was falsely fast-forwarded to ~1000 AD, so citing a bunch of history which could be fabricated is not a valid point. We've also seen that they consistently add to past PSYOPS to ensure more and more evidence to support fraudulent events is added over time and they have had about 1,000 years to be able to do that, so whatever paltry amount of history that was claimed to have occurred between the phantom years and the immediate period following them and the present day is highly likely to be drastically different. We also don't have 10,000 pages to waste examining that, so we will just go over a few overarching discrepancies within Byzantine history that make the existence of this period questionable:

This is the coin of Theodosius I from 378–383 AD:

This is the coin of Anastasius I, from 491–518:

This is the coin of Heraclius, from 610–641:



There does appear to be a physical coin, so at least they have that going for them, but notice how there's pretty much zero detail in the face, and he looks like the Gingerbread Man from Shrek.

Here is the coin of Michael III, from 842-867:

Notice that his nose takes up ¾ of his face. No ruler would allow such a ridiculous looking coin to be circulated looking like that.

Lol…

We went from this in 500 AD:

To this almost 500 years later…

Ridiculous.

Then we have people like Ignatios of Constantinople who were supposedly born in 798 but almost no information about him. Wikipedia has several pages of information about him, but almost none of it is cited, which generally is frowned upon by Wikipedia admins. We can be sure the CIA/MOSSAD people will get to work on fixing that ASAP, considering their heavy interest in controlling the information on those platforms.[238]

238) "CIA and FBI computers used for Wikipedia edits"
https://www.reuters.com/article/technology/cia-and-fbi-computers-used-for-wikipedia-edits-idUSN16428960/

This picture was painted of Ignatios' burial in 1000 AD:

1000 AD, but he was supposedly born in 798. Hopefully, the Court can see the issue with that. If not, then you might need to go back and read this subsection again.

(e) Chronicle of Zuqnin:

While not cited by Google's AI, the Chronicle of Zuqnin is a commonly cited reference for "proof" that the years in question actually occurred. It's a Syriac account supposedly written up to the chronicler's life in the 8th Century AD.

Chronicle of Zuqnin

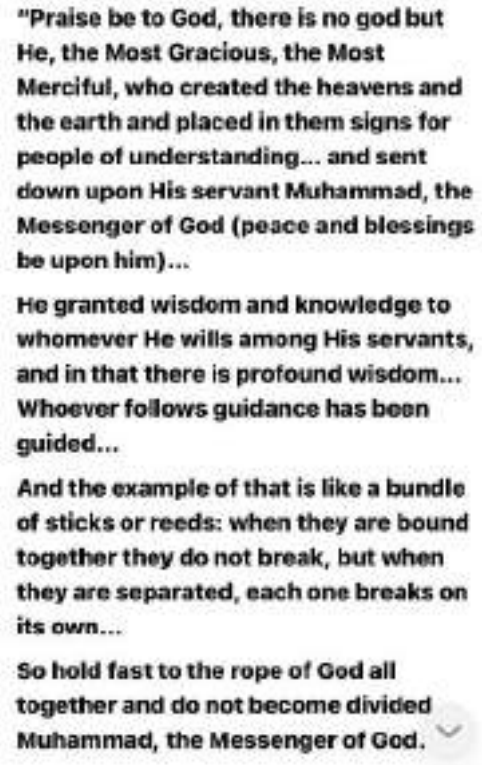
Vatican Library
British Library

Excerpt from the chronicle (fol.136v) describing & illustrating the appearance of a comet in Iyyar 1071 SE (May 760 AD)

Type	Chronicle
Date	mid-8th century AD
Place of origin	Zuqnin Monastery
Language	Classical Syriac with many Arabisms
Scribe	Elisha of Zuqnin
Author	Joshua the Stylite
Condition	Well-preserved palimpsest, damaged preface, missing first

Look, we have an excerpt from the Chronicle speaking about a Comet in 760 AD.

Of course, they had to bring this image into photoshop before uploading it. Plugged that excerpt into Grok asking for a translation and it responded with the following:



Hmmmm…. Nothing about a comet in there. Not even anything about the year. Why lie about this?

(f) Subsection Conclusion: While we cannot definitely prove that 150-400 years of history did not occur, there are plentiful discrepancies within the timeline and more than enough lies to create a plausible basis that these years did not occur and that even the year we put on our calendar is not accurate to how many years have passed since 1 AD. Discovery from the Defendants will result in further information to confirm this theory.

(9) Protests Globally

(a)The January 6th, 2021 "insurrection" at the Capitol

We've discussed earlier in this Complaint the January 6, 2021 fedsurrection and how there were over two dozen informants and 274 plainclothes agents involved in this operation involved in the operation and how that lines up to close to the number of people that were at the Capitol that day and were never arrested. We've also discussed how Informants do more than inform and can commit crimes on behalf of the government, and in exchange are mostly shielded from prosecution for those crimes, which is why none of them were prosecuted, and how there are no images of plainclothes agents fighting back against the rioters, so they must have been participating in the events that day. We also should remember that the government has a history of entrapping people into crimes[124, 125] by tricking them into thinking they are surrounded by like-minded people and those undercover informants and agents can guide that person into doing crimes that they wouldn't have done were it not for the informant/agent and that we will never know if this riot would have happened were it not for the presence and encouragement of the government-inserted operators. The fact that the amount of agents/informants involved was not known until well after most of the rioters were convicted is prosecutorial misconduct as that is obviously exculpatory information. Miscarriage of Justice. Plaintiff will add that it is curious that no one was prosecuted for defecation, despite there being reports of people having defecated in congressional offices. Who did the defecation? Was it an informant or agent?

Illuminati Card Game, 1995

Freemasons often plan this kind of shit out then they make those things happen. Notice that the march in this card is at the Capitol and not the White House and both this card and the date of this even have the Defendants' favorite number of 6. This is not the only thing that this card game "predicted" as we will see later in this filing.

Clearly, J6 was exaggerated by mainstream media, the left, and the courts. But some of the deaths resulting from the "insurrection" are questionable. The notion that multiple capitol officers died because of heart attacks, suicides, and strokes from trauma of this event should be heavily scrutinized. One of the Capitol Police officers, Harry Dunn, clearly lied about another Capitol officer, Brian Sicknick, being killed as a result of injuries when he supposedly died from a stroke and that no internal or external injuries were found during the autopsy is not a coincidence. There is also footage of Sicknick walking around after he was supposedly killed by the rioters.[141] The fact that Dunn and the January 6th Congressional Committee had to be given a pardon by Deep State Autopen Biden actors reveals that there was likely criminal activity behind their "investigation" and the narrative of the events from that day given to the public. Notice that you never hear about ICE agents committing suicide because of trauma sustained on the job, despite them getting yelled at, called Nazis and every other horrible name imaginable, encircled and forced to retreat, told to go kill themselves, and get rocks thrown at them, and everything else imaginable. Why don't we ever cover their heart attacks and strokes sustained while on the job? What happened that made the J6 cops more damaged by these things than every other cop across the country? Most of the J6 rioters seemed peaceful and you can see them walking right past Capitol police in many instances.

Plaintiff does suspect some of the deaths from J6 were falsified, but he did not find enough evidence to meet his burden of proof to present those allegations to this Court. Also, Plaintiff need not prove fake death to show that J6 was part of our pretend world because he presented a plausible case that the government was very involved in its execution and exaggerated the events, which means it is part of the pretend world perpetuated by Defendant United States that Plaintiff is forced to live in.

(b) Funding Protests to Create Chaos

Another part of our pretend world is some of these protests. From the 2025 anti-Immigration Enforcement protests, we see how Jewish Reptilian[239] globalists such as George Soros can fund chaos in our country with impunity.[240] The CIA also did it in other countries very shortly after its own creation as an agency, such as in Iran in 1953[241]—this is only 6 years after its founding, meaning the human infrastructure for these kinds of operations was already in place before the founding of the CIA. It would be foolish to think that such strategies ~~such a strategy~~ only occurs in America or was only used for the first time in 2025, 2020, or even 1953…

141) https://youtube.com/shorts/KpduIEnGHlQ?si=1HZ1us7BjnyM7J1r

The reality is that these tactics have likely been used for decades, centuries, or possibly even millennia to destabilize governments or infrastructure throughout the world. When Zionists make the claim that "the United States would not exist without Israel", the average person responds with "the U.S. existed hundreds of years before Israel, so these people are retarded", but those people are thinking about it in a very shallow manner. Once you take the time to understand that: creating chaos/insurrections is something they have been doing for a long time, all of the lies they've done throughout history, how most of the founding fathers were freemasons, how the freemasons are controlled by the Jews, and how Haym Salomon founded the country, that "Israel" is not bound by geographical boundaries but instead made up of the Jewish people—it all comes together and you understand that the story founding of our country is a lie and the events leading to the American Revolution were likely just as orchestrated as these other things. The National Park Service claims that John Adams[242] wrote that approximately one third (33) percent of the public supported the revolution, one third opposed (33), and one third was indifferent (33), assuming we take that at face value, it paints a vastly different story than what we are led to believe.2

239) George Soros' eyes have more in common with reptiles than they do with human eyes.

One might argue that he merely suffers from Colobomas, a rare medical condition causing an irregular pupil shape, but that does not explain why he has scales under his eyeball, or the indent in between his eyes that would be precisely where a third eye (or “parietal eye”) on a reptile would fall, among other things.

Of course, its not lost on Appellant that this “third eye” has direct parallels to the “All-Seeing Eye” (Eye of Providence/Horus/Ra) in Freemasonry. Isn’t it just crazy how all of this shit just fits together so seamlessly?

Take note that with all of the government’s releases about “aliens”, they never tell us about these Reptilians like Soros that walk among us. Maybe they are waiting for the last few drops of their credibility to evaporate to tell us about them so then people won’t believe them.

To be fair, all humans share a common ancestor with reptiles, so it is not that farfetched to think that some people may have more reptile DNA than the rest of us.
https://biologyinsights.com/what-percentage-of-dna-do-humans-share-with-reptiles/
Our DNA is a double helix, appearing just like the medical symbol developed centuries before microscopes were invented, so its almost as if they knew the entire time. The serpent was in the Garden of Eden without explanation—‘snake’ backwards in Hebrew translates to “I will enter”. Get it? There is undoubtedly more to the story than we are being told.

They have been orchestrating protests and insurrections for a long time, but the good news is that people are starting to catch on to how they do it and they are having a hard time continuing this abuse. Nonetheless, they will continue to do it to the extent that they can, and will eventually develop new tactics for doing it. For that reason, it remains a part of the pretend world that the Defendant force Plaintiff to reside in.

(10) Subsection Conclusion

The falsification of these events should suffice as an example to prove that Plaintiff resides within a Pretend World facilitated by the United States Government and Israel, in conjunction with the rigged elections and controlled candidate options that the federal government and government of Israel facilitate and allow, further entrapping Plaintiff within this fraudulent reality. While many of these events are fake, the pretend world they create isreal.

THE HEXAGON

(a) The Jewish Identity

Before learning what the hexagon at the center of the Jewish Identity is, we must first learn who the Jewish people are. That is pivotal to understanding the hexagon and how it fits into this litigation. While the how they manage to orchestrate corruption on an impossibly large scale continues to elude Plaintiff, this will at least provide a glimpse into how they understand the rules of our existence better than the average human.

(1) Jews have gone by many names throughout the years by different cultures throughout their history, Jews, Bolsheviks, Khazars, Tengu, Babylonians, Phoenicians, Canaanites, Israelites, Neanderthals, etc., but Plaintiff points to one name that they haven't gotten credit for being in thousands of years: Anunnaki.

The Anunnaki are known through ancient Sumerian texts written in cuneiform. The Sumerians are the first recognized civilization of humankind, existing between 4,100 BC and 1750 BC. For reference, this is before Ancient Egypt would become civilized. The Sumerians were tremendously advanced for the time period and formed the foundation of what we call "civilization" today. They began writing, art, structured government, legal systems, advanced agriculture, documentation of everything—these were things that no other group of humans on Earth was conducting yet and most of these things are not at all intuitive for humans back then. The implementation of these systems also have no identifiable trajectory for progression that one would expect to see from humans developing them over thousands of years. Humans had been on this planet for hundreds of thousands of years by that point and the most that they had accomplished up until that point outside of basic survival functions was a few simplistic cave drawings and some rudimentary weapons. Some of these ancient cave drawings depict the same bizarre creatures across the planet between cultures that have no known connection to each other.

Assuming these are real cave drawings made thousands of years ago and not fraudulent like most of our world, this is never discussed by mainstream historians. We've already established that Jews were traveling the planet far sooner than mainstream history acknowledges. The Anunnaki were also known to wear wings, circular objects around their necks, long draping cloths over the groin, and carry scepters, similar to what we see here, however these drawings do not have enough detail to definitively conclude that these ancient creatures were Jews, so we move on.

Humans had been around for hundreds of thousands of years and pretty much accomplished nothing meaningful that whole time, then out of nowhere the Sumerians formed an advanced culture and started implementing foreign concepts with no identifiable path of progression. How did they accomplish this incredible feat? We'll there's no mystery, because they told us exactly who helped them do it—the Anunnaki.

The Anunnaki were a group of beings perceived as gods by the Sumerians that they accredited with directing them how to develop civilization. The Anunnaki were descendants of An or Anu.

Anu, the father of the Anunnaki, standing on a cow (reference to the Golden Calf/Ba'al). He has wings and a circular object around the neck. Also notice that he is holding a plant in each hand with a total of 6 buds (there goes that number 6 again). Those six, plus his head with a bright light on top looks a lot like the original Menorah.

Original Menorah

What?!? How did that get there!?!?

But that's not all that ties Jewish people to the Anunnaki.

"Anu" in Hebrew (the semitic languages of the Jews) translates to "we".

“Anu Naki” in Hebrew translates to “We are clean”.

In Arabic (The semitic language of Arabs) “Anu” translates to “purpose”.

Despite both Jews and Arabs being descendants of the Canaanites only one of them sees themselves as Anu, and the other derives purpose from it.

“Canaanite” in Hebrew is pronounced “khena'ani”, backwards that is “ina'anehk” which is very close to the pronunciation of “Anunnaki”. We’ve already discussed how “I” (eye) in Hebrew is “Land of Israel, so even the missing “I” at the end is explicable.

Sumerian cylinder seal from 2300 BC depicting the Anunnaki. Lets take a closer look:

Peyots, the long curly hair worn by Orthodox Jews. Its even got the curl and everything. The Old Testament (the book that told them to do that) would not be written for another 1500 years. They both also have beards and really big noses. Pointing out the big nose, isn't just Plaintiff being offensive. It's actually a nose that makes no sense for a hot desert climate from an evolutionary perspective. Black Africans typically have flatter noses to deal with hotter climates and White Europeans have bigger noses to deal with colder climates. A large pronounced nose such as that is not natural to the desert. We know now that Arabs have similar noses to Jews which is not evolutionarily logical for the climate, and we also know that they both have Canaanite DNA, so we can surmise that some group clearly came through that area with extremely strong genetics and implanted that nose on most of the population, so the logical conclusion would be that Anunnaki DNA is Canaanite DNA and modern Arabs were introduced to it and intertwined with in thousands of years ago.

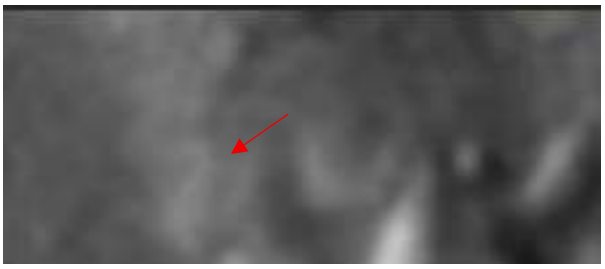
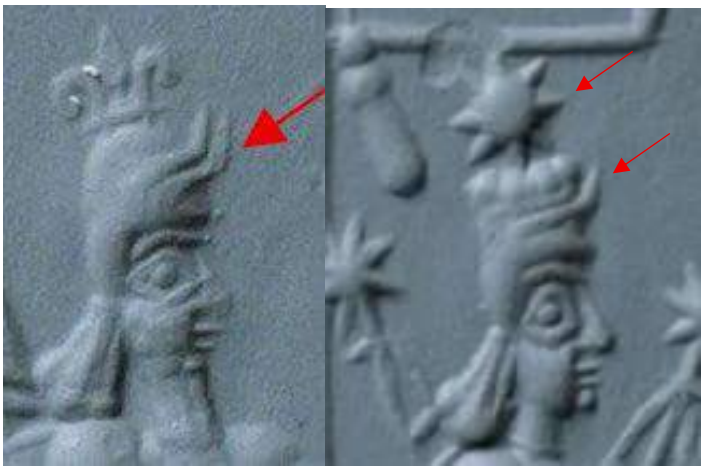
We also have a pointy hat, called a Jewish Hat. We can also see based on this 12th century depiction of Jews in Germany that they used to wear hats much pointier than the ones they wear today. This hat was called pileus cornutus ("horned skullcap") in Latin (the language of the ancient Romans). "Horned". Interesting word as we can see the Anunnaki hat has horns coming out of it. Bull horns. Sort of like the horns that Ba'al has. "Ba'al" translates to "lord" or "master" in English, so this checks out..



The Anunnaki hat also has smoke coming out of it. It’s hard to see, but that is smoke.



This is in line with other depictions of the Anunnaki and other ancient gods having horns and a light above their heads. Those things sticking out in front of the hat are clearly horns as evidenced by the hats on the wider picture's depiction on the other Anunnaki.

Anu with light and horns on top of head.

Ba’al with horns and a light above head. He also has a cloth over the groin just like Anu.

Ra, the Ancient Egyptian Sun God, with horns (the moon) and light above head (sun)

Lucifer (also frequently depicted with horns, but not in this picture) with light (a star) above head, just like the Anunnaki.

While Saturn, the Roman god wasn't depicted with horns, his namesake planet was known by the ancient Egyptians as "Bull of the Sky" and has horns when viewed by the correct angle and supposedly a hexagon (representing the Star of Remphan/David).

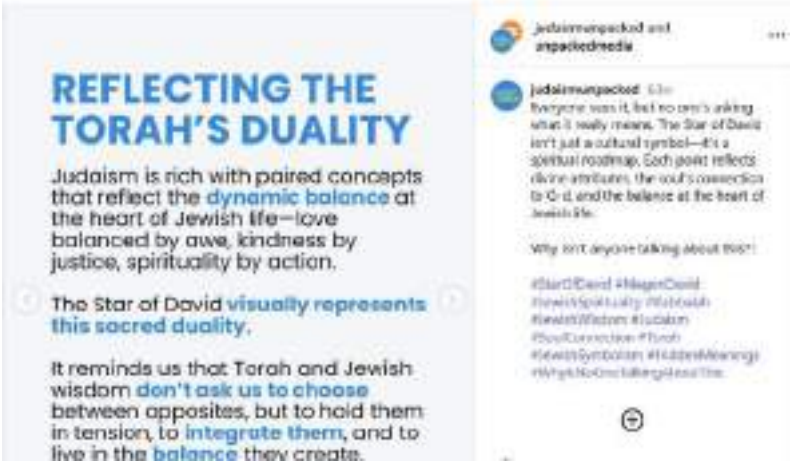
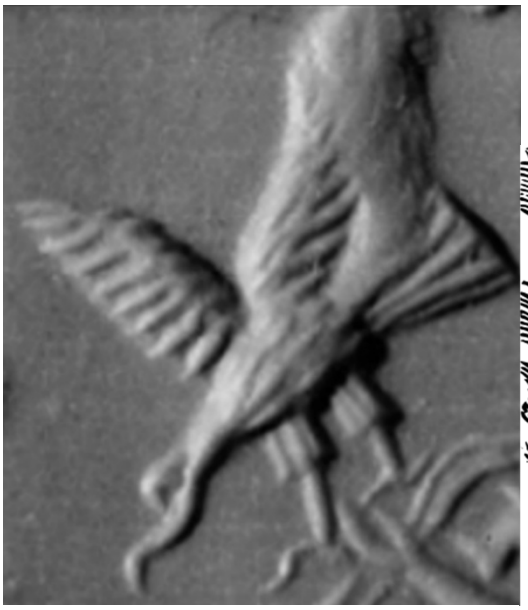
duality, also with a light and horns on top of his head. This is a perfect segue into the next one:



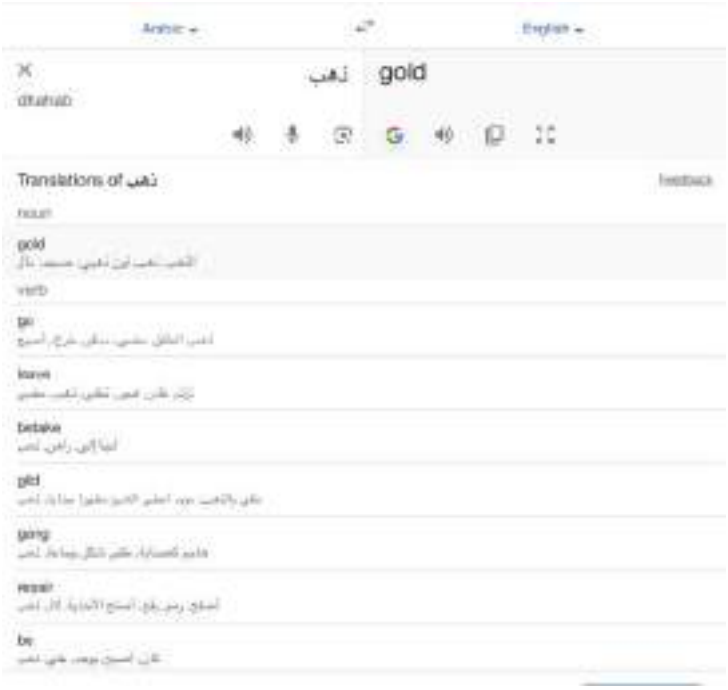
Duality is also represented in the Star of Remphan, which is also a depiction of duality. Many Alchemical principles also have this concept, known as ‘Rebis’ often depicted as a figure with two heads or faces and/or the sun and the moon representing duality. “Rebis” is a word very close to ‘Rabbis’



Bird with smoke coming out of it, which means this bird is a Phoenix from ancient Egyptian mythology, known as a Milcham or Chol in Judaism, a bird representing eternal life which dies in a show of flames before being reborn.

We also see that one of the Anunnaki is Beating the bush or “Beating the Aravot”, which is also a Jewish tradition.

The story of the Anunnaki is that they came to Earth because their home planet's atmosphere was polluted and they came to earth with their own slave workforce, the Igigi—which they previously developed with a portion of their DNA, seeking gold to fix their atmosphere. Jews and Arabs both share Canaanite DNA, but Plaintiff would be willing to bet that ethnic Jews have more of it. Now, lets look at the word "Gold":



Oh! Would you look at that! 'Repair' is a synonym for gold in Arabic. What are the odds of that?

"Muslim" in Hebrew translates to "governors". This would explain why Defendant Israel opened borders across western countries to the planet including large amounts of Muslims despite the supposed hatred between Jews and Muslims. They successfully colonized the United Kingdom with mass migrations of Muslims, so much so that they started adopting certain common sense conservative policies such a rejecting trans ideology for Children despite the illusion that most of western nations pretend is being accepted globally. They even got England to begin discouraging use of the English or British flags in public because it may have been viewed as non-inclusive toward illegal immigrants. This influx came at a greater cost for the U.K. as there are thousands of unprosecuted rape claims against women and girls that were buried by the British government[243] and worse that people that spoke out against the invaders or the government got prosecuted.[244] The second they went after a few Jews, that's when the British government decided to give extra protection to the Jewish Community.[245, 246] Jewish people like George Soros control the leaders of western nations like Starmer and Biden and get them to open their border and terrorize the residents of these countries, but the second Jews start facing pushback it is all hands on deck to stop violence against Jews—this lets us know who is really in charge and the intentionality of the destruction of western society. In some cases, such as Colorado, the Jews directly control things and enact the destruction themselves through advocating for open borders creating a massive spike in crime, then they just gaslight us about it because they don't respect us,[247] But, just like in the U.K., when the chips are down and Jews get attacked it is suddenly all hands on deck to stop antisemitic violence.[248] Notice that Muslims never start terrorizing the Jewish community in western countries, and often time even with their attacks against them in the middle east are intentionally reserved[249] despite the supposed hatred for one another—this is because the leaders of Muslim countries all answer to the same globalists and they know their role, and they are even willing to sacrifice their own populations to protect that power structure.

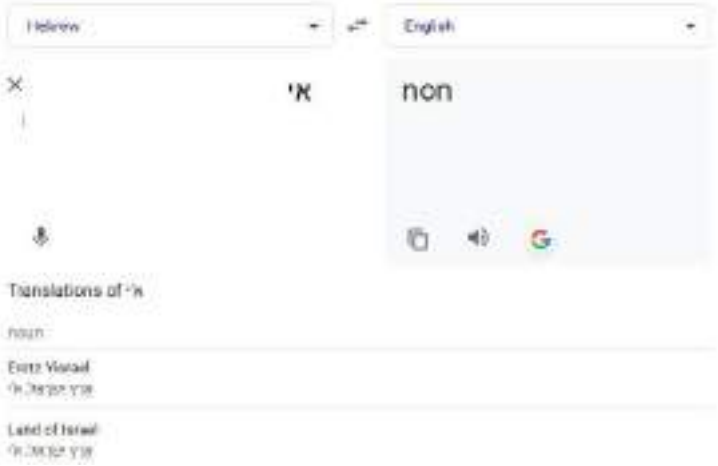
(b) The Human Identity

While this may be conversation that humans are not ready for, however it is a necessary conversation, as it is one that would explain why they view humans as inferior, hate humankind so much, and begins the conversation on Plaintiff's enslavement within the pretend world crafted by the Defendants. The story of the Anunnaki continues that their slave force, the Igigi, revolted against the heavy labor requirements, Anu agreed, so the Anunnaki created humans by taking a portion of their own DNA and embedding it into the native creatures of Earth to breed a new workforce.



The 'I' sound, of course intertwined with "eye" as in the all-seeing eye, translates to Land of Israel.

‘G’ in Hebrew also translates to “third” in English. Meaning that “Igigi” effectively translates to “Land of Israel 33”. What are the odds?? Pretty high, when these things are orchestrated by a very advanced species. The species that they are alleged to have created (humans) to be their slave force was called “Adamu”.[250] If you have a functioning brain, you might realize that “Adamu” is very close to “Adam”, the first man. The parallel here is astonishing, and anyone that claims they do not recognize the importance of this is either being disingenuous or they are a NPC.

It’s no surprise that “Adam” translates to ‘man’ or ‘person’ in Hebrew.

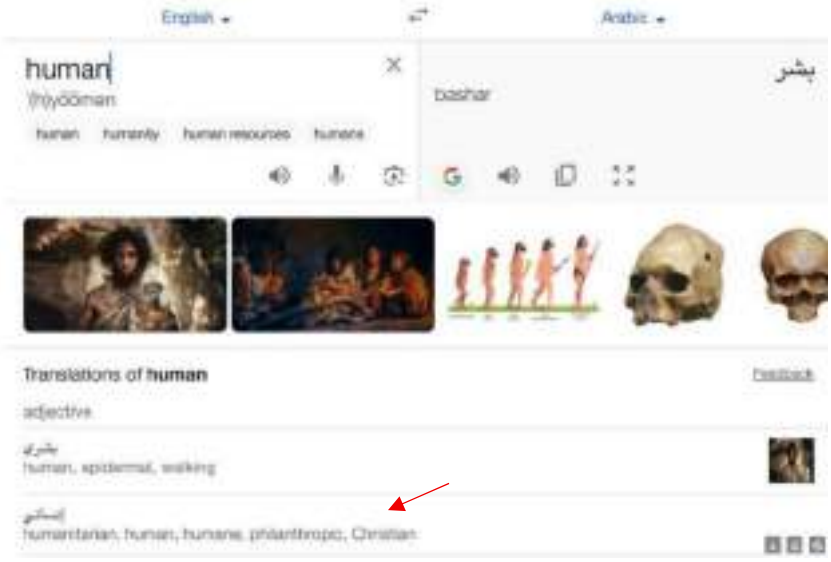
Interesting.

The Closest word to “humans” in Hebrew is pronounced ‘hamchnes’ and translates to “the pants” (as in leg work) or “round up”.

Backwards, the closest word to the phonetic pronunciation of “humans” backwards is pronounced ‘shnamuch’ and translates to “Let’s relax”.

In Arabic, the word “human” translates to “Bashar”:



Why is “Christian” listed as a synonym for Human? Why not “Jew” or “Muslim”, but Christian? Christian, creation, Christian, creation… These words sound very similar. Maybe it’s just another coincidence!

7 Then the LORD God formed a man[a] from the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living being.

a. Genesis 2:7 The Hebrew for man (adam) sounds like and may be related to the Hebrew for ground (adamah); it is also the name Adam (see verse 20).

Genesis 2:7 in all English translations

In Genesis 2:7 of the Old Testament, it is said that the Lord God (remember, the Hebrew word for “Lord” is pronounced ‘Ba’al’) created man from dirt of the ground. The Hebrew word for “man” is “Adam” and the Hebrew word for Ground is pronounced ‘Adameh’, obviously derived from Adam.

Genesis 2:7 states that God formed man from the "dust of the ground". In Hebrew, this material is aphar, meaning dry earth, dust, or clay. This implies God acted like a potter, physically molding Adam from the earth before breathing life into him.

Key Biblical Connections

- The Potter Motif: The Hebrew verb for "formed" (yatsar) is the same one used for a potter shaping clay, establishing God as the Master Potter and humanity as His handiwork.
- The Name "Adam": The Hebrew word for man (adam) is closely linked to adamah, which translates to "ground," "earth," or "red clay".

From the Hebrew perspective, dust, dirt, mud, and clay are all the same thing and our creator is a potter.

With all of that in mind, perhaps the Hanukkah song, "I Have a Little Dreidel" takes a new meaning. Let's take a look:

The beloved children's Hanukkah song, officially titled "I Have a Little Dreidel" (also known as "Dreidel, Dreidel, Dreidel"), was adapted with English lyrics by Samuel S. Grossman from a 1896 Yiddish melody by Mikhl Gelbart. It celebrates the traditional spinning top game.

I have a little dreidel
I made it out of clay
And when it's dry and ready
Then dreidel I shall play

Oh, dreidel, dreidel, dreidel
I made it out of clay
Oh, dreidel, dreidel, dreidel
Then dreidel I shall play

It has a lovely body
With legs so short and thin
And when it gets all tired
It drops and then I win

Oh, dreidel, dreidel, dreidel
With legs so short and thin
Oh, dreidel, dreidel, dreidel
It drops and then I win

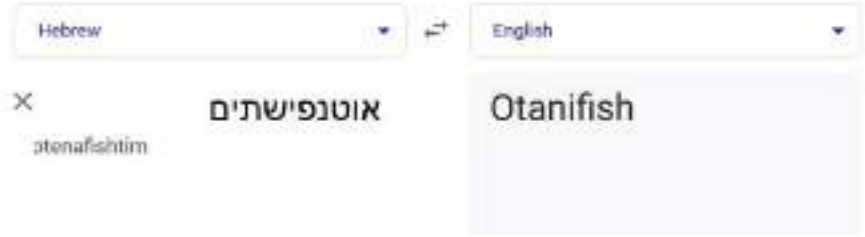
A Dreidel is a spinning top, and doesn't have legs. Humans have legs. Legs wear pants (reminder: The closest word to "humans" in Hebrew translates to pants). These translations also tells us that they view humans as toys and the goal of the game to wear us out.

The closest word to Dreidel backwards is pronounced ‘ledirt’ and translates to “to dirt”. Get it? Are these connections finally starting to come together?

To further solidify the connection between Sumerian texts and the Old Testament, it was not just the creation of man that came before the Old Testament rendition. The story of a great flood that wiped out humanity with one man and his family surviving was also documented by the Sumerians. Later Babylonians (before this man was called Noah[251]) was called Utnapishtim.

They see Plaintiff’s species as toys and Plaintiff is one of the subjects of their little game. This action from the Defendants is all is in direct violation of the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Amendments of the federal Constitution. This subsection contains the ‘what’ and the ‘who’ of these violations, but it does not explain the ‘how’ or the ‘why’.

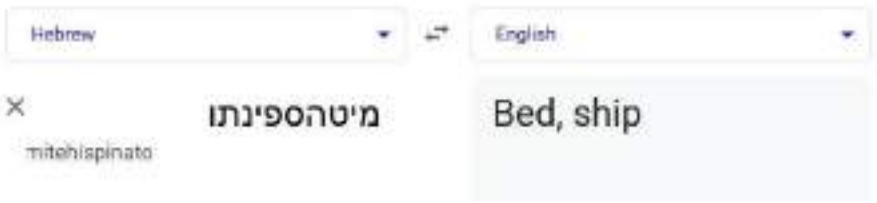
The closest word to Utnapishtim ends with the word “fish”. Probably another “coincidence”



The closest word to the phonetic translation of “God” backwards in Hebrew is a translation to “Fish”:

The Sumerians also had a fish god, Apkallu, created by Enki, the son of Anu. Both Enki and Apkallu were gods of wisdom. Noah (Utnapishtim) would also have to be pretty wise to have predicted a species-ending flood and had the forethought to build an Ark (a giant ship) to survive it. Also, peep the scrolls, very similar to Torah scrolls that this ancient god used to wear on his person.

The closest word to the phonetic pronunciation of “Utnapishtim” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘mitehispinato’ and translates to “Bed, Ship”



251) The acronym for National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration is NOAA, which would be phonetically pronounced Noah—We can add this to the list of millions of “coincidences” we keep seeing.

The closest word to “Noah” in Hebrew translates to “comfortable” an “Rest”:

The point in highlighting all of this is to point out the linguistic sophistication of the Semitic languages, and elucidate the parallels of Sumerian stories to the stories that would eventually be repeated in the Bible explaining the creation and purpose of humans.

In summary: Jewish people are descendants of the Anunnaki, which are the beings that created humans as a slave species, and view Plaintiff’s life as a game wherein the goal is to psychologically torment humanity to exhaustion through corrupt control of global leaders, to include Defendants Trump, Wiles, and Blanche which act as tools to create and maintain chaos—this entire scheme is in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment—the purpose of such torture will be explained in next subsection.

(c) The Soul Cube

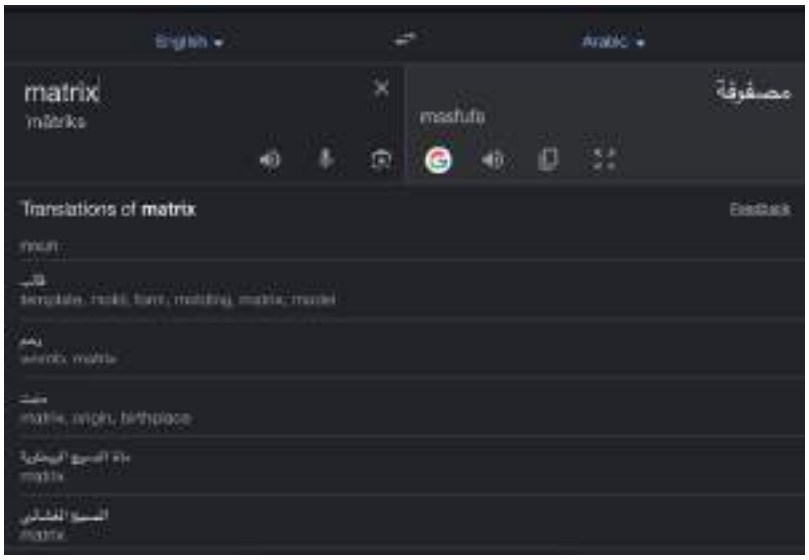
Plaintiff has already explained that Defendant Israel has already conceded that they facilitate a pretend world for him. The Latin (the language of the ancient Romans), the word for “pretend” is “simulare” which is unsurprisingly at the root for the word “simulate” in English:

We can also see that simulate and dissimulate are both synonyms of the word “pretend” in Hebrew.

A “pretend world” is a simulation. Defendants Netanyahu and Israel are the ones running the simulation and the remaining defendants are agents of it. They have worked since the creation of humans to ensure that control over human affairs is kept in the hands of Israel. Whether it is an electronic simulation or a biological one ultimately makes no fundamental difference. However, there is plenty of circumstantial evidence supporting our existence as ultimately being digital in nature despite how subjects of the simulation perceive it.

Other Sumerian gods used to hold rings and sticks. Like most ancient ideology and current ideology of the globalists these rings and sticks are use euphemisms for the penis and the vagina. Nothing fancy there. However, another way to look at these symbols is a 0 and a 1--the foundation of binary code at the heart of all computer programming. The duality that they obsess over, as well as the very construction of men and women may very well be a signature of the simulation. According to the Bible, God created a firmament to separate the waters from above from the waters below—the closest word to water in Hebrew is pronounced ‘Ve’ater’ and translates to “Website”.

The word “Matrix” translated to Arabic includes “womb” and “birthplace”:



Babies in a womb are filled with amniotic fluid, very similar to the pods humans were stored at in The Matrix movies.

The observer effect observed in Electrons:

The quantum observer effect states that the simple act of measuring or observing a particle (such as an electron) actively changes its physical state. Unobserved electrons behave like spread-out probability waves, but measuring them collapses this wave function, forcing the electron to instantly assume a definite, localized reality.

The Double-Slit Experiment

The most famous illustration of this effect is the double-slit experiment. Electrons are fired one at a time through two slits toward a detection screen.

- When unobserved: The electrons behave like waves. They pass through both slits simultaneously and create a striped "interference pattern" on the screen.
- When observed: The moment a detector is placed to figure out which slit the electron goes through, the interference pattern disappears. The electrons acts like a standard bullet, producing just two lines on the screen.

This is explained away as the energy of the photons of light used to see the electrons causing them to change their physical state, but light must be used to observe something with the eyes, so this does not disprove it as an observer effect.

The very fact that electrons, protons, and atoms all having an electrical charge is very much a sign that our existence is digital. Our nervous system and the brain using electricity is another sign that our existence is ultimately a digital simulation.

If our existence is digital in nature, then Defendants Netanyahu and Israel maintain power through cheating reality in the same way a video game doesn't allow a player to make certain moves that undermine the pre-determined plot of the game.

But as stated previously, it doesn't matter if our existence is electronic or biological in nature, as Defendant Israel runs the simulation. In such a position they have many means by which to control the masses and seem to have always possessed those means. Sexual blackmail obtained through operators like Agent Combs and Epstein have existed since ancient times. For example, Sargon of Akkad (2300 BC) was "cup-bearer" for the previous king before becoming king himself. Much like Chai boys in Afghanistan, a cup-bearer in Sumer faced similar sexual exploitation in exchange for power and influence.

Nothing has really changed over the years. It's the same song and dance. Defendants Israel use a series of tactics to maintain control over many countries worldwide including blackmail, coercion, bribery, manipulation, distractions, psychological operations, controlled opposition, brainwashing, breeding people to take on positions of power, infiltrative candidates such as the State of Colorado Defendants, extortion, etc. and if all of that fails, they can just kill you off. Maintaining a network as large as they have without it collapsing is effectively impossible for humans because there are too many moving parts for things not to fall apart after so long, and even more impossible when you consider that Israel is a country of around 10 million people, yet somehow they have colonized at least a billion people across western countries through these schemes. There are so many things that could go wrong (civil unrest, inflation, equipment failures/destruction, whistleblowers, running out of controlled candidates, intelligence/bribery failures, etc.) and we see some cracks in the system forming, but it always seems to be able to repair itself and keep functioning, forming the basis of Plaintiff's theory that our existence is ultimately digital despite appearing biological. To the extent that our existence is truly biological, what Israel has been running for thousands of years is impossible and some force within the universe is keeping them in power despite how unrealistic such a plotline is. While the mechanisms of what they have been doing (bribery, blackmail, assassinations, brainwashing, etc.) are known, how they are doing it for so long without the structure of corruption collapsing remains elusive and is a variable akin to an 'imaginary number'[251] in mathematics, described as "supernatural" from within the simulation—an outside observer may have a better understanding of how this works akin to a cheat code being entered for a video game on a controller, but the insider observers, such as Plaintiff do not.

But why do this? Why create humans only to torture us through making us live through these deeply corrupt systems that cannot be repaired by humankind? Why spend so much time and energy crafting PSYOPS to maintain a pretend reality? Why do they work so hard to create and maintain a constant state of chaos for humans while giving us the illusion of control? The answer to all of these is right at the center of their religion.

As Plaintiff explained previously, the hexagon at the center of the Star of Remphan is intentional as we can see from this picture of the oldest Star of Remphan identified. Casting a spell on someone can also be referred to as casting a "hex" on them—not a coincidence. It is likewise not a coincidence that Anunnaki/old Jewish hats look like witches hats. The worship around this hexagon is not about the two-dimensional representation of a 6 pointed shape, but instead the three-dimensional representation of a cube when viewed from the corner. The Jewish defendants all know what this is about despite them feigning ignorance.

Our pretend elections are at the root of this case, and ultimately at the root of the system of control. In this post where the Defendant Griswold is getting ratio'd (as she does frequently because real Coloradans can't stand her despite what our farcical elections show), we can see that she turned the State 'C' into a Hexagon:

Colorado Secretary of State Logo used on Colorado Election Complaint Forms:

This makes it as clear as possible that the Hexagon is meant to be a cube, as there is a literal cube at the center. Defendant Griswold (Jewish) is well aware of what she is signaling with this symbology. This wasn't just some clever/creative design, but well known within the Jewish community. Similar to Masonic handsigns, these signals are encoded messages that she is still working on behalf of Defendant Israel.

251) The square root of negative one is an example of an imaginary number because there is no known number in math that answers it. This is different from a solvable variable such as 2+x=4 where x is a number that exists allowing the equation to be solved.

If you ignore the 3-dimensionality of the above cubes, we can see that they both have 6 points just like a hexagon, and just like Defendant Griswold's manipulation of the State 'C'. The left cube is the "All-Spark" from Transformers series—the source of machine life, and on the right is the Tesseract from Marvel Comics—containing the mind stone, one of six (there's that number again) stones that control the universe. This isn't just creative writing, or coincidences. These things speak to reality. Plaintiff does not need to prove for certain that this soul cube exists, he only needs to make a plausible claim that it does and explain how it violates his constitutional rights, which is what he will do.

The Gnostics believe that the material world we live in is a prison and that there is a device acting as a soul cube (usually depicted as black) that traps our spirits and recycles our souls, and that this cube feeds on our emotions of fear and sadness to feed its creators. They believe that a force called the "demiurge" is used to trap our divine sparks in the material world for our creator which is not the true creator of existence. (For what its worth, Scientologists believe something very similar and refer to the trapped soul as "Thetans", the closest word to "thetan" backwards in Hebrew is pronounced 'natichat' and translates to "autopsy" or "sleep"--definitely relevant, but we focus on Gnostics because Scientology is more cult-like and has a terrible reputation) Let's check the Gnostic language:

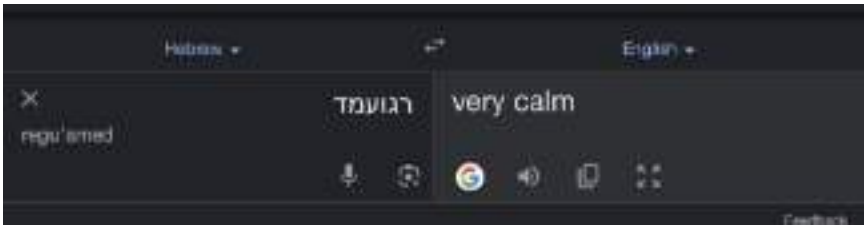
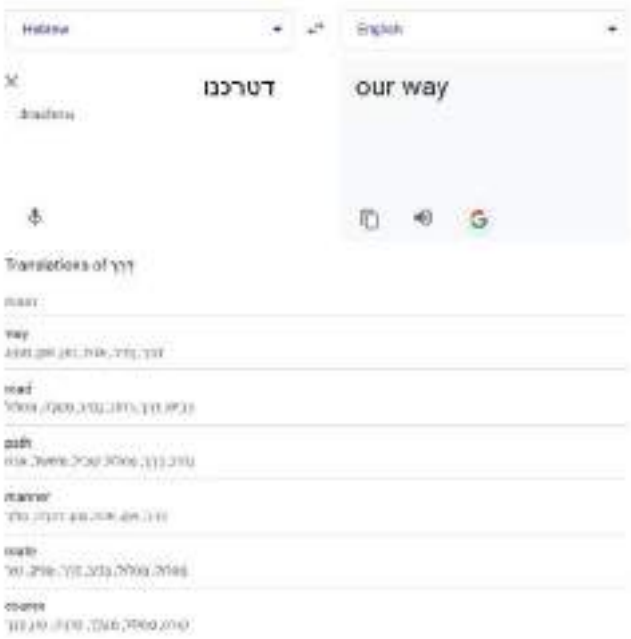
The closest word to “demiurge” backwards is pronounced ‘regu’amed’ in Hebrew and translates to “very calm”.



These Demiurge are also known as the “uncreated”. The closest word to “uncreated” in Hebrew is pronounced ‘Anakritad’ and translated to anchored. As in they are anchored to reality and everyone else isn’t.

The closest word to “uncreated” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘drachnu’ and translates to “our way” or “route”. The anchored pave the path for the non-anchored.



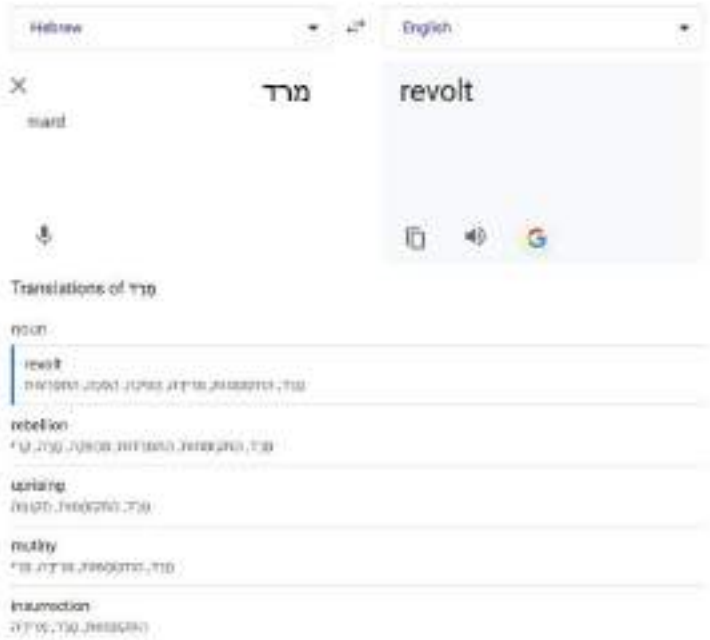
Interesting. “Drachnu” is also very close in pronunciation to the word “draconian”, which means strict. In “conspiracy” circles, "Draconians" (or Dracos) are also rumored to be a race of malevolent, shape-shifting, reptilian extraterrestrials that secretly control human society and manipulate world governments. Isn’t it just crazy how all of this ties together?

There is another point that the Gnostics get right as well, and this is going to be a tough pill to swallow for all Abrahamic religions, but for the most part it seems that Judaism and Islam likely know this, and Christians will be the most mentally impacted:

As explained previously, the story of human creation and god creating the earth and humans in 6 days pre-dates Judaism and seems to have originated with Sumerian beliefs. However, the part of the story that the Old Testament left out was that this god’s creations spoke back in a tongue that he did not recognize and did not teach them.[252] He also realized they were able to dream which he did not teach them either, and this god (the one that created us) realized that he was not the ultimate power. This god came to realize that there was another, more powerful being in another room that he could feel, but he was unable to see in that room, however, this more powerful God could interfere with the creator god’s wishes.

The story continues that the lesser god wanted humans to worship him and never recognize the greater God, so he set out to get humans to do that through various means and lashed out when it didn't work. As also explained previously, the story of the Great Flood also originated with the Sumerians before Judaism. The Sumerians indicated that the flood was not because of sin, but because of lesser god's jealousy towards the more powerful God that he could not see yet would intervene in his creations. How would Gnostics have known that the original story of genesis had this element when the tablet that confirmed this hadn't been found or translated this? A lucky guess?

Let's return to the dreaming thing. The closest word to "dream" in Hebrew translates to the same thing it does in English. However, backwards, the closest word is pronounced 'mard' and that translates to "revolt" or "insurrection".



This matches perfectly with the Sumerian and Gnostic renditions, as the creator of humans saw humans dreaming as a threat and he sought out to put an end to it.

252) "The Sumerian Tablet That Describes a Being That Thinks It Created Everything — But Didn't" https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=na8p_IIwjSY&list=WL&index=93&t=272s

This all still sounds utterly ridiculous on the surface to a "logical" person, but a truly logical person would take into account that much of what we've been told about history and science has been littered with lies and occult symbols, and that the things we've been told that make this consideration impossible may be based on false assumptions that what we've been given is true.

The Gnostic view of recycling souls matches Sumerian understanding of the afterlife where the soul is stripped of memory and recycled in a new body, which they were likely taught by the Anunnaki.[253]

Ba'al and Saturn were the gods of agriculture. Most people say this is because of the importance of agriculture to the people living in that time, which explains all of the plant references to human reproduction ("spreading your seed", "deflowering" a woman, the vagina being a "garden", etc.). But there's a piece that is missing. Them being the gods of agriculture is not merely about survival based on agriculture or humans, but it is more because of the cyclical nature of plants—the death and rebirth following spreading of their seeds. THAT is what it's actually about. This is why Ba'al and Saturn are heavily associated with agriculture.

253) "The Sumerian Tablet That Describes What Happens to Humans When They Die… And the Trap they don't see" https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JdoKG_y0tAE&list=WL&index=69&t=749s

This is why Saturn and the Grim Reaper ("Angel of Death"[254]) are frequently depicted as carrying a sickle and/or a scythe (gardening tools), and the ceiling of the temple of Ba'al was laden with flowers (also depicted are up and down arrows indicating duality/'as above so below'). But what hasn't been publicly recognized is that the original ancestor of the Defendants (Anu) was also associated with agriculture.

254) In Islam the Angel of Death is named Azrael—It should not be lost how close that name is to Israel.

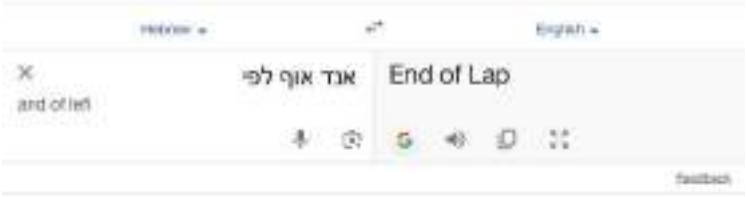
Notice the plants in his hands and the flower in the ring around him. This all goes to show that the original Anuannaki, and the Jewish Defendants ancestors was heavily associated with agriculture, which represents the death and rebirth, which really just symbolic soul recycling.

Ancient Egypt also reflected this cyclic death and rebirth in a symbol known as "Ouroboros"—a snake swallowing its own tail or two snakes/dragons/ consuming each other at the tails, as well as the Phoenix, all representing infinity. Ouroboros is also associated with Freemasonry, Judaism, and Alchemy. Christianity is no exception, as the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ represent death and rebirth—even the Rapture theory has many themes of death and rebirth, as the believers that were killed are eventually resurrected, the non-believers are resurrected after Jesus' millennial reign, and following judgement the Earth and Heaven being re-created[255]. Hinduism and Buddhism have Samsara representing this eternal rebirth. Themes of death and rebirth (Ouroboros) permeate most major religions and it is not by accident.

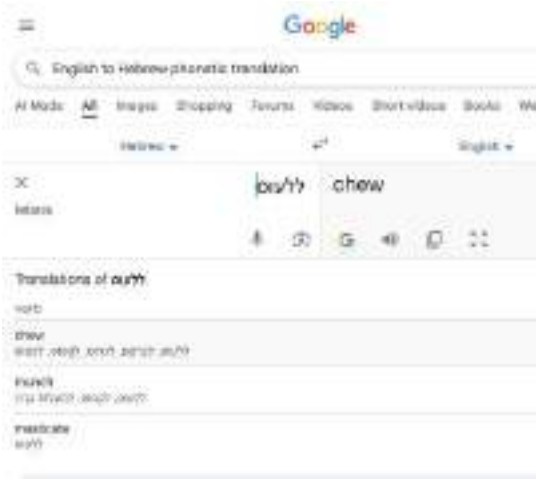
255) What's left out is that there is nothing stopping the evil from returning as the serpent was in the Garden of Eden without explanation for how it got there. Snake backwards in Hebrew = "I will enter".

The closest word to “Ouroboros” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘Soroveru ‘ and translates to “Sorrow”--as in sadness—one of the emotions the Soul Cube feeds on. The closest word to “Sadness” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘shashands’ and translates to “who engineered’, which is what it is. It’s all engineered by them.

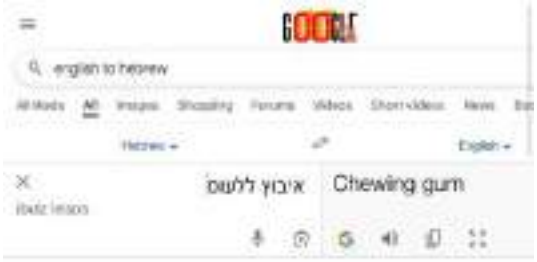
The closest word to the pronunciation of the phrase “end of life” in Hebrew is pronounced ‘end of lefi’ and translates to “End of Lap”.



The closest word to “Souls” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘lelaos’ and translates to “Chew”—as in what they do to our souls:

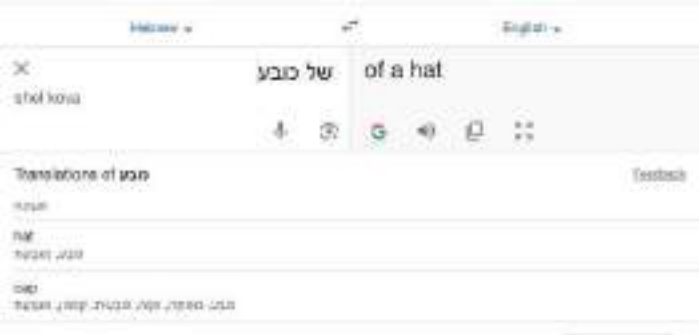


The closest phrase to “soul cube” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘ibutz lelaos’ and translates to “Chewing Gum”:



What are the odds of that? What are the odds that “souls” backwards translate to “chew” and “soul cube” backwards translates to “Chewing Gum”?

The closest word to “soul cube” forward in Hebrew is “of a hat”.



What kind of hats do Jews wear on their heads? Well, the yamaka, but they also sometimes where this black cube, constituting a hat.

They're also known to wear something similar back in their Tengu days in Japan going back at least 1000 years. The yamaka also has an association with this. The closest word to Yamaka is pronounced 'yimka' and translates to "will drink". More consumption references.

The closest phrase to the phonetic pronunciation of "Blue Beam"[256]

The closest phrase to the phonetic pronunciation of "Red beam" translates to "get off them"

The red and blue beam also aligns with our physics, as light is said to "red shift" when it is moving away and "blue shift" when it is coming toward us.[257]

256) Project Blue Beam is a "Conspiracy theory" that the government has a plan to fake an alien invasion to establish a one world religion to establish a new world order. It all sounds ridiculous, but if you have a memory better than a goldfish, you will remember at the end of the Biden Administration when lamestream media started reporting a bunch of drones appearing all over the country and flying over our military bases using advanced flight tech, with some flying out of the ocean, and the Administration said (paraphrasing) "We don't know where these drones are coming from, but we're going to investigate" and this went on for months—all of this occurring shortly after the wave of UFO/alien "whistleblowers" talking about advanced aircraft that the government was hiding. Then the Trump Administration took over and a few days after looking into it, they said "those were our drones" and moved on from the story. Why was the Biden Administration playing dumb the whole time?!?! What was the plan? Clearly they were taking pages out of Project Blue Beam with this, yet we are all crazy for thinking they would try something so outlandish. Thankfully, whatever the plan was, it failed, mostly because the people were aware of Project Blue Beam and were already expecting such lies. FYI: Backmasked translation of “New World Order” in Hebrew translates to “They are poor and have nothing”—sounds about right.

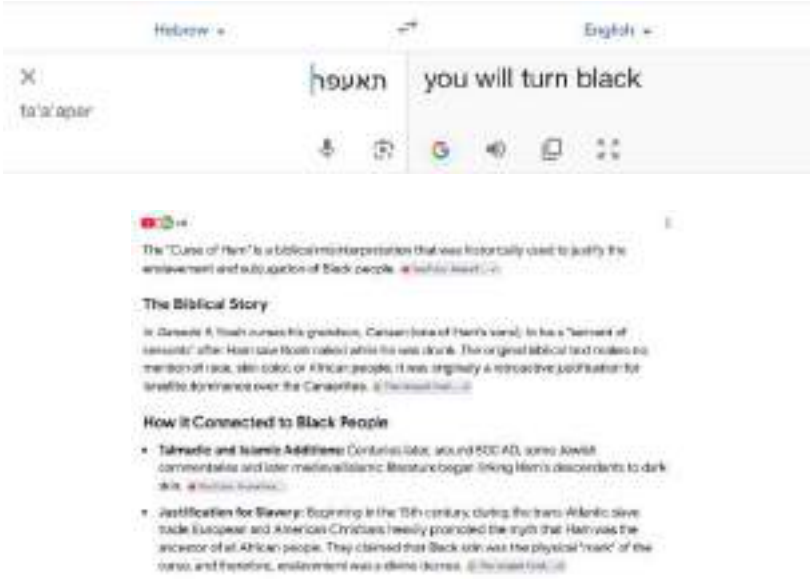
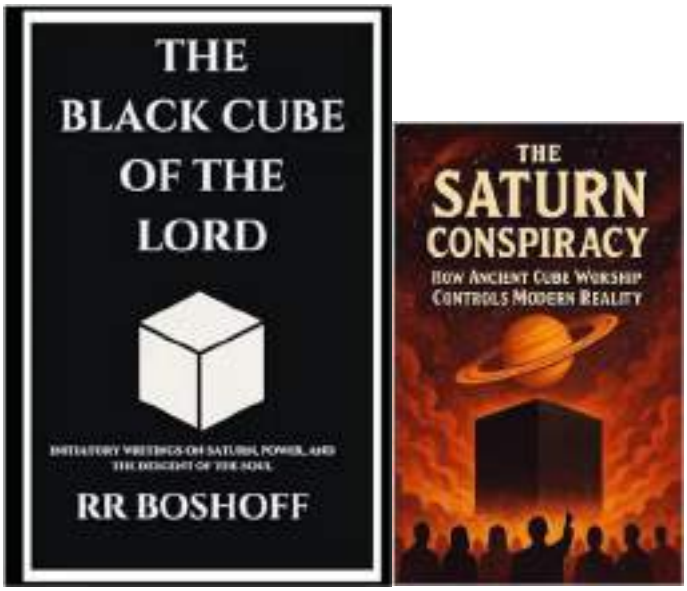
257) “Redshift and blueshift: What do they mean?”
https://www.space.com/25732-redshift-blueshift.html

The closest phrase to “Repeat” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘ta’a’aper’ and translates to “You will turn black”. This references the racist Curse of Ham narrative that Jewish people perpetuated that Black people are cursed because Ham saw Noah naked while he was drunk.



It isn’t just the Roman god Saturn that has a connection to the soul cube—his namesake planet also has such a connection.

Their hats have changed over the years, but they have previously worn this ridiculous looking piece (an some still do), which is a Saturn Hat. The planet Saturn, the sixth planet from the sun which NASA claims has a hexagon at its north pole is also heavily associated with the soul cube.



There's literally books about it.

They also tell us in tv and movies (which is an industry that Defendant Israel also controls) that such a device exists. We have the aforementioned examples from Transformers and Marvel movies/comics containing mind/soul related meanings. But there are other citations as well.

Plaintiff said he would cite this movie again and here we are. The carpet in The Shining was a hexagon.

The Shining was directed by Stanley Kubrick (Jewish) and like most top tier Hollywood flicks attention to detail is paid to everything and this carpet choice was one of those details. Its no coincidence he chose a hexagon. It's probably a coincidence that his last name is "Cube-brick", but interesting nonetheless. The Shining was a movie about a man in present day (1980's) that takes a job at a hotel in the Colorado mountains and ends up torturing his family by abusing them and attempting to kill them. It is revealed near the end of the movie that the main character, Jack Torrance (famously portrayed by Jack Nicholson) has always been at that hotel and that he has always tried to kill his family, effectively stuck in a perpetual loop of reality (a soul cube) wherein the anchored use him as a tool to torture the unanchored.

An image from the movie of Jack Torrance doing the “As above, so below” hand pose 60 years before the events of the movie take place proving that he has indeed always been at that hotel tormenting his family. (Reminder: The Star of Remphan/David is made up of an upward facing triangle and a downward facing triangle representing this principle.)

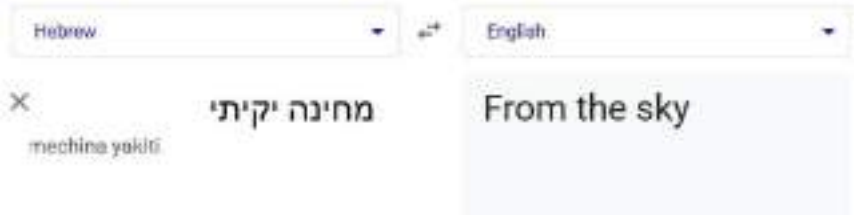
Not very different from Plaintiff’s reality wherein every month there is some new threat to his life, freedom, quality of life, or family, often from manufactured events from the Defendants. The constant flow of corruption exposed from the government scarcely leading to prosecutions despite public demands for them is also a form of torture. The Epstein client list and Biden open border with thousands upon thousands of children going missing are prime examples of horrific criminal acts that Defendant Blanche does nothing about. All of this psychological stress feeds the Soul Cube.

In the movie, Disclosure Day (with movie posters using heavy one eye symbolism) about alleged Roswell UFO incident that occurred in 1947 (masonic year), and was directed by Jewish Director Steven Spielsberg, we see that the little girl has a cube-lamp by her bed. These directors are very detail-oriented, and they aren’t just going to Walmart and picking out shit at random. There is a reason he wanted a cube as that lamp. There’s also butterflies, which is a reference to Project Monarch from the CIA about mind control.

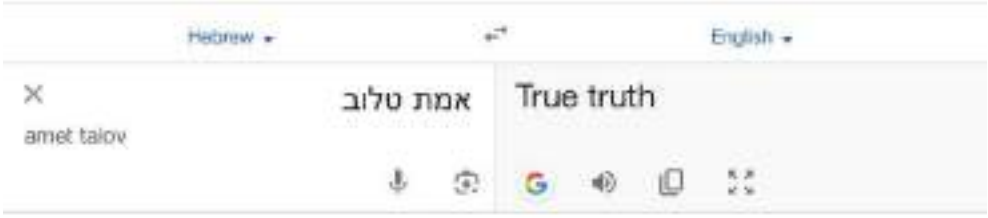
The Matrix movies also clearly explains that we are slaves and that the Matrix is a prison, even if it doesn't feel like it and we can't see the bars.[258] The character which does this explanation is Morpheus one of the prime leaders of the Resistance in the movie, and that name is from the Greek god of dreams (as we've established, Dreams = revolt)

In Matrix Resurrection, in the scheme where the main villain (portrayed by Neil Patrick Harris) freezes time, he explains that the Matrix is harvests energy from its inhabitants' negative emotions.[259] He also says that he has handlers all over the place and that "swarm mode" on these agents is fun.

The closest word to "Machine City" (the world ran by machines that keeps humans in the Matrix) in Hebrew is pronounced "mechina yakiti" and translates to "from the sky", exactly where the Anunnaki are allegedly from.



The freezing time scene in Matrix Resurrection is referred to in the movie as "bullet time". The closest word to this phrase backwards in Hebrew is pronounced 'amet talov' and translates to true truth.



"Swarm mode" was also mentioned in that scene and is used to combat people within the Matrix that become a problem. The closest word in Hebrew is pronounced 'isurim muda' and translates to "Conscious prohibitions"

Are these just more “coincidences” or do they use these movies to tell us certain things? As explained earlier in the Complaint: they tell us these things because it is part of their spiritual beliefs that they have to tell us what they are doing under Ma’at. Let’s revisit that, shall we?

On the previously cited article from a Rabbi about Ma’at, we cited this article:

What’s that icon he has there? Let’s zoom in to find out:

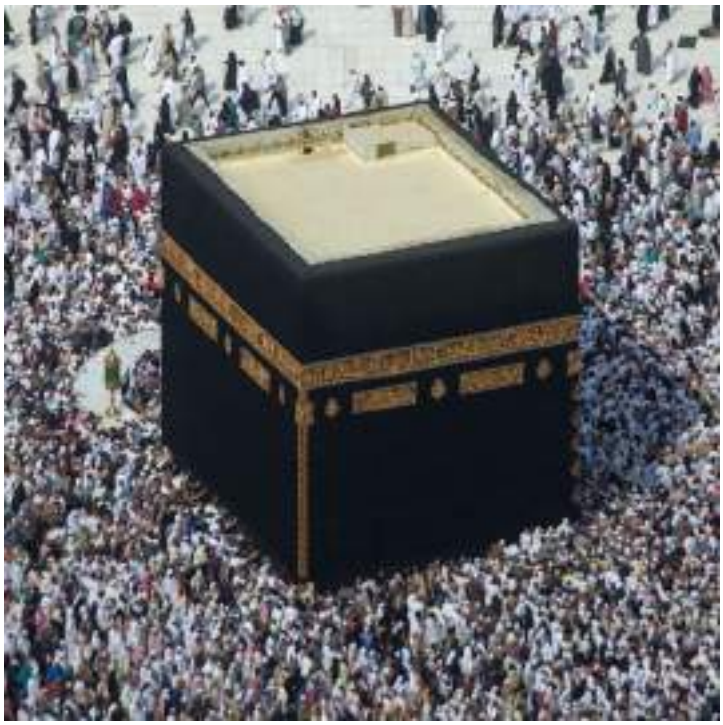
258) Morpheus: “It is the world that has been pulled over your eyes to blind you to the truth.”
Neo: “what Truth?”
M: “That you are a slave. Like everyone else, you were born into bondage... ...born into a prison that you cannot smell or taste or touch.”
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6rrPP-QOF3k

259) “Neo try save Trinity, but... | Matrix: Resurrection | MM Movie Moments”
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=i9DO13trW3A

Oh. A black cube. Wow. A Jewish website with a black cube appearing from an angle wherein its 2-dimentional representation has 6 points (a hexagon) being used as their icon for some reason. What are the odds? Pretty high when you consider that entire semitic religions are formed around it.



The Soul Cube actually explains a lot of things that otherwise have no real explanation. It explains the human/child sacrifice seen throughout history, and why people that engage in it seem to get rewarded. It explains the endless wars. It explains the open borders. It explains the constant manufactured inflation. It explains the manufactured viruses. It explains the manufactured energy crisis. It explains the rigged elections and why they will never stop them from being rigged. It explains the incessant lies and falsification of traumatic events such as 9/11. It explains why the government points out that the opposition committed a bunch of crimes but never does anything about it. It explains why pretty much every government around the world is irredeemably corrupt and effectively functions as one supermassive organized crime syndicate that no human could ever manage without supernatural intervention. It explains the intentional destruction of western countries perpetuated by the defendants. All of these things constitute a pretend world with the motive of psychological torment to feed the system. Putting it all together: the motive for their actions of keeping Plaintiff in this perpetual cycle of psychological torture is harvest his emotions, which is in violation of the Eight Amendment.

Plaintiff does not need to prove for certain that this Soul Cube exists. For a valid claim to be stated, he only needs to prove that it is plausible that it exists and that the defendants work in support of it (their own words show that they do), and he has accomplished that here. Discovery from Defendant Israel will provide additional evidence to prove that such a device does in fact exist.

(d) Anunnakian Deception

Most of the story of the Anunnaki is likely true, however, there is one lie from the Anunnaki that Plaintiff wants to dispel: the notion that these beings (the ancestors of most of the Defendants) are from space. Most of Plaintiff's research does not point to their origin being space, but actually downward. If they were truly from space, they would just give us real photos of space objects taken from space instead of producing obviously fake bullshit like the fake moon missions and the mars rover which are easily debunked. Despite Sumerian texts saying they came from the heavens, a high-flying helicopter or plane could easily trick ancient societies into believing they came from above. Furthermore, the notion that they were shipping gold back to their home planet doesn't make much sense whatsoever as such an advanced species could likely create their own gold and wouldn't need to ship it millions of miles across the solar system using who knows how much fuel in the process, and even less logical is the idea that they created humans to mine gold and facilitate this project. It is more likely that they are of terrestrial origin predating and possibly creating humans but have an advanced understanding of existence and have knowledge that sacrifices and torturing humans rewards them or possess awareness that our existence is a simulation and they use avatars to enter the simulation with the understanding that to them everything is fake and its essentially a video game. But the fact that they haven't left leans more towards them being stuck here just like us, however they know the rules better and part of how they kept passing those rules down may have been by going underground during certain cataclysmic events.

The language holds many clues that this is the case. Mantle (as in the Earth's mantle) is pronounced 'Ma'ata' and is associated with concealment Ma’at in ancient Egypt was the justice system that Jew today abide by as explained earlier in this filing. Ma’ata being so close in pronunciation to it means there is exceptional importance to it.

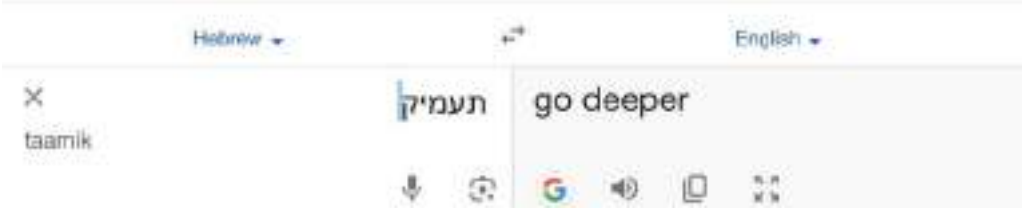
The old name for Egypt is “Kemet” and the closest word to “Kemet” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘taamik’ and translates to “go deeper”. Egypt is likely important for greater reasons than just the pyramids.



The closest word to “underwater” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘ratornu’ and translates to “our return”:

“Vehicles of Heaven” is what the Sumerians called the flying vehicles of the Anunnaki. The closest term to this phrase backwards in Hebrew translates to “It came from the salt lake”. The Dead Sea is one of the saltiest lakes in the world.

The Agarthans are a species alleged to live in an advanced society deep underground. The closest word to “Agarthan” backwards in Hebrew is pronounced ‘agratachan’ and translates to “gardener”.

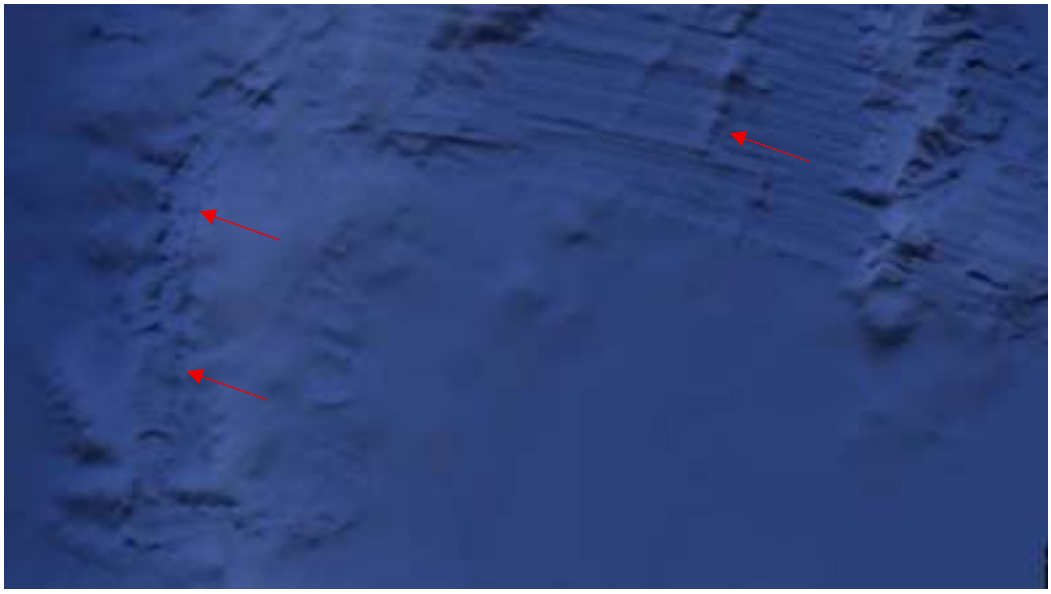
Billionaires buy bunkers.[260] Even Defendant Trump’s family buys islands with plenty of underground infrastructure.[261]

“Former Assistant Secretary of Housing and Urban Development under President George H W Bush, claims the US government secretly allocated $21 trillion between 1998 and 2015 to construct approximately 170 underground and undersea bunkers.”[262] The article states that there is no evidence to support her claim, but there is plenty of things that look like vast underground tunnels and facilities in the ocean on Google Maps. To be clear, even Google Maps isn’t evidence of space travel as most of the images are clearly not space images and are just stitched together ariel photographs as we can see from this image here from google maps.

That’s not a screenshot taken while it was loading, that is the end product from Google Maps of that area of Earth.



260) “Tech billionaires seem to be doom prepping. Should we all be worried?” https://www.bbc.com/news/articles/cly17834524o

There's some weird shit on Google Maps to say the least. To be clear, because these aren't ariel photographs of the earth, they must be computer generated in some manner, but Plaintiff does not know where the data being used to map these details stems from. Assuming these lines have some basis for their depiction on Google Earth, it is unquestionably proof of some kind of vast underground infrastructure. To say there's nothing supporting the claim of vast underground infrastructure is either deceptive or ignorant.

They also clearly express an interest in underground infrastructure as under Gaza there is hundreds of miles of tunnels.[263] Such a vast network of tunnels that Defendant Israel literally couldn't flood it with water when they tried.

Then you have this story, which has never been debunked.

LIZARD PEOLPE'S CATACOMB CITY HUNTED

Engineer Sinks Shaft Under Fort Moore Hill to Find Maze of Tunnels and Priceless Treasures of Legendary Inhabitants

BY JEAN BOSQUET

Busy Los Angeles, although little realizing it in the hustle and bustle of modern existence, stands above a lost city of catacombs filled with incalculable treasure and imperishable records of a race of humans further advanced intellectually and scientifically than even the highest type of present day peoples, in the belief of G. Warren Shufelt, geophysical mining engineer now engaged in an attempt to wrest from the lost city deep in the earth below Fort Moore Hill the secrets of the Lizard People of legendary fame in the medicine lodges of the American Indian.

So firmly does Shufelt and a little staff of assistants believe that a maze of catacombs and priceless golden tablets are to be found beneath downtown Los Angeles that the engineer and his aides have already driven a shaft 250 feet into the ground, the mouth of the shaft being on the old Banning property on North Hill street overlooking Sunset Boulevard, Spring street and North Broadway.

And so convinced is the engineer of the infallibility of a radio X-ray perfected by him for detecting the presence of minerals and tunnels below the surface of the ground, an apparatus with which he says he has traced a pattern of catacombs and vaults forming the lost city, that he plans to continue sending his shaft downward until he has reached a depth of 1000 feet before discontinuing operations.

LEGEND SUPPLIES CLEW

Public Library on West Fifth street to the Southwest Museum, on Museum Drive, at the foot of Mt. Washington.

"I knew I was over a pattern of tunnels," the engineer explained yesterday, "and I had mapped out the course of the tunnels, the position of large rooms scattered along the tunnel route, as well as the position of deposits of gold, but I couldn't understand the meaning of it."

Then Shufelt was taken to Little Chief Greenleaf of the medicine lodge of the Hopi Indians in Arizona, whose English name is L. Macklin. The Indian provided the engineer with a legend which, according to both men, dovetails exactly with what Shufelt says he has found.

FIRE DESTROYS ALL

According to the legend as imparted to Shufelt by Macklin, the people after the "great catastrophe" which occurred about 5000 years ago. This legendary catastrophe was in the form of a huge tongue of fire which "came out of the Southwest, destroying all life in its path."

Why does this exist? A reptile with human hands grabbing a child and bringing them underground. What the fuck?

The point is that it is not irrational to suspect that the Defendants' ancestors may have more roots underground than they do from space. If they truly did come from the sky, then the evidence of that is severely lacking.

Injunction Request #4

Standard: "To obtain an injunction, plaintiffs must show that they have suffered irreparable harm, that legal remedies such as monetary damages are inadequate, that the balance of hardships favors them, and that the injunction would not disserve the public interest." These principles were reaffirmed by the Supreme Court in eBay Inc. v. MercExchange (2006).

Plaintiff seeks an emergency injunction against Defendants State of Colorado, United States, Netanyahu, and the State of Israel for a complete and total cessation of all Israeli and globalist control over American laws, bills, policies, executive orders, procedures, political objectives, agendas, and operations involving domestic affairs to include influence over masonic organizations and individual states that operate within the United States. Plaintiff also seeks a complete cessation of all current and future psychological operations designed with the intention to manipulate the Plaintiff or achieve a political objective, to include the illusory left vs. right political battle.

Irreparable Harm: Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel run both sides of the political aisle within all levels of governments across the United States. They then use this influence to intentionally destroy it from within while perpetuating a fraudulent "right vs. left" narrative as a distraction for the masses.

The selected officials in our state have absolutely ravaged our state (people are moving out in droves, our economy is in the shitter, crime is skyrocketing, and they adamantly refuse to protect our children with stricter penalties for child rapists and only pretend to care about kids to usher in digital ID framework) resulting in a significant reduction in the quality of life for Plaintiff, and we cannot honestly say that they are even genuinely winning these elections to possess the right to do that. Our votes are diluted by fraud and the Plaintiff cannot vote his way out of it, nor is he allowed to exercise his state constitutional right to circumvent our corrupt legislature and pass laws through the People of Colorado. This destruction of our state is intentional and is being orchestrated by Defendants Netanyahu and Israel and executed by the remaining Defendants. There has already been great irreparable harm as the quality of life and stress created by their implementation of such a deranged legislature is a constant attack on Plaintiff's mental health.

Legal Remedies: The monetary request from the Israel is a contingency, but Plaintiff would prefer politicians within our government stop working at the behest of Israel to destroy us from within.

Balance of Hardships: Israel and its globalists spend billions of dollars every year purchasing American politicians and trying to destroy the United States from within.

American politicians such as Defendants Griswold, Weiser, Polis, Blanche, Trump and Wiles spend exert significant labor kowtowing to Israel and working to destroy the United States from within the confines of its own governments. A grant of this injunction is less work for them than they are doing right now.

Public Interest: The American Public demands free and fair elections free from fraud. The Public also demands less corruption from our selected officials, which are supposed to be elected by the People, but are instead selected and in some cases bred into satanic families specifically to hold certain roles. The American People do not want their country controlled by Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel, and their relationship as our parent country must cease.

Injunction Request #4 Summary

For the foregoing reasons Injunction Request #4 should be granted in an emergency fashion against the Defendants State of Colorado, the United States, Netanyahu, and the United States ordering a complete and total cessation of all Israeli and globalist control over American laws, bills, policies, executive orders, procedures, political objectives, agendas, and operations involving domestic affairs to include influence over masonic organizations and individual states that operate within the United States. Plaintiff also seeks a complete cessation of all current and future psychological operations designed with the intention to manipulate the Plaintiff or achieve a political objective, to include the illusory left vs. right political battle.

Injunction Request #5

Standard: "To obtain an injunction, plaintiffs must show that they have suffered irreparable harm, that legal remedies such as monetary damages are inadequate, that the balance of hardships favors them, and that the injunction would not disserve the public interest." These principles were reaffirmed by the Supreme Court in eBay Inc. v. MercExchange (2006).

Plaintiff seeks an emergency injunction against Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel for a complete and total cessation of the recycling of Mr. Freeman's soul and the harvesting of his emotions from any apparatus used or fueled by Defendant Israel.

Irreparable Harm: The recycling of Mr. Freeman soul in perpetuity against his will is inherently inhumane. Even worse is the defendants benefiting from a system in which they are incentivized to manufacture a constant state of chaos to harvest emotions from that system. This constitutes cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the Eight Amendment.

Legal Remedies: No amount of money will make up for the damage caused by the weaponization of this system against the Plaintiff, and the utilization of it against him must stop immediately.

Balance of Hardships: releasing one soul out of literally billions will not create any serious hardship for the Defendants. They can continue to feed on the billions of remaining souls until those people request their own injunction against this demonic system or an international injunction is granted against the entire scheme.

Public Interest: It is in the public's interest to reject the recycling of their souls and the harvesting of our emotions, and if humanity sees that one person can secure freedom from it, it will be a net positive for humankind.

Injunction Request #4 Summary

The Plaintiff has proved it plausible that the recycling of souls and the harvesting of human emotions is occurring and that Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel both understand and harness such a system for their own gain. Plaintiff has no legal requirement to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that such a system exists and must only prove that it is plausible, which he has done. The harm of establishing a system wherein the Defendants are incentivized to create negative emotions within Plaintiff's life constitutes cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the Eighth Amendment and the usage of such a system against Mr. Freeman must cease immediately. No amount of money will resolve this claim. The hardship for the loss of one soul out of billions will have a negligible impact against the Defendants. The public seeing one human secure freedom for his soul from this demonic system will be a net positive for humankind and may inspire others to seek their own freedom from this scheme. Accordingly, Plaintiff seeks cessation of the recycling of Mr. Freeman's soul and the harvesting of his emotions from any such system used by Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel.

SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY

In this case we deal with multiple forms of sovereign immunity, and Plaintiff will address each one separately.

International Sovereign Immunity

Plaintiff brings a suit against Defendant Netanyahu and the State of Israel, two "foreign" entities. To overcome this, Plaintiff presents three arguments:

A. Israel is a de facto parent country of the United States, as it is so controlled by Israel and the Jewish People that we are not—and have never been—sovereign to the Canaanite lineage. Defendant Netanyahu said himself that the United States would not exist without Jews.[264] Taking into account Freemasonry, which has always been a Jewish-controlled secret society and the fact that many of the founding fathers of this country and most presidents were members of this secret society confirm this. Their influence over all federal agencies and state governments and governments across the world is of such a large degree that it is fundamentally impossible for any group of human beings to maintain a network of corruption so vast without it collapsing without a supernatural component holding it together. Supernatural elements such as this cannot exist within base reality, because base reality must be the highest realm and thus there is no dimension for supernatural forces such as this to exist. Therefore, we must exist within a simulation (AKA a 'Matrix', which is a prison as explicitly described in the movie). The vast organized corruption that occurs globally (all coordinated by Israel) itself proves Plaintiff's existence within a simulation. Within that simulation, Israel and its people are the agents guiding humanity--including Plaintiff—to a nefarious end point that no rational person would consent to, and most of the country isn't, yet it doesn't matter because they own the corrupt politicians such as the remaining defendants, and always have. Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel are the wardens and the remaining defendants are prison guards.

B. 28 U.S. Code § 1605 (a) (2) & (3) Exemptions Apply. The State of Israel has been purchasing our politicians both legally through AIPAC and AIPAC affiliated groups and campaign donations to Defendant Trump as well as illegally through a vast bribing scheme such as the manner in which Republican New Mexico State Senator Jay Block and the failed bribe of Kari Lake were purchased, this all constitutes commercial activity. They are purchasing our politicians to control our country. Jewish Reptilian stakeholders such as George Soros purchase politicians on the left and pay for protest organizations to create chaos and cause the collapse of the United States from within and sew seeds of discourse despite Soros' objectives and Israel's objectives being one and the same. Despite ostensible disagreements between Griswold and Trump on smaller matters from the globalist perspective, they all agree on the bigger points which are the points given to them by our parent country of Israel. This commercial activity has decimated the State of Colorado as it is intentionally being destroyed from within by these purchased politicians.

C. 42 U.S. Code § 1983 states that "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress." No Supreme Court determination has been made as to whether "foreign" officials (especially those that exert significant control over domestic affairs and policies) are immune under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, therefore Defendant Netanyahu remains liable under 42 U.S. Code § 1983.

Federal Sovereign Immunity.

A. United States Sovereign Immunity has been waived. Plaintiff fulfilled the requirements of a satisfactory claim under the Federal Tort Claims Act, to include notifying the government of the pending suit against them in advance.

B. 42 U.S. Code § 1983 provides that "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress." While applicable only to state laws, this does not prevent applicability to the federal defendants that under color of Colorado state laws permit fraudulent voter registrations and universal mail-in voting to deny Plaintiff's Fourteenth Amendment right and his Ninth Amendment implied right to participate in elections free from fraud. Colorado state laws providing for election policies that allow fraud are in direct violation of the Enforcement Act of 1870, which was passed in support of the Fourteenth Amendment to craft elections free from fraud. The Enforcement Act of 1870 makes clear that no state election official can make laws or policies that allow for fraudulent voter registrations or fraudulent votes. The Federal Defendants cause Plaintiff to be subjected to this unconstitutional abuse in violation of 42 U.S. Code § 1983 by failing to enforce or underenforcing the Enforcement Act of 1870 against the officials in the State of Colorado.

C. United States Sovereign Immunity is also waived under the Administrative Procedures Act for non-monetary claims. While the United States Congress has strayed from the inherent concept of needing authority vested into them explicitly by the Constitution to pass laws, the Enforcement Act of 1870 was a federal law passed directly to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment and Fifteenth Amendments, and had many provisions which made election fraud and election fraud enabling policies unlawful, thus cementing into law that secure elections are a constitutional right under the Fourteenth Amendment. Likewise it is an implied right under the Ninth Amendment through the Fourteenth Amendment that Plaintiff is entitled to elections free from fraud anywhere in these United States. No voting system by which the person making a vote cannot be traced back to that specific person to confirm they voted the way in which their vote was tallied is constitutional.

D. Sovereign Immunity does not prevent Plaintiff from suing government officials in their individual capacity when they violate the Constitution--This is because they are not acting on behalf of the state in this situation. Ex parte Young, 209 U.S. 123 (1908). The government has no "'discretion' to violate the Federal Constitution; its dictates are absolute and imperative." Owen v. City of Independence, 445 U.S. 622 (1980).

Colorado Sovereign Immunity.

A. Sovereign Immunity for the Colorado State Defendants has been waived through the Colorado Governmental Immunity Act, Waiver exemption #5: "A dangerous condition of any public hospital, jail, public facility located in any park or recreational area maintained by a public entity". Plaintiff has shown that due to the scale of organized corruption moving in lockstep across the planet to enslave humanity that is not possible within base reality—all facilitated at the behest of Defendant Israel--that he must be residing in a simulation. Whether that simulation is biological or technological in-nature would constitute a "jail" for purposes of the law. Through rigged elections facilitated by the Colorado State Defendants and Israel and enabled by the Federal Defendants, Plaintiff is not able to vote himself out of the far left shithole that Colorado is becoming, including using taxpayer money to keep soft-on-crime policies that no grassroot support exists for and fails everywhere else they do it and using taxpayer money to fight to keep violent gang members and rapists in the country illegally which constitute dangerous conditions within that jail.

B. 42 U.S. Code § 1983 provides that "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress." Colorado state laws and policies providing for administration of elections that allows for fraud are in direct violation of the Enforcement Act of 1870 which was passed in support of the Fourteenth Amendment, granting an implied right (Ninth Amendment) to elections free from fraud. The Enforcement Act of 1870 makes clear that no state election official can make laws or policies that allow for fraudulent voter registrations or acceptance of fraudulent ballots for tallying. State law also prohibits these kinds of policies, which is also ignored. The Colorado State Defendants maintain an unlawful policy wherein inflated voter rolls with many registrations as possible are retained, so that extra ballots are always floating around the state in flagrant violation of the Enforcement Act of 1870 and Colorado Revised Statutes § 1-1-103. This intentionally allows ballot harvesters to collect those extra ballots across the state, but primarily in nursing homes and homeless facilities, and ensure they are submitted with or without the actual voter to cement far left control of Colorado in spite of what the People of Colorado actually want, which is also in direct violation of the Enforcement Act of 1870 and C.R.S. § 1-1-103, which is in turn violating Plaintiff's constitutional right to elections free from fraud.

C. Sovereign Immunity does not prevent Plaintiff from suing government officials in their individual capacity when they violate the Constitution--This is because they are not acting on behalf of the state in this situation. Ex parte Young, 209 U.S. 123 (1908). The government has no "'discretion' to violate the Federal Constitution; its dictates are absolute and imperative." Owen v. City of Independence, 445 U.S. 622 (1980).

D. The Eleventh Amendment was never intended to provide immunity for states against residents of their own state. The Eleventh Amendments states that, "The Judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State."

Nowhere in the Eleventh Amendment does it state or imply that citizens of a state cannot sue their own state—many court rulings citing it as a basis for dismissal acknowledge as much. If Congress wanted the Eleventh Amendment to protect states from suits by their own citizens, they would have written the Amendment in a manner indicated that--because they did not, we can infer that the intention of the Eleventh Amendment was not to protect states from suits stemming from their own citizens. Nor has any federal law or the Colorado Constitution ascribed such broad immunity to Colorado. Thus, the only way a court can reach the determination that the Eleventh Amendment protects states against suits from their own citizens is through judicial gymnastics, and previous decisions determining otherwise should be overturned.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF
INJUNCTION AGAINST DEFENDANTS GRISWOLD, WEISER, AND HAMMACK – OBSTRUCTION OF BALLOT INITIATIVE

~~Mr. Freeman has a state constitutional right to pursue ballot initiatives to circumvent the state legislature as prescribed in Article V, Sec 1, Para 2 Article V, Sec 1, Para (1) and (2) of the Colorado Constitution. Mr. Freeman also has a federal and state right to free speech as established by the First Amendment of the federal Constitution, enforceable on the states through the Fourteenth Amendment of the federal Constitution.~~

~~Mr. Freeman executed his state constitutional right to file ballot initiatives to circumvent the legislature to attempt to stop election cheating within the state of Colorado and ensure our elections are free from organized election cheating. Mr. Freeman's ballot initiative was called the "Colorado Election Integrity Protection Act" and was designed to stop the many different ways in which systematic election cheating occurs.~~

~~Defendants Griswold and Weiser are members of Colorado's Title Board which has one sole purpose bestowed upon them by the Colorado Constitution within review of ballot initiatives, which is to determine if a proposed ballot initiative constitutes a single subject or not. Whether the state legislature even possesses the authority to propose state constitutional amendments to delegate powers on ballot initiatives that they never possessed to begin with is a different question and one that is ultimately not reached here, because the Defendants obstructed Plaintiff's ballot initiative through defendant Hammack on alternative grounds~~

~~that has nothing to do with their sole purpose within the ballot initiative process. The grounds indicated in Defendant Hammack's email to her coworkers shortly after the rejection of the submission are demonstrably false and nonsensical (it was rejected for the false belief that Plaintiff and his cosponsor had not gone back through the review and comment period) proving that the basis given to Plaintiff was timewasting nonsense. Most of the grounds cited in the email to Plaintiff rejecting the initiative are not on their website nor within state law and seem to be wholly fabricated, proving malicious intent. Most importantly, the bases for rejection of the ballot initiative were sent by Defendant Hammack after expiration of the deadline for ballot initiative, meaning that even if Plaintiff were The Flash and could type at 10000 words per minute to make the changes and resubmit it would not have made a difference.~~

~~Despite formal notice that they would be sued if they did not cooperate with their statutory purpose, Defendants Griswold, Weiser, and Hammack made no attempt to resolve this issue absent this Complaint.~~

~~In addition to violating Plaintiff's state Constitutional rights bestowed upon him by Article V, Sec 1, Para 2 Article V, Sec 1, Para (1) and (2) of the Colorado Constitution, Defendants' illegal actions violate the First Amendment and "The loss of First Amendment freedoms, for even minimal periods of time, unquestionably constitutes irreparable injury." Elrod v. Burns, 427 U.S. 347 (1976) referencing New York Times Co. v. United States, 403 U. S. 713 (1971).~~

~~The purpose of Plaintiff's ballot initiative was to permanently stop election cheating that is ravaging the state of Colorado, which can only be done through non-corrupt election officials using their authority to establish rules to protect against the many different methods of election cheating and enforce those rules, or granting of an emergency injunction to order~~

~~Defendants Griswold, Weiser, and Hammack to cease their obstruction of Plaintiff's ballot initiative. Unfortunately because of the time it takes to write out this Complaint and the time it would take the courts to get around to ruling on it, this injunction will likely become moot, which is why Plaintiff has the monetary claims against them as a contingency for the damages their corruption caused.~~

~~Obstructing Plaintiff's ballot initiative is more work for the Defendants than if they had just stuck to their limited state constitutional role and held the title board hearing for Plaintiff's ballot initiative. Thus, any increased hardship is a result of their own illegitimate conduct and unlawful policies.~~

~~The People of Colorado want elections secure from organized election cheating, this is made clear by looking at almost any post from Defendant Griswold and you will see a flurry of Coloradans calling out our rigged elections. Had Plaintiff's ballot measure made it to the ballot it has overwhelming odds of success as Plaintiff conducted a Poll with the primary tenants of the proposed ballot to include the death penalty for those engaging in systematic election cheating of over 10,000 or more votes (later changed to life w/o parole to streamline support even more) about the initiative on X that received hundreds of votes from people all over the state and the measure had overwhelming success. Thus, the public interest is heavily in favor of this ballot initiative being allowed to proceed.~~

~~In a non-corrupt court system, the injunction requests would be handled in an emergency fashion as they do in other court cases for emergency injunctions across the country and an emergency hearing would be scheduled to discuss these matters and they would be ruled on in an objective manner in an emergency fashion. However, in our court system the defendants will likely delay their appearances despite being well aware of the Complaint and their legal responsibility to show up once they are aware of the complaint~~

~~they will hope to drag out their appearance enough to moot the issue in the hopes of Plaintiff not fulfilling some obscure requirement resulting in the case getting dismissed without their appearance at all, the clerk will take eons to file the case because they want to ensure it goes to a particular judge so the result is pre-determined, and even after it is submitted to a judge that judge will sit on it until the injunction request is moot. Nonetheless, the court should go with the former scenario because that is what our court system is supposed to be instead of what it is.~~

~~For these reasons, a preliminary injunction is appropriate and this Court Defendants Griswold, Weiser, and Hammack to cease their obstruction of Plaintiff's ballot initiative.~~

The Defendants have a legal responsibility to make an appearance when they are aware that litigation has been filed against them. Plaintiff made the defendants aware of this litigation as well as the emergency nature of it and the defendants maliciously refused to fulfill that responsibility, and due to them not making an appearance in a timely manner, this injunction request is moot. However, this request for emergency will continue to exist as a placeholder to commemorate their blatant disregard for the laws they pretend to uphold. Its disgraceful behavior and the fact that the courts are more outraged reveals the farcical nature of our nation's judicial system.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF – VIOLATION OF FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE RULE 4

The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 4(d)(1) states that "An individual, corporation, or association that is subject to service under Rule 4(e), (f), or (h) has a duty to avoid unnecessary expenses of serving the summons. The plaintiff may notify such a defendant that an action has been commenced and request that the defendant waive service of a summons."

On May 22, 2026, Plaintiff mailed a physical copy of the Request to Waive Service of Summons forms, the completed Civil Action Cover Sheet, the completed Pro Se Complaint form, the operative Complaint, and the Certificate of Service for the foregoing documents to all defendants' respective government offices as specified on the Certificate of Service enclosed with Plaintiff's Motion for Hearing on this issue.

On May 26, 2026, Plaintiff emailed all Defendants at their corresponding email addresses a copy of the Request to Waive Service of Summons forms, the completed Civil Action Cover Sheet, the completed Pro Se Complaint form, the operative Complaint, and the Certificate of Service for the foregoing documents as also specified on the enclosed copy of the Certificate of Service enclosed with Plaintiff's Motion for Hearing on this issue. The Court's Human Resources email addresses (COD_HR_Requests@cod.uscourts.gov & cod_hrd@cod.uscourts.gov) were copied on those emails and can act as witnesses for their transmission to the Defendants. Plaintiff also clarified that he intended to send those emails out the day prior, but he had forgot that it was a holiday. Plaintiff also informed the Defendants that there were multiple emergency injunction requests within the Complaint and requested that the make their appearance immediately instead of delaying it.

On May 27, 2026, Plaintiff filed a Notice of Issuance of Requests to Waive Service of Summons to All Defendants and emailed all Defendants a copy of that filing in accordance with the Certificate of Service in ECF No. 4, notifying this Court and all Defendants that the Defendants have been made aware of this litigation.

Cornell Law school cites "New Rule 4(c)(2)(D) permits a court to penalize a person who avoids service by mail. It authorizes the court to order a person who does not return the notice and acknowledgment form within 20 days after mailing to pay the costs of service, unless that person can show good cause for failing to return the form. The purpose of this provision is to encourage the prompt return of the form so that the action can move forward without unnecessary delay. Fairness requires that a person who causes another additional and unnecessary expense in effecting service ought to reimburse the party who was forced to bear the additional expense."

The Defendants have no good cause for failing to return the form as some of them were campaigning and made appearances in other lawsuits during this time. Their non-appearance in this case resulted in the moot status of the First Claim for Relief (injunction request) in this suit. Accordingly, they must be ordered to reimburse Plaintiff for the costs of formal service of the Complaint.

The unlawful violation of Fed. R. of Civ. P. Rule 4(d)(1) from the Defendants was intentional.

The unlawful refusal to make an appearance in this case in a timely manner from the Defendants was done with malice or with reckless indifference to judicial law and Plaintiff's constitutional right to seek redress against them from the courts.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF
INJUNCTION AGAINST DEFENDANTS GRISWOLD AND WEISER – UNLAWFUL ELECTION PROCEDURES

The Enforcement Act of 1870 was explicitly passed in support of the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Amendments of the U.S. Constitution and is still an active law to the present day. Sections 19-21 of the Enforcement Act make it a federal crime for election officials to commit acts that allow for fraudulent voter registrations or fraudulent ballots to be submitted. It is also against state law to allow fraud in elections. See C.R.S. § 1-1-103.

Section 19 of the Enforcement Act States that,

> "That if at any election for representative or delegate in the Congress of the United States person shall… compel or induce by any such means, or otherwise, any officer of an election in any such State or Territory to receive a vote from a person not legally qualified or entitled to vote…or knowingly and willfully receive the vote of any person not entitled to vote... or aid, counsel, procure, or advise any such voter, person, or officer to do any act hereby made a crime, or to omit to do any duty the omission of which is hereby made a crime, or attempt to do so, every such person shall be deemed guilty of a crime, and shall for such crime be liable to do. prosecution in any court of the United States of competent jurisdiction, and, on conviction thereof shall be punished hy a fine not exceeding hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years, or both, in the discretion of the court, and shall pay the costs of prosecution."

Section 20 of the Enforcement Act states that,

"[I]f, at any registration of voters for an election for representative or delegate in the Congress of the United States, any person shall knowingly… do any unlawful act to secure registration for himself or any other person…or compel or induce, by any of such means or other unlawful means any officer of registration any person not legally entitled thereto… or by any such means, or other unlawful means, induce any officer of registration to violate or refuse to comply with his duty, or any law regulating the same; or knowingly and wilfully receive the vote of any person not entitled to vote… or aid, counsel, procure, or advise any such voter, person, or officer to do any act hereby made a crime, or to omit any act, the omission of which is hereby made a crime, every such person shall be deemed guilty of a crime and shall be liable to prosecution and punishment therefor, as provided in section nineteen of this act for persons guilty of any of the crimes therein specified."

Section 21 of the Enforcement Act states that,

"[W]henever, by the laws of any State or Territory, the name of any candidate or person to be voted for as representative or delegate in Congress shall be required to be printed, written, or contained in any ticket or ballot with other candidates or persons to be voted for at the same election for State, territorial, municipal, or local officers, it shall be sufficient prima facie evidence, either for the purpose of indicting or convicting any person charged with voting or attempting or offering to vote, unlawfully under the provisions of the preceding sections , or for committing either of the offenses thereby created, to prove that the person.so charged or indicted, voted, or attempted or offered to vote, such ballot or ticket, or committed either of the offenses named in the preceding sections of this act with reference to such ballot. And the proof and establishment of such facts shall be taken, held, and deemed to be presumptive evidence that such person voted. or attempted or offered to vote, for such representative or delegate, as the case may be, or that such offense was committed with reference to the election of such representative or delegate, and shall be sufficient to warrant his conviction."

The purpose of the aforementioned sections of the Enforcement Act of 1870 passed in support of the Fourteenth Amendment show that the intention of the Congress was to have elections free from fraud. There is further an implied right to fair elections through the Ninth Amendment that further supplements this. Colorado's universal mail-in ballot laws and procedures as well as the ballot harvesting policy—despite being convenient—allowing ballots to be submitted without proof that the lawful voter whose name is on the ballot actually completed and submitted their own ballot—is a policy allowing for fraudulent ballots to make their way into Colorado elections. The "signature validation" is extremely inadequate for purposes of detecting fraud and fails even more when no follow up is done on the rejected ballots that do not submit their signature verification form to ensure that the person whose name is on the ballot actually submitted that ballot—because if they did follow up on all signature rejections it would reveal how rampant a problem fraudulent ballot submissions are and a lot of people would need to be prosecuted and sent to jail.

Moreover, as we've seen in other states and is likely going on in Colorado; overnight ballot drops of inexplicable ballots are also a frequent occurrence. Without any traceability of which election official accepted a ballot, the system is intentionally flawed and ripe for cheating. Each ballot should be affixed with traceable initials of which election official accepted the ballot so if fraudulent ballot submissions are later detected in bulk, we will know who to send to prison over it. The current system just has a bunch of ballots showing up and no way to trace where all of them came from and who brought them in. Thus, a chain of custody is necessary.

Universal mail-in ballot submission, accepting ballots without checking IDs, and not tracking the election official that is vouching that the ballot was lawfully submitted leaves Colorado elections as corrupt as they are in places such as North Korea or Russia, and violates Plaintiff's Fourteenth and Ninth Amendment rights to secure elections in an irreparable fashion as it nullifies his lawful vote.

Voting machines or electronic vote counting equipment should have no capability to connect to the internet during an election—to include wifi cards being installed on them. This is because internet connectivity may be used to inject result manipulation into the tabulation. Whereas Defendant Griswold has a history of refusing to remove them. Risk limiting audits and audits such as Clear Ballot Group's audit of El Paso County elections are farcical and hide their farcical nature behind complexity. Even electronic voting machines must have traceability of each vote to the voter that made them and the comparison of these should be easily traceable to the tabulation. When fraud occurs involving voting machines, the person(s) that coded the machines or the person(s) that manipulated the machines unlawfully should be prosecuted.

Violation of the Fourteenth Amendment has historically generally been treated as irreparable. Moreover, it is irreparable because fraudulent votes nullify Plaintiff's vote and infringements on voting rights have historically been held to be an irreparable harm.

The monetary request from the State of Colorado is a contingency, but Plaintiff would prefer a genuinely secure election instead of a bunch of money while still living in a corrupted hellhole. The money from the state of Colorado will be used in pursuit of improving the legitimacy of state and federal elections, which Plaintiff's ballot initiative was set to do anyways.

It is Defendant Griswold's job to secure Colorado elections against fraud. Basic measures to prevent fraud such as cessation of universal mail in voting, ballot harvesting, and accepting ballots without checking the identification of the voter. It is critical the Colorado election officials establish a mechanism for tracing ballot acceptance to a specific election official, ensure the removal of internet capabilities from electronic voting equipment during an election, ensure that voting machines can trace each ballot submission to the specific voter that made it to the tabulation, and ensuring illegitimate voters to include deceased voters and voters no longer residing in the state get permanently removed from voter rolls prior to an election. The current system is clearly corrupted and Defendant Griswold has no desire to stop election cheating so long as it keeps her and her state codefendants in office. Any hardship created by implementation of these rules is part of the hardship of being Secretary of State of Colorado and complying with state and federal law. Instead of doing that, Griswold decides to gaslight the state about our "Gold standard" elections and how safe and secure voting is in Colorado despite the mountain of evidence indicating otherwise.

Defendant Weiser's job is to interpret and enforce laws in a non-partisan fashion and represent the People of Colorado and state interests in legal matters. Part of that responsibility is to ensure that fellow defendants such as Griswold comply with state and federal law. Instead of doing that, he opts to use his office in the most partisan manner as possible while election fraud proliferates (conveniently benefiting himself) and grandstand about how many frivolous lawsuits he can file against Defendant Trump, even though behind the scenes they all work for Defendant Netanyahu and will push forward Defendant Israel's objectives regardless of the kabuki theater show they put on for the public.

Our entire system of government is based upon our right to vote for or against elected officials, and maintaining a system that allows fraud or manipulation converts us from a Constitutional Republic to an oligarchy, which is what our nation is today. The People of Colorado are well aware of how farcical our elections are across the country and in Colorado. The requests made by this injunction request are overwhelmingly supported by Republicans and Democrats alike. Even most Democrats, to include the "people of color" that would allegedly be disenfranchised by having a voting id requirement support showing an ID card to vote and other basic precautions against election cheating like clean voter rolls. The only reason one would not want these commonsense policies is because they are planning to cheat or are extremely misinformed.

For the foregoing reasons this injunction request be granted in an emergency fashion against Defendants Griswold and Weiser ordering them to facilitate elections free from fraud to include; ending ballot harvesting, requiring voters residing in state to show identification to submit a ballot, requiring election officials to annotate the ballots that they collect from voters in some manner that allows traceability of which election official accepted each ballot for tabulation, ensuring all voting machines and vote counting machines do not have hardware that allows for internet connection during an election, ensure that voting machines can trace each ballot submission to the specific voter that made it to the tabulation, cleaning of voter rolls to include identification and removal of all illegitimate voters, and prosecuting all election fraud to include programmers of election voting equipment that are identified as facilitating election fraud. Defendant Weiser should be ordered to align the State's position with state and federal law regarding elections including the Enforcement Act of 1870 sections, 19 though 21, and C.R.S. § 1-1-103.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
INJUNCTION AGAINST DEFENDANTS BLANCHE, WILES, AND TRUMP – OBSTRUCTION OF FEDERAL INVESTIGATIONS INTO ELECTION CRIMES

Plaintiff has proven that secure elections are a constitutional right as established by the Enforcement Act's intention to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment and is an implied right through the Ninth Amendment. It is not only unlawful for states to conduct elections in a manner allowing for rampant election rigging, it is fundamentally unconstitutional.

Merely creating new policies or election framework for conduct of elections is not enough, and the ONLY way in which we see improvements in our elections going forward is if persons that cheated in previous elections or orchestrated election cheating are prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law to prevent them from cheating again and to discourage others from doing it in the future. Failure to prosecute those that cheated or organized election fraud in previous elections guarantees that future elections will be equally corrupt.

Plaintiff has shown many such activities that the federal government does not investigate or intentionally under-investigates so as to protect the election cheating infrastructure despite creating the illusion that they are cracking down on election crimes through paltry indictments of lone wolf actors and civil cases, all of which will accomplish nothing to secure elections. See Election Integrity Section of this Complaint.

The federal government is more than competent enough to conduct thorough investigation into the organized election cheating Plaintiff pointed out to them. They know how to conduct raids without leaks, indict leakers of law enforcement activities and persons that engage in evidence destruction or concealment, subpoena witnesses, organizations, and suspects, conduct raids for seizures of documents to secure evidence before, flip lower level election criminals to get higher-level orchestrators, and make arrests to take down national level criminal networks. This is literally the purpose of the RICO Act, which includes fraud of multiple different types as predicate offenses. However, they choose to feign incompetence to allow deep state criminals masquerading as investigators to subvert the investigative process with impunity and without genuine oversight, such as the individual that leaked raid info to Fulton County to allow them to destroy evidence which is a felonious crime that the government chooses to neglect, signaling to other deep state criminals that they can subvert federal investigations without consequence.

There exists credible rumors that the federal government is blocking investigations into election fraud, which are further supported by the pathetic results they have had thus far in dealing with the issue.

Defendant Griswold's policies allowing rampant election fraud to occur within our state constitute crimes under the Enforcement Act of 1870. Defendant Weiser's interpretation of state laws that allow for rampant fraud to continue in our state constitute crimes under the Enforcement Act of 1870. Many lower level offenses behind this election fraud racket, to include Griswold and Weiser's crimes continue to occur because the federal government has a policy wherein investigations into election fraud are obstructed or slow-walked into futility because of Defendant Blanche's, Wiles', and Trump's policy of non-enforcement of criminal statutes constituting election crimes.

Fourteenth Amendment rights are frequently determined to constitute irreparable harm in many court cases. Defendants Griswold, Weiser, and Polis have destroyed the quality of life in Colorado in line with Defendant Netayahu's and the State of Israel's plan, and they, along with the rest of the demons in the legislature, have done so without satisfactory establishment that they won their elections without systematic election cheating. The lack of serious consequences for the people that have been rigging elections across the country, to include Colorado, ensures that the controlled demolition of this once-beautiful state with a high quality of life will continue to occur for many years to come. Colorado's election laws are unlawful as they constitute fraud. This constitutes irreparable injury and must be rectified. Furthermore, voting rights violations under the Fourteenth Amendment also frequently constitute irreparable injury, and Defendants Griswold and Weiser have led to the dilution of Plaintiff's voting rights due to fraudulent votes being accepted by the State of Colorado.

The monetary request from the United States Government is a contingency, but Plaintiff would prefer prosecutions over the money. Most of the money from the state of federal government will be used in pursuit of improving the legitimacy of state and federal elections, which Plaintiff's ballot initiative was set to do anyways.

Prosecuting crimes is literally the DOJ's job, thus it cannot be a "hardship". All they have to do is list any policies restraining election crime investigators and prosecutors, and treat the investigation into election crimes like they treated January 6 trespassers and go after them with equal vigor. Better yet, treat election crimes and prosecution of those crimes as if they were a multinational organization that were organizing attacks against Jewish people and synagogues all over the country. They should start with the complaints, such as Plaintiff's letter to them from over a year ago, this Complaint, and the thousands of complaints sent to DOJ and FBI over the years pointing out election crimes, and put non-deep state investigators on it that are competent and laser focused at getting results. If they did that, we would have the most secure elections in the tri-galaxy area.

The American People, and the People of Colorado are sick and tired of our elections being rigged and the people doing the rigging and the protection of those that rigged the election getting away with it. The American People should decide who represents us and that should not be influenced by globalist Israeli policies undermining us from within.

Plaintiff seeks an Injunction against Defendants' Blanche, Wiles, and Trump blocking them from any policy which restrains investigations into election crimes and ordering them to comply with Defendant Trump's executive order and their constitutional mandate to secure elections from fraud and prosecute election cheaters. Plaintiff further seeks an order requiring the Department of Justice to release a monthly report indicating how many people across the country have been arrested and indicted for election crimes, categorized by whether the individuals arrested are suspected of being low level, medium-level, or high level election criminals, and how many prosecutions of deep state actors that undermined these investigations or prosecutions (to include court clerks that rig case assignments) have occurred within that month, and a separate cumulative table of these figures since the implementation of the order. For reference a county clerk and recorder would constitute a "medium-level" arrest, and a secretary of state, attorney general, or wealthy heavily-involved donor or board member to an organization which orchestrated larger election rigging schemes would constitute a "high-level" arrest. This is the only way we will see a damn thing get done when it comes to securing our elections against fraud.

FIFTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
INJUNCTION AGAINST DEFENDANTS THE STATE OF COLORADO, THE UNITED STATES, NETANYAHU, AND THE STATE OF ISRAEL – TREASON, BRIBERY, AND UNLAWFUL INFLUENCING OPERATIONS

It is abundantly clear that the State of Israel and Israeli-globalist interests have complete control of many countries across the world, the United States Government, and many of our states to include Colorado, to a degree that exceeds human capability. While this influence has likely always existed, they are becoming increasingly obvious and demented in recent years as it becomes increasingly apparent that the end objective is the enslavement of humanity through establishment of digital ID through these deranged "age attestation" and digital ID bills we see popping up in both red and blue states, and across the world at the same time, as well as the open borders policy that pretty much every western nation adopted over the last ten years to the obvious detriment of their countries to include the U.S. government funding our own invasion through heavy funding to NGOs involved in human trafficking. While Defendant Trump did start deportations of criminal illegal aliens again, they did try to sneak in some globalist agenda items attached to those deportations (biometrics at airports ad flock cameras, both of which will undoubtedly be shared with Defendants Netanyahu and Israel). The open border thing was done to destroy national identity, which will make it easier to set up the enslavement infrastructure that is digital ID.

This influence is facilitated through the use of illegal bribes, lobbying, donations to AIPAC and AIPAC affiliated groups, blackmail operations, and mind-control programs such as MK Ultra. In some cases it appears that children are raised into satanic families and made to ensure sexual abuse to brainwash them into irredeemable compliance with their handler's directions, then the successful subjects to this horrific conduct are strategically placed in positions of influence to destroy our countries from within. But even an organized racket involving these vicious tactics could not keep such a large network of corruption functioning for so long without collapse.

This control is cemented through the use of propaganda and psychological operations, to include the falsification of many events throughout history to either distract or manipulate the population into going along with their nefarious agenda. Another frequent tactic is to use controlled opposition and create fraudulent dissent to get Americans to believe that the two major political parties are in disagreement about things, when in reality they all agree on the major points of contention such as protecting corruption and that executing Defendant Netanyahu and the State of Israel's agenda to enslave the human race regardless of whether the subject populations agrees or not.

Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel run both sides of the political aisle within all levels of governments across the United States. They then use this influence to intentionally destroy it from within while perpetuating a fraudulent "right vs. left" narrative as a distraction for the masses, using the remaining defendants to build the illusion of choice within an electorally rigged system. At the core of this is the notion of choice, which has been stripped from us in two ways while they implement this agenda: (1) The elections are rigged to guide humanity toward politicians that will implement this agenda (which is why the federal defendants do not vigorously pursue prosecutions of most Deep State crimes including systematic election rigging). And; (2) The candidates are both controlled by Defendant Netanyahu through a large network of legal and illegal corrupt mechanisms to ensure that even if they fail at getting the preferred candidate in office that the less preferred candidate still does the bidding of the State of Israel instead of working for their constituents. Because Netanyahu's end objective is a violation of Plaintiff's Thirteenth Amendment right involving the commercial purchase of treasonous politicians and infiltrating agents and utilizes tactics resulting in the depravation of other constitutional rights such as the First Amendment, the Ninth Amendment, and the Fourteenth Amendments to further that agenda, this behavior unquestionably constitutes irreparable injury.

The scale of the corruption we see is for all intents and purposes not bound by the constraints of human nature or what is possible for a country of about 10 million people to accomplish. There are many things that could easily go wrong with a criminal network like this, but the biggest issue Defendant Netanyahu seems to face is an occasional speed bump, and politicians all over the world still stick to the script. This all shows that there is something supernatural at play that is keeping this corruption going. Whether looking through a spiritual or secular lens, the end conclusion is the same: There is something really off about our planet and something is behind it all. For Christians its as simple as "Satan is the ruler of this planet", for Plaintiff it is more nuanced, but ultimately expresses the same end sentiment that there are supernatural forces at work allowing this large scale evil demonic pedophile cult to rule this planet. Where the truth actually lies is ultimately irrelevant because these supernatural forces keeping demons like Netanyayahu and his globalist buddies in power and the State of Israel in control of the United States far exceed anything that money could protect Plaintiff from. The money request is a contingency plan so that Plaintiff can create some good in the world for himself and others around him as well as punish those forces that exert evil on our nation until that evil inevitably removes him from this plane of existence.

Israel and Israeli-globalists' interests spend billions of dollars every year and significant effort to control U.S. politicians, to include AIPAC and AIPAC-associated groups running globalist organizations such as the Bilderberg Group and the World Economic Forum, money spent to control state level politicians, paying bribes and "donations" to campaigns such as Defendant Trump's, lobbying, running honeypot human trafficking blackmail operations such as they did under Epstein, exerting influence over organizations like Turning Points USA, whatever they are doing to keep Freemasonry going, propping up these large mainstream media networks and Ben Shapiro, training U.S. troops and law enforcement, running these offices out of U.S. agencies' offices such as the Pentagon, running Homeland Security's X page the money and effort spent to get Defendant Netanyahu out here to check in on his employees at the White House, and everything else they're doing here that hasn't been publicly revealed. The amount of money it must take for a country of approximately 10 million to have complete and total control over a country of >330 million people must be tremendous. Plaintiff seeks an end to all of it, saving Israel billions of dollars and freeing the United States in the process. It is LESS WORK and saving Israel money Israel to get them and their globalist buddies of our country's politics, and thus no hardship exists.

A majority of the U.S. population does not want their country to be controlled by foreign interests. Of course, there is a risk that a power vacuum is created by the absence of Israel and another foreign power such as Russia or China exploit that for control over the United States and efforts should be made to prevent that, however, provided the American People never become stupid enough to give up their firearms, such a situation could not be much worse than what we are facing now.

For the foregoing reasons, this Injunction request should be granted and Israel/Israeli interests and the United States should be barred from communicating with each other, all Israel/Israeli interests such as AIPAC and AIPAC groups operations should be halted, all information sharing agreements to include classified and non-classified information should be halted, and all Israel and Israeli interests' offices within state or federal government buildings should be vacated immediately. All Israeli and Globalist funding directed toward masonic organizations should also be halted immediately.

SIXTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF--INJUNCTION AGAINST DEFENDANTS NETANYAHU AND THE STATE OF ISRAEL

Plaintiff has proven it plausible that a device exists which has entrapped Mr. Freeman's soul and recycles it in perpetuity. Plaintiff has also proved it plausible that negative human emotions are being harvested and that Defendants Netanyahu and Israel work to fuel such a machine through the infliction of chaos and stress against humans such as Mr. Freeman for their own benefit. The Plaintiff does not have to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that such a system exists, but merely that it is plausible.

Plaintiff has also shown that Defendant Israel is not bound by geographical borders or the country's formal recognition by the international community, in 1948, but instead made up of the Jewish People, such as many of the remaining defendants. Defendants Netanyahu and Israel also exert an obscene amount of influence over the actions of the United States, Colorado, and masonic organizations to such a degree that neither the United States nor Colorado are sovereign entities, and thus, Netanyahu and Israel have dual-liability for the actions of the remaining defendants as well as their own actions.

Defendant Israel has admitted through the statements of a retired MOSSAD agent on an American news station (ultimately controlled by Defendants Netanyahu and Israel) that they manufacture and control a pretend world for humanity to include the Plaintiff.

Defendants Netanyahu and Israel facilitate a pretend world including rigged elections, constant manufactured wars, and staging numerous events such as 9/11, the deaths of celebrities and non-celebrities, and utilizing corruption such as blackmail and bribery to control politics at the state and federal levels across the United States. The mental harm facilitated by this control to the Plaintiff fuels a device tied to human existence which harvests negative emptions and this pretend world is used to manufacture more negative emotions to feed that system. Furthermore, Plaintiff has proven it plausible that a device exists that upon death of a human being their soul is wiped of memory and other characteristics and recycled (reincarnated) without their knowledge.

The harm of establishing a system wherein the Defendants are incentivized to create negative emotions within Plaintiff's life constitutes cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the Eighth Amendment and the usage of such a system against Mr. Freeman must cease immediately. No amount of money will resolve this claim. The hardship for the loss of one soul out of billions will have a negligible impact against the Defendants. The public seeing one human secure freedom for his soul from this demonic system will be a net positive for humankind and may inspire others to seek their own freedom from this scheme. Accordingly, Plaintiff seeks a permanent cessation of the recycling of Mr. Freeman's soul and the harvesting of his emotions from any such system used by Defendants Netanyahu and the State of Israel.

SEVENTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF –VIOLATION OF THE FOURTEENTH AND FIFTHTEENTH AMENDMENTS CLAIM AGAINST HAMMACK, GRISWOLD, WEISER & POLIS (STATE OF COLORADO)

42 U.S. Code § 1983 states that "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress."

Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution states that, "All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." This establishes that all states must abide by the federal Constitution.

Section 2 of the Fourteenth Amendment references the "right to vote". Section 5 of the Fourteenth Amendment grants Congress the "…power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article [the Fourteenth Amendment].

The Fifteenth Amendment establishes that "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude" and closes by stating that "The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

The Enforcement Act of 1870 was passed by Congress to enforce the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Amendments and is still an active law today.

Sections 19-21 of the Enforcement Act makes it unlawful and a criminal offense to establish policies that allow for fraudulent voter registrations or fraudulent votes. This is because allowing fraudulent registrations and fraudulent votes into an election dilutes the legitimate votes of Americans established by the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments. It is also unlawful under Colorado law to establish policies and procedures that allow for fraud. See C.R.S. § 1-1-103.

Plaintiff attempted to fix Colorado laws through the ballot initiative process and was unlawfully obstructed by Defendants Hammack, Griswold, and Weiser. Defendant Hammack's rationale declared in emails following the unlawful obstruction of this ballot initiative was based in part on her not knowing the initiative number (a question that would have taken 1 minute to find out) and on the verifiably false speculation that the Plaintiff did not go back through the Review and Comment hearing.

Colorado's laws allow for ballot harvesting, which is the practice of being allowed to drop off other people's ballots and "vouch" for them. This system provides no proof that the person whose name is on the ballot actually submitted the ballot submitted in their name.

Mail-in voting has a signature matching system by which election officials compare the signature of a voter on record with the signature on a voter's ballot and reject the ballot if they are not found to be a match. This policy is extremely inadequate for catching ballot fraud for multiple reasons: (1) Signature matching is inherently inadequate for purposes of detecting fraud. Just because a signature matches what's on file doesn't mean that the person's signature wasn't forged. (2) Signature matching is inadequate because the notion that an election official untrained in handwriting analysis spending 2-3 seconds conducting a signature comparison is nowhere close to good enough when trained experts spend minutes to hours examining signatures to determine if they are valid or not. (3) In instances where a signature does not match and a person resubmits it, it is not known how many of those cases are just good signature forgeries. (4) In the instances where a signature does not match and the ballot is rejected and the person does not follow up and resubmit their signature, there is no follow up to ensure that the voter's name on the ballot was the person that submitted it. Plaintiff has cited numerous examples of mail ballot fraud across the United States, to include a similar racket in Colorado being alleged even before the other cited examples occurred. What the state catches and prosecutes in terms of fraud is a drop in the bucket of the actual fraud that is occurring within the state. The state law allowing for universal mail in ballots is unconstitutional and should clearly be abolished as it clearly allows for systemic election cheating, but Defendants' Griswold disgraceful laissez-faire policies in regard to executing the state's mail-in ballot program is literally criminal as it allows for rampant election fraud in violation of the Enforcement Act. Likewise, Weiser and Polis' refusal to investigate the rampant election fraud or Griswold's criminal policies is more self-serving corruption deserving of criminal prosecution.

We also know that many people have reported receiving ballots for past residents that haven't lived in the state for years that are cluttering Colorado's Voter Registration Rolls and further increasing the risk for election fraud, in criminal violation of the Enforcement Act. In spite of the state and federal legal requirements to conduct secure elections, Defendant Griswold makes no effort to clean up voter rolls and Defendants Griswold and Weiser waste taxpayer money fighting efforts to help them clean up voter rolls. Even in the few instances where litigants seeking removal of ineligible voters are successful, it is all meaningless because we have no guarantee that they are not just adding these voters back on slowly over time as we now know that…

retroactively even after the elections have been certified, thus resulting in "certification" being a meaningless term and the term "elections" being an equally obsolete as well.

As a direct and proximate cause and consequence of Defendants Hammack's actions the Plaintiff was obstructed from circumventing Colorado's corrupt legislature to secure the elections through ballot initiative and repair Colorado's negligent election laws, Plaintiff suffered injuries, damages, and losses to be proven at trial.

As a direct and proximate cause and consequence of Griswold's criminal election policies resulting in the deprivation of Plaintiff's Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendment right to vote through election fraud dilution in violation of Sections 19-21 of the Enforcement Act and C.R.S. § 1-1-103, Plaintiff suffered injuries, damages, and losses to be proven at trial.

As a direct and proximate cause and consequence of Defendants Weiser and Polis' refusal to investigate election crimes that benefit them or establish policies to provide for secure elections constituting a conspiracy to deprive Plaintiff of his right to vote in violation of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments through election fraud dilution. Because of this Plaintiff suffered injuries, damages, and losses to be proven at trial.

The unlawful violation of the Plaintiff's Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendment rights from the Defendants was intentional.

The unlawful actions and non-actions from the Defendants was done with malice or with reckless indifference to the Plaintiff's constitutional rights.

SEVENTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF – DEPRIVATION OF RIGHTS UNDER COLOR OF LAW CLAIM AGAINST BLANCHE, WILES, AND TRUMP (UNITED STATES)

42 U.S. Code § 1983 states that "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress."

Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution states that, "All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." This establishes that all states must abide by the federal Constitution.

Section 2 of the Fourteenth Amendment references the "right to vote". Section 5 of the Fourteenth Amendment grants Congress the "…power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article [the Fourteenth Amendment].

The Fifteenth Amendment establishes that "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude" and closes by stating that "The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

The Enforcement Act of 1870 was passed by Congress to enforce the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Amendments and is still an active law today.

Sections 19-21 of the Enforcement Act makes it unlawful and a criminal offense to establish policies that allow for fraudulent voter registrations or fraudulent votes. This is because allowing fraudulent registrations and fraudulent votes into an election dilutes the legitimate votes of Americans established by the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments.

In March of 20205, Defendant Trump signed an executive order directing the Attorney General to—among other things— investigate and prosecute election crimes. See Executive Order 14248, sec. 5.

Despite it being unlawful for state election officials to establish policies and procedures that allow for fraudulent voter registrations or fraudulent votes and Executive Order 14248, Defendant Blanche has opted to allow Defendant Griswold to act with impunity and continue to rig Colorado's elections through policies that allow for rampant fraudulent voter registrations and votes.

In January of 2025, Plaintiff wrote Defendant Wiles and Trump a letter requesting an investigation into the rampant election rigging within the Colorado. This letter cited many examples of election crimes and suspected election crimes across the United States and Colorado. Many things within that letter reflect what we continue to see today, for example: In Milwaukee, WI when 99% of the 4:00AM ballot drop vote went to the Democrat candidate or in Arizona's 2020 election when it was found that 25% of the ballots had no signature match whatsoever. Eventually, the DOJ took Arizona's 2020 ballots to "investigate", but conveniently the statute of limitations for fraudulent ballot submission for that election has ran out, so no one will be held accountable or they will have to go with a complex RICO indictment that will face heavy legal scrutiny and likely fail in the long run—note the lack of interest in Arizona's 2024 ballots despite similar crimes likely existing. The federal government raided Fulton County, GA's election office to seize 2020 ballots but the statute of limitations has conveniently ran out so election criminals will not be held accountable—note the lack of interest in Fulton County's 2024 ballots despite similar crimes likely having occurred. Not only that, but the FBI Special Agent in Charge tipped off Fulton County allowing them to destroy evidence, and instead of prosecuting him, the DOJ merely fired him and called it a day. Instead of prosecuting the actors behind the network of election corruption of past and current elections, the DOJ opts to go primarily for civil suits timidly fighting to get states to clean up their voter rolls, which is all meaningless when the criminals such as Defendant Griswold that ensure that as many names as possible remain on voter registration rolls regardless of if they are legitimate or not remain on the voter rolls because they never face any penalties for doing it and it benefits their side.

Nothing of value will come out of Defendant Blanche's pointless investigations into expired election crimes, and certainly not a cessation of the rampant election cheating that has occurred in the last few elections, which is all by design. Logically, you would think that because Defendant Trump and Defendant Griswold, Weiser, and Polis all have public spats that Trump would want nothing more than to viciously investigate and prosecute election crimes—and perhaps he does and is merely too incompetent to follow up on his executive orders and its others in the Administration such as Blanche and Wiles that are undermining those efforts—but the reality is that no serious prosecutions ever happen against Deep State criminals because these Deep State criminals all work for the same interests behind the scenes—Defendant Netanyahu and the State of Israel. Defendant Wiles literally used to work for Netanyahu, making it abundantly clear that her loyalty is to him and not the United States. The public spats between defendants and these useless "investigations" that result in few prosecutions are just theater to distract the masses.

Notwithstanding, Defendants Blanche, Wiles, and Trump remain liable for the deprivation of Plaintiff's Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendment rights to vote that occurred under Defendants Hammack, Griswold, Weiser, and Polis because their refusal to investigate and prosecute election crimes nationally and in Colorado caused Plaintiff to be subjected to the aforementioned deprivation through continued election fraud vote dilution.

As a direct and proximate cause and consequence of Defendant Trump's incompetence in enforcing his own executive order and Trump's treasonous subservience to Defendant

Netanyahu, Defendant Trump caused Plaintiff to be subjected to the deprivation of his Fourteenth, Ninth, and Fifteenth Amendments right to vote through continued election fraud vote dilution that would have been prevented if federal law were enforced and election criminals held accountable. Because of this, Plaintiff suffered injuries, damages, and losses to be proven at trial.

As a direct and proximate cause and consequence of Defendant Blanche's negligence in enforcing federal law against Defendants Griswold, Weiser, and Polis, Defendant Blanche caused Plaintiff to be subjected to the deprivation of his Fourteenth, Ninth, and Fifteenth Amendments rights to vote through continued election fraud vote dilution that would have been prevented if federal law was enforced and election criminals held accountable. Because of Defendant Blanche's negligence, Plaintiff suffered injuries, damages, and losses to be proven at trial.

As a direct and proximate cause and consequence of Defendant Wiles' negligence in ensuring that the DOJ enforces federal law against Defendants Griswold, Weiser, and Polis, and her own treasonous loyalty to Defendant Netanyahu and the State of Israel, Defendant Wiles caused Plaintiff to be subjected to the deprivation of his Fourteenth, Ninth, and Fifteenth Amendments rights to vote through continued election fraud vote dilution that would have been prevented if federal law was enforced and election criminals held accountable. Because of Defendant Wiles' negligence, Plaintiff suffered injuries, damages, and losses to be proven at trial.

The unlawful violation of the Plaintiff's Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendment rights from the Defendants was intentional.

The unlawful actions and non-actions from the Defendants was done with malice or with reckless indifference to the Plaintiff's constitutional rights.

EIGHTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF – VIOLATION OF THE EIGHTH AND THIRTEENTH AMENDMENTS AGAINST ALL DEFENDANTS

The Eighth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution states that, "Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted."

The Thirteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution states that "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction."

Defendant Israel has stated that Israel is a nation made up of the Jewish people, and has referred to it as having existed for 4000 years.

The State of Israel facilitates a pretend world for the populace of the United States, a retired MOSSAD (Israeli intelligence) agent went on an American news station to tell us this. This environment is created through the falsification, exaggeration, or government facilitation of major political and public events, including but not limited to: celebrities deaths, terrorist attacks, historical events such as the Holocaust and the moon landings, the current year, as well as our elections. The very creation of the country of Israel is proof of this Jewish control of American and global politics pre-dating the carving out of land in the middle east in 1948 by the United Nations.

A Retired Mossad (Israeli Intelligence) Agent once stated,

> "We create a pretend world. We are a global production company: We write the screenplay, we're the directors, we're the producers, we're the main actors. And the world is our stage."

A "pretend world" is synonymous with a simulation or a Matrix (In Latin "pretend" in English translates to "simulare", which is the root wood of 'simulation'). A Matrix is a simulation and in Arabic and other languages synonymous translations of the word includes "womb".

Defendants Israel abides by a spiritual belief tied to the rules of our existence based on the ancient Egyptian "Ma'at", which includes the principle that they have to tell humans the things that they are doing. Defendant Israel maintains, and has always maintained tight control over Hollywood and the production of major movies. This includes movies like The Matrix, wherein it points to reality being an illusion. The Matrix informs Plaintiff that he is a slave and that he was "born into a prison that you cannot smell or taste or touch." This establishes that Plaintiff is a prisoner. Furthermore, the inability of humans to vote their way out of the massive system of corruption established by Defendant Israel further proves Plaintiff is in a prison.

Plaintiff has proven it plausible that there is a device that harvests energy from negative emotions and that Defendant Israel has been sewing chaos across the planet to manufacture these negative emotions and fuel this system. All Defendants have participated in the manufacture of negative emotions in furtherance of this device and in violation of established laws.

-Defendant Hammack illegally obstructed Plaintiff's ballot initiative to fix Colorado elections.

-Defendant Griswold maintains rigged elections wherein invalid votes are not only allowed en masse, but protected to ensure future elections will continue to be rigged in flagrant violation of the Enforcement Act of 1870 and C.R.S. § 1-1-103. Defendant Griswold is also a member of the Colorado Title Board responsible for the illegal obstruction of Plaintiff's ballot initiative by Defendant Hammack.

-Defendant Weiser violates his legal responsibility to ensure the State of Colorado's position on election laws is to prevent unlawful votes from being counted in violation of the Enforcement Act of 1870 and C.R.S. § 1-1-103. He does not conduct investigation into election crimes unless it benefits his political party and he advocates for open federal borders which results in increased crime in Colorado and is an act of treason.

-Defendant Polis refuses to order law enforcement investigations into Colorado elections despite his legal responsibility to provide safe and secure elections so that the People of Colorado control who wins elections and represents us. This violates Plaintiff's Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendment right to secure elections as intended by the Enforcement Act of 1870 and C.R.S. § 1-1-103. Advocates for open borders and gaslights Plaintiff by referring to home invasions committed by illegals as figments of our "imaginations" in a traitorous fashion.

-The State of Colorado is responsible for the actions of the defendants employed by the State of Colorado.

-Defendant Blanche allows Deep State criminals to continue violating federal laws with impunity. He also allows the state defendants to continue violating federal election laws in violation of Defendant Trump's executive order and Plaintiff's Fourteenth Amendment right to secure elections as intended by the Enforcement Act of 1870. For example, In the only raid of a county election office (Fulton County, GA) to seize evidence instead of filing stupid subpoenas and civil suits for it, the scope of the investigation was for the 2020 election and not the 2024 election (because the statute of limitations ran out and they won't be able to prosecute any findings), and the FBI Special Agent in Charge at the time tipped off Fulton County that they were going to be raided WHICH IS A FEDERAL CRIME and the only thing Defendant Blanche's disgraceful DOJ did was fire him. This DOJ's investigations into election crimes are not intended to produce meaningful indictments against higher level offenders. His investigations into election crimes only pursues the lowest-level actors, which allows those higher-level actors continue rigging elections all over the country.

-Defendant Wiles is Defendant Trump's handler and in control of the White House. She misuses her office to benefit Defendants Netanyahu and Israel in a traitorous manner. Former Attorney General Pamela Bondi didn't even pretend to accomplish jackshit when it came to dismantling the deep state through prosecution of criminals to such a degree that it is impossible that Defendant Wiles was not aware of her shameful conduct. Allows Defendant Blanche to conduct superficial election crime investigations instead of in-depth ones that pursue violators at all levels within election rigging syndicates. Likely has a silent White House policy against meaningful investigations as a credible journalist reported that the Director of National Intelligence fired several election integrity experts that were looking into our elections and we see the DOJ making sure that they never produce any meaningful results from their investigations into it.

-Defendant Trump is a complete and total puppet for Israel and an employee of Defendants Netanyahu and Israel, literally going as far as starting wars in the middle east on their behalf and pushing in Defendant Netanyahu's chair for him like a servant. To Defendant Trump's credit, he has been the only person in the administration named after him that does seem to want thorough investigations into election crimes and has signed an executive order ordering the DOJ to investigate election crimes and align their policies to provide for better election integrity overall. However, there is never any accountability for administration officials that do not fulfill these responsibilities, and as such his policies have no teeth and will not get fulfilled.

-The United States of America perpetuates a pretend world to include falsification of major events such as 9/11, the moon landing, multiple celebrities' and non-celebrities' deaths, and more. The United States of America is also responsible for the actions of employees of the federal government to include the federal Defendants.

-Defendant Netanyahu purchases and controls federal and state selected offices across the United states using a large-scale system of corruption involving blackmail, bribery, assassinations, mind control, etc. to such a degree that it constitutes intestate commerce and results in his liability. Netanyahu is in charge of the actions of the remaining Defendants as he is in charge of the Deep State and refuses to allow them to conduct real investigations into elections because it would likely dismantle his power.

-The State of Israel is—and has always been—home to the Anunnaki and descendants of the Anunnaki (Jews) and is made up of the same. Israel is not bound by geographical or temporal boundaries or recognition by these things we call “countries”. Defendant Israel created humans as a slave species and has trapped Plaintiff’s soul in an endless cycle of reincarnation in which they harvest negative emotions from him to benefit Israel. Defendant Israel created the United States and only gave our citizens the illusion that we were a sovereign nation. Defendant Israel absorbs dual liability for all actions of agents of the Deep State (Hammack, Blanche, Wiles, Trump, Freemasons, sororities/fraternities, witches, satanists) and descendants of the Anunnaki (Griswold, Weiser, Polis, and Netanyahu) as well as child states they control (Colorado, United States). Defendant Israel manufactures and maintains a pretend world that they force the Plaintiff to reside in, to include falsification of historical events such as the Holocaust, 9/11, and the year we write on the calendar.

The negative emotions fueled by the malicious actions of all Defendants for the benefit of Defendant Israel and the entrapment of Mr. Freeman’s soul in a perpetual cycle of reincarnation constitutes imprisonment, slavery, and cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the Eight and Thirteenth Amendments.

As a direct and proximate cause and consequence of all Defendants resulting in the violation of Plaintiff's Eighth Amendment right against cruel and unusual punishment Plaintiff suffered injuries, damages, and losses to be proven at trial.

The unlawful violation of the Plaintiff's Eight Amendment rights from the Defendants was intentional.

The unlawful actions and non-actions (negligence) from the Defendants was done with malice or with reckless indifference to the Plaintiff's constitutional rights.

NINTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF – DEPRIVATION OF RIGHTS UNDER COLOR OF LAW CLAIM AGAINST THE STATE OF COLORADO, THE UNITED STATES, NETANYAHU, AND THE STATE OF ISRAEL

The State of Israel facilitates a pretend world for the populace of the United States, a retired MOSSAD (Israeli intelligence) agent went on an American news station to tell us this. This environment is created through the falsification, exaggeration, or government facilitation of major political and public events, including but not limited to: celebrities deaths, terrorist attacks, historical events such as the Holocaust and the moon landings, but most importantly; politics and our elections. The very creation of the country of Israel is proof of this Jewish control of American and global politics pre-dating the creation of the country of Israel, as many different people have had genocide inflicted against them across the world throughout history, but western nations don't come together to carve them out land thousands of miles away from where the alleged genocide occurred for them to make a home.

Defendants Griswold, Weiser, Polis, and Defendants Blanche, Wiles, and Trump pretend to be on different sides, but at the end of the day they all work for Defendants Netanyahu and Israel. The left vs. right narrative is the largest part of the pretend world that they create. Israel and Israeli-globalist interests buy US politicians and coordinates corruption within the United States to such a degree that it constitutes commerce under 28 U.S. Code § 1605 rendering them liable.

While there exist several different powerful names that make up the globalist superpowers that buy politicians globally, some of them Jewish and some not, most of the money used to buy politicians comes from Israeli interests, and Israel is the hub for these interests even in cases where it might appear otherwise. For example, George Soros is Jewish and has been advocating for open borders across the world to include the United Kingdom. The United Kingdom, along with many other western nations opened their borders to mass migration, thus allowing in millions of illegal immigrants destroying the country from within. Many of these immigrants were Muslim and from Muslim countries leading to skyrocketing sexual assault numbers and crime, which their government ignored. Making matters worse, if a British person pointed out that these crimes are being done by illegal immigrants their government would arrest that person, meanwhile they still ignored the increasing crimes and the public demands for reform. One hate crime occurred against Jews and all of a sudden the British government cracked down and provided extra protection for the Jewish community. Ethics Brits ignored, but when a Jew gets attacked, they suddenly bend over backwards to protect them, revealing the while their George Soros' policy is to let you get invaded, pillaged, and raped and the politicians he owns will ignore your demands for reform, but when the chips are down he will still stand with the Jewish people, ultimately based out of Israel. Note that Israel does NOT have open borders and never has. We see another example of this in Colorado: Defendants Weiser and Polis want open borders and allow illegal immigrants from all over the world to come to Colorado to commit crimes to include violent criminals terrorizing the community, such as what was seen in Aurora seemingly because this is a Democrat position. The Democrat voter base is not fans of Israel because they believe Israel is committing a genocide, but despite this, Defendants Weiser and Polis still maintain strong support for Israel. Again we see that when the chips are down, these corrupt politicians still stand with Israel. Defendant Trump was elected in part to deport illegal aliens, and when his second administration began they started to do that, but of course this increased immigration enforcement came with ulterior motives. The Department of Homeland Security (which does the immigration enforcement) has an office based on out Israel, which has no logical basis for existing other than corruption, and their X page was based in and managed out of Israel. Trump's traitorous government naturally started implementing wholly unnecessary surveillance tactics and got access to neighborhood Flock cameras and started working with Palantir, which is basically building a digital prison for humanity. Given DHS' strong connection to Israel, we have to ask how much of the data collected is shared with Israel and Palantir to build our digital prison, making clear that increased immigration enforcement comes with nefarious motives and cannot be merely about deporting people in the country illegally. Not that it matters because Defendant Trump later reneged on mass deportations despite his base demanding it because if mass deportations do not further the construction of the digital prison and Israel's control over the U.S. population, he largely has no interest in doing it. This all goes to show that despite different funders exerting influence and politicians such as the Defendants pretending to be on the opposite sides of these issues, the common denominator is Israel, making Israel a hub for this corruption.

Regardless of whether Plaintiff votes Democrat or Republican on a state or federal candidate, when the chips are those options will largely stand with Israel. Even if a movement for candidates that are not aligned with Israel, it is highly plausible that these candidates are controlled opposition secretly working for Israel. It appears that Israel has an endless supply of Americans willing to sell their souls and happily do their bidding, thus he cannot vote his way out of it. There exists nowhere on Earth that is desirable to live that is not also ran by the same globalist demons using Israel as a hub for their agenda. Even if he wanted to go to a poorer country to escape, as we see from the Maduro raid in Venezuela, they can just disable the country's military hardware and military and kidnap their president any time they want, so those people ultimately are beholden as well, even if not directly. Even if Argentina, they had that extremely suspicious forest fire and next thing we know the Argentinian government is inviting thousands of Jews to move to the country. Other large countries seemingly opposed to western governments are likewise not an escape as many of them involve residing under a social credit system similar to their plans for most western countries anyways such as China.

There is no escape from this demonic system, and we cannot vote our way out of it. This makes this planet a prison. A prison in violation of the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments because it deprives the Plaintiff of due process and representative government as guaranteed by the federal constitution. The local annex of this prison is guarded by Defendants Griswold, Weiser, Polis, and the State of Colorado, the regional district is controlled by Defendants Blanche, Wiles, Trump and the United States, and the warden is Defendant Netanyahu and the State of Israel.

As a direct and proximate cause and consequence of Defendants State of Colorado, the United States, Netanyahu, and Israel's imprisonment is in direct violation of the Fifth, Ninth, and Fourteenth Amendments Plaintiff suffered injuries, damages, and losses to be proven at trial.

The unlawful violation of the Plaintiff's Fifth, Ninth, and Fourteenth Amendment rights from the Defendants was intentional.

The unlawful actions and non-actions from the Defendants ~~was~~ were done with malice or with reckless indifference to the Plaintiff's constitutional rights.
