Notice of Privacy Practices

Effective date: 12/4/23

This is a summary of our Notice of Privacy Practices, which describes how we may use and disclose your medical and personal information and how you can have access to this information.

Our Pledge to Protect Your Privacy

Meridian Hearing Aids is committed to protecting the privacy of your medical and personal information. So that we may best meet your medical needs, we share your medical records with the health care providers involved in your care. We share your information only to the extent necessary to collect payment for the services we provide, to conduct our business operations and to comply with the laws that govern health care. We will not use or disclose your information for any other purpose without your permission.

Your rights regarding medical information about you:

- To inspect and obtain a copy of your medical records with certain limitations
- To request an amendment or addendum to your medical record
- To an accounting of Meridian Hearing Aids disclosures of your medical information
- To request restrictions on certain uses and disclosures of your medical information
- To request when and where to contact you

We may use and disclose your personal and health information without your authorization for the following purposes:

- To provide you with medical treatment
- To bill and receive payment for the treatment received
- As required and permitted by law
- For functions necessary to run Meridian Hearing Aids and assure that our patients receive quality care
- For public health activities (e.g., reporting abuse)
- To a court or administrative order, subpoena, discovery request or other lawful process - To a health oversight agency, such as the Idaho Department of Health Services

We reserve the right to change our privacy practices and update this notice accordingly. For further information or questions please contact:
