

Annual Ugly Stamp Contest!

Second PSC Meeting in October

This year the contest will be held during the PSC meeting of Oct 26, 2022

Each year the PSC attracts storytellers from all over the Universe to compete in the Annual Ugly Stamp Contest and only once a year do you get a chance to tell a real doozy. According to the SCAT (Stamp Committee of Annual Tales) our contest informally started when one of the first American stamp collectors in the 1870's showed his "extremely valuable" collection of 3 torn and badly faulted stamps to a young lady for which he was interested. Alas the USC (Ugly Stamp Contest) was born. The Ugly Stamp Contest is arguably the oldest, most pathetic, philatelic storytelling contest in the United States. And that's just because we said so! The festivities begin at dusk or when the silly contest begins. Bring a refreshment if you can still carry one and get ready to enjoy a night of fun, besides it's free!

Rules - The hilarious contest honors our very first contest winner and serial teller of untruths extraordinaire Mr. Jim Grundy, a stamp collector and a master of the Western tradition for spinning very tall tales. All of you other amateur raconteurs can follow suit if your story is about an Ugly Stamp that is contained in your hand and your narration is less than five minutes long, but most importantly it must be anything but the truth.

Because it's all about fun, all comers are welcome to enter the contest. However, it should be pointed out that the inclusion of bribes, originality, props, costumes, presentation flair, oddly shaped pets that are included in the tale have assisted our previous winners. The judges (PSC Members) always love appropriate and meaningful gadgets. While you 'can' read your tale off a paper or notebook, reading makes it a story, not a lie (which is the goal). Quality humor, logic, illogic, falsehood or the unimaginable is always welcome and graded as such. You can speak it, shout it, rhyme it, sing it, hum it, or mime it.....or any other method you prefer. Also, one need not lie only by oneself. Team lying and family lying are equally appreciated and are always crowd pleasers.

Judging - Your skills will be judged by all attending PSC members who each get two votes (on paper) As tradition follows each member gets two votes, typically each member votes for themselves first, even if they did not participate and the second vote must be for another contestant. Any ballot with the same two names on it will be tossed (The Snap Judge rules! Because she doesn't take no SCAT).

The winner will be awarded a $25 dollar Gas card
