Dear Vocations Directors and Directresses

Feb 2026

Peace and joy in Jesus! Please see our latest article below and share with those adults who are single and Catholic so that they too can understand the greatest of consecrating one's life to God.

Priesthood and Religious Life Bearers of Life Eternal

Today is a very special day (the Presentation of the Lord) as we especially pray (and are grateful for) all consecrated persons both vowed religious and priests. You are truly candles alit illuminating the message of Christ', who is THE Covenant fulfilled, a manifestation of infinite love of which beforehand was unknown and only hoped for (Malachi 3:1).

To get a glimpse of the great gift of priesthood and consecrated life, it helps to keep in mind the realization that there was a former reality whereby we were held hostage by an interior palpable darkness of fear and slavery completely unaware of who we were as human beings. And what or who was this mysterious God who only occasionally communed with the Levitical priests and prophets of old? A time when man offered the life blood of animals to temporarily appease justice. Yet we couldn't sustain the diffusion though we tore our clothes and truly repented.

And then came Christ. What more can we say? Without Him, without the sacraments He purchased for us with His own blood, we would still be our barbaric selves rather than the children of God. A God who was once barely known is now The Father, "Our Father" of which there is none other. We can now be sane; all sin as a type or degree of insanity. Thank you, priests and all religious of the past, present, and future, who in this present day, uphold the reality of irrevocable Life, of Infinite Love.

You are the sirens, who by your very presence proclaim like Mary Magdalene, He's alive! He's alive! He's here, the resurrected Christ, the God Man. You literally bring heaven here, to the earth, (thy kingdom come) in a special way to remind us that we are ultimately Christ' collective Brides.

We thank God for your perpetual participation in the message of Christ', which is that the power of death is destroyed and we are free from the horrific slavery that once was (Hebrews 2:14-18).
