RESEARCH PROJECTS MANAGED

Memorialising Emigré Dignity – The Cultural Heritage of Saint Anthony's College, Leuven.

2020 marked the Quatercentenary of the first burial in the Franciscans' Chapel of Saint Anthony's College, Leuven (Belgium) i.e. that of my direct ancestor, Donal Oge O'Donnell, nephew of the famous Red Hugh O'Donnell, Prince of Tyrconnell, who left Ireland as part of the retinue of the Flight of the Earls in 1607, ending Gaelic indigenous rule in Ireland and fully yielding to English occupation for centuries to come. That is when the College was founded, and Donal Oge joined Spanish forces in Flanders, where he died in 1620. To mark this event, the Irish College Leuven with the support of the Leuven Centre for Irish Studies and the European Federation of Associations and Centres of Irish Studies hosted an online webinar with presentations from key speakers, prominent experts from Austria, Ireland, and Belgium in October 2020. The launch of the hard-copy publication of the resulting booklet, delayed due to the Covid pandemic, is scheduled for September 2025, co-sponsored by Clans of Ireland and the Genealogical Society of Ireland. Irish College Leuven, 2025.

Tradition and Modernity – International Conference Proceedings of the 900th Anniversary of the Sovereign Military and Hospitaller Order of St. John of Jerusalem, of Rhodes and of Malta, (initiator, coordinator and co-editor; with remarks on the Pilgrimage of Life, and Service to the Poor, and Preservation of the Faith, Preserving Values through Modern Norms, and Upholding the Tradition of Human Dignity), published by the SMOM Embassy and printed in VEDA SAV publishing, by the Slovak Academy of Sciences, Bratislava, November 2012. PRIVATE (NON-PROFESSIONAL, LARGELY UNPUBLISHED, PENDING)

A Reference Guide to the Collected Works of the late Patrick Denis O'Donnell (1922-2005) -

A catalogue of an estimated 10,000 articles written over a period of 60 years, most of which were published in various journals, periodicals, or other collections [under preparation since 2011].

Donal Oge – Legend and Legacy. The story of Donal Oge O'Donnell, a historical-genealogical treatise spanning four centuries of this family, its origins, and links to the Flight of the Earls in 1607, including the impact and illegality of the attainder of 1614, and consequences for the exile of the last Gaelic rulers in Ireland, and the Irish Diaspora, and residual heritage challenges (504pp; Dublin, 2016; printed limited edition for peer review, leading eventually to publication of The O'Donnells of Tyrconnell – A Hidden Legacy in 2018/9), L'Esprit de Titre – from Power and Prestige to Virtual Vestige; a detailed study of the Baronage of Ireland and ancient titles as incorporeal hereditaments in Ireland; a more detailed analysis of proposed law reforms and their impact on ancient Anglo-Norman incorporeal hereditaments, along with a treatment of the historical evolution of those titles, their survival, and their legal status as intangible cultural heritage, and how they might best be preserved in law, through international conventions, national registration, and heraldic recognition. (71pp; Dublin, March 2006) (Copy shared with the Earl of Rosse, and listed in the Calendar of the Rosse Papers, edited by A.P.W. Malcomson, published by the Irish Manuscripts Commission, Dublin, 2008 (ISBN: 978-1-874280-69-9) <https://catalogue.nli.ie/Record/vtls000270174>

The Survival of Ancient Titles as Incorporeal Hereditaments in Ireland – Abolishing feudal tenure whilst preserving intangible cultural heritage; a detailed analysis of the former draft Bill on Land Reform and Conveyancing prepared by the Law Reform Commission, and its impact on ancient Anglo-Norman incorporeal hereditaments, along with a treatment of the historical evolution of those titles, their survival, and their legal status, both as interests in land, as well as intangible cultural heritage and how they might best be preserved in law, including through international conventions, continued national registration, and heraldic recognition. Submitted to the Law Reform Commission, the Royal Irish Academy, and the Committee on Genealogy and Heraldry of the National Library of Ireland. In due course, the Land and Conveyancing Law Reform Act, no.27 of 2009, preserved those interests as incorporeal hereditaments. [37pp; December 2005]

Index of Ancient Irish Baronies and Manorial Lordships – a detailed matrix of these titles giving denomination, location, fons honoris or grantor, date of grant, grantee, and detailed source references [early draft 10 pages, 27 December 2005; unfinished].

The Paramount Barony of Fyngal and the Lordship of Fyngallestoun - a history of the provenance and succession of old Anglo-Norman titles of the recusant Catholic Anglo-Irish aristocracy granted respectively by King John in 1208 and King Edward II in 1318; Fingal became a County in the administrative reorganisation of Ireland in 1994] [draft of Dec. 2001; unfinished]

Senescallus Tirconnalliae, an account of the stewardship of Tyrconnell from earliest times following the settlement of Connall, through the Kingdom, Principality, and Earldom, and derivative lordships held by the O'Donnells, as well as the Jacobite Duchy of Tyrconnell (Talbot), the Marquessate of Donegal (Chichester), to modern times, and restitution of the Lord Stewardship of Tyrconnell on the occasion of the 400th anniversary of the Battle of Kinsale and the ensuing Irish Diaspora [under preparation] .

Caveat! Any errors in the above listing are entirely the responsibility of Francis M. O'Donnell and may be communicated to him by email.
