Hi, I am from wooden houses waste

I sheltered mostly homes most of my life. When concrete became gradually the new norm, I was let go to WWW?TM for a different purpose, good to be home again

Our society produces a lot of waste and has developed a sufficient system along with it. WWW? is born out of a basic thought that leaving an unproductive waste wood to decompose (at landfill sites) will release the same amount of carbon as they do in disposal burning chambers.

Our WWW? material uses all unproductive wood available, waste wood with no destinations except disposal like. Naturally fallen trees, wood from non wood producing factories, old wooden houses, boats, trucks, etc.

We then sort the wood to various dimensions and assemble them for furniture construction. Non toxic clear/stained coat (shellac) is chosen for the finishing. You may find nails, screws, bolts filled cavities along with other imperfections underlining its authentic value. These imperfections shares a warm history of its past and never intentionally made.
