
1

What is expected of me as a member?

We're looking for active participation, whether that's contributing insights, attending events, speaking at webinars, or supporting fellow members navigating transitions. Your level of involvement is flexible and self-directed.

2

What support will I receive?

You'll gain access to exclusive networking opportunities with global executives and board professionals, research and content resources for thought pieces or speaking engagements and social media support, and platform visibility through webinars, newsletters and community features.

3

Can I participate while working full-time?

Absolutely. Our community is designed for those employed or working fractionally. You engage when and how it makes sense for you. However, we encourage you to seek approval from your organization and avoid any conflict of interest.

4

How do I contribute to the community?

Members contribute by hosting or participating in events, co-creating content, mentoring peers, and championing the Flex Executive Economy within their networks.

5

How often are events and activities held?

We host a mix of in person gatherings, webinars, and ad-hoc speaking opportunities.
