Happy New Year! ✨

There's something so special about January. It feels like a deep breath. A reset. A reminder that no matter how last year ended, we get to begin again. As I step into this new year, I'm filled with gratitude, excitement, and a renewed sense of purpose.

New Year, New Beginnings

This season is all about fresh starts, and for me, that means diving back into writing. I've officially begun working on my third novel, a continuation of In The Dark, and it feels so good to be back in Toni's world. There's something comforting about returning to familiar characters while also pushing their story forward into new, unexpected places.

I'm really looking forward to resetting my routines, setting creative goals, and starting this year strong, one page at a time.

Thank You, From the Bottom of My Heart

I can't start this year without saying thank you. The love and support In The Dark has received has meant more to me than I can put into words. From every message, review, share, and recommendation...thank you for showing up for this story. Seeing readers connect with it has been such a gift.

If you haven't read In The Dark yet and are looking for a suspenseful, emotional story to kick off your reading year, it's still available and I'd love for you to experience it.

What's Coming Next?

As I work on this next book, I'll also be sharing more behind-the-scenes content about my writing journey, what I've learned along the way, creative do's and don'ts, and honest reflections on the process of writing multiple books. Whether you're a fellow writer, a reader who's curious about how stories come together, or someone who loves following the creative journey, I hope you'll enjoy coming along with me.

Looking Ahead

January feels hopeful. It feels intentional. And it feels like the beginning of something really good. Thank you for being here, for reading, and for supporting my work. I'm so excited for what this year holds for new stories, deeper growth, and all the chapters still waiting to be written.

Here's to new beginnings ♥️

With gratitude,

Lu Gonzalez
