

June 2025

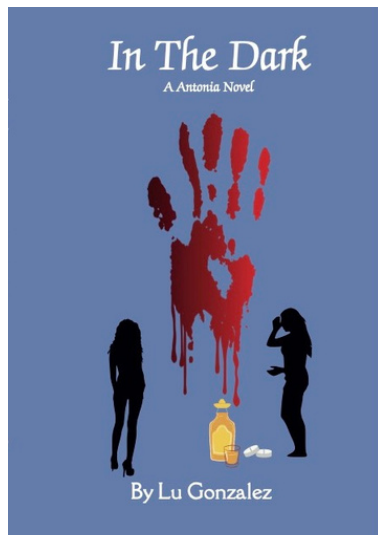

WWW.LUTHEAUTHOR.COM

Newsletter

Hey friends! Welcome June!! As much as I'm not a big fan of the heat and humidity, I'm actually looking forward to this summer season. My daughter and husband are off for the summer and we will be doing some traveling and spending time together. We have a few more college tours that we're embarking on, in the next few weeks and we're looking forward to that.

In other exciting news the people have voted, and I have a cover for my latest novel, In The Dark! Take a look!

I have to be honest, creating a cover for a book is no easy task. I'm very thankful for all that helped in the design of the cover and to those who voted!

The release date is set and I'll be announcing it, in the July newsletter. It will be in the fall that much I can tell you. We'll be spending the next couple of months, with some behind-the-scenes content, and book promotion! We're definitely doing some things differently than we did with the first book even down to the publishing.

In the meantime, if you haven't signed up for my reader list, SIGN UP! Just go to my website (lutheauthor.com) and enter your email. You will get a copy of the prequel. The short story is called "Before the Dark".

