

Donald Trump Visits my Hardwick Gardens with Big Beautiful Ideas and Plans

Unknown to the world of fake news, President Donald Trump has a passion for gardens. The June news reports concerning Trump bulldozing the White House Rose Garden have been distorted and misleading. The actual intent is to make a sculpture garden of warrior statues with an outdoor theater. So idiotic that many Facebook followers think that the purpose for the asphalt is to make parking spaces for easier shopping for Trump branded merchandise that includes sneakers, watches, bibles, and hats. It's ridiculous that many soft-minded, wimpy, loser liberals oppose the upcoming United Fighting Championship (UFC) event for America's 250th birthday to be staged on the improved land replacing the obsolete Rose Garden. Let's remind ourselves that American made pavement is spectacular and beautiful and makes the perfect base for many tall male statues glittering with gold plating. In fact, some will full size replicas of President Trump and be offered for sale for a million dollars payable in cash or Trump family endorsed cryptocurrency. The Trump statues will be valuable assets for gardens all over the USA. Many will be installed prominently in our National Parks with the expense paid by a surtax on foreign visitors.

Part of the Trump's interest in gardening is that the endeavor involves no lazy bureaucrats, no legislators, and no corrupt judges. Gardeners need not follow ethics guidelines for selecting for very good genetics. As fellow patriot gardeners, Trump and I govern with gut instinct with the goal of gut satisfaction. We do not waste our time with briefs and lengthy memos written by stuck up Ivy League educated Elites. New weed free gardens have the potential to replace the entire DC area deep swamp. Gardens typically need strong borders in the form of fences. Electrified is appropriate to deter the menace of wildlife. No laws govern the eradication of garden pests that include Japanese Beetles, Asian Jumping Worms, and Colorado Potato Beetles. You can execute all the bad bugs you want to without any clear reason.

Without disclosing my long history of Democratic Party votes, I convinced Donald Trump to visit my garden in Hardwick to share his big, beautiful ideas and plans for big, exciting business ventures.

President Trump praised my garden as big and beautiful. He spoke that he had some huge ideas like you have never seen before. We both wore our bright red MAGA hats to visit my American Patriot themed orchard. I have many of his favorite apple varieties that include Golden Delicious, Liberty, Empire, and Jonagold. Trump liked my perennial beds that have Trumpet vine, golden sedum, royal fern, and Siberian iris. While not being a big vegetable eater, he was impressed that I grew Russian banana fingerlings, Sun Gold tomatoes, and Mary Washington asparagus. Parts of my garden irritated him. Trump was openly hostile to some of my plant choices that include Dutch iris, Cuban oregano, Serviceberry, Rouge Vif D'etampes pumpkin, and Cozumel peppers.

Donald Trump even liked some of the plants near the gardens that included chickweed, jewel weed, smartweed, goldenrod, barberry, and morning glory. We agreed that I need to be more aggressive with controlling the spread of Japanese Knotweed, witchgrass, Oriental bittersweet, Canada thistle, and swamp milkweed. The Drill Baby Drill government mandate will unleash the powers of the United States petroleum industry to develop better methods of chemical selective killing formulations. We look forward to fast tracking at warp speed new Roundup derivatives. Trump further said invasive plants are very bad and lawless, like a vicious violent mob in a Blue State. Some of these weeds were introduced into our country totally unchecked and unvetted by stupid people and the Radical Left.

Donald Trump was clearly annoyed by the abundance of rocks present in fields and as numerous stone walls. He told me, "Can't you get rid of those for developing more gardens and golf courses? Dynamite and boom, thunder, bam - they are gone! Crush and crash them into oblivion like all the enemies on the planet. My ideas are always right, and I am very bright, with power and might."

I am excited along with many other devout followers about the new crypto coin project titled Donald Trump Garden Kingdom. Trump made this announcement during his visit to my garden. I will borrow from my 401K to invest in this big and beautiful opportunity. I trust Trump to make me rich fast. We shook hands and raised our fists to show power and strength to the selected press crew, curtly controlled by Karoline Leavitt, who all love Trump and American Patriot themed gardening. Let's chant "Go USA, grow USA!"
