Why Choose EpoX Closed Pour Molds

- Long Life
- Low Cost
- Great Lure Resolution
- Easy To Create Multi-Color Lures
- Works With A Resin Firmness Levels
- No Injector Needed
- Shorter Learning Curve
- No Loss of Tear Strength Compared To Injection Lures

EpoX Closed Pour Molds – Select lure designs allow lures to be poured instead of injected into closed molds. This results in a very economical and easy to use mold with no loss of lure resolution or lure tear strength when compared to injection molding. EpoX molds are CNC machined on the same equipment and use the same mold materials as InjeX injection molds. EpoX molds are economical, durable, and easy to use. The greatest benefits of EpoX molds is they allow a wider range of resin firmness levels without excessive shrinkage or other molding issues. EpoX molds allow multi-color lures to be produced through lamination and direct pouring. Every mold and every lure will have its own personality and will require some level of trial and error to get optimal results when molded. Every type and brand of resin will react differently and will require changes to the molding procedure. Experiment with resin temperature, pouring techniques, and pouring utensils find the right molding parameters. Softer resins will be thinner and easier to pour; however, it will shrink more while cooling. Firm or hard resins will be thicker and will be difficult to fill small details.

SSX Stick

The SSX Stick has a thinner body than a standard stick bait for increased action and a slower fall. It makes a great stick bait for use as a weightless stick bait, wacky rig, shaky head, Carolina rig, drop shot, or Texas rig. It has a solid side to side darting action. The SSX Stick is a great choice for shallow water and a more finesse presentation

RSX Stick StiX

Standard Body Stick Bait

RSX

The RSX Stick is a broad body soft plastic stick bait lure made popular by lures such as the “Yamamoto Senko”. It has a thick body and makes a great stick bait for use as a weightless stick bait, wacky rig, shaky head, Carolina rig, drop shot, or Texas rig. It has a solid side to side darting action. The extra thickness gives it increased weight for fishing deeper or on windy days.

FSX Stick Fat StiX

Fat Body Stick Bait

FSX Stick

The FSX Stick is a thick bodied stick bait design. It has a thick body and tail to give it a stiff appearance in the water. The extra size allows easy casting in the wind and a faster fall rate for windy days. It works equally well as a weightless stick bait, drop shot, Carolina rig, or shaky head lure.
