SILICONE OPEN POUR LURE MOLDS

SILICONE HAND POUR MOLDS – Silicone molds are a great way to produce soft plastic fishing lures. They are economical, durable, and easy to use. The greatest benefits of silicone molds is they allow softer resins to be used than injection molds and they are much easier to produce lures with multiple colors. Every mold and every lure will have its own personality and will require some level of trial and error to get optimal results when molded. Every type and brand of resin will react differently and will require changes to the molding procedure. Experiment with resin temperature, pouring techniques, and pouring utensils find the right molding parameters. Softer resins will be thinner and easier to pour, but will shrink more while cooling. Firm or hard resins will be thicker and will be difficult to fill small details.
