

VISITING SENIOR PROFESSOR

Senior Professor English demonstrating for Ikebana International Naples Chapter in early 2017 at their exhibit –the Naples Botanical Garden., Naples, Florida

Senior Professor Stephanie English has been studying ikebana since 1993. In the fall of 2016 she received her 18th certificate, Sokatoku.

Stephanie has exhibited and provided programs for I.I. and Ikenobo chapters in Chicago, Naples, St. Petersburg, Miami, Orlando, Asheville and Hendersonville. As the featured Visiting Professor for the 20th Anniversary of our chapter in 2010 she presented a demo and workshop. In 2013 she was the Visiting Professor for our fall workshop and again in the fall of 2016.

She has served on the I.I. Naples chapter board for seventeen years serving as President, Membership Chairman, and Treasurer. She is currently webmaster and handles all the chapter emails. She has been President of the Ikenobo Naples Chapter since 2009 as well as being their primary sensei.

IKENOBO IKEBANA

The ancient art of Japanese flower arranging has been practiced in Henderson County for many years. It has been practiced in Japanese and Chinese cultures for many centuries! Ikenobo Ikebana celebrated over 556 years of written history.

If you would like to learn more about this ancient art form, come join us. Meetings are held on the 3rd Thursday of the month from 10:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon.

Professor English created this lovely Free Style emphasizing lines.

The ceramic tube containers are by Potter John Lawson of our Blue Ridge Ikenobo chapter.
