

SCROLL DOWN TO VIEW ARTICLES PAGE BY PAGE

Two Sheriff's Detectives Given Sergeant's Post

January 5, 1960

Two Monroe County Sheriff's Office detectives were promoted to detective sergeant effective Jan. 1, it was learned yesterday.

They are Charles G. Kittlinger Jr., 50, of 68 Strong St., who became a sheriff's deputy July 15, 1946, and a detective Jan. 1, 1954, and Dominic A. Miglioratti, 35, of 127 Ontario St., who was named a deputy Jan. 1, 1952 and was promoted to detective Jan. 1, 1957.

The promotions were recommended by Sheriff Albert W. Skinner and approved by GOP leaders.

As detectives, their annual salaries were $6,115 each. The promotions will mean an annual increase each of $500 or

Charles Kittlinger Jr.

Dominic
Miglioratti

On Eastman School

Teacher C

MORTUARY RECORD.

Services Over the Remains of the Late Darius Perrin.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Darius Perrin were held yesterday afternoon at the family residence, No. 103 North St. Paul street, in the presence of a large number of friends. The Rev. Louis B. Washburn, rector of St. Paul's church, officiated. The boy choir of the church sang "Abide with Me," and "Jesus Saviour of My Soul." There were many floral tributes. Among them was a basket of white tulips and hyacinths from the sheriff's office. The bearers were Charles F. Pond, Charles C. Morse, Charles E. Morris, Charles S. Baker, Daniel B. Beach and W. Dean Shuart. The burial at Mt. Hope was private.

Sheriff Darius Perrin: March 18, 1894

SHERIFF'S SALE—MONROE COUNTY, ss. By virtue of several writs of execution issued out of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, and one writ of execution issued by the Clerk of Monroe county, all of them to me directed and delivered, against the personal and real property of James Conway in my county, I have levied upon and shall expose for sale at Public Auction, at the Sheriff's office in Reynolds' Arcade, in the city of Rochester in said county, on the 24th day of February, 1871, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, all the right, title and interest that the said James Conway had in and to the following described premises on the 10th day of August, 1870, or at any time thereafter, to-wit:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Rochester, county of Monroe and State of New York, being the northeast part of lot number one hundred and thirty-two (132) at the corner of Smith and State streets, being thirty-three feet in width and ninety-seven feet deep, fronting on State street.

Also, all that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Rochester, county of Monroe and State of New York, and on the south side of Lyell street, at the corner of Brown's alley, being forty feet in width and one hundred and five feet deep, and being the east parts of lots numbers 180 and 181.

Also, all that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Rochester, county of Monroe and State of New York, being lots numbers 548 and 549 on the Jones Tract; said lots are fifty feet each in width, fronting on Lyell street; lot number 548 being 140 feet deep, and lot number 549 being 170 feet deep.

JOS. B. CAMPBELL, Sheriff.

CHAS. S. CAMPBELL, Under Sheriff.

Dated Rochester, Jan. 12, 1871.

Monroe County

jal8dlaw9w

The above sale is hereby adjourned until March 10th, at the same time and place above mentioned.

JOS. B. CAMPBELL, Sheriff.

CHAS. S. CAMPBELL, Under Sheriff.

Dated Feb. 25, 1871.

Monroe County,

mar1dlawtd

The above sale is further adjourned to the 25th day of March, 1871, to the same place and time of day.

JOS. B. CAMPBELL, Sheriff.

CHAS. S. CAMPBELL, Under Sheriff.

Dated March 10, 1871.

mar1dlawtd

The above sale is further adjourned to the 8th day of April, 1871, to the same place and time of day.

JOS. B. CAMPBELL, Sheriff.

CHAS. S. CAMPBELL, Under Sheriff.

Dated March 25, 1871.

mar27clawtd

Skinner Predicts County Police Force, Favors New Jail Outside of City

Sheriff Albert W. Skinner yesterday predicted a "county police set up is coming," but said "this is not the time."

In describing the functions of his office to the Monroe County Charter Commission, Skinner also explained his often-stated position that the new jail should be constructed "on the outskirts of town" rather than in the Civic Center.

Skinner said he favors a countywide police force. Such a force "would be better for everyone," he said, "but I don't think you can get it through at this time."

The subject has been discussed and studied for many years. The city and several towns have their own police forces.

The location of the new jail also has been debated for many years. The Civic Center Commission is awaiting specifications from architects for the new structure so the building can be advertised for bids.

State and federal penal experts favor a jail outside the city, Skinner said, and "it should be near the penitentiary, to save on the costs of medical facilities, for example." All the jails built in the past seven or eight years have been constructed on the outskirts of cities, he noted.

Regarding the system of appointing deputies as opposed to the Civil Service system of selecting them, Skinner said many who could get on a Civil Service list "couldn't get in our department because they couldn't get a bond." He told of the training and examination given deputy candidates and the investigation of the applicants' backgrounds.

In answer to questions by the commissioners, the sheriff said there have been discussions about establishing substations in the county, "but such a system has not proven successful in Erie County."

Skinner also said the office of sheriff should be continued as an elective post rather than appointive so the man in the job will be more responsive to the wishes of the people. Asked if the three-year term should be extended to four, he said it might be a good idea.

He criticized the Family Court law, saying police officers have a problem when they apprehend young men and women for such things as assault. Skinner said police no longer can take the young people to the Shelter, and can't put them in jail until they appear before a judge. He also pointed out that men jailed for non-support sit around in their cell because they can't be sent to the penitentiary to work under the new law.

On the subject of what the Sheriff's Office does for the city and towns, Skinner said his office houses prisoners for all the other jurisdictions at no charge to them. Of 127 prisoners in the jail yesterday, Skinner estimated 100 were sent there by city police. And if a prisoner needs medical attention, the county pays the cost, Skinner said.

Sheriff Uses Own Money to Buy 3 Horses, 3 Boats for County

Members of the Monroe County Charter Commission expressed surprise yesterday when they were told that three horses and three of five boats used by the Sheriff's Office were bought by Sheriff Albert W. Skinner with his own money.

Skinner said he bought the office's original horses from the State Police, preferring to buy them himself rather than let the county advertise for bids. Since then, he has also bought the replacements. While the price might be higher than it would be through competitive bidding, Skinner said he is particular about the quality. His office now has three palominos, used mostly to patrol county parks.

The office also has two county-owned patrol boats used by the deputies on Irondequoit Bay, Lake Ontario and other ponds and bays in the county. They are needed to enforce the state boating laws, he said. In addition, Skinner said he bought three rescue boats.

City Planners Okay 'Crossroads' Limits

Turning aside the pleas of two State Street concerns, the City Planning Commission yesterday approved the boundaries of the Genesee Crossroads (Front Street) urban renewal project.

The commission action was the first hurdle to local approval for the $14 million project, a topic of community discussion for years.

The next step is up to City Council, which must schedule a public hearing in 4 to 10 weeks before approving the plan itself.

The commission's vote to include the Lauer Furniture Co. at 50 State St. and Markin's Agency, Inc., at 36 State St. in the project area was unanimous. All buildings inside the project boundaries will be razed.

Lauer's and Markin's raised the only objections to the plan at the initial public hearing May 1.

Harold G. Ashworth, representing the furniture company, offered to make substantial improvements to the rear of the building and to arrange off-street loading facilities if a small portion

Market Street were left open from State Street.

Ashworth, Thomas Abate of Lauer's and Robert Markin of the insurance agency argued that since a small section of Corinthian Street is to be left for access to the buildings at the northeast corner of State and Main, the same could be done at Market.

Paul L. Hopkins Sr., assistant administrator of the city's Department of Urban Renewal and Economic Development, noted that leaving the Lauer-Markin buildings would make the remaining portion of that parcel east to the Genesee River difficult to sell and develop. Federal officials, who are planning a $7 million office building between Market and Andrews streets, favor razing the buildings, he said.

David L. Garratt, city director of buildings, said the structures involved don't compare to the modern fire-proof buildings that would be erected in an urban renewal area. Mrs. Ann Taylor, acting director of planning, said her staff concurred.

earing sway

city, the city will pay half the costs, the state footing the other in 100 structures, most of them demolished.

sway, although not specifically such, will be a southern Thru-intercepting traffic from Routes and taking it to the Route 15. The stretch in the Towns of Wiletta and Rush will serve via Jesus Lake, Genesee and other county points.

see Expressway eventually will Southern Tier Expressway near County. The latter highway, which are under construction, diagonal, stopping at the Thru-triman.

public hearing, if one is held. Department of Public Works will designs, expected to take two medical attention, the county will take about three

Most of the employees of the Sheriff's Department work a 48-hour week and Mr. Skinner contends that if his employees were working only five days a week, they would have to seek other employment on their days or days off. This is certainly contrary to the thinking of recognized police departments in the State of New York. Police officers, through their various associations, have fostered and encouraged special legislation which restricts the employment of members of recognized police departments to a mandatory 5-day, 40-hour week.

January 16, 1960

